

HARDING GOES AS FAR AS JOHNSON ON LEAGUE ISSUE

By David Lawrence

Marion, Ohio, July 23.—Senator Warren G. Harding has surrendered to Senator Hiram Johnson and is in favor of scrapping the treaty of peace which contains the present League of Nations. Harding proposes, if elected, to make a separate peace by congressional resolution, and to ask the nations of the world to create a different league of nations from the one proposed by Wilson.

Senator Johnson had threatened to bolt the Republican nominee if he did not accept the interpretation of the Republican platform which the California senator had enunciated. Unless Hiram Johnson reveals himself merely as a poor loser, there is nothing in the Harding speech of acceptance as it relates to the league issue to which he can take objection.

SENATOR SWITCHES
Unquestionably Senator Harding doesn't believe the league which is now in existence in Europe, has much of a hold on the American voter, and takes his place, therefore, alongside Hiram Johnson, who has managed, in the East at any rate, to rouse a considerable following for his views.

But the speech of Harding comes as a surprise to those who had expected that the presence of Ethel Root in Europe and the record of the Ohio senator in voting for the treaty of Versailles with reservations would commit him to an endeavor at least to fashion something out of the present international structure.

ACCEPTS JOHNSON'S VIEW

Respective of how many reservations, interpretative or otherwise, may be proposed by Governor Cox, the Democratic platform commits him to the present League of Nations and the ratification of the treaty of Versailles. To the extent that President Wilson sought a clear cut issue on the league issue is more popular than any other. He unhesitatingly subscribes to it.

DISAGREES WITH LODGE
As for the remainder of the speech, the Ohio senator has written an eloquent oration with solemn warning in it to the ever increasing demand of the laborer for more wages, which he says cannot be heeded unless accompanied by efficient service in return.

The senator goes into detail skillfully on the subject of farmers' cooperative organizations, thereby appealing to the agricultural vote. He goes back to the old Panama canal tolls fight of 1913 and reverses the position taken by Senators Lodge and Root at the time, who claimed that for American ships to be immune from the payment of tolls was a discrimination against British ships.

SOUNDS LIKE WILSON
However, the Irish voters opposed that repeal of the Panama canal tolls act and the presumption is that they still feel indignant about it.

Through the Harding speech there is a tone of dignity and conservatism. Not a word of denunciation of President Wilson by name occurs in the speech. There are only implicit references to one man government and autocratic rule. The Ohio senator gave in his address an impression of earnestness and conscientiousness to do the best he could if elected to the presidency. His phrase, "No man is big enough to run this great republic" has its curious counterpart in Woodrow Wilson's speech of acceptance in 1912, when, in referring to the Roosevelt desire for a third term, the then Democratic nominee said: "There is no indispensable man in the world."

APPEALS TO BOND HOLDERS
Aside from a belief in the protective tariff, efficiency in government bureaus, a general proposal about more equitable taxes, a less belligerent statement full of hope and optimism about our relations with Mexico, which carries no threat of violence, the speech of acceptance introduces a new suggestion that is bound to make a popular appeal when the stump speakers get hold of it—namely, requiring the government to make its Liberty and Victory bonds worth all that its citizens pair in purchasing them. Of course, bonds will ultimately be redeemed at par, but the Republican nominee hints at a new fiscal policy that he hopes will raise the price of bonds.

Thousands upon thousands of visitors crowded this little town to hear Senator Harding speak. The whole thing seemed more like an old fashioned political rally than a national affair. It was a gathering principally of plain folk in which the visiting politicians from the urban centers seemed a conspicuous minority. Senator Harding is in the old McKinley atmosphere and Thursday's ceremony breathed the spirit of the old days of Republicanism in Ohio.

COX SENDS WORKERS TO TENNESSEE TO AID FIGHT FOR SUFFRAGE

Columbus, Ohio, July 23.—(U. P.)—Governor James M. Cox today informed a committee of suffrage leaders that he has already sent personal representatives into Tennessee to work for the ratification of the suffrage amendment at the special session beginning August 3.

Announcement was made at the governor's office also that George White, chairman of the Democratic national committee, has wired state chairmen, urging them to have Democratic speakers at all chautauques during the next few months.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN
Bryan formally declines prohibition nomination. Bozeman, Mont., July 23.—William Jennings Bryan Thursday refused to accept the presidential nomination tendered him by the Prohibition party in convention at Lincoln, Neb., Wednesday evening.

Bryan gave as his reasons "other reforms which make it impossible for him to focus his attention upon the prohibition question alone," and his unwillingness to sever his "connection with the Democratic party, which has so signally honored me in years past."

The telegram follows: "Please deliver the following message to the chairwoman of the Prohibition national convention now in session at Lincoln: 'Having been away from the rail-

CAMPAIGN ISSUES CLEARLY DEFINED, DEMOCRATS AVER

Washington, July 23.—(I. N. S.)—Though Democratic leaders here characterize Senator Warren G. Harding's speech of acceptance at Marion, Ohio, yesterday as "vague" in spots, and on the "defensive" in others, they claim the campaign issue between Republicans and Democrats is now and at last clearly drawn.

Homer S. Cummings, formerly chairman of the national Democratic committee, just back from Columbus, criticized the Republican standard bearer's utterances sharply.

G. O. P. FAILURE CONFESSED
"The speech of acceptance," he said to the International News Service, "delivered by Senator Harding, is not only a confession of failure but it is an acknowledgment of responsibility upon the part of the Republican senate for the defeat of the peace treaty. The fiction that President Wilson was responsible for this defeat seemed to have been abandoned."

"The address," he continued, "acknowledged our moral obligations to our allies and the failure of the world struggle from which we have emerged unless international peace is made secure, and yet the Republican candidate rejects the only existing plan for securing world peace and offers nothing tangible in its place."

"So far as is possible from the vague phraseology of the address to deduce any positive conclusion, it would seem that Senator Harding favors a separate peace with Germany, the abandonment of our treaty and the formation, at some remote time, of a different sort of world association on terms which the candidate does not care to set forth. He seems to have reverted to the policy which Senator Lodge in one of his better moments declared would 'brand us with everlasting dishonor.'"

PARTY AGAINST LEAGUE
"Republicans who have cherished the vain hope," he concluded, "that the Republican party would ultimately take a position favorable to the League of Nations must now abandon that hope. The issue grows clearer as the campaign progresses."

New Bill to Aim at Anti-Japanese Land Legislation in U. S.
Tokio, July 2.—(By Mail.)—(U. P.)—Plans for a counter move against anti-Japanese land legislation in California are under way in Japan.

Minister of Justice Oka has let it become known that a bill is likely to be introduced in the session of the diet just opened, governing foreign ownership of land in Japan.

"The feature of the new law," the justice minister said, "lies in the reciprocal feature underlying it. It is a marked improvement in the old law recognizing land ownership by foreigners provided Japanese are granted reciprocal rights in their respective countries."

"The law will be applicable to all parts of Japan except Korea and districts having a strategic value." A similar law was enacted 10 years ago, but was never promulgated and has remained a dead letter.

Dry Law Breakers Must Pay Up Fine, Also Court Costs
In addition to paying $800 fines for violation of the national prohibition law three residents of Prineville must pay court costs of $306, according to an order issued Thursday by Federal Judge Wolverton. R. E. Jones, his wife and George B. London, were convicted of operating a still and fined $300 each. Jones was sentenced to 30 days and London to 60 days in the county jail.

Following the trial counsel for the defendants asked for five days' time in which to prepare a motion for a new trial, but later in the day he asked an order allowing Jones 30 days in which to pay the fine and court costs. Federal officials predict this case will put an end to the difficulty peace officers around Prineville have had in enforcing the prohibition law.

Import and Export Trade at High Point During Fiscal Year

Washington, July 23.—(I. N. S.)—A high mark was reached in the export and import trade of the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1920, according to figures made public today by the department of commerce.

The exports during that period totaled $8,111,176,121, an increase of $878,592,445 over word from President Wilson as to whether he will intervene in the coal strike new in progress in Illinois. A committee of Illinois operators yesterday laid before the president a statement claiming that unless some action be taken to prevent the spread of the strike of day laborers in the Illinois fields, that there are grave possibilities of the mid-western coal supply being restricted to a dangerous degree.

Imports amounted to $5,228,746,580, an increase of $3,144,026,512 over those during the fiscal year 1919. The excess of exports over imports during 1920 was $2,872,429,551.

Washington, July 23.—(I. N. S.)—Illinois coal operators today are awaiting word from President Wilson as to whether he will intervene in the coal strike new in progress in Illinois. A committee of Illinois operators yesterday laid before the president a statement claiming that unless some action be taken to prevent the spread of the strike of day laborers in the Illinois fields, that there are grave possibilities of the mid-western coal supply being restricted to a dangerous degree.
