Gymkana Will Be Given June 19 At Brunn Home

PORTLAND society is to be invited to attend the benefit garden party and gymkana which will be held at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Brunn on Riverside drive, on the Willamette river, on the afternoon of June 19, from 2:30 to 7 o'clock. Those having out of town guests will be invited to bring them to the fête in one of Portland's loveliest gardens.

College women, representing the eight national societies, have planned many festive features for the garden party, including half a dozen fortune tellers, dancing, gay balloon girls, and other things that go with a garden fête by the river.

A program of esthetic dancing and music will be given early in the afternoon, and later, when the men have arrived, a gymkana of sports will be put on by Colonel John Leader, including many of the entertaining events similar to the gymkansas of the English army men in India. Everyone will be invited to join in the sports, and Colonel Leader has chosen as his aides in making the event a success, Alma D. Katz, Charles E. Miller, Kay and Walter Randall, Will S. Ladd, Fred H. Strong, Robert N. Strong, Lloyd Smith, John Kerr, Richard Norris, Mortimer Hall Hartwell, Donald Green, Henry Lee Carter, Richard Wilder, Jacob Kamm and Willis K. Clark.

The Brunn gardens, which are among the loveliest in the country near Portland, have been generously given for this big benefit, which is the last of the season to be put on for the woman's building fund of the University of Oregon, now nearing the $100,000 mark and the finish of its campaign. The grounds may be reached by way of the Riverside drive and by the red electric trains of the Southern Pacific. College women heading the committee of the garden party include Miss Margaret Mansfield of Delta Delta Delta, Mrs. Lee Savage of Delta Gamma, Miss Louise Gray of Chi Omega, Mrs. George Rossman of Kappa Kappa Gamma, Mrs. Lyle G. Fear of Gamma Phi Beta, Mrs. Frank Knight of Pi Beta Phi, Miss Louise Manning of Kappa Alpha Theta, and Miss Gwladys Bowen of Alpha Phi.

Of interest to Portland friends is the wedding of Miss Freda Lettner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Lettner of 130 East Fifty-fifth street, and Professor Arthur von Jenson, which will take place at the home of the bride's parents Sunday morning. The service will be read by the Rev. Ward MacHenry, pastor of the Mount Tabor Presbyterian church, in the presence of relatives and close friends of the bridal couple. Miss Lettner has been studying with Professor von Jenson and is a talented musician. Her work among children has been especially successful. Mr. von Jenson is well known as a pianist and composer, as well as a teacher of languages. Miss Emma Lettner, sister of the bride, will sing preceding the ceremony. Immediately following the wedding breakfast the bridal couple will leave for Manhattan Beach, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Mrs. William S. Wheeler will have as her house guests for the next fortnight her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Kilner of New York who are expected to arrive in Portland Wednesday. Mrs. Wheeler will entertain for her mother at a tea Thursday at her home in north Thirty-first street.

Wilcox-Menefee Wedding Held At Ft. Worth

A WEDDING of unusual interest to Portland folk is that of Miss Elizabeth Menefee, daughter of Mrs. Oscar H. Menefee to Theodore Burney Wilcox which was an event of Wednesday in Fort Worth, Texas. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Morris Berney, in River Crest in the presence of a brilliant assembly of friends and relatives.

For the wedding a garden was improvised on the terraces in which myriads of daisies bloomed, forming a setting of rare charm for the bridal party. A specially arranged lighting effect was so placed to add to the radiance to the lovely bride and her attendants as they stood before the altar. The service was read by the Rev. E. H. Eckel of the Episcopal church and during the reading of the marriage vows music from a stringed orchestra emanated from the shadows of the garden.

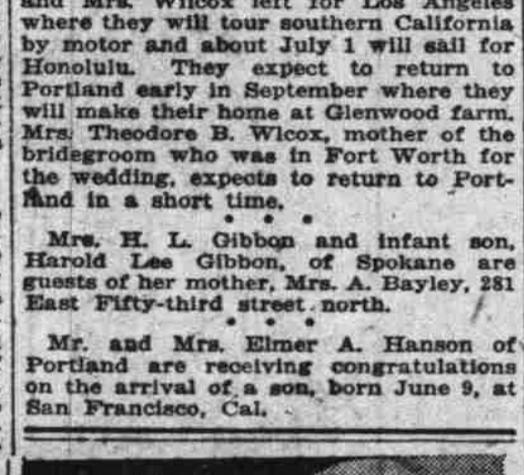

For her wedding gown the bride chose a model of heavy ivory satin cut with court train and embellished with rare old lace which also adorned the bridal veil. The lace used had been handed down to the various brides in the family for the past 100 years.

Miss Flora Jane Menefee, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor. Mrs. Nelson Shields was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Varnel D. C. Beach and Miss Elizabeth Huber of Portland, Miss Elizabeth Lounsbury of Clamont, Va., Mrs. Davis Googina, Miss Josephine Yarborough and Miss Catherine Gwynne of Fort Worth, Texas. The gowns of the bridal attendants were chic models of pastel tinted organdie worn with tulle hats to match. Varnel D. C. Beach of Portland was the bridegroom's only attendant.

Following a brilliant reception Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox left for Los Angeles where they will tour southern California by motor and about July 1 will sail for Honolulu. They expect to return to Portland early in September where they will make their home at Glenwood farm, Mrs. Theodore B. Wilcox, mother of the bridegroom who was in Fort Worth for the wedding, expects to return to Portland in a short time.

Mrs. H. L. Gibbon and infant son, Harold Lee Gibbon, of Spokane are guests of her mother, Mrs. A. Bayley, 281 East Fifty-third street, north.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer A. Hanson of Portland are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a son, born June 9, at San Francisco, Cal.

FURS and MYSTERY
 By N. M. Ungar

Natural Fur Seal, and there is only one species though found in various places, is a rare animal whose fur is of such quality and beauty that the market supply cannot begin to fill the demand.

It is not surprising, therefore, that a variety of substitutes have been produced to serve in Nature's stead—some good, some bad, many quite indifferent. Right here is where we do not want to get out of step—good substitutes, when sold honestly as such, are not by any means to be condemned, especially when the genuine article, because of its scarcity, is beyond the financial reach of many who would enjoy it.

It is the common practice of unreliable fur dealers, however, to mislead the public by a number of high-sounding so-called "Trade Names" that have no place in legitimate business. In this article and the series that will follow the writer shall turn the light of truth into many dark and mysterious corners.

"Hudson Seal," "Near Seal," "Electric Seal," "Baltic Seal," "French Seal" and similar "specimens" are in no sense seal. Each is the skin of some other animal from which, like seal itself, the coarse hairs have been extracted by machinery. Skillful dyeing completes the imitation, which in some instances can scarcely be detected from the genuine.

Of all substitutes, the so-called "Hudson Seal" excels in reality it is muskrat, which is a very good fur in itself and may creditably be sold as a fine seal imitation, provided it is sold as an imitation and NOT as a species of seal, presumably from the vicinity of Hudson Bay.

"French Seal" and "Baltic Seal" are disgusting titles for seal-dyed coney, a small animal that is found in France. As a skin, coney does not rank as high as muskrat, but that does not necessarily prevent its being used as an imitation of seal at its proper price level, provided again it is sold as seal-dyed coney and NOT as a foreign species of genuine seal.
