Twenty Prominent Englishmen to Arrive Monday to Inspect Department Stores.

Representing the retail trade of England, 200 prominent British merchants, accompanied by a party of Eastern merchants, will arrive in Portland this evening from San Francisco, to make a tour of inspection in local department stores Monday.

The merchants are making a tour of the country to promote friendly relations and learn department store methods. The party will also make a tour of the large Canadian cities after concluding their visit in the United States. The merchants represent the Drapers' Chamber of Commerce of England. F. W. Cook, president of the chamber of commerce of Dudley, England, is head of the party. The tour is being made under the auspices of the National Retail Dry Goods Association of America. Arriving at the Union station at 10 o'clock this evening, the party will be met by a special committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce, composed of Peter Kerr, C. F. Berg, Mayor Baker, John S. Grant, British consul, Aaron Frank, D. A. Dinanor, W. Roberts, E. J. Ditter, E. J. Jaeger, Ben Selling, Jared Wenger, F. C. Malpas, C. J. Mathis, W. A. Knight, A. J. Carrasa and Chapelle Brown.

The visitors will be taken to the Benson hotel. At 5:30 o'clock Monday morning they will be met by the committee and taken to the Tip Top Inn of the Lippman & Wolfe store for breakfast. During the morning a tour will be made through the department stores. At noon they will be the guests of the Chamber of Commerce at members' forum luncheon. For an inspection of the Eastern & Western Lumber company mill the party will leave the chamber at 2 o'clock. At 3 a trip will start over the Columbia river highway. The party will leave for the north Monday evening.

Suspects Arrested By Police, to Guard Convention Crowds

First arrests of suspects, who, it is believed, came to Portland to operate during the Shrine convention and Rose Festival, were made Saturday afternoon when four men were apprehended in a rooming house at Twelfth and Washington streets. They are Joe Greenberg, 28, shipyard worker; E. C. Foster, 27, salesman; J. L. Bragg, 38, fruit packer; Earl Coventry, 26, salesman. Greenberg, Foster and Bragg have all been before the court on previous charges. The men will be ordered to leave town. Inspectors Tackaberry, Phillips, Morak and Howell arrested the suspects.

Child Badly Injured When It Leaves Curb In Front of an Auto

Stepping off the curb to cross the street, Julia Axton, 442 Uphur street, ran in front of the automobile of F. W. Marek of Seaside, sustaining a broken leg, severe cuts, and possible internal injuries. The accident occurred at Twelfth and Thurman streets at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Investigation by the traffic department showed that Marek was not culpable, it is said. The child was taken to the office of Dr. P. Graham for treatment.

D. H. Moss Is Head Of Washington State Bankers Association

Seattle, June 12.—(U. P.)—D. H. Moss, Seattle, was today elected president at the closing session of the twenty-fifth annual convention of the Washington State Bankers' association. ### WINS UNIVERSITY TROPHY

Miss Marjorie Millinger, author of "Foliate Tales"

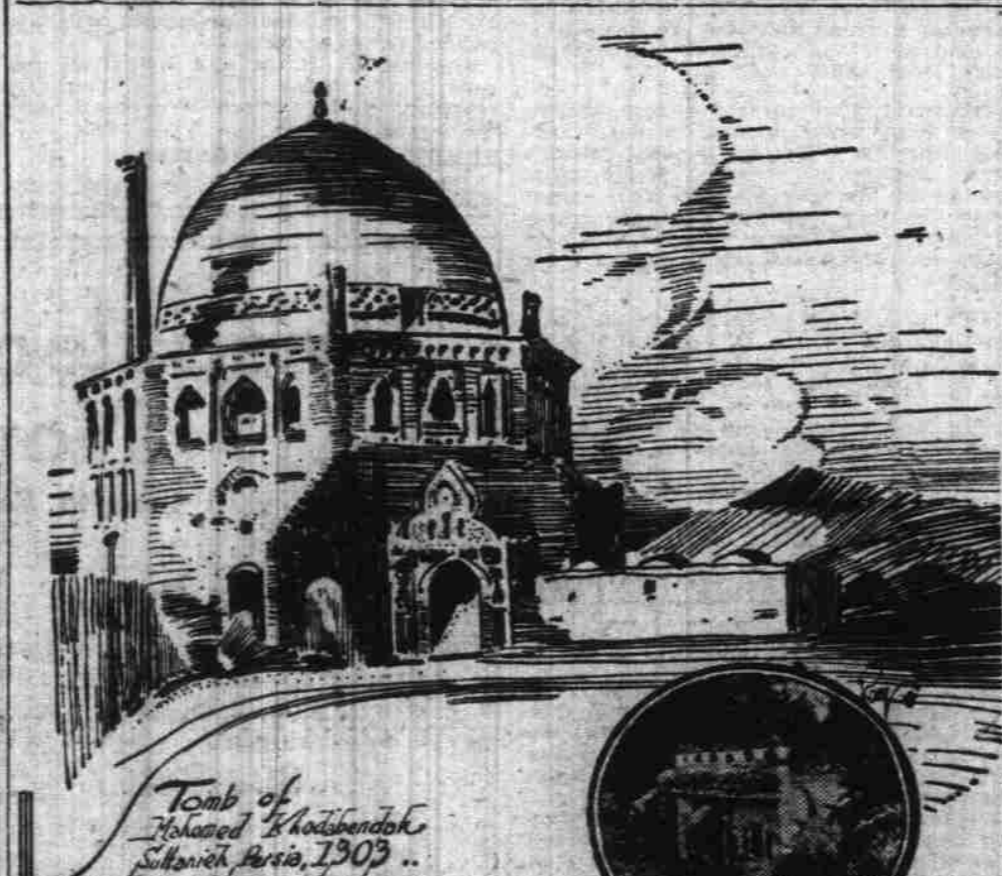

The data for "Foliate Tales" was obtained from the Indians at the Chemawa, government school, and the Siuslaw and Siletz tribes, and the legends contained in it are nearly all given to the public for the first time. The charm of her stories and the pleasing manner of her writing place her in line for recognition as a writer on Western subjects. Miss Millinger is popular in school circles, and also in the younger social set of the Capital City.

Daly Bequest Subject to Tax Trust as Created Not Exempt

Salem, June 12.—Failure of the late Judge Bernard Daly of Lakeview to surround his bequest of practically all of his $749,099 estate in the interest of the education of the "worthy and ambitious young men and women" of Lake county, with such safeguards as would have exempted it from the provisions of Oregon's inheritance tax law, will deprive Lake county's boys and girls of the benefit accruing from $150,000 to $170,000 or approximately one fourth the entire bequest. Because the beneficiaries of Judge Daly's bequest are only "worthy and ambitious young men and women" and as such "are not and never will be incorporated" into a "benevolent, charitable or educational institution," the bequest is subject to the provisions of Oregon's inheritance tax law, according to an opinion rendered by Attorney General Brown this week, in spite of the fact that "the object of the bequest is a charitable one."

ESTATE VALUED AT $749,099 Bernard Daly, pioneer banker and business man of Lake county, a member of both branches of the state legislature in his time and for one term circuit judge for Lake county, died at his home in Lakeview last January. Of his estate, valued at approximately $749,099, the sum of $1000 is bequeathed to a brother, Hugh Daly, and a similar sum to each of four nieces and nephews. Five thousand dollars in cash is left to a friend, Miss Pearl Hall of Lakeview, together with an annuity of $2000 per year for the rest of her life. The sum of $1200 per year for a period of 10 years is willed to the Lakeview Public Hospital association. The lot and building occupied by the Bank of Lakeview in which Judge Daly was heavily interested, is bequeathed to the bank. EDUCATIONAL AID PROVIDED The rest of his property he directs to be converted into municipal bonds, and, together with his bank stock, placed in a trust fund to be known as the Bernard Daly educational fund, to be administered in the interest of the education of the "worthy and ambitious young men and women" of Lake county who are to benefit by this trust fund are to be recommended by the county judge and county school superintendent of Lake county, their recommendations, however, not being binding upon the trustee. There is no questioning the charitable purpose of the will, as Attorney General Brown points out in his opinion, the gift, however, is not for the benefit of the community, although not every member of the community can receive the education provided. But because, as Brown points out, "it is a general rule that where a bequest is within the general provisions of the statute imposing inheritance taxes the exemption therefrom must be clearly expressed in the statute and cannot be read into it by implication," the "worthy and ambitious young men and women" of Lake county must yield to the mandate of the law and pay tribute to the sovereign state of Oregon even to the extent of one fourth the gift which has been willed to them. Had Judge Daly anticipated the grasping characteristics of the inheritance tax law and the strict accountability to which it would hold his bequest he might have saved the entire estate—or such part of it as at least is included in the educational fund—to the cause for which he willed it, those familiar with the intricacies of this particular law point out, by leaving the fund to some "benevolent, charitable or educational institution incorporated within the state" to be administered as directed.

Like the beautiful Vault Entombment building on the Portland Crematorium grounds, it was built for the centuries. ### W. A. H. Birley of Mossy Rock has announced his candidacy for the Republican county commissioner of Lewis county.

W. A. H. Birley of Mossy Rock has announced his candidacy for the Republican county commissioner of Lewis county. Birley was a commissioner several years ago. Joseph Moorecroft of Randie is also in the race. The desire of Judge Daly, as specifically expressed in his will, is that the entire revenue accruing from this fund shall be expended in assisting Lake county's boys and girls in pursuing their education through some Oregon college, university or technical school, even to the extent of paying their entire expense until they shall have completed their chosen course. Not less than 15 such scholarships are to be financed each year, under the terms of the will, and it has been estimated that as many as 60 scholarships each year could be financed from the revenue from the trust fund as left by Judge Daly. In his will Judge Daly declared it his wish to assist coming generations "to acquire an education so that they may be the better fitted and qualified to appreciate and help to preserve the laws and constitution of this free country, defend its flag and, by their conduct as good citizens, reflect honor on Lake county and the state of Oregon." The administration of the fund is left in the hands of a board of trustees composed of the persons constituting the board of directors of the Bank of Lakeview, the president of the Oregon Agricultural college and the president of the cultural college and their heirs perpetually. The trustees are to serve without pay except that they are to receive their actual and necessary traveling expenses in executing the duties of their trust. The "worthy and ambitious young men and women" of Lake county who are to

Crawford Named Inheritance Tax Department Head

Salem, June 12.—James Crawford, Portland attorney and son of former Attorney General Crawford, was this morning named by State Treasurer Hoff as head of the inheritance tax department of the state treasurer's office. Rapid expansion of this department under Hoff's administration, it is explained, has made it necessary to create what amounts to practically a separate department, under the supervision of the state treasurer. S. Z. Culver, chief auditor for the inheritance tax department, will be retained under the new arrangement, as will be the three deputy auditors named during the past year. Records in the inheritance tax department show an increase in collections for 1919 amounting to more than $160,000 over the receipts for 1918, due in large measure to the policy inaugurated by State Treasurer Hoff involving a careful scrutiny of every estate subject to the provisions of the inheritance tax law.

Western Union to Sped Up Service Convention Week

Comprehensive plans have been matured by the officials of the Western Union Telegraph company for the expedient handling of incoming and outgoing messages during the Shrine convention. Superintendent Williams states that the company will be especially well prepared to handle a large volume of business through the branch offices in the Multnomah, Portland and Benson hotels, the Northwestern bank, Gasco, Yeon, Pittcock and Board of Trade buildings. The Broadway branch, at 124 Broadway, is right in the heart of the congested district, and it will be able to handle a large volume of business, while the Carlton hotel branch, and the branches at the Union depot, Front and Alder, and the East Portland branches, with the main office and the branches at the Shrine headquarters and south-west office of the Auditorium, will provide fully adequate facilities for any rush of business that is reasonably possible. District Commercial Managers Noble Murray, from Washington; Bunnell, from Oregon; and Noble Wertheimer, from Walla Walla, and District Commercial Superintendent Noble F. C. Cole, will be in Portland for the week, ready to give their aid in every practicable way to facilitate the handling of telegraph business. Gay Rogers will have charge of the Shrine delivery department at the main office, and all records and messages for the Shriners will pass through his hands. Portland Western Union messengers will appear during the Shrine convention week clad in their new suits of forestry cloth, 85 of these suits having been forwarded direct from New York for the messenger lads here.

Hazel Switches Are Antidote for Revolt Of School Children

Hasel switches and razor strops in the hands of parents of children of Vernon school, Twenty-third and Wagon streets, supplemented by the strong arm of the police, nipped in the bud a little after-demonstration of Bolshevism scheduled for Friday, the first day of the summer vacation. Several months ago a revolution against Principal William Parker by some of the Vernon school children was quelled but not forgotten. The word "Bolshevik" conceived the idea of revolting on Friday afternoon as soon as school was dismissed. The word "was" passed around the school. Plans were laid to "overthrow" the principal-teacher dynasty. But the news leaked out. Parents heard about it. In turn the police were notified. Friday afternoon arrived. From points of vantage parents lay in wait with newly cut hasel switches and well-worn razor strops. A squad of blue coats were present under the direction of Sergeant Brothas. There was no revolution. All was orderly in the marching. What happened at various homes in Vernon is known only to active participants in the old-fashioned woodshed.

No Word on Sugar At the close of business Saturday afternoon the local United States attorney's office had not been notified that war time sugar restrictions would take effect June 15. Special United States Attorney General A. W. Riley announced Thursday in New York that the nation would be put back under the war time restrictions on that date.

Contractors Move Paving Operations To Josephine Line

Gold Hill, Ore., June 12.—Shell & Calvert have completed the pavement on their contract as far as Miller Creek, where they stopped by direction of the state highway department, and have moved their operations to the section of road bed a little below Rogus river, where they are completing the pavement to the Josephine county line. The stretch of road between the point where they first started surfacing toward Gold Hill, is not ready for the hot stuff and will not be touched until the connection with the Calvert pavement at the county line is reached. The pavement being laid compares favorably with the Clark & Henry pavement considered some of the best in the state. Roy Nunn, engineer in charge of this section of the highway, announced that "every foot of highway in Jackson county will be surfaced this season." The contract for four miles of pavement and road bed from the end of the Central Point pavement to Miller creek, where Shell & Calvert have stopped surfacing, will be awarded to Clark & Henry.
