

3 NEGROES ARE LYNCHED BY MOB AT DULUTH, MINN.

Duluth, Minn., June 16.—(U. P.)—The lynching spirit flared here in the far north last night; exacted the lives of three negroes and today died away.

The three negroes were in a party of six circus roustabouts accused of an attack on a 17-year-old white girl here. They were "tried" by a mob which battered in the jail doors, dragged the negroes a half block and then hanged them to an electric light pole at intervals of eight minutes.

Isaac McGhie, 22, was the first victim. The mob dispersed quickly. Today, when state troops arrived from Fort Snelling, there was quiet in the city and officials believed the soldiers would be sent home at once.

The storm last night broke slowly. Reports of the attack on the white girl were spread about town by afternoon newspapers. Groups collected in the streets.

"All of a sudden," Police Lieutenant Barber said, "the groups melted into one huge mass which came tearing down the street toward the jail.

"We refused to give up the prisoners, of course. Then they got timber and began wrecking things. We couldn't stand them off."

150 BANKERS AT EUGENE MEETING

Eugene, June 16.—Late this forenoon the nominating committee of the Oregon Bankers' association brought in the following report:

For president—N. U. Carpenter, Hartman & Thompson, Portland; vice president, W. G. Tait, First National bank of Medford; treasurer, Floyd Rice, First National bank of Pendleton; secretary, J. L. Hartman, Hartman & Thompson bank, Portland.

Eugene, June 16.—Late arriving delegations increased the attendance of the Oregon Bankers' convention to more than 150, with a dozen women representatives. Confidence in their collective capacity to meet their own problems is in the minds of the delegates.

The report of Secretary J. L. Hartman of Portland showed that the membership increased to 271; that the past year has been the most active in history of the association; that about 20 arrests of forgers have been made through the protective service.

The address of President C. S. Hudson of Bend was a call to the banking interests to take up the responsibility of financial readjustment, and of bringing about a closer bond between investors and producers.

Robert E. Smith, president of the Title & Trust Co., Portland, made a strong, clear analysis of the political and legislative problems confronting the bankers. Cyrus A. Woodworth of Ladd & Tilton bank, Portland, presented a paper as to the need of system and organization in the conduct of banking business. S. T. Edwards, manager of the Olympic mills,

LONDON RUMINATES ON G. O. P. CHOICE

By A. E. Johnson (United News Staff Correspondent)

London, June 15.—British editors view the nomination of Senator Harding with mingled feelings. A majority of them see in the choice of a man of his type a reversion to the principle of "America first and foremost," but most of them admit that they are really ignorant of what his policies will be, if he is elected.

"Although Harding favors a reversion to the old principle of American aloofness from foreign affairs," says the Globe, "if he is elected, America will be compelled to soften its present rigidity. For good or evil, America has taken her place in the family of nations."

"Harding is the instrument of the cleverest group of men in American public life—Republican senators," declares the Star, explaining that the nominee represents "above all else the interests of the capitalists."

"We fear," it continues, "that urgently needed social reforms in the United States will receive from him neither sympathy nor solution."

The Westminster Gazette hails his selection as "the choice of a safe man," which saves Europe from a more anti-European policy by the Republican party. But it believes that the great question of America's attitude towards peace and her future place in the family of nations still remains unsettled and undefined.

The Pall Mall Gazette calls Harding "a colorless candidate whose chief recommendation so far seems to be that he can be relied upon to do what he is told by the machine."

TERROR REIGNS AT LONDONDERRY, IRE.

London, June 16.—(I. N. S.)—Londonderry, Ireland, was in the grip of a reign of terror all night, said a dispatch to the Evening News today.

Firing was continuous in the streets from midnight until 2 a. m. The trouble began when ex-soldiers ambushed a nationalist excursion party.

London, June 16.—(U. P.)—A large number of British soldiers are still serving sentences for committing offenses against "King's regulations," and the Labor party has begun a campaign for their release.

During the war many soldiers received heavy sentences at the hands of field courts martial for offenses which, under the civil law, would have been punishable by only a few weeks' imprisonment, and the labor leaders contend that these men should now be amnestied.

Paris, June 16.—(I. N. S.)—Monks of the Capuchin monastery at Fiume have formed a union and are on strike, barricaded in a house adjacent to the monastery, for the right to wear civil garb and an ordinary haircut. Their other demands include the withdrawal from religious vows, secularization and shorter hours for prayer. The civil authorities having refused to intervene, the father superior has appealed to the pope.

FRIENDS DECIDE TO STAND BY MEETING

Newberg, June 16.—By a close vote the yearly meeting of the Friends church of Oregon, Idaho and parts of Washington, in session here, decided not to sever relations with the Five Years Meeting, the central body of the Friends (Quaker) church, with headquarters in Richmond, Ind.

Resolutions passed at the quarterly meeting in Idaho were adopted, calling for changes in policy in the conduct of the Five Years Meeting.

The attendance broke all records. Many ministers from other yearly meetings attended, including three returned missionaries from Africa. Emory J. Rees, C. Frank and Blanch Conover, William Kirby of Des Moines, Iowa, conducted evangelistic services.

L. Clarkson Hinshaw of Newberg was reappointed superintendent of the evangelistic and church extension department. During the year the church has made a steady gain in membership. The foreign missionary department recommended centering activities on the support of one particular station on the African field, where Arthur and Edna Chilson are in charge, proposing to undertake to build them a dwelling, be responsible for the expense of the station, and in addition to support C. Frank and Blanch Conover upon their
