

TWO SITES BEING CONSIDERED FOR COX NOTIFICATION

One Governor's Beautiful Country Home and Other Is Montgomery County Fair Grounds.

Dayton, Ohio, July 24.—Two sites are under consideration for the ceremonies here on August 7, when Governor James M. Cox will be formally notified of his selection as the Democratic candidate for the presidency.

They are the Montgomery county fair grounds, within the city limits, and "Trails End," the governor's country home, five miles to the south of Dayton.

Of scenic beauty were the only consideration entering into the selection. There would be no contest for the Montgomery county grounds is just an ordinary country fair grounds, while the "Trails End" country place is a thing of loveliness.

Situated just off the Cincinnati Pike, on a wooded estate of more than 50 acres, the big marble structure of Swiss-Italian architecture is the real "chateau" of the governor, the place he likes best of all his residences.

Behind the main building, and from the eminence commanding a beautiful view of the great Miami valley, is a vivian theatre, grass carpeted, and capable of seating two or three thousand. In this natural show place the ceremonies will be held if "Trails End" is chosen.

There are, however, two very serious objections to its selection, one of capacity, the other of accessibility. The amphitheatre, it is argued, is far too small to accommodate the enthusiastic thousands who desire to witness the governor's speech of acceptance.

As for the other argument, country places are usually reached by automobile and "Trails End" is no exception. It is more than five miles from Dayton and no traction lines run in that direction.

ADVANTAGES ARE CITED

Those who favor holding the ceremonies at the fair grounds point out that its grandstand has a seating capacity of approximately 20,000 with standing room in front for other thousands; that it is within the city limits, easily accessible on foot, or by several lines of street cars; that there are ample buildings and sheds to afford shelter for all in case of rain; and that there are facilities for feeding the multitude which could not possibly be provided at "Trails End"—in short that while the fair grounds may be lacking in enchanting scenery, it more than makes up for that loss in comfort and convenience.

Governor Cox said today the decision would be left with the local committee in charge of arrangements.

The governor spent the day quietly in his library at "Trails End" gathering material for his speech of acceptance.

WILL SWING TO COX

Among his visitors were Edward N. Hurley, former chairman of the shipping board, and E. D. Hurlbut, president of the Merchants Loan and Trust company of Chicago. Senator Beckham, Kentucky, and Henry L. Doherty of New York.

Mr. Hurley told Governor Cox that he thought the shipping act, as passed by the last congress, with an amendment by Senator Jones, eminently satisfactory and predicted a prosperous future for the American merchant marine under private control. Subsidies, direct or indirect, he told the governor, are no longer necessary for American shipping in the old handicap of competition against cheap foreign labor having been removed by the boosting of wages in other countries since the war.

Mr. Hurley also assured the governor that they have decided to swing toward the Democratic candidates in Chicago and Northern Illinois since the San Francisco convention.

KENTUCKY LOOKS GOOD

Senator Beckham informed Governor Cox that the situation in Kentucky is improving rapidly, but would be greatly benefited by a visit from the candidate. Governor Cox promised to make several speeches in that state.

Senator Pomerooy of Ohio, and former Ambassador Gerard, with whom conferences were scheduled for today, were also in the city. The governor hopes to see Mr. Gerard tomorrow.

Governor Cox stated today that he had not personally written the editorial on Senator Harding's acceptance speech, which appeared yesterday in the governor's newspapers, the Dayton News and the Springfield News.

Refuses to Hoist New German Flag On German Vessel

Philadelphia, July 24.—Flying the flag of the imperial German government from her masthead, the German bark Heberstein was loading oil here today. Technically, she is still an enemy craft.

"No German skipper worthy of the name will hoist the red, black and gold flag of the new German Socialist government," Captain Wilhelm Westphal declared.

"The horizontal blocks of red, white and black stand for order, loyalty and a proud record of fearless seamanship, while the new flag represents disorder, untruth and discredited rule—chaos, hunger and misery."

Cox Will Do Just As Sarah Says, Hays Reminded in Story

New York, July 24.—Chairman Will Hays of the Republican national committee said that Cox may have compromised with Wilson on the League of Nations, but "Cox will do just as Sarah says."

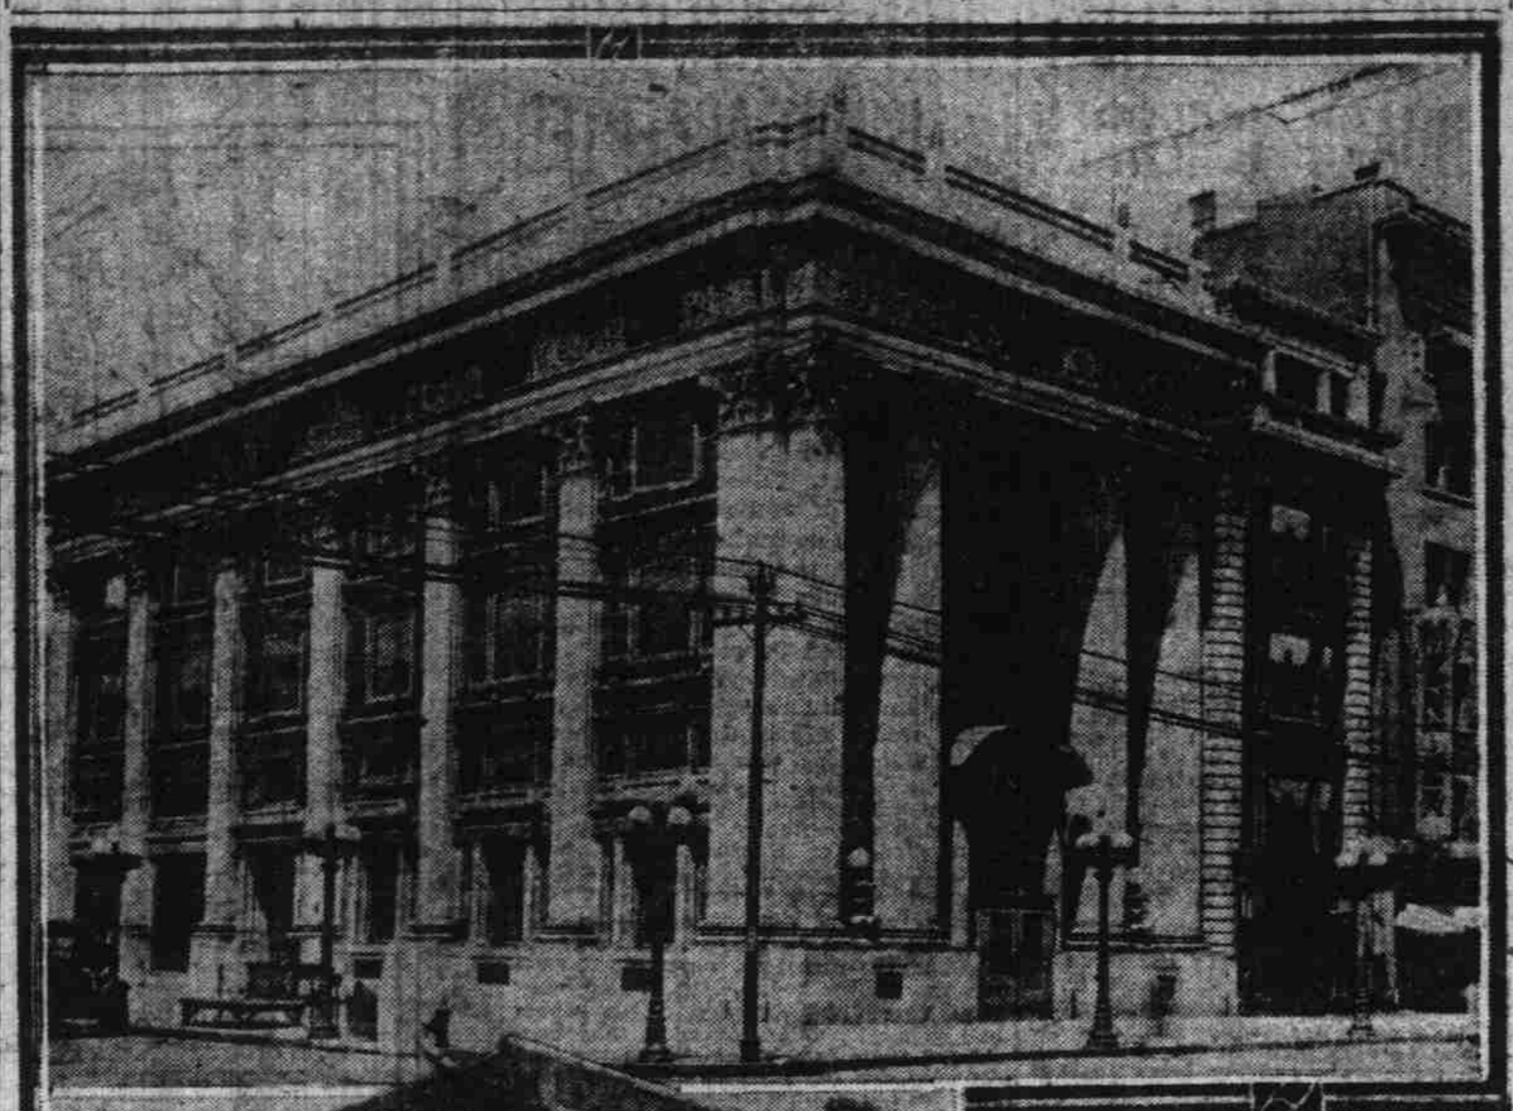

"The Cox-Wilson get-together meeting reminds me of Judge Anderson, out in the Hoosier woods. He and his wife seemed always to be quarreling, but in the end the judge invariably succumbed. Reminded of his differences with his better half, the judge usually drawled: 'Yes, Sarah and I chew the rag a good deal. We argue and argue and argue, and then we compromise and we always do just as Sarah says.'"

First Visit in 26 Years

Cottage Grove, July 24.—J. C. Robertson stopped off recently on a return trip from Medford and visited his daughter, Mrs. C. A. Bartell. Mr. Robertson had just made the trip to Medford by auto and is returning to his home in Portland. Thirty-six years ago Mr. Robertson made the trip from Portland by wagon, giving a show at Cottage Grove. He then would never have recognized it as the same place it was then.

Included in new territories acquired by Roumania are more than 10,000,000 acres of forests, which will be exploited.

WHERE PUBLISHER CANDIDATES WORK

COX WILL GET OHIO'S VOTE IN NOVEMBER

1917-18. The tillers of the soil were forced to pay from $7 to $10 a bushel for seed corn. Governor Cox sent to the legislature a bill which secured it and placed it in the hands of farmers at $3 a bushel.

"We had a law in Ohio," continued Cox, which provided the stock suffering from communicable disease must be killed. The owner stood the loss. Governor Cox later, after his election, secured passage of a law indemnifying farmers for stock so killed.

FRIENDLY TO LABOR

"And throughout his entire career Cox has been friendly to labor. Statutes for their welfare he has built into the laws of the state. The workmen's compensation law, passed through the legislature under his administration, is the best law of its kind enacted by any state in the Union. Through his friendly attitude he won the appreciation, not only of the unions, but of the non-union workers."

"On the other hand, Senator Harding has shown a continued unfriendly attitude toward labor. His record against legislation favorable to them or lodged the issue. Almost every union in the state had passed resolutions against Harding before the Democratic convention convened, and the miners' unions throughout the southeastern part of the state are against the nomination of Governor Cox."

"Cox brands as absurd the attempt to align the Ohio governor with the liquor interests. He declares that he has no bearing on his public acts as a chief executive, and points to his record in the legislature as evidence in refuting the charge that he was nominated by those favoring light wines and beer."

"The claim that Cox was nominated by the wets at San Francisco is silly. The fallacy of the contention is illustrated by the speech of Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, a dry state, second in nomination to Governor Cox. Harrison said: 'Mississippi, the first state in the union to ratify the prohibition amendment, takes pleasure in seeing the nomination of Governor Cox of Ohio for president.'"

"The Portland visitor told of Cox's ability to stand up to the wets. The prohibition law is established. It makes no difference where Cox stands. If he is elected president it will be up to him to enforce the law, and regardless of his personal views, he will enforce it. That will end it."

OF PLEASING PERSONALITY

"There was no fust in Ohio during the coal strike. We faced a severe famine. Governor Cox called the operators and miners together for a conference. As a result of his leadership they agreed to go to work the next week, and they did. Cox has a very pleasing personality and is genuinely democratic. The humblest and most modest citizen feels at home in his presence. When you cord on him, he is so friendly that you soon tell him all you have come to say."

M. S. Cox is superintendent of schools at Marietta, Ohio, and owns and operates a 140-acre farm in Vinton county. He was in the Ohio assembly during the Mark Hanna contest for United States senator. He left Portland Thursday evening for home.

Plans Are Suggested For Smashing Great Fuel Oil Monopoly

Washington, July 24.—(U. P.)—Two drastic proposals to smash the monopoly of fuel oil have been laid before the United States shipping board, now fighting to get oil to keep the American coast.

Under the first proposal the board would establish refineries in Mexico and pipe it to produce and transport a major portion of the oil to the United States.

The second proposal the board would subsidize an independent producer who would agree to supply the board at a price based on a reasonable profit.

French Editors See Error at Versailles Russia Overlooked

Paris, July 24.—The following editorial observation in Le Matin is characteristic of the tenor of all leading Paris newspapers these days:

"We are endeavoring to realize today the imminence of the error that was committed by the negotiators of the treaty of Versailles when they imagined they could set up the rule of Europe without paying any attention to Russia."

"The farmers found they were getting skinned regularly by the dealers and built up a league of their own to see if they couldn't get ahead a little. It either meant that the farmers had to make some money or sacrifice their herds. The price paid to the farmers by the Portland market was lower than the price paid by the condensers, and now it is higher."

Hall said the league now has 2053 members, each of whom is a producing dairyman.

MILK DEALERS CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY

and by them is resold to distributors. It has been the policy of the league, on receiving payment from distributors, to immediately send its own checks on to producers covering milk costs.

BASIS FOR LEGAL ACTION

Legal basis for the contemplated action was laid July 1, when all the distributors were given lists containing names of the league members and notified that their products were being sold through the organization, Hall said.

The distributors will be given opportunity of going into court and living up to their expressed desire to defend their product from the league. The league officials declare, recalling utterances of Harry West, proprietor of Red Block dairy, made last Wednesday here, "regard to the effect that the big packing interests were ready to spend all the money necessary to break the league."

Hall charges the distributors with deliberately setting out to make league members dissatisfied by mailing them checks direct instead of sending payment through the prescribed channels.

COMPROMISE EXPECTED

Early this week league officials believe that two of the largest Portland milk distributors will sign contracts with the league on a compromise basis. Terms of the proposed contracts are not known but they are believed to provide that the dealers shall pay producers about 50 cents a hundred pounds more than the condensaries pay, and the agreements will be on a yearly basis.

Negotiations on these contracts, the terms of which constitute a compromise, are said to have virtually been completed.

Despite the controversy, league officials declare, the principal distributors are still buying from league members, some receiving as much as 95 per cent of their product from them.

MILK CONTROL, NOT SUGAR

"We want the public to know," said Manager Hall, "that we are not seeking to control the milk market, but merely to sell the milk produced by members of the league to best advantage. We are not supplying all the milk that goes to the Portland consumers, or anywhere near it. About 50 per cent of the whole-sale milk sold here comes from league members."

"The dealers have tried to make out that we are trying to run the market, but that is not so. This is a cooperative marketing organization, controlling our own product and selling it as best we can."

"The farmers found they were getting skinned regularly by the dealers and built up a league of their own to see if they couldn't get ahead a little. It either meant that the farmers had to make some money or sacrifice their herds. The price paid to the farmers by the Portland market was lower than the price paid by the condensers, and now it is higher."

NATIONAL FORESTS SCENE TREAT TO EASTERN GUESTS

Party in Portland on Tour Through West; Logging Operations, Sawmill and Highway Shown.

The grandeur and beauties of the American national parks and some of the larger cities in the West are being viewed by a party of 28 Easterners who are at the Hotel Imperial over the week end. The tour is under the auspices of the Massachusetts Forestry association. The party left Boston June 24 and will return August 23.

"The people back East have no conception of what a national forest is," said Harris A. Reynolds, secretary of the association. "What we need is a national educational campaign showing the necessity for conservation in the parks. The government has arranged for superintendents and foresters in the parks to meet the party and give them first-hand information. These people returning to the East become a general information bureau in their community," Reynolds said, and arouse much interest in the campaign being conducted to "See America First."

Saturday the party was shown the Columbia river highway by Samuel C. Lancaster, and in the evening he escorted them to Council Crest and also showed them the Tsaliatun valley. A trip was also conducted through the Eastern Western mill. Members of the party freely expressed their appreciation of the hospitality shown by Lancaster and other Portlanders. This is the third party tour which has been conducted by the Massachusetts association. William P. Wharton of the board of directors, and Charles C. Heyl, tour manager, are also members of the party.

Sunday the party will rest at the hotel. Monday they are to be shown logging operations near Portland. Monday night they will leave for Crater Lake National park and forest.

Their journey will continue south through California, Yosemite National park, Sequoia National park, the Grand Canyon and large cities en route. The party came here from Rialto National park. They are high in their praise of this park, declaring that it ranks among the most beautiful of the national parks, but a complaint was registered against the hotel accommodations, which are said to be far from modern.

HAPHAZARD METHODS IN PUBLIC FINANCE

public knowledge and money in excess of that collected by taxation.

"The practice should be eliminated by law," Barbur maintains, "and in fact the banks to take over all current expenses until the second half of the tax payments are received. The ordinance provides that $25,000 will be advanced from the general fund when it is replenished to repay the loan and interest."

MURDERED FOR MONEY

Chicago, July 24.—(U. P.)—Murdered for money he didn't have, was the theory tonight of Coroner Peter Hoffman after an investigation of circumstances surrounding the death of Max C. Ponder, oil operator and real estate dealer, whose body was found in a hotel room here.

COUNCIL AUTHORIZES LOAN TO MEET CITY'S NEEDS

The city's general fund is exhausted and an ordinance was passed by the council Wednesday authorizing the commissioner of finance to borrow $25,000 from the banks to tide over on current expenses until the second half of the tax payments are received. The ordinance provides that $25,000 will be advanced from the general fund when it is replenished to repay the loan and interest.

BLACK AND WHITE GIRLS ENGAGE IN RIOT IN LAUNDRY

Petty Quarrel Leads to Battle Royal at State Reformatory; Flatirons and Bricks Thrown.

Medford, N. Y., July 24.—(U. P.)—Armed with flatirons and bricks, 25 negro girls held off 125 white girls after a race riot started in the laundry of the state reformatory for girls here today.

The trouble began over a petty quarrel. The negro inmates threw hot flatirons at the white girls, causing them to retreat. The battle was carried to the lawn, where 100 girls entered the fight, 25 of whom were negroes. The negroes managed to keep the whites at bay by the brandishing of knives and threatening with flatirons. The white girls used rocks and bricks.

Miss Florence Jones, superintendent of the institution, sought assistance of the state constabulary and the Medford police. Chief of Police Wade arrived first, he alone in uniform. When he ordered the negroes to disperse, one threw a dagger at him. She was hit over the head with a police club.

Two other white girls attempted to stab the officer. They received the club. When other police arrived the ring leaders and about 70 other girls were locked in the prison building of the institution.

"During the rioting one of the constabulary got his finger bitten, two others were kicked in the groin and a dozen girls were cut and bruised."

As a result of the trouble, Miss Jones resigned tonight.

Fears I. W. W. Will Kill Him; Asks for Police Protection

Police Protection For Physician for Detention Home

Salt Lake, July 24.—D. A. Stewart, a woodman, has asked the police for protection. He said that he had been trailed by members of the I. W. W. from the camp of the Great Northern Lumber company in Washington and Utah.

According to the police, Stewart said he had learned some of the secrets of the organization. When members of the I. W. W. learned he had possession of certain facts they asked him to join, with the penalty of death if he refused. The police are investigating his story.

H. S. Lamson Injured

H. S. Lamson, 24, messenger, was knocked from his motorcycle at the intersection of Eleventh and Burnside streets at 10 o'clock last night by an automobile driven by H. Hawkins of 676 Oregon street, receiving a badly bruised left thigh and wrenched back. He was picked up and taken to the emergency hospital, where his injuries were dressed, later being removed to his home at 824 Fourth street. He is employed by the City Messenger company.
