

LABOR UNREST
WHEN KICKED OUT
OF G. O. P. CAMP

By Basil Maaly
Montreal, June 14.—Jubilant is the only word that describes the attitude of the political leaders of the American Federation of Labor over the action of the Republican convention in kicking the demands of labor downstairs and nominating two ultra-conservatives—Harding and Coolidge.

from profiteering investigations in America.
STORES ARE INSPECTED
The party arrived at 10 o'clock Sunday night. This morning the members were met by a committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce and headed by Peter Kerr. They were taken to the Tip Top Inn at the Lipman, Wolfe & Co. store for breakfast. During the morning a tour of department stores was made. At noon the visitors were guests of the chamber at members' formal luncheon and at 2 o'clock the party left for an inspection trip through the Eastern and Western Lumber company mill and for a tour of the highway.

The merchants have already visited most of the principal cities of the United States and came to Portland from San Francisco. The party will leave this evening for Seattle and will go from that point to Canadian cities and then home. Members of the party and their connections are:

F. W. Cook, J. P. of F. W. Cook, Ltd., of Dudley (Worcester), Bristol and Birmingham, chairman of the Drapers' Chamber of Trade and president of the Chamber of Commerce of Dudley; mayor of Dudley for two years, now a magistrate for county of Worcester; Fred Longley, owner of largest apparel business in England; London; secretary of Drapers' Chamber of Trade; headed movement which made compulsory early closing a law in England; outlined plan for moratorium adopted by English government at beginning of war.

Douglas Murfin Rose, lieutenant-colonel commanding light infantry and Duke of Cornwall's light infantry; wounded and cited for bravery during World War; president of Drapers' Chamber of Trade; introduced motor delivery of retail goods.

Ernest Barton Weekes, J. E. director of W. Weekes, Turnbridge Wells, Kent; vice-president of Drapers' Chamber of Trade; president Turnbridge Wells Tradesmen's association and Chamber of Commerce.

Charles Thomas Coleing, O. B. F. J. P. head of committee on the state of male's board of trade; ex-chairman of Drapers' Chamber of Trade; chairman advisory committee to the military representative.

F. Hoigate Barber, sole proprietor of Cook, Dudley; Mrs. Lucinda Prince, Boston; F. Okey, Bournemouth; F. W. Cook, chairman Drapers' Chamber of Trade, Dudley; Frank Chiesman, London; F. Hoigate Barber, London; J. Lancaster, Knightsbridge; F. Harkey, London; Mrs. Roger W. Allen, New York; Douglas M. Rose, Oxford; Roger W. Allen, New York; Lewis Moore, Leeds; Frederick Grose, London; A. N. Holley, Plymouth; William J. Hunter, Sheffield; J. Heaketh, London, and F. S. Yzard, Elmira.

F. H. Barber & Co., Walham Green, London, S. W. Lewis & Co., director of Debenham & Freebody, London, a $5,000,000 concern with offices in New York, Montreal, Toronto, Paris, Melbourne, Sydney, Johannesburg, Buenos Ayres, Valparaiso, Brussels, The Hague, Lyons, St. Etienne and Chefco; business caterers solely to women's clothing; began in 1810 on 1000 capes.

F. W. F. Matthews, head of business of same name, largest in Preston, Lancashire; during war was on advisory committee to the military representative and served on Preston military tribunal; member of Preston town council.

Frederick Grose, M. B. E., J. P., ex-chairman of Drapers' Chamber of Trade and president of the Woolen and Drapers' Institution; decorated with order of British Empire; services as inspector of contracts (textiles); proprietor of Grose & Smith, Anstey, London.

Miss D. Cook, daughter of F. W. Cook, and secretary of Dudley, Worcester; Eastern merchants accompanying the visitors are: Lew Hahn, managing director National Retail Dry Goods association, New York; Homer B. Curtiss, New York; Donald Dey, Syracuse; P. A. Bergner, Peoria, Ill.; S. F. Lizard, Elmira; Z. Himelchock, Detroit; Mrs. Lucinda Prince, New York; Mrs. M. and Mrs. Roger W. Allen and James Gould of New York.

Neither Senator Johnson nor Senator Borah participated in the afternoon conference. They were together most of the day in the former's room, shutting themselves off to all interviewers.

Daugherty, who bursts into political fame by this nomination, has a unique record in that while seldom elected himself to public office, he has seldom failed in electing or nominating friends to office for such honors.

and Georgia is represented by 24. With them is Albert Dhrlich of Savannah, who wrote 588 applications for membership in the T. P. A. during the year. He holds the record, the next highest being W. M. Zink of Indianapolis, Ind., who wrote 422 applications.

"The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You" is a favorite song brought to Portland by the big delegation from the Lone Star state. They brought along a soloist of note, James Wood of Fort Worth, sent by the Chamber of Commerce, and a chorus of 10 men singers, members of the T. P. A. Songs in the hotel lobbies, on the streets and in the convention hall mark the presence of this Texas delegation.

John McKee is president of Post A of St. Paul, Minn., which he claims to be the best in the country, even if not the biggest. "We have made wonderful strides during the last year," said McKee, "and have been steadily going to the front. This is my first visit to Oregon and I want more than anything else to get a few of those beautiful roses I have heard about."

Illinois has 24 delegates. "We are Illinois with a lot of noise," they say. C. N. Flammigan is active president. He is from Champagne, "and I've got some with me," he announced. "Oh, it's all right," he replied to a questioning glance. "I gave the mayor and the chief of police each a drink." W. E. Gopen, of Peoria is secretary. Peoria used to be one of the biggest brewery centers in the country, says Gopen, but now all the breweries have been turned over to the manufacture of food products and are

William Adams of Lancaster, state president of Pennsylvania, heads the delegation from the Keystone state. They are all singers and have a fine repertoire of lively songs with a "kick" in them. Five ladies accompany this delegation.

A strong movement is on to elect Samuel Harrison, of Knoxville, Tenn., as chairman of the national committee on good roads and public utilities. He has made an aggressive campaign during the past year, speaking in various states and securing close cooperation between the T. P. A. members and local and state movements in support of good road bond issues, etc. "Get the men over the road" is the motto of this department.

M. T. Carter, for 20 years past president of the T. P. A., is the one lone delegate from Little Rhode Island. He hails from Providence, but he joined forces with the delegation of 28 from Pennsylvania, and "borrowed" them to help him sing the "hymn" he brought, which says:

PROFITEERS TO BE BOYCOTTED—
SHRINERS' WEEK

Portland Ad Club to Check All Places in City Reported to Be Overcharging for Goods.

Portland Shriners are not going to permit their visiting brethren to be imposed upon in the matter of high prices, and profiteers will be boycotted, according to action taken by the 1920 shrine committee and promulgated in a resolution made public Saturday.

Drawn by a subcommittee headed by Mayor Baker and consisting of S. Dean Vincent, Dr. S. M. Strohecker and A. H. Lea, potentate of Al Kader temple, the resolution calls upon the better business bureau of the Portland Ad club to act as the Shriners committee's representative in checking all places reported to be overcharging for goods or foods above prices prevailing for the past 60 days.

Resolved, that the executive committee of the Shrine for 1920 authorizes the better business bureau of the Portland Ad club to act as its representative in checking such prices, and declares the intention of said committee to insist that prices shall not be increased during said week, a practice which, if indulged in any business house, property and justly would brand it as a 'profiteer,' a title that is repugnant to the true American of today.

THEFTS AT REED
LAID TO ENGINEER

After reported systematic thefts extending over a year from the various departments of Reed college, I. H. Butler, college engineer, is alleged to have confessed to Detective Coleman and Collins, Sunday night. Butler is said to have turned much of the loot over to a woman.

According to the police Butler has been engineer at the college for three or four years, and his thefts extended over the last 12 months. A number of people were under surveillance. Among things stolen was $48 in money from the office and kitchen, a $50 Liberty bond from the college gardener and large amounts of foodstuffs from the supply room and kitchen. The charge against Butler is grand larceny.

Napavine Man, Aged 80, Commits Suicide While Lying on Bed
Centralia, Wash., June 14.—Leaving a note on the table stating that physical disability from which he was suffering had become unbearable, J. J. Morrow, aged resident of Napavine, stretched himself out on the bed in his cabin Sunday evening and shot himself through the head. The body was found by A. F. Brown, who was passing and stopped for a chat with Morrow.

Twelve Students Given Degrees at Pacific University
Forest Grove, June 14.—Twelve members of the graduating class of Pacific university were awarded degrees at the annual commencement exercises here. W. T. McElveen of Portland was the speaker. William Wallace Graham, violinist, and Miss Erna Taylor, pianist, of the music department, assisted by Edith Darland, Margaret Morgan, John Stovall and Willis Cady, pianists, furnished the music.
