Stage, Screen, Woman's Realm

THE SUNDAY JOURNAL next Sunday will contain another installment of its history of romance, tragedy and mystery. The forthcoming installment will be of particular interest because it is the "Portland end" of the case.

Eta Alpha Wins Silver Cup at Convention

BY Helen H. Hutchison
ETA ALPHA chapter of Chi Omega (Oregon Agricultural college) brought great honor to the coast by winning the silver cup at national convention which was held recently in Whittier Springs, Tenn. The cup is awarded on the basis of good scholarship, womanly attainments, social service work and progressive activities. It was formally presented to the Portland Chi Omegas at a tea last Sunday, given at the home of Mrs. Joan Hogshire. Miss Lucille Ream, the delegate, was guest of honor. Among the local members of this chapter are Mrs. William D. Wheelwright, Mrs. Thomas Van Orsdal, Mrs. Edna Wright, Naomi Beckwith, Dorothea Koerber, Jean Kelly, Kate Kelly, Florence Holmes, Lucille Resing, Mary Holmes, Helen Dahlberg, Mrs. May Kelly, Mary Laura Myers, Bess Welch, Mary Appleby, Edna Minnow, Edna Holcomb, Hazel Cole, Helen Cole, Phyllis Crawford, Bess Ford, Lois Pettinger, Nancy Gavin, Mildred Rothchild and Helen Young.

MRS. WILLIAM H. DAVIS, who was Miss Louise Wolff of Portland before her recent marriage.

July 12, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Davis, in Haight avenue. The marriage of the young people was quietly solemnized July 8. For the reception the rooms were decorated in Dorothy Perkins roses and sweetpeas, placed in artistic arrangement in baskets, as a centerpiece for the dining table. Mr. and Mrs. Nesvold will make their home at 801 Haight avenue.

Mrs. Cameron Smith is a visitor in Seattle at the home of Miss Catherine Collins. Mrs. Squires expected to remain in the northern city about a fortnight. She was a guest of honor at a dinner, Friday evening, at the Sunset club. Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Burgard will be hosts for the card party to be given at Laurelhurst club, Thursday evening. Miss Dorothy Hill is spending the summer in the mountains of Eastern Oregon. Miss Marjorie Bennett is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Houghson at Bayocean.

A Wee Bit Personal

The criticism, if it can be called such, offered by some reviewers on "Humoresque," the big picture of New York East Side life, which has been one of the hits of the year, is that it has a happy ending. Frank Borzage, who directed the picture, answers this by making a frank admission that the filmed story was given a pleasant denouement as a concession to popular demand. Ninety per cent for all audiences will have nothing else, he declares.

Daily Fashion Hint

The annual picnic of the deacons auxiliaries will be held Thursday at Laurelhurst park. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock. Coffee will be provided to add to the lunch. An interesting program is arranged for the afternoon.

A picnic and hike to Eagle Creek is planned by Community Service girls and their friends for Sunday, July 25. Trucks will leave the Northwestern Bank building at 8:30 a. m. Those wishing to attend must register Thursday at the Community Service office, 438 Northwestern Bank building, Samuel Lancaster, who engineered the construction of the Columbia highway, has accepted an invitation to be the honor guest on this outing.

An event of interest was the wedding reception of Miss Mabel Dawson and Reuben K. Nesvold, which took place

THE Stroller notices

THAT through the kindness of newly-made friends we enjoyed a happy automobile ride last evening.

That we left flower-bordered streets lined with pretty homes to wind round and round to the crest of Mt. Taber.

That it was hard to believe that at one time the mountain spouted steam and molten lava.

That scientists said that such was the case.

That we won't worry about it now.

That the band was playing in the park.

That hundreds of people were enjoying the music.

That there should be traffic officers on duty there to guide the motorists and prevent traffic congestion.

That the lamp standards in the park would be much more practical were they fitted with lights for which they were intended.

That they may be somewhat ornamental as they are but they are far from being useful.

That the colored lights make fantastic effects as they play on the fountains in the reservoirs.

That it is an inspiration to watch from the mountainside as the street lights are being turned on between the twilight and darkness.

That they glitter like diamonds, or like giant fireflies at play in a marvelous woodland.

That one can contemplate it in reverence and almost wonder indeed if it is real.

That it is doubtful if Portland people generally realize that such a splendid spectacle is staged every evening in a vast natural amphitheatre.

That the kiddies thought it was wonderful.

That the older folks agreed with them.

WITH AUTHOR AND PUBLISHER

"Leerie" is the title and touchstone of Ruth Sawyer's latest novel, which she has just published at Hillside. The joyous disposition which made all the patients in her ward call Sheila O'Leary "Leerie" for short—and for affection—promptly made her a guest of honor to her, and in the end gave courage to the favored one among them when she put him to a test which would have discouraged any but a real man. This is the story of Leerie's life as a nurse—how she insisted upon taking the unusual and most difficult cases and was so engrossed with her work that she almost failed to fall in love with "the finest gentleman in the land" when he came along.

THE GUESS BEDTIME STORIES

Nimbleheels Is Thankful

By Thornton W. Burgess
A purpose you will always find in everything, unless you're blind.

REDDY FOX soon gave up hunting for Nimbleheels the Jumping Mouse. There is one thing about Reddy which some other people might learn to their advantage: he never wastes time uselessly. When he lost track of Nimbleheels, he waited three hours jumping. Reddy simply ran this way and that way with his nose to the ground until he was quite sure that Nimbleheels was well along on his way. He waited some time to make sure he was right. He waited once in disappointment, then trotted off toward the Smiling Pool to try to catch some frogs for his dinner.

When he was out of sight Peter Rabbit came out from the bramble-tangle on the edge of the Green Forest and hopped over to the place where Nimbleheels had been jumping for his life. "If Reddy Fox couldn't find Nimbleheels it is useless for me to look for him," thought Peter. "I wonder if he will show himself if I thump. He can't help but hear me, and if he has as much sense in that little head of his as I think he has he'll know that it wouldn't be here if there was any danger about."

So Peter thumped two or three times with his long hind feet, a way Peter has of doing things. "I wonder if my friends. Then he sat still and waited. He didn't have long to wait.

"Well, Peter Rabbit, what are you doing over there and what were you thumping for just now?" asked a high, squeaky voice, which seemed to come almost from under Peter's very feet.

"That they glitter like diamonds, or like giant fireflies at play in a marvelous woodland."

"That one can contemplate it in reverence and almost wonder indeed if it is real."

"That it is doubtful if Portland people generally realize that such a splendid spectacle is staged every evening in a vast natural amphitheatre."

"That the kiddies thought it was wonderful."

"That the older folks agreed with them."

The Answer Column

Perplexed—Cheer up, friend; you shouldn't take such a pessimistic view of life. You're not alone in your troubles as bad as they're painted. J. Warren Kerrigan is still unmarried. He loves to get letters from fans, and is sure that you will be a great help to him. Write him at 1452 Fleming street, Los Angeles, Cal.

Constance—No, we do not think your question is answered. You are glad to have your letters. The fact that you only want to know so you can tell your friends shows that you are not silly and are not thinking of running off to movie land to get into the pictures. Write to us whenever you have a question about actors or pictures and we will try to help you.

Thomas Meighan is 38. He is married to Frances Ring, one of the three Ring sisters. Charles Meredith is married to Melba Melrose. Wanda Hawley is 26 years old.

E. T. B.—Norma is the only one of the three large sisters. Her husband is Joseph M. Schenck and he is president of the company producing her pictures. Norma's most recent picture is "Yes and No," straight in the distance 29. Natalie, who is the middle sister, has appeared in minor roles with Norma and Constance.

Florence—Lasky recently signed a contract with Lasky for five years. "Wally" was born in St. Louis, Mo., in 1893. His stage career consisted of a part in his father's sketch "The Girl and the Ranger." He broke into pictures with the Vitaphone company when his father sold the scenery and suggested that they get "Wally" to play the juvenile lead in it. He shifted from Vitaphone to Selig, to Universal, to Griffith's and then to Lasky's.

Ima Fan—Pearl White has given up making serials and is now starred in features by Fox. Yes, Mary McLaughlin and Katherine May are sisters.

Jo—Rosemary Thery is the girl who used to play opposite Harry Meyers. She has the leading feminine role opposite Henry B. Waltham in "The Girl and the Ranger." Never heard of your friend Graham.

J. A.—Judging from your letter you must have been seeing a lot of ancient pictures, some going back as far as the old Edison days. Brownie Vergon is not playing opposite Franklyn Farnum anymore. Clara Kimball Young was starred in "My Official Wife." Ruth Stonehouse and Margaret Marshall had leading feminine roles in "The Master Mystery."

Evelyn—Mabel and Edith Tallaferro are sisters. George and Dolly Larklin have been divorced. George is now married to Ollie Kirby.

Fannie—The manish woman who plays the part of an efficiency expert in "The Perfect Woman" with Constance Talmadge is Lucia Mackus Seger, who has been playing character parts on the stage in pictures for years. No, I really don't believe she enjoyed smoking those cigars.

Curious—Herbert Standing is probably the oldest actor on the screen. He is 70 years old. Bobby Kello of Minneapolis, who is not yet 2 and who recently was given a part in King Vidor's "Back-Knife Man," is probably the youngest. The other ages you request are as follows: Mary McLaughlin, 10 years; Nazamova, 10; Theda Bara, 30; Marguerite Clark, 33; and Frankie Lee, 8 years.

Hazel Eves—Betty Compson played opposite Thomas Meighan in "The Miracle Man." Meighan is married, and his wife is Frances Ring. He is 38, six feet tall and weighs 190 pounds. He has brown hair and blue eyes. He was born in Pittsburg, Pa., and his address is Lasky, Hollywood, Cal.

J. A. L.—No, Mary Pickford is not a native of this country. She was born in Toronto, Canada, 26 years ago. She has a golden hair.

James—Annette Kellerman has left the stage temporarily. She has not appeared in the films. There's no doubt about her being a wonderful swimmer. Twentieth Century's Chaplin's last picture was "A Day's Pleasure" and has four more to make under his First National contract.

MRS. VALEN L. GUILD (Hazel Colgan) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Colgan, a bride of recent date.

Policeman Steps In to Prevent a 'Movie' Assault

California policemen are still unwise to the ways of the movies—and they spoiled a perfectly good scene in the making for "Up in Mary's Attic," the comedy-drama sensation.

Harry Gribben, who plays the leading male role, was being "induced" against his will to join a gang of highwaymen on a trip to a cabaret of the underworld.

The means of inducement was a blue steel automatic pressed gently against the temple, but when the hero failed to

Fairy Operetta to Be Given Tuesday

BY Helen H. Hutchison
PRINCIPALS and choral chorus in "The Forest Children" sang and danced their respective roles in the first ensemble rehearsal of the fairy operetta, Tuesday night, in the studios of George Natanson. The operetta will be presented Tuesday afternoon, under the direction of Howard Barlow, in the beautiful gardens surrounding the home of H. H. Workman. Mr. Barlow expressed himself as gratified by the splendid spirit and understanding of all the participants, among whom are several of Portland's best known professional singers.

FURS AND MYSTERY

By N. M. Ungar
It is very apparent that misnamed furs are always inferior to those under whose titles, they masquerade. Certainly a high grade fur is never offered under the name of a common or low cost skin, for maintaining its value solely to secure larger orders than could be obtained in selling the fur for what it really is.

Now it happens that some furs of the highest priced species are being imitated and used to imitate. Mink, for instance, is imitated by unhairing and dyeing marten skins, which are lower in price. Then, on the other hand, mink skins themselves are "blended" and sold as sable, which is correspondingly higher in price.

Rose Petal Complexion

Delicately soft and refined is the complexion achieved by Nadine Face Powder. This exquisite beautifier imparts an indefinable charm—a charm and loveliness which endure throughout the day and linger in the memory. Its coolness is refreshing, and it cannot harm the tenderest skin.
