

STATUETTE IS TO BE DEDICATED AT STATE UNIVERSITY

Last Work of Roswell Dosch, Former Instructor at U. of O., to Be Presented on Thursday.

University of Oregon, Eugene, June 13.—A statuette, "The New Earth," by Roswell Dosch, former instructor in sculpture and clay modeling at the university, and who died of influenza while in the service, is to be dedicated and presented to the university Thursday.

The statuette was one of his last works. Dosch was the son of Colonel Henry E. Dosch of Portland. The work represents a man standing on Utopia, at the same time that his hands become unshackled, to look over into a new world. The tenseness of the muscles, the perfect modeling, together with the intense feeling, action and spirit, combine to make it a work of genius, according to criticisms offered by sculptors and artists.

Following is the inscription: "Roswell Dosch, 1882-1918, a member of the faculty of the school of architecture and allied arts whose genius as a sculptor was halted by his death in the service of his country. Created as the last achievement in his career as an artist an idealistic statue named 'The New Earth.' "His loss to the University of Oregon is immeasurable. His constant inspiration and unflagging energy were a joy to faculty and students. Alike was his rare gift for friendship made manifest, and it is in commemoration of this, as well as in recognition of the artist, that his friends have had the statue cast in bronze. "A last message to his beloved university was left by Mr. Dosch, who wrote on the day of his departure: 'LEFT FINAL MESSAGE "The longer I stay at Oregon, the more I want to stay. Each new day is an opportunity for me—a demonstration that by unselfishness and justice a human democracy can be worked out, and only on these principles. "I feel it through every pulse of the university; therefore I long to stay, that I may take some part of it into my own being. "It is all this and much more that I can express in words that I have tried to put into the little figure. I know that it is not fully expressed—it is expressed badly; but it is to the best of my ability that I have striven. "I hope you will find what is under it and in it—the thing that I hope to free from the clay some day. Then I shall make another for you that will say what I have to say, and clearly. "ROSWELL DOSCH."

STRIPPING CASCARA BARK IS PROVING PROFITABLE WORK

Bark From Barberry Tree Brings Half a Million Dollars to Grays Harbor County in Year.

Wynoochee, Wash., June 12.—Half a million dollars was brought into Grays Harbor county last year from the sales of cascara bark, which is stripped from the barberry tree. Prior to the war cascara bark sold for 3 cents a pound. During the war it jumped from 2 to 15 cents and now is regarded as a big industry.

The high price caused a rush of men boys and women into the woods and whereas it provided at 3 cents per pound for school children, it is now a pretty fine sideline for the rancher and his family. SELLS AT HIGH PRICE Two thousand tons were shipped from Grays Harbor county last year, which figures about $600,000 at present prices. Much of the bark was sold at 12 cents early last year. California, Oregon and Washington are the Pacific coast states which furnish the bark. The California supply was said to be pretty well exhausted.

A good bark stripper can make from $10 to $15 a day. A load brought here this week was estimated to be worth $60, the result of two days' work by two young ranchers. Numerous families from the Grays Harbor country spend their summers peeling the bark and the average returns to a family are from $1000 to $1500 during the season, which lasts from May to October. The bark is stripped easily during these months. In the fall the bark adheres tightly to the trees and the work is much harder.

With the great amount of bark now being shipped the barberry tree necessarily becomes scarcer. However, the stock is not long in replenishing, as the new shoots spring into existence and soon develop. Bears find the barberry a nutritious article of diet, for the reason perhaps that it supplies a medicine necessary to their health. It is undoubtedly the "medicine chest" of the bear. A pleasant occupation for many men who like the solitude of the woods is the stripping of cascara bark. Around every cabin and every farm barn in this section one will notice stacks of cascara bark drying for shipment.

SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MAN HEARS LAST CALL

George T. Baldwin

DEATH COMES TO GEORGE BALDWIN

Southern Oregon Pioneer Builder Passes Away at His Home in Klamath Falls.

Klamath Falls, June 12.—The death of Senator George T. Baldwin at his home here June 4 drew to a close the career of one of the foremost of Southern Oregon's pioneer empire builders. From a tinsmith in a small shop when Klamath Falls was known as the village of Linkville to president of the largest and most complete hardware business in Southern Oregon is only a small portion of the business career of Senator Baldwin.

Baldwin came to Oregon in 1872 and settled soon thereafter at the present city of Klamath Falls. From a meagre beginning he has founded not only his own financial success but insured prosperity for his community through the encouragement of railroads and electric power. He has pioneered schools, banks and lodges in this county as well as other industrial activities. In 1916 Baldwin was elected state senator on the Democratic ticket. In the recent primaries he was chosen as a delegate at large to the Democratic national convention. For two terms he has acted as president of the State Hardware and Implement Dealers' association. He has taken all the degrees in Masonry except the thirty-third, belonging to the Knights Templar lodge of this city and to A. J. Kader temple of the Mystic Shrine of Portland. Surviving relatives of Senator Baldwin are: Mrs. Joelle N. Baldwin, widow; Charles R. William W. and F. Zim Baldwin, sons; Miss Maude Baldwin, daughter.

Girl's Camp Planned To Open on July 9 In Southern Oregon

Ashland, June 12.—The girls' camp of Southern Oregon will open in Chautauqua park for a week's session about July 9, if present plans materialize. The camp has been established as an annual affair, having met with marked success last year. Tents are pitched in the park and girls of 16 years or older are eligible. Bible study will be conducted by the camp leader, Miss Helen Carlton of Elizabeth, N. J., who will be assisted by Mrs. Gillanders and Mrs. M. C. Reed. Recreation programs and hikes to places of interest, together with tennis and swimming, will be on each day's program. A much larger attendance than last year has been listed, but, because of the interest taken, no limit has been put on the number to be enrolled.

Philomath College Appropriates $800 To Beautify Campus

Philomath, Or., June 12.—The Philomath college trustees voted to appropriate the $800 received for the Philomath college camp ground a few weeks ago to the city of Philomath, for the beautifying of the college campus.

Bishop W. H. Washington of Portland, Superintendent W. A. Nicolas of the Columbia river conference of the United Brethren church, and Superintendent George MacDonald of Oregon conference attended the commencement exercises.

Willamette U. Has Given Diplomas to 1480 in 61 Years

Willamette University, Salem, June 12.—Since 1859, when Mrs. Emily J. (York) Moore, the first graduate of Willamette university, received her diploma, 1480 men and women have been graduated, according to the alumni register. More than 300 cities all over the world are represented by graduates, Salem having the largest number, 241, while 170 live in Portland. According to the registers there have been 20 presidents of the university since the founding in 1855 and 85 honorary degrees have been conferred.

O. A. C. WINNERS ARE ANNOUNCED

Victors in Each Class Named in Accordance With Usual Custom at College.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, June 12.—Winners of prizes given annually to men and women in each class, who stood highest in scholarship, student activities, and qualities of manhood and womanhood during the year, have just been announced. Those honored were chosen by student vote in connection with faculty recommendation.

Helen Gardner of Portland won the Clara H. Waldo cash prize of $40 for the highest ranking senior woman. Miss Gardner is president of the Waldo Hall club and of Omicron Nu, national honorary home economics society, and is a member of the Forum. She won similar prizes during both her sophomore and junior years.

WINS SECOND PRIZE

Dorothea Abraham of Roseburg was awarded the junior prize of $30. She is president-elect of next year's Y. W. C. A., a member of the Forum and Omicron Nu. Alma Scharpf of Portland led the sophomore women, and received a prize of $20. Miss Scharpf is second vice president-elect of the Student assembly, a member of the executive committee of the Women's league, and vice president of the sophomore class. Ava Owens of Portland won the freshman prize of $10. She is a member of Mask and Dagger society, and took a leading part in a recent play.

SENIOR WINNER NAMED

Robert Watt of Bay City won the A. J. Johnson prize of $50 given to the highest senior. He is first vice president of the Student assembly, and the highest scholarship average of any of the 246 or more graduates. Watt also won the Albert prize of $25 based upon the same qualifications. Paul W. Sosa of Milton, Or., took the $40 Johnson prize for junior representative. Sosa is first vice president of the Student assembly, and a varsity track man. Benjamin F. Schumacher of Portland took first honors among the sophomores, 600 foot umbrella type wireless tower being given $30. He is a member of the Barometer staff and of Alpha Kappa Psi, national honorary commerce fraternity. Esterson Cook of Portland, president of his class this year, won the $20 prize for freshmen. He is third vice president of the Student assembly for next year.

MANY CALLS COME TO OREGON GRADS

Only About One Half Prospective Pedagogues Have Signed Any Contract to Work.

University of Oregon, Eugene, June 12.—Students in the education department this year have been slow to sign contracts, according to Dr. H. D. Sheldon, dean of the department. There have been many more calls for teachers than there have been students who will accept them. Only about half of the number who expect to teach next year have accepted positions, he says.

The following is a list of 1920 graduates who have accepted positions for next year:

600-Foot Wireless Tower to Be Built by Federal Company

Arrangements are being made by the Federal Telegraph company to install a 600 foot umbrella type wireless tower near Portland, according to an anouncement made by F. H. Barstow, local manager. Engineers from Palo Alto have been surveying the country around Portland for some time to find a suitable location. About 150 acres will be required properly to care for the plant.

The plant will have a world wide range, Barstow explained, but it will only be used for sending messages to San Francisco. A 100 kilowatt plant will be installed, but only 15 kilowatt will be used, unless unfavorable weather conditions make a higher voltage necessary. The tower will be equipped for triplex service.

In the season recently ended Natal produced about 185,000 tons of manuf-
