COX PROFITS BY ADOO WITHDRAWAL

Yet Nomination May Be Thrust on McAdoo, Who Is Hoover of Hour, Says Lawrence; Bryan
Looms Up Like Hiram Johnson.

By David Lawrence
(Copyright, 1929)
San Francisco, June 23.—Governor Cox of Ohio has profited most by the effort of William Gibbs McAdoo to eliminate himself from the list of avowed candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination. That isn't saying Cox will be nominated, for the situation has hardly crystallized and the real purposes of Messrs. Wilson and McAdoo have not yet carried conviction with the delegates. They can't believe that Mr. Wilson wants a third term and they can't believe Mr. McAdoo doesn't want the nomination.

Yet the truth is so simple and so obvious that delegates are reluctant to credit it. There are some facts upon which the reader can base his own conclusions:

1. President Wilson talked for one hour and a half with Homer Cummings, Democratic national chairman, at the White House three weeks ago and never showed the slightest interest in his own political future, nor did he express any preference as between candidates.

2. Mr. Cummings is in constant touch by wire with the White House and is really the president's main channel of communication with this convention and if a stampede or movement for Wilson were to be started, Cummings would know of it and all the newspapers talk of a third term for Mr. Wilson is incomprehensible to Mr. Cummings.

3. Mr. McAdoo never intended to be an active candidate for the nomination but his friends have always understood that he would accept if drafted by the national convention. All plans were made (Continued on Page Thirteen, Col. One)

CHINA IS FIRM IN PROTEST TO JAPAN

Peking, June 23.—(U. P.)—The Chinese government in a note to Japan retains its strong position against direct negotiation of the Shantung controversy.

The note was in reply to the second note from Japan in which Japan urged direct negotiations between China and Japan.

China must have a voice in all treaties and alliances affecting her sovereignty, the note declares. China did not sign the peace treaty and consequently refuses to observe its stipulations. It states:

The note says China cannot negotiate in connection with a contract to which China is not a party.

The note concludes with the statement that Japanese troops should have been withdrawn from Chinese soil long ago. Japan recently offered to conduct negotiations on the basis of the Versailles treaty.

The marching Socialists refused to disperse when confronted by the military and promiscuous shooting followed.

Numerous arrests were made. A general strike impends.

Hiram Johnson Is Rarin' to Go Despite Defeat At G. O. P. Meet

Sacramento, Cal., June 23.—(U. P.)—In his first speech since his defeat in the Chicago Republican convention, Senator Hiram W. Johnson this afternoon declared that he is not yet "out of the fight" and the day shall come "when the people shall prevail rather than a few international bankers sitting in conference in Chicago."

Johnson made the speech from the steps of a passenger coach of the Overland Limited, which stopped here at 1:30 this afternoon, following shouts of "speech" from several hundred Sacramentoans who had gathered there to greet him.

The senator said:
"There was no compromise from my supporters. It was a delightful fight. I say I would rather have been defeated with 26 California delegates supporting me than have won without the support of California."

"It doesn't make any difference how many men sit in conference in the Blackstone hotel and say 'the people be damned,' when the people respond as they did. I am determined in the fight to come that the people shall prevail rather than a few international bankers sitting in Chicago."

Shortly before addressing the crowd, Johnson greeted his father, Grove L. Johnson.

"We have one thing to be proud of," the California senator said to the elder Johnson, "and that is we received the support of the people. The delegates were 'bought out,' but we couldn't help that."

MINING ENGINEER ROBBED OF $1025

Robbed of close to $1025 in currency and drugged by unknown assailants, Tom Smith, Butte mining engineer, was found in the doorway of the First National bank Tuesday night by the police.

He was rushed to the Emergency hospital where his right hand, badly bruised, was treated. He was in a dazed condition from the drug.

Smith told the police he struck up an acquaintance with two men Tuesday afternoon. Tuesday night he had a drink with them in a downtown hotel, according to his statement. It was then he was drugged and robbed, he believes, for he does not remember what followed.

He left the Emergency hospital early this morning. Smith refused treatment other than to allow the dressing of his injured hand.

LAST CARAVAN DRAWS UP TO CHARMED CITY

Pilgrims From Far and Near End
Journey to Portland Oasis; 74
Bands Here; Costumes Worth
Millions; 103 Temples Come.

Shrinedom's sands were hot under the feet of more than 75,000 visitors today, following the arrival of the last caravan that participated in the long trek to the oasis of Portland.

The desert blossoms as the rose while fellowship and friendliness on every hand bring visitors and residents together in the greatest orgy of fun and frolic Portland has known.

CONVENTION RECORD BREAKER
The Mystic Shrine has given Portland the honor of entertaining the greatest convention ever held in any American city.

An estimate of registration figures by the general committee brought forth the fact that 75,000 Shriners were registered Tuesday evening, with a possibility of an additional 10,000.

Announcement of the registration figures was made by Mark Woodruff, general secretary, who said:
"The greatest attendance at any previous convention was at Los Angeles in 1912, when the Shrine set a record of 68,000."

ROPES ARE EXCEEDED

From distant points of Shrinedom, visitors continued to pour into the city all day Tuesday. Seventeen special trains arrived during the morning, some in time to allow their occupants to join the morning parade of patrols and bands in honor of the imperial potentate.

It was originally estimated that 60,000, possibly 65,000 Shriners might come to the convention, but the total was evidently swelled by the great number of members who came from nearby points. Nearly every Shriner within a radius of 500 miles of the Rose City is here for the greatest of all conventions.

163 TEMPLES REPRESENTED
With the last of the special Shrine trains here some realization of the scope of the convention may be obtained.

DEAD, WOUNDED LIE IN STREETS

London, June 23.—(I. N. S.)—The pitched battle at Londonderry between Sinn Feiners and Unionists continues and many dead and wounded are lying in the streets, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from the Irish city this afternoon.

No further British reinforcements had arrived when the dispatch was sent.

Dennis Henry, attorney general for Ireland, announced in the house of commons that he had received a message from Londonderry timed 10 o'clock this morning and that the message said all was quiet in the city at that hour.

HEAVY FIRING IS HEARD IN STREETS, BELFAST REPORTS
Belfast, June 23.—(I. N. S.)—One person was killed and several others wounded in another outbreak of street fighting between Unionists and Sinn Feiners at Londonderry during the night.

This fresh outbreak of hostilities followed a brief lull Tuesday afternoon.

A telephone message from a Londonderry suburb early today said unusually heavy rifle fire was heard in the city for a period of three minutes "succeeded by a significant silence."

Mt. Vernon Banker Found Dead Under Overturned Auto

Baker, June 23.—James A. Pope of Mt. Vernon, 55 years old, prominent Grant county stockman and rancher and vice president of the Bank of Prairie City, was found dead under an overturned automobile one and one half miles from Mt. Vernon early this morning.

The car had been run off the road upon a grade, according to word received in Baker, and Pope's injuries indicate that death was instantaneous. Bowman is not believed to be in danger.

The men left Canyon City by automobile Tuesday night for Mount Vernon, and when they did not reach their destination a search was started. The accident is believed to have occurred after midnight. Pope was a pioneer of Grant county. He is survived by a son, Judd Pope, and a daughter, Mrs. Mildred Hayes of Mount Vernon. A brother, William A. Pope, lives in Baker.

Moore Confesses That He Killed Harry Dubinsky; Exonerates Pal

Changing his original confession in the part he played in the murder of Harry Dubinsky, for-hire car driver who was beaten to death and thrown into the Willamette river at Oregon City 10 days ago, George Moore has admitted to Deputy District Attorney Bernard that he it was who had wielded the weapon, and not Russell Brake, his companion.

Bernard admitted today that the confession had been made, but refused to discuss the situation further, announcing that the statement was taken by him for District Attorney Gilbert Hedges of Clackamas county and would be turned over to Hedges.

Since the arrest of himself and Brake a few days ago, Moore has been in the Multnomah county jail, where he has been in association with other prisoners.

District Attorney Evans believes the other prisoners, many hardened criminals, have been working on Moore, twisting him for making the original confession which laid the main blame upon Brake. This constant nagging may have had something to do with breaking down the lad, Evans declares.

Outside of admitting that Moore now practically clears Brake of active part in the crime, Bernard made no statement of an admission of guilt. It is understood that Hedges will place the new confession before the Clackamas county grand jury.

ANOTHER SHOCK IS FELT IN SOUTH

Los Angeles, Cal., June 23.—Today started off with another earthquake which caused Los Angeles and vicinity to tremble. It occurred at 4:20 this morning and was sufficiently strong to awaken sleepers, but apparently no damage was done. It was not as heavy as the shake which occurred at 12:36 yesterday afternoon.

Inglewood, Los Angeles suburb, which suffered as the center of the earthquake disturbances which rocked this city and vicinity was well on its way toward reconstruction today, refusing all offers of outside assistance which poured in from all over the country.

There was one more faint tremor felt since the slight quake, which was so slight as to do no additional damage. The tremor occurred about 4 o'clock this morning, and was inconsequential.

The Inglewood water supply situation, which threatened a famine, has been met and new mains are being laid where the tremor had broken connections.

There are no homeless people in Inglewood, the townspeople reported, and the situation is well in hand.

Many persons claimed to have felt slight tremors during the night, but there being no recording instrument here, it is impossible to authenticate these reports. In Inglewood, a large proportion of the people slept outside last night, while many others left the town to stay with friends in places more removed from the disturbed center. Men deputized by the town marshal, stood guard during the night, watching chiefly for fires.

Scientists attributed the series of quakes to a local slip of the Pacific coast earth fault which extends almost the entire length of the coast. They did not look for more heavy shakes and considered the quake period about over.

The Inglewood cemetery today presents probably the most striking sight of the entire quake period.

John B. Yeon Knows
Highway, but Proves
Modest Regarding It

Modesty exemplified itself Tuesday in the person of J. B. Yeon, one of the builders of the Columbia River highway. Yeon has donated his automobiles to Shriners for the week. Tuesday he took a load of nobles over the road. One of the men called on Ira F. Powers after the drive and said, "I'd like to reserve that car and driver for tomorrow. That man certainly knows a lot about the highway and told us many interesting things."

"Didn't he tell you he is?" asked Powers.
"No," responded the Shriner.
"Well," answered Powers, "he ought to know a lot about the highway. He is the man who built it. I never thought he would be that modest."

Now the Shriner wants to get Yeon's car more than ever.

The meeting was called by Gavin McNab, who denied today that any attempt had been planned to swing these states to Governor Cox.

"These states merely wish to confer on matters of peculiar interest to our section," said McNab. He is national committeeman for California.

The eight states are those west of and including Wyoming.

Need 5000 Cars to Entertain Shriners

Five thousand automobiles are idle in Portland. At least 5,000 visiting Shriners are unable to enjoy the delights of the Columbia river highway and other scenic drives because Portland people will not volunteer the use of their cars.

We have invited these and other thousands of visitors to Portland. We must entertain them, as we have promised, and are now obliged to do," says Ira F. Powers, chairman of the automobile committee.

There is no gasoline shortage during this week. All the gas required will be sold to cars used to entertain Shriners.

TACOMA MAN CHOSEN HEAD OF SHRINERS

Ellis Lewis Garretson Is Successor to Imperial Potentate Kendrick; Geo. L. Baker May Get Office That Leads to Throne.

Ellis Lewis Garretson of Tacoma was elevated to the post of imperial potentate of the Imperial Council of the Mystic Shrine at an adjourned meeting of the council at The Auditorium this morning.

Thus to Affili temple's member comes the highest honor within the gift of Shrinedom. The new potentate has for years been an energetic and tireless worker for the order and his election, friends and fellow Shriners freely declare, will only prove further incentive to his ambitions for the welfare of the Shrine.

Ernest A. Cutts of Savannah, Ga., was elected imperial deputy potentate and James S. McCandless of Honolulu, T. H., was named imperial chief rabban.

CONTEST OVER DYKEMAN
A sharp contest developed in the election for the post of imperial assistant rabban, vacated by the elevation of McCandless. In the natural order, Conrad V. Dykeman of Klamet temple, Brooklyn, N. Y., imperial high priest and prophet, would have advanced to assistant rabban without contest.

When nominations were called for Dykeman was proposed. Immediately afterwards John T. Jones of India temple, Oklahoma City, was named. Jones was imperial high priest and prophet preceding Dykeman's incumbency of the office, but was not advanced at the 1919 council in Indianapolis, due to some internal question arising.

There was no discussion of these nominations this morning, although much quiet talk has gone on since representatives assembled in Portland, and when the vote was taken Dykeman was given the post by a vote of 284 to 156. This means if Jones ever seeks imperial honors again, he will have to begin at the bottom.

OTHER OFFICERS FILLED
James E. Chandler, imperial oriental guide, of Ararat temple, Kansas City, was elevated to be high priest and prophet.

James C. Burger, present imperial first ceremonial master, was elected imperial oriental guide. Burger represents El Jebel temple, El Paso, Colo.

David W. Croeland, Alcazar temple, Montgomery, Ala., imperial second ceremonial master, was elected imperial first ceremonial master.

Clarence M. Dunbar, Palestine temple, Providence, R. I., imperial marshal, was elected imperial second ceremonial master.

Frank C. Jones, Arabia temple, Houston, Texas, imperial captain of the guard, was elected imperial marshal.

Leo V. Youngworth, Al Malakiah temple, Los Angeles, imperial outer guard, was made imperial captain of the guard.

VEETERANS ARE SELECTED
As was expected, the two old veterans of the imperial council, men who held their positions when some of those now high in the ranks were not even members, were re-elected without contest.

These men have each held the same office for 26 years without a break, and the session started after a twenty-seventh terms. Their reelection this morning, with genuine enthusiasm at the hands of the councilors.

The real fireworks of the election started just before noon when nominations for the post of imperial outer guard were called for.

Breezy Bits of News From Shrinedom's Mecca, the Oasis of Portland.

Have you shaken hands with "Tom Tekete"? Who is he? Why, the tiny monkey mascot of Alind temple, East St. Louis, who's just about as big as your hand. According to R. R. Bennett, who stands with him on the fair sex shake hands with him, he was captured this morning in a tree at Atlanta, Ga., during a meeting of the imperial council in 1914. Of course he's just a cloth monkey, but if you're one of the "fair" ones let him give you the grip and just see if it doesn't give you a thrill.

But Kelly doesn't spend all his time with monkeys. He is the manufacturer of "Fat Back Hog Fodder" and intends to make some money in Portland, and tell us all how to raise our loaf. Then, too, he's in charge of the Alind temple's chancery. C. T. Ruckert also here from East St. Louis, where he is in the commission business, but right now he bosses Alind's buggies. Arthur O'Leary, one of the police commissioners of East St. Louis, is also with the same temple.
