

Sims-Urdahl Nuptials Take Place Tuesday

MISS MARY MERCEDES SIMS became the bride of Halvor H. Urdahl at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Thomas H. Sims, in Johnson street, Tuesday evening. The service was read at 8:30 o'clock in the presence of more than 200 guests. Dr. John H. Boyd, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church officiating.

Palms, ferns and Ophelia roses were used about the rooms for the ceremony and offered a pretty setting for the bride and groom.

The dining table from which the wedding collation was served was centered with Ophelia roses and sweet peas in artistic arrangement.

Proceeding the ceremony Mrs. Carl Grisen sang "I Love You Truly" (Carrie Jacobs Bond), accompanied by Carl Grisen, violin obligato and orchestra. To the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin the bride entered, preceded by baby Marjorie Ernestine Hunt and Marjorie Alar, Landess as flower girls. The only bride attendant was the bride's sister, Mrs. L. C. Hunt of Los Angeles. The bride entered with her brother, Austin Sims. She wore a smart gown of ivory kitten's ear satin, Lyons lace embroidered in pearls and cut with full court train. The long veil was arranged in a Juliet cap caught with orange blossoms. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of pink Cecil Brunner roses, white sweet peas and blue forget-me-nots. Mrs. L. C. Hunt as matron was dressed in pink tulle and embroidered in pastel shades and wore a French corsage bouquet.

H. P. Urdahl served as best man. Receiving were Mrs. Thomas H. Sims and Mrs. J. H. Urdahl, assisted by Mrs. Austin Sims.

Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. W. S. Mott of Salem, Mrs. John Clark, Mrs. Charles Campbell and Mrs. Reggie Smith of San Francisco. In the drawing room Mrs. John McIntosh of Seattle received the guests.

Mrs. Thomas H. Sims was groomed in a beautiful robe of ashes of roses satin with gold and silver bodice. Mrs. J. H. Urdahl wore a blue headed gown with a corsage bouquet of orchids. Mrs. John Clark was groomed in silver cloth and embroidered chiffon. Mrs. Mott's gown was of yellow satin adorned with pearls. Mrs. Austin Sims was striking in a gown of pussy willow tulle and silver lace. Mrs. Reggie Smith of San Francisco, sister of the bridegroom, was dressed in gold cloth and Chantilly lace. She is an artist and the creator of "Urdahl Art Pillars."

Mrs. Urdahl was graduated from St. Helen's Hall, later attending Mills college, and is a finished musician in both vocal and instrumental. She is a daughter of Thomas H. Sims, former mayor of Salem.

Mr. Urdahl is a Portland business man, student and author, his most notable work being "The Key to Knowledge," which has attracted attention in India and Europe, as well as in America. Mr. and Mrs. Urdahl will make their home in Portland.

A delightful 500 party was given Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodnough, 1187 Gay street, in honor of their nephew, Bert Haufe of San Francisco. Monday Night Is Society Night At Horse Show

MONDAY night has been set aside as society night at the night horse show to be held on Multnomah field. On this occasion, the most fashionable assemblage is anticipated. Queen Claire and her attendants, as well as Mayor and Mrs. Gale of Vancouver, B. C., with chairs of the Rose Festival committee, will be guests of honor at the night horse show Friday evening.

The young maids who will take part in the drill Wednesday afternoon are vying with each other in the point of dress for themselves and the smartness of the mounts. They represent some of Portland's leading families and in their work display remarkable skill in horsemanship. They will entertain Wednesday afternoon with box parties, many already having made arrangements for informal luncheons to precede the event, others to follow the festivities with a tea party. The show will close Saturday night, when the championship classes will be judged.

The charming matrons and maids from California, Washington and British Columbia who will be among the prominent exhibitors at the show will share in the social gaiety. A number of prominent sportsmen who will participate also will be included in the social festivities of the week.

Among those who will entertain with box parties are: Mrs. Cyrus A. Dolph, Mrs. Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Talbot, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bowles, Mr. and Mrs. C. Edward Grelle, Mr. and Mrs. W. U. Sanderson, Mr. and Mrs. Natt McDougall, Miss Agnes McBride, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Everding, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Willbur, Miss Maud Alsworth, O. M. Moore, G. G. Bolton of The Dalles, Captain E. K. Elder and George H. Cecil.

Included in the line parties will be: Dr. H. H. Pione, several sections of seats for the different temples of Shrines, who will be guests of the association; S. A. Hughes of Salem, James Peaton of Fort Klamath, M. G. Gruen, H. C. Thompson, Paul L. Haslop, F. P. Kendall and Dr. C. W. Cornelius.

Miss Doris Henningsen entertained her young friends at a dancing party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Henningsen, in Scott avenue Saturday evening. Miss Henningsen is one of the recently graduated class of St. Helena Hall.

Miss Leah Cohen returned Wednesday from a year's stay in New York city, where she has been engaged in vocal study. Miss Cohen is at the home of her mother, Mrs. Sarah Cohen, 291 Broadway.

Rose Tea Given At Peninsula Is Well Attended

MORE than 1500 Portland women and visitors from out of the city attended the rose tea given Wednesday in the sunken gardens at the Peninsula park for the women who were present in the city during the Travelers' Protective association convention. The program of the afternoon was varied and pleasing and included a group of songs by Mrs. Blanche Myers, a dance solo by Margaret Stanberry, a dance duet number by Alys Brown and Dorothy Lyons and a charming pageant of dancing given by 15 young girls under the direction of Alys Brown. A four-piece orchestra, led by Mrs. Olive Malthouse, furnished music for the affair.

A group of 50 flower girls presented the visiting women with Portland roses from dainty baskets, and ices were served by a committee of Portland women. During the week the visitors have been entertained at a complimentary performance of "Clarence" at the Helix theatre.

A rose luncheon for which more than 300 covers were laid was given Tuesday at the Multnomah hotel for the visiting women. The Shrine chapters sang during the luncheon and an informal program was given during the affair. In addition to an informal dance, which opened the program of entertainment Monday evening for the guests and delegates at the convention, a committee of women has been stationed at convenient places throughout the downtown section of the city to give out information to tourists and to do everything possible to make their stay in the city enjoyable.

Mrs. L. H. Fuller is chairman of the auxiliary of the Travelers' Protective association and has been assisted by an able corps of women throughout the entire week.

Popular Couple Plights Troth In Trinity Chapel

TRINITY chapel was the scene of the marriage of Miss Stella King to George Morgan McBride of Seattle Saturday morning. The service was read in the presence of about 80 guests, friends and relatives of the bride couple, at about 11:30 o'clock, the Rev. A. A. Morrison officiating.

The bride was smartly groomed in a baller of tan tulle, worn with a chic hat of brown straw. In place of the usual bridal bouquet she carried a quaint white prayer book from which hung a cluster of spray orchids with white ribbons streamer. Mrs. Cleveland Cate, sister of the bride, groomed in a modish frock of blue-tricolette and a small blue hat, was her only attendant. Pomeroy Simeon of Portland attended the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the immediate families only at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Sarah King, in Park street. Mr. and Mrs. McBride left for British Columbia, where they will spend a few days before going to Spokane and thence to Tacoma, where they will make their home.

Out of town visitors for the wedding were Miss Elizabeth McBride, sister of the bridegroom, from Seattle; Mrs. J. Hous of Spokane, and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell E. Kern (Jean Stevens) of Pendleton.

Miss Marian Hilton will entertain on Monday afternoon at an informal tea for Miss Blanche Wilson, bride-elect of Lester Capell, Gunther of New York city. About 30 of the young friends of the guest of honor have been invited for the occasion.
