

MRS. WILLIAM H. DAUGHTREY JR., whose marriage was an event of Monday evening at Westminster Presbyterian church. Mrs. Daughtrey was Miss Helen Buckley before her marriage. Mrs. Addison P. Knapp, another bride of the past week, whose wedding took place Saturday evening. Mrs. Knapp was Miss Margaret Marvin before her marriage.

Miss Buckley's Wedding Very Brilliant Event

WESTMINSTER Presbyterian church was on Monday evening the scene of one of the brilliant weddings of the season, when Miss Mary Helen Buckley became the bride of William H. Daughtrey Jr. The service was read in the presence of more than 400 guests by the Rev. Edward H. Pence.

Tall white cathedral tapers shed their glow over the summer blossoms, arranged in baskets, with feathery green and relieved by variegated garden flowers in tones in harmony with the gowns of the fair young bridesmaids. J. Hutchinson played the wedding march, which followed a prelude of bridal music.

The ushers included Robert Burnside, Fulton Magill, Richard Ransom, Glenn Frank. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Henry Calvin Buckley.

For her wedding gown the bride chose a model of heavy ivory satin, cut with full court train which hung from the shoulders in straight lines. The wedding veil was edged with real lace applique and was held in place by a coronet of pearls and orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was of orchids, gardenias and lilies of the valley.

The four bridesmaids wore gowns of pastel tinted organdie with picture hats of tulle to match. The groom's escort included the Misses Janet Peters, Lucille McClung, Margaret Versteege and Elizabeth Wiggins. Miss Adele Sanford of Seattle, cousin of the bride, wore a frock of peach tinted organdie with hat to match and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and roses.

The bride's procession was led by little Virginia Mail as flower girl, who wore a frock of dainty white net and carried a basket of roses. Little George Earl Chamberlain was her escort.

Raymond James Buckley, brother of the bride, was the bridegroom's only attendant.

Following the church ceremony a large reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in Irvington. The rooms were adorned with baskets of delphinium, sweet peas and Cecil Brunner roses. Receiving with the bridal couple were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Calvin Buckley and William H. Daughtrey. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. James E. Cameron, Mrs. Doris Smith Noble and Mrs. A. H. McCurtain.

An orchestra furnished music during the evening and in the dining room the wedding collation was served. Presiding at the table were Mrs. Charles T. Chamberlain, Mrs. Samuel P. Lockwood, Mrs. Ralph H. Burnside and Mrs. M. C. Mace. Assisting in serving the guests were Mrs. John Mortimer Bruhn, Miss Elizabeth Peters, Miss Edna Pence, Miss Elizabeth Kirby, Miss Louise Walker, Miss Elizabeth Patton, Miss Arlene Cameron and Miss Marian Lawrence.

Mr. and Mrs. Daughtrey left for British Columbia for a brief wedding trip. They will make their home in Solvay Court apartments in Irvington.

Summer blossoms decked the rooms of the residence of Mrs. Robert M. Silknitter at 953 Levern street, Friday afternoon, when she entertained with Mrs. Julia La Barre at a tea honoring Mrs. Mason Hagan, who will leave early in September for a trip around the world. At the tea hour Mrs. Albert B. Combs and Miss Imogene Seton assisted the hostesses in serving the guests.

Portland Man Wins Belle in Eugene as Bride

MISS FRANCES CHRISTINE GARRET of Eugene became the bride of Charles Wilson Herschberger last week. The service was read by the Rev. William Moll Case at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Garrett in Fairmount, Eugene.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. W. M. Case sang the bridal hymn. The wedding march was played by Mrs. J. B. Patterson. The bride wore a gray suit and wisteria colored georgette hat and carried a Colonial bouquet. Her maid of honor, Harriet Garrett, wore a gown of peacock blue. Her flowers were a corsage of gladiolus. Colfax McPherson of Portland was best man. The bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Garrett. During the past year she has been supervisor of art in the Portland schools. She was graduated from the Art Institute at Chicago in 1918 and studied at the Universities of Oregon and California.

Mr. Herschberger is a business man of this city and the young couple will make their home at 539 Montgomery drive. Out-of-town guests attending the ceremony were Mrs. J. F. Herschberger of Portland, mother of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stillman of Salem, John Gilbert of Salem and Colfax McPherson of Portland.

The Rev. A. L. Black was guest of honor Tuesday evening at a farewell reception given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Rifer. Mr. Black is giving up his pastorate at the University Park Baptist church and with his family will leave the city soon to take up another field. On this occasion Mr. and Mrs. Black were the recipients of a handsome gift from the members of the congregation in appreciation of their services while in Portland. Several musical numbers given by the young people of the church furnished diversion for the evening, and light refreshments were served. On Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Black were honored at a dinner given by Miss Della Howard and her classmates in the Sunday school. The dining room was attractively decorated in ferns and roses and covers were placed for 15 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Thomas, prominent residents of Tacoma, are spending a few days in the city and are guests at the Hotel Portland.

Scout Young Auxiliary No. 3, United Spanish War Veterans, will give a "50¢" card party at their hall, 523 courthouse, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Nellie Hanthorne of Welsch,

MRS. HAROLD WENDELL, who will appear as "Laura" in the drama league's production of the "Man Who Always Laughs" at the Little theatre on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Idaho, who spends her summers in Portland, has arrived in the city and is established at Alexandra Court.

The Misses Vida and Margueretta Marshall will entertain informally at bridge Wednesday afternoon at their home in Alexandra Court.

Miss Marvin Is Made Bride of A. P. Knapp

MISS MARGARET EVELYN MARVIN became the bride of Addison P. Knapp Saturday evening at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas. The service was read in the presence of a company of friends and relatives by the Rev. William Wealthy Howard at 9 o'clock. The rooms were flower decked for the occasion and the service was read in an impressive manner.

For her wedding gown the young bride chose a model of heavy ivory toned satin, cut round length and worn without a train. The wedding veil was of tulle and was fastened by a cap mode headpiece. The bouquet was of orchids and white sweet peas. Mrs. Thomas, sister of the bride, was her only attendant and wore a smart frock of peach toned georgette crepe, with which she carried a lovely bouquet of blue delphinium and roses.

Following the ceremony the wedding collation was served in the dining room. Mrs. Gustave E. Bruen and Mrs. A. W. Clarke presided at the table. Assisting in serving the guests were the Misses Dorothy McGuire and Elizabeth Ducey. Mrs. Harold Sanford and Mrs. Robert Bernal presided at the punch bowl.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Marvin and has a wide circle of friends in Portland. Mr. Knapp was a student at the University of California. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Knapp. Following a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Knapp will make their home in Portland on Columbia boulevard.

A wedding of interest to Portland friends is that of Miss Rose Marian Maxwell to Martin H. Schade of this city, which took place in Stamford, Conn., at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was witnessed by a large company of friends and relatives of the bridal couple. Grace Taylor Maxwell, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. George P. Douglas of New York was best man.

Among the guests at the wedding was Martin Schade of Portland, grandfather of the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Schade of 558 First street, this city. The bride was for some time engaged in war work. Mr. Schade, who was a student at the University of Oregon, was in service with a chemical engineering corps and for some time was in charge of important work with the Edgewood Arsenal of Stamford, Mr. and Mrs. Schade will make their home at 128 Decarie boulevard, Notre Dame de Grace, Montreal.

Miss Mary Hieb Becomes Bride; Pretty Wedding

MISS MARY HIEB became the bride of Ray Denning March at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Hieb, in Irvington, Thursday evening. J. Winchester Carey of Kallispell, Mont., was best man, and Miss Martha Hieb, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bride wore a blue taffeta suit with ribbon hat of corresponding shade, and a corsage bouquet of white roses and sweetpeas. The maid of honor was gowned in midnight blue taffeta, with maline hat, and carried shaded deep pink snapdragons.

The ceremony was performed in a bower of roses and ferns combined with white lilies and glowing candles. Preceding the wedding march, Grier's "Daybreak" was played by Lawrence Woodfin, assisted by Christian Pool, cellist, and Vern Isom, violinist, after which Mr. Woodfin sang "Oh, Promise Me." During the double ring ceremony, performed by Dr. E. H. Pence, the trio played "At Dawning."

A wedding breakfast was served, Mrs. George Hazen and Mrs. Henry Damsman assisting. The bride, a beautiful and charming girl, is a talented pianist. Mr. March is an official of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company.

After spending several months in California, Mr. and Mrs. March will make their home in Seattle.

A wedding of interest was an event of June 19, when Miss Grace Lucile Wells became the bride of James Douglas McCauley at the residence of Dr. B. J. Hoadley. The ceremony was witnessed by the immediate family relatives. Miss Florence Brown was maid of honor and the bridegroom was attended by his brother, Chandler McCauley. In the evening a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Adams, sister and brother-in-law of the bride, at which nearly a hundred guests were present. In the dining room Mrs. Ira White, Mrs. Charles G. Adams and Mrs. George F. Keck of Chicago cut the loaves. The punch bowl was presided over by Mrs. Joseph Du Bois. For her wedding the bride wore a smart tulle of blue tricotine with hat to match. Her flowers were a corsage of roses and lavender sweet peas. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Emma Wells and was born and educated in the Portland school. Mr. McCauley is a son of Mr. and Mrs. M. McCauley of Portland and is a University of Oregon man. After a short trip Mr. and Mrs. McCauley will be at home at 749 East Ankeny street.

Performances at Little Theatre Are Anticipated

SOCIETY is anticipating with interest the performances at the Little Theatre, Monday and Tuesday evenings, when the three one act prize plays will be presented by Drama League players. Two more changes have been made in the casting of the plays, owing to illness among those who had planned to carry the roles. In "Backgrounds," by Miss Susie Aubrey Smith, the part of the man of 30 will be taken by Glen Quillet. In "Back Door Neighbors," by Mrs. Edwin Seeley Parsons, another change has been made resulting in the casting of Miss Margaret Hughes in the role taken by Ruth Graham Case.

During the past week rehearsals have been carried on under trying conditions, owing to the difficulty of concentrating on the work when there are parades and bands playing and other holiday attractions to divert the attention of the players. However, George Natanson reports that favorable progress has been made and that the plays will be presented at scheduled time as if there had been no interruption. Patrons for the plays include Mrs. Joseph Nathan Teal, Mrs. Walter V. Smith and Miss Genevieve Thompson.

A very simple but pretty wedding occurred in Everett, Wash., June 15, when Miss Nellie Keener, formerly of this city and who for the past three years has been teaching music and art in the Tacoma public schools, was married to William J. Howard of Portland. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. C. W. Sherman. The service was read beneath an improvised arch of lilies, white and pink roses. Interwoven in this background were numerous small colored electric lights. Baskets of pink roses tied with fluffy pink tulle bows were placed about the rooms. The bride wore a gown of white ruffled organdie over white satin with which she carried an armful of white roses tied with white tulle. The bride's only attendant was Miss Olive Coleson of this city, who was gowned in pink organdie over pink satin with which she wore a pink georgette picture hat and carried sweet peas. Fred Keener, the bride's brother, acted as
