

Milwaukie Boxing Commission Will Stage Banner Smoker During Shrine Week

Ortega and O'Dowd Will Train Here

Milwaukie Headliners Scheduled to Begin Conditioning This Week; Prelims Arranged.

By Bob
MIKE O'DOWD, former middleweight champion, and Battling Ortega, premier Pacific coast middleweight, are due to arrive in Portland sometime this evening to begin their 10 round decision bout before the Milwaukie boxing commission Thursday night, June 24. Both men will do their training at the Olympic gymnasium at different hours of the afternoon.

Mike O'Dowd's coming to the coast is one of the banner attractions in this sport. The Irishman undoubtedly represents the world's highest class in his own division despite that recent defeat by Johnny Wilson. In view of O'Dowd's recent undisputed victory over Wetterweight Champion Jack Britton and his knockout in three rounds of Knockout Brown, a feat never before accomplished. Eastern sport writers with one acclaim have dubbed Wilson's victory over O'Dowd as a rank fluke and one that will more than likely be reversed if the two meet again. As a result of these victories, O'Dowd's popularity is as great if not greater than before Wilson awarded a decision over him.

STAND IS SUPPORTED
O'Dowd has gone so far as to say that his title was not at stake in the Wilson fight. He says that not only was the referee unknown and his decision questionable, but that the weight was 160 pounds, two pounds over the accepted middleweight limit. O'Dowd is supported in his stand by many sport writers.

O'Dowd's great war record made him one of the most popular of champions. He expressed choice of the front line trenches over an assignment as a boxing instructor at a cantonment and was in the thick of the fighting. Knockout Ortega is known as one of the most aggressive fighters that ever stepped in a ring. He never lets up once the bell rings. His gloves constantly shoot out in all directions for every available angle. When he is properly trained and is in condition, his battles are stamped with championship form. That he will be in shape for O'Dowd is assured by his statement that he would sooner fight O'Dowd for nothing than lose the opportunity of meeting him.

IS PRIZE PLUM
A fight between O'Dowd and Ortega had long been a dream of many promoters, but first of them and then another intervened to halt negotiations. That they have been signed to meet in Portland Shrine week is a proud feather in the cap of matchmaker Frank Kendall and Manager George Moore. A small fortune was the prize which brought the two men to an agreement. The card which will support the O'Dowd-Ortega fight is itself of sterling quality. Johnny Noye and Young Brown will meet in the 10 round semi-windup. Allie Nack and Frankie Murphy will step eight rounds and Danny Edwards and Frankie Garcia are scheduled to go six rounds. Another six round bout is yet in the making.

Bearers Run Wild in S. F. Ball Contest

Portland Scores Sixteen Runs; Schaller Starts With Bat; Winn Suffers Injury.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 12.—The Portland Beavers hopped onto three Oakland pitchers here this afternoon, and the result was a total of 30 hits good for 16 runs, as against four runs for the Oaks. It might have been that the Oaks were unnerfed when their pitcher, Winn, was struck in the face by a hard batted ball by Lew Blue, who as first man up shot a line drive through the pitcher's box.

Winn had to be removed and it later developed that his jaw had been fractured. Weaver then took up the hearing duties and before the inning was completed the Northerners had a total of four runs. They came right back in the second and registered three more and Blue's Krause was ordered on the mound by Del Howard. He went along fairly well until the eighth and ninth, when the first and second frames were repeated.

"BIF" IS BIG SHOW
The work of "Biff" Schaller, a former pitcher without a doubt the shining light of the afternoon. "Biff" connected with five singles and all of them were hit and well placed balls.

"Suds" Sutherland, who did the twisting for Portland, allowed the Oaks a run in the second and sixth, and just to make them feel a little better he permitted a duo to trot across the rubber in the ninth. At that the Oaks hit hard enough to win ball games, but they were outclassed completely. They made four errors while the Beavers played errorless ball.

The result of the series now stands, Portland four games, Oakland one game, and it is none other than Carl Hollings, who, after winning seven straight, dropped seven straight before breaking into the win column again, who turned the trick against the Oregonians. The Oakland club didn't pitch much, much enthusiasm and the fans were rather disgusted. The box score:

Whitman Awards Ten Monograms

Whitman College, Walla Walla, Wash., June 12.—The baseball letters were this week awarded to Whitman varsity men. The following received letters: Captain "Dutch" Garver and Ralph Knudson, pitchers; Teo Groschup, catcher; Bell Coffey, first base; Fred Rich, second; St. John, third; Marvin Wiley, short; George Ingraham, left; Ben Comrada, center, and Irwin Jones, right.

Ralph Knudson and Marvin Wiley are both Portland men. Knudson, a freshman, played his first year of college baseball, but showed up well in the pitcher's box, he and Captain Garver alternating from the mound. Marvin Wiley, at short, was awarded his third letter and last, Wiley graduating this June. Wiley was also awarded a football letter, by vote of the student body. He was captain of the football squad during the past season, but owing to injuries received in the University of Washington-Whitman game, he was prevented from playing the required number of quarters to receive a letter. He lacked but one quarter.

Canadians To Make Bid For Honors

Despite Inroads Made by War, Dominion Going Out After Olympic Title.

MONTREAL, Quebec, June 12.—(U. P.)—Despite the terrible inroads upon the ranks of Canadian athletes during five years of war, the Dominion, in addition to winning the hockey championship at the Antwerp Olympic games, will make a strong bid in almost every other branch of sport, especially in the swimming and trap shooting events.

Canada sport experts expect great things from the Dominion's water polo team, which undoubtedly will have in its membership such swimmers as George Hodgson, Frank McGill, winners of middle distance swimming events at Stockholm; George Vernot, the fastest short distance swimmer in Canada, and John Kerry, who was second in the 10 mile swim at Riverton, N. J., last year. These four, in case they show up well in the Olympic trials, will also take part in the dashes and Hodgson has already come close to his former records while practicing here recently.

TRIALS IN WEST COAST
Elimination trials for Western Canadian swimmers will take place in Winnipeg on June 25 and the grand test will be at St. Helens island in the St. Lawrence river at Montreal, July 3. At these trials races will be held over the regulation Olympic distances and competition in pedestal, 10 foot and high diving will be held.

FINALS IN TRACK AND FIELD
Finals in track and field events will be held on the Montreal Amateur Athletic association's grounds here on July 17. The men competing in this all-Canadian event will have made good showings at preliminary trials held in Winnipeg and Toronto.

Swedish Star Is Barred; Refused Thorpe's Trophy

Antwerp, June 12.—Wislander, the all-around Swedish athlete, who was second to Thorpe in the 1919 Olympic games as individual champion, has met with the same fate as Thorpe's disbarment from competition in the 1920 Olympiad for his refusal to accept the prizes won by Thorpe but awarded to Wislander when Thorpe was declared a professional, according to the 1919 committee at Stockholm.

For refusing to accept the committee's ruling, Wislander has been barred from Olympic competitions. Wislander has steadily declined to accept the medals and statuettes on the ground that they were not his, but Thorpe's, by right of victory, and those awards still are in the hands of the 1919 committee at Stockholm.

Tom Gibbons Would Wear Jack's Crown

St. Paul Battler Making Campaign for World's Heavyweight Crown; Is Clever Boxer.

By Jack Velock
NEW YORK, June 12.—(U. P.)—Among the ringsters who covet the crown worn by Jack Dempsey are two of the world's greatest boxers.

One is Georges Carpentier, you will say, and you will be correct. The other is no nobody, but Tommy Gibbons, younger brother of the famous St. Paul "phantom," who is getting ready to make a vigorous campaign for honors in the heavyweight division.

IS GREAT BOXER
Gibbons is a counterpart of his brother Michael, only bigger of bone and proportionately better set up. And he is a "boxin' fool," according to a score or more of America's best performers in the class that does anywhere from 150 to 170 ringdolls.

"But Gibbons is a middleweight and has no business in the heavyweight division," you are apt to exclaim. Forget it. Gibbons was a middleweight about two years ago, when he could make 135 to 140 pounds as easily as Jimmy Wilda, who has his full growth, could make 107. Today Gibbons is a strapping, clean-limbed, hard-muscled 170-pounder. He is as heavy as Georges Carpentier and those who know him best, including the writer of this article, doubt very much whether the famous Georges could show him anything in the line of fistic science.

STRONG AT NEW WEIGHT
Tommy Gibbons has all the science, footwork and ring generalship that won his brother Mike recognition as one of the greatest boxers the game has ever known. With these assets as a ringster he has more weight and a much stouter punch.
