

PLANE IS WRECKED IN FORCED LANDING

Forced to make a sudden landing an airplane of the O. K. Jeffery company, piloted by Captain McClurg, was wrecked shortly after noon Sunday near the Westmoreland aviation field.

Captain McClurg, Robert Lovering, the mechanic, and Hal Grady, who is connected with the company, were in the machine. They had just hopped off to make a flight to Salem. As they started the gasoline feed pipe broke and Captain McClurg was forced to descend from a height of 300 feet. To avoid hitting a fence and a sidewalk, McClurg crashed his plane on a wheat field at Twenty-first and Knapp streets. No one was injured.

Victim Bound and Gagged; Coin Taken

F. E. Birmingham, an employee of the Twentieth Century Grocery company, reported to the police Sunday that he had been held up in his room at the Rowland hotel, Fifth and Salmon streets, early Sunday morning, and had had $50 taken from him. According to Birmingham's report, two men, one masked and carrying a revolver, entered his room at the point of the gun, to give them his money. They left him bound and gagged and he was unable to free himself for some time.

Cupid Too Quick for Baker Deputy; Wife Fixes Things Up O.K.

"I pronounce you man and wife," said the minister, concluding the marriage ceremony of Jeanne Mallory, John Day school teacher, and Aubrey C. Curtis of Baker, when in stepped Deputy Sheriff Herbert of Baker county and took the bridegroom into custody on the charge of passing bad checks.

But cupid's work was well done. Mrs. Curtis immediately covered the checks, Curtis claims to have served in the Canadian army and says he won the Victoria cross, which he was unable to produce.

Wash Day Night

makes a Thor Electric Washer more to be prized than jewels.

MRS. JONES

washes in the old fashioned way with wash tub and board. Monday is the bluest possible day. She does her duty, but oh, how tired she is by night! The children aggravate her, and she faces ironing day Tuesday morning! She longs to be a modern, well read woman, but such things as this old fashioned way of washing take all her strength and time.

MRS. BROWN

her next door neighbor has just bought a Thor Electric Washer. She feeds her clothes into the Thor, closes the lid and goes off and does her work in other parts of the house, or even markets while the Thor placidly keeps on washing gently. In an hour or so all the clothes are washed, and with the electric wringer they are soon ready for the clothes line. As soon as they are dry Mrs. Brown puts them through the Simplex ironer. By evening all the week's washing and ironing are finished and Mrs. Brown is as fresh as she was in the morning, ready to play and sing to her husband or to talk about whatever he is most interested in.

Mrs. Brown would not part with her Thor Washing Machine and Simplex ironer for double the prices she paid for them; neither would Mr. Brown.

Thor electric washers with stationary wringer $150.

Thor electric washers with swinging wringer $160.

Simplex electric ironers heated with gas are $178.
