

STATE CANNOT FIX PRICE OF GASOLINE

Salem, June 18.—Without additional legislation the Oregon public service commission is powerless to regulate the price or distribution of gasoline, according to Attorney General Brown, who, in an opinion rendered Thursday, holds that gasoline is not a public utility within the meaning of the public utility act as it now stands.

The opinion was written in response to an inquiry from the commission as to its jurisdiction in the present gasoline emergency.

"You have no more power as a commission to regulate the price of gasoline than you have to regulate the price of distribution of wood or coal," the opinion reads. "You have no power to fix the distribution or allotment to the public, nor to regulate the price or distribution of coal to the public utilities of Oregon, nor have you any more or greater authority to distribute or make the rules for the distribution of gasoline."

"We cannot enlarge the meaning of the law by construction or by interpretation for the purposes of meeting the situation as it exists today. The situation may present a proper matter for legislation, but not for the subject of the enforcement of the public utility law as it now exists. Until a law exists there can be no enforcement thereof."

Gasoline Supply Arrives
Pendleton, June 18.—Four thousand three hundred gallons of gasoline on 50-gallon drums were received Thursday from Weiser, Idaho. The supply was purchased by the Pendleton Automobile association, and will be distributed by its members here at cost. More is to be obtained in the same manner early next week.

Merchant Trying To Help on Ranch Of Son Is Injured

Baker, June 18.—E. W. Gibbons, Bridgeport merchant, has been brought to Baker to recover from injuries he suffered when a timber fell upon him while he was assisting his son on the latter's ranch. Gibbons' hip was broken.

Kenneth McHaley of Prairie City suffered the loss of an eye and finger on the right hand when the hand was caught in the hand saw at the Prairie City box factory.

Mrs. Perry Blackburn, 49, wife of one of Baker county's most prominent ranchers and stockmen, and herself a resident of Baker county since 1880, died Monday, following an operation. She came west by team with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Crews, in 1880. Three children and her husband survive.

The city commission has granted to the Fourth of July committee permission to use Main street for races, street events and an open air dancing pavilion. Fourth of July celebrations are planned at Haines and at Unity.

Organization has been perfected by the women's auxiliary chapter of Baker post American Legion, with 60 members. The auxiliary is planning cooperation with the Legion in a series of dances to raise funds to send delegates from Baker to the state convention of the American Legion at Astoria.

Adventists to Build School Near Spokane

Spokane, Wash., June 18.—An Adventist academic school, one of a number supported by the national conference of the Seventh Day Adventist church, will be established in or near Spokane, according to information given out at the annual convention of the Columbia River conference of the Adventists at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

California Impressions No. 5

As usual, the conversation heard in an observation car runs the whole gamut, from politics to pie and from religion to rebellion.

To a Portland man interested in preaching the gospel of heating houses with gas (gospel meaning "the good news"), it was rather pleasant to overhear the Los Angeles passengers brag about heating with gas, thus solving the heating problem and doing away with chores, dust and ashes.

Los Angeles in its spring climate reminded one of Portland's sunny days and very cool nights. Los Angeles with its busy streets and crowded hotels reminded one of Portland, and here was another proof that Los Angeles, like Portland, was wide awake and progressive, for down there they heat with gas just like up-to-date Portlanders do.

Monday a list of heating bills will be published to show you what it cost last winter to heat a home with a Gasco furnace.

Have you ordered yours? Material is scarce and constantly advancing.
