Portland Golf Club Star Retains Title With Easy Victory Over Russell Smith

R. Wilhelm Retains His Golf Title

Present Champion Triumphs Over Russell Smith; Miss Tidmarsh Wins Women's Title.

By George Bertz

PLAYING the best game of his career, Rudolph Wilhelm of the Portland Golf club successfully defended the Oregon State Golf championship against Russell Smith of the Waverley Country club in the finals of the 1920 tournament Saturday on the Waverley course. The final result of the match was 9 up and 8 to play. The champion's game was uncanny. Ardent followers of the sport declare that Wilhelm's game was the best that had ever been seen in a state tournament. He was always straight down the course, and was playing for the two putts all through the contest which ended with the halving of the twenty-eighth hole in fours.

SMITH OFF GAME

Smith seemed to be terribly off form, especially in his tee shot. He seemed to be unable to control them. While he would make a flash with his other clubs at times, he was unable to steady himself enough to overcome the pace set for him.

Wilhelm turned in a 72 card for the morning round, being four up at the turn. Smith's medal was 77. On the first nine in the afternoon Wilhelm shot par golf, while Smith's card totaled 71, the lone figure under three being an eagle two on the short sixth.

Miss Tidmarsh plays a good, straight game. Throughout the entire week she has been showing great work, her game improving with each round. Mrs. Delbruck played a steady game, but it fell short of the standard set by the Seattle clubwoman.

PLAYED PAR GOLF

Getting back to the big event, Wilhelm's game was without a single flater. His driving, approaching and putting was the best of any of his rounds in the tourney. One would think that with such a lead as Wilhelm commanded after the first three holes of the afternoon match were played, a player would be inclined to become a trifle careless. Not so with the champion. He kept plugging away, and Smith was heard to remark on the fifth green, "What are you going to do, Rudy—win 'em all?"

Wilhelm started off by playing par golf, turning in a score of 34, one under par for the first nine, while Smith went bad on the second and fifth holes, getting a six on each of these.

IS GAME LOSER

One thing can be said about Smith. He tried and lost. He is one of the gamest losers who ever gripped a golf club. At the start of the tourney he was off in driving. The rest of his game was good. This improved until the final round, when the bottom seemed to fall out of his entire game.

In his last two matches, prior to the semi-final round, he was at the top of his game. This led his followers to believe that he would force Wilhelm to the limit, but he lost.

Leonard Not To Box Here For Shrine

Billy Gibson Wires Cancellation of Bout After Informing the Public Champion Ready.

By George Bertz

THE following wire was received last night by The Journal from Billy Gibson, manager of Benny Leonard:

"Dr. O. W. Cook, prominent Los Angeles physician, after making an examination of Benny Leonard's injury sustained at studio today, absolutely refused to allow the champion to box for at least three weeks. Dr. Cook stated that, should Leonard train and again pull the injured tendon in his right leg, his entire future as a boxer would be in danger.

"Have also canceled proposed matches in Seattle and San Francisco. En route home. Champion and myself terribly disappointed.

"BILLY GIBSON."

AFTER informing the Portland public with a series of collect telegrams to various papers that "the champion is sure to be in tiptop shape for the contest," Billy Gibson, manager of Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, telegraphed Bobby Evans, matchmaker of the Portland boxing commission, canceling the contest billed with Johnny Sheppard, English battler, here June 22, during the Shriners' convention.

In his message Gibson declared that Leonard's injury was such that the champion could not get into condition for the fight. This seems strange, when the messages to the newspapers declared that Leonard was already in training and would leave Los Angeles Monday night for Portland.

LOSS MAY RESULT

The cancellation of the bout has upset all Evans' plans, and unless some strong attraction is secured the commission stands to lose between $1500 and $2000 already paid out for tickets and posters.

The real reason behind Gibson's latest move, in the opinion of the writer, is that Leonard is not ready to battle yet and would not have sufficient time to shape himself for the contest, with but five or six days to train here before the battle.

PLAN NEW CARD

Just who will be submitted for Leonard is not known. It is likely that Sheppard will be used on the card, but under the terms of the contract Gibson ought to pay for the transportation of Sheppard and his manager from New York to Portland.

Gibson, according to the contract, was to pay Sheppard out of the percentage of the gate receipts he was to receive for Leonard.

It is likely that Heinie Schumann or Benjamin will be given an opportunity of battling Sheppard, but before this contest is finally cinched an effort will be made to secure Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion.

If Kilbane's services are not available, an all-star card will be featured. In this case the prices of seats will be reduced.

BASEBALL

FOUR home runs were scored by the Community church baseball team in its 20 to 8 victory over the Forbes church aggregation Friday afternoon on the Failing schoolgrounds. Carlson, Little, Rutzstein and Wiltshire each were able to pole the ball out for a circuit drive. Bud Smith at shortstop was a star for the winners when it came to fielding.

Toledo, Wash., June 12.—The youngsters of Toledo got busy this week and organized a baseball team. The boys are enthusiastic over their organization and expect to put on some real baseball games in the near future.

The manager of the Toledo team is Earl Omeg, and the captain is Johnnie Lyon. The lineup for the team is as follows:

Elbert "Sagebrush" Taylor, a star athlete of the High School of Commerce before the war and who since his return to the United States from France has been a student at the Oregon Agricultural college, is a Portland visitor. He has ambitions of going to Eastern Oregon for the summer in order to harden up for a gruelling football season next fall.

Hood River is "up and doing" right now. They announced the acquisition of Pitcher Keough and Catcher Terry, and, as if this was not enough for one day, came out with the statement that the services of Billy Sunday, noted evangelist-ballplayer, were practically assured for their big game July 5.

Manager Vosper of the streetcar men's local and Lowry of the Hesse-Martin teams were fined $2.50 for participating in a game in which an ineligible player was used under an assumed name. The game was thrown out. Similar action is contemplated in at least two other instances, says President Routledge of the P. B. A.

The Portland Baseball association now numbers 40 teams. It lays claim to being the biggest organization of its kind in existence. Meetings are held each Monday night in the clubrooms of the Multnomah Guard for the transaction of matters of interest to players and managers alike.

"Carl Mays" Lefty Schwartz, now playing with his seventh team, is dickering for a week-end at Kerry, where Manager Kenny Hill and his "River Dogs" are holding forth. Hill's team has not lost a game this season. Schwartz admits that he would prove a valuable addition to the club.

Manager Fred J. Brown will lead his Astoria Centennials against the Cendors in the opening game at Astoria's new ball park today. Rain has interfered with the last three games down the river, so here's hoping.

Prexy Jack Routledge has requested the scribes to lay off his "campaign hat" for good and sufficient reasons, so this goes. At that, it is a good story and we doubt if he can keep it down. Truth will out, even in baseball.

Jerry Miller, Ray Baker and Andy Nelson will leave for Hillsboro this morning to play with the inter-city aggregation of that town.

Three games at Columbia beach today—one at 10 a. m., one at 1 p. m., and one at 2 p. m.

Hillsboro and Sherwood are at it again today at Hillsboro. Sherwood won the first set-to 11 to 4. Can they repeat?

The Portland Baseball association will stage another dance on July 2. This time the affair will be held aboard the good ship Swan. All aboard!

Woodburn and Biddy Bishop's Salem nuts are battling each other to a pulp today. Pendleton is to twirl for Salem's opponents. There's a good man!

P. B. A. ANNOUNCES NEW SCHEDULE FOR TODAY'S CONTESTS

All Other Bookings Are to Be Disregarded, Secretary Simonsen Declares.

Novel Golf Tourney Planned

A new idea in golf will be launched by the Storm King Golf club of Cornwall-on-Hudson, N. Y. It will be known as a "service tournament," and will be open only to officers of the U. S. Military academy at West Point, to club members now or recently in the service and to former service men of neighboring clubs who may be invited by Storm King. The tourney will be held either in July or September.

SUNDODGERS WILL HAVE NEW STYLE OF PLAY THIS FALL

Coach "Stub" Allison to Adopt Famous Dobie Method of Developing Winner.

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON, Seattle, June 12.—Changing the Washington brand of football from the fast, spectacular style to a straight, powerful scheme, with heavy backs in power and Dobie-like plays in vogue, Coach "Stub" Allison has outlined the plans for a great Sun Dodger eleven for next fall. Strict orders for every man to appear on the field September 20 have been given.

Stating that each of the six conference teams would be about the best in the history of each university, Allison is making preparations far in advance for his squad. He is talking football and dominating the athletic policy this spring and from apparent prospects will put just a little better team on the gridiron than the Purple and Gold has seen before.

Washington will play straight football and in conformance with this plan the coach will make every effort to train heavy backs for his machine, replacing the four light men used last fall.

To date, Allison has 16 letter men promised for his 1920 team and half a dozen huskies from last fall's frosh team in line. His material is all experienced, ranging back as far as 1915, and his line, now looking unusually strong, is practically intact from last fall.

"Yes, Washington will go strong when the team opens against Whitman on October 9. It is going to be a great year for football and every team will be strong."

Program of P. N. W. Golf Event Made

Burnaby and Shaughnessy Heights Courses to Be Pressed Into Service for Qualifying Rounds.

DETAILS of the program for the twentieth annual championship tournament of the Pacific Northwest Golf association to be played under the auspices of the Vancouver, B. C., Golf and Country club during the week of July 5, have been agreed upon by the chairmen of the various tournament committees and John H. Dreher, secretary of the P. N. W. G. A.

Owing to the big entry expected in the men's amateur championship event, two courses—Vancouver Golf and Country club (Burnaby) and the Shaughnessy Heights Golf club—will be used for the qualifying round and for match play elimination rounds in some of the flights in the men's and women's events. The Jericho Country club course will also be pressed into service for rounds in some of the women's flights.

EXPECT BIG ENTRY

Tournament officials expect 300 amateurs, 50 professionals and between 75 and 100 women to participate in the tourney. With three entries in the men's amateur, there will be 17 flights, the first flight being those eliminated in the first round of the championship play.

An urgent appeal has been sent out by the committee in charge for all those intending to enter to make application for reservations immediately.

SCHEDULE OF PLAY

Following is the schedule of play as adopted at the meeting of the various officials:

July 5—Open championship, first 36 holes. Burnaby course.

Women's qualifying round, 18 holes, Burnaby course. Sixteen to qualify.

July 6—Open championship, second 36 holes, Burnaby course. Second 36 holes, will constitute qualifying round for amateurs in open.

Men's qualifying round, first 18 holes, Burnaby course, second 18 holes Shaughnessy Heights course; 32 to qualify.

July 7—First round, men's championship, 18 holes, and four or five flights, 18 holes, on Burnaby course, two rounds being scheduled.

First round women's championship and first flight, 18 holes, Burnaby course. Other flights Jericho Country club.

July 8—Second round men's championship, 18 holes, and all other flights, Burnaby course.

Second round women's championship, and first flight, 18 holes, and semi-finals, all other flights.

Finals C. H. Davis Jr. team trophy, match play, 18 holes. Aggregate scores of players representing various clubs in qualifying round to determine contenders for honors.

Mixed foursomes, 18 holes.

July 9—Semi-finals men's championship, 36 holes, and first flight, 36 holes, other flights 18 holes.

Semi-final round women's championship, 18 holes, finals in all other flights.

Scotch foursome for men, 18 holes.

Professional foursome between 16 low in open championship.

July 10—Final round, men's championship and first flight 36 holes, and finals in all other flights, 18 holes.

Final round, women's championship, and first flight 18 holes.

Any Size Now Allowed

By abolishing the height limit in its new rules the Polo association has made it legitimate to play horses of any size in the matches and tournaments this season, and has cleared the way for development of the great equestrian games in the army. The American rules are now in accord with the English rules and the international agreements respecting playing for the challenge trophy.

Shamrock IV, challenger for the America's cup, is a speedy looking green sloop.

One College Grid Battle Billed Here

California - O. A. C. Contest Awarded to Portland; Other Games Being Sought.

PORTLAND will be the scene of but one Pacific Coast intercollegiate conference game, according to the revised schedule. An effort is being made, however, to line up one or two more college contests for the local fans.

The game scheduled for here is between California and O. A. C., the date being October 30. It is not likely that Oregon will play in Portland, as it has but one game billed for Hayward field, that being the annual game with the University of Washington.

Manager Dorman of the club eleven is negotiating with Oregon, Washington and Washington State college in an effort to schedule games for the "Winged M" eleven on the club field. These teams have open dates and it is likely that games will be arranged. The O. A. C. team will play Multnomah here Thanksgiving day.

The revised schedule follows:

Bushers Play at Vaughn St. Today

The Multnomah Guard team clashes with the Portland Iron works squad on the Vaughn street grounds today at 2:30 p. m., taking the place of the Pacific Coast leaguers while they are away. This is a regularly scheduled Intercity league contest, the first staged on the local grounds this season between two local outfits.

The Ironworkers will put their star slab artist, Lefty Larry Miller, against the Guard fence-busters. The Guard chucker will be selected from Bowers, Fonseca, Robbins and Anderson; just who is to get the assignment is not decided as yet. The league-leading home-run hitter, Engle, of the Ironworkers, will be in the game again, and if he runs true to form, local fans should get an eyeful. He has averaged better than one home-run clout per game. At St. Paul he poled out two and added a three-bagger for good measure. Vin will umpire this fracas, which is booked for 2:30 p. m.
