

CENTRAL EUROPE HOPES FOR JUSTICE MAY BRING PEACE

By A. E. Johnson London, July 26.—A new hope of possible peace at last in Central Europe has sprung from the Bolshevik acceptance of Poland's plea for an armistice. Ever-increasing opposition to England's tax burdens, with the ever-present shadow of new military activities to enforce provisions of the peace treaty and to help threaten great nations have made Premier Lloyd George's position in the government increasingly awkward.

WEATHERS STORM He alone of the world statesmen who wrote the treaty of Versailles has weathered the storms that followed it in the affected countries. Time and time again he has seen the light of order break through the dawn only to find clouds of trouble gathering before him.

So it is still a hope, but, perhaps, a little stronger one, that rests in the heart of Britain today, that peace will follow and end the Polish-Bolshevik warfare. There is little doubt that once this there is removed from the burning flesh of Europe, bolder measures will develop in the form of recommendations for this government for cooperation with Germany, Poland and the waiting Latin factions in Southern Europe to accomplish peace and stability.

SITUATION WATCHED There is still the work over reports that Russia, having disposed of Poland, may turn her activities upon Germany. This situation is being closely watched. The crying call of the people here generally, however, is for peace and freedom from the threat of further military activity. And it may be expected from now on that this call will be heeded by the government in its course toward meeting or eliminating the danger of further eventualities in Central Europe.

Despite the Polish-Bolshevik armistice, fighting was continuing between the opposing forces at certain points along the line, according to official Polish reports Sunday forenoon. Recapture by the Poles of the Grodno forts along the Niemen river was proclaimed, the Bolsheviks losing heavily in prisoners and munitions in an unsuccessful attempt to cross the river and finally evacuating the town of Grodno.

REDS ARE DEFEATED The Reds also were reported as having been driven out of Rudnia and Choty-koski. Other reports indicated, however, that the Bolsheviks were striking as part of the armistice agreement and that fighting had ceased.

In all events officials generally believe that the fighting will cease shortly, even in isolated spots, where it may still be continuing. The peace treaty between the soviet government and Russia is expected to develop a Russian demand for heavy reduction of the Polish army and free transit of goods and passengers through the Polish corridor.

RUSSIAN COMMANDER TO FIX PLACE OF MEETING London, July 26.—(U. P.)—The place and date of the armistice negotiations between the Polish soviet government and the Red commander on the Polish front, a Moscow wireless message today said.

The message was sent to the Polish cabinet in Warsaw by the Red army headquarters in Moscow. It said the Polish representatives would be notified of the armistice arrangements as soon as the Russian commander had arrived at a decision and the Polish delegate formally invited to attend.

The allies will make no further move against the Bolsheviks and will extend no military or financial aid to anti-Bolshevik factions aside from relief in the form of food and clothing, it was stated on good authority here.

SOVIET PROMISES NOT TO INVADE GERMAN TERRITORY Berlin, July 26.—(U. P.)—The Russian soviet government has telegraphed the German government, promising that Russian troops will not invade German territory, it was learned today. The Russian soviet government has telegraphed the German government, promising that Russian troops will not invade German territory, it was learned today.

Harding Emphasizes Importance of Good Roads for Trucking

By Raymond Clapper Marion, Ohio, July 26.—(U. P.)—The program of developing good roads and encouraging transportation by motor trucks as a supplement to railroads will be one of the first acts of the next administration, in the opinion of Warren G. Harding.

Amplifying his declaration for better roadways, made in his acceptance speech, the Republican nominee outlined his views in detail, writing to the National Association of Motor Truck Salesmen at Chicago.

"The obvious tendency to supplement our present transportation facilities by a much more extended use of improved highways and powerful motor trucks is so apparent that it cannot be doubted that in the future we will more and more rely on this mode of transportation. It is going to mean the necessity for further great advances toward improved road construction and particularly the adequate supply of petroleum products for power at reasonable prices."

"I feel that this entire set of problems is going to be forced upon the country's attention with increasing urgency and insistence and must be dealt with through measures as will best insure the permanent use of improved highways and motor vehicles to help relieve the congestion that now presses upon the country's railroads."

YOUTHFUL LEADER HEADS BOLSHEVIKI Paris, July 26.—The Russian soviet army, which halted its whirlwind advance Saturday within easy reach of a tremendous triumph, is 3,000,000 strong, according to the latest reliable news received here. It is described as well disciplined, fully equipped and well supplied.

Against this army the Poles had some 600,000 dispirited, badly supplied troops. Signor Sierrati, noted Italian journalist, just back from a visit to Russia, says in the newspaper, Avanti, that the Bolshevik army is the best organized war machine the world has ever seen.

Michael Touchevskaki, the soviet generalissimo, is idolized throughout Russia as the "Red Napoleon" and is spoken of by military experts as the greatest military genius of a century.

He is only 37 years old, belongs to an old Russian family and became famous during the czar's regime when he was promoted to the rank of general in the field because of his astonishing deeds of valor.

Just before the pre-armistice truce was arranged, he had said he would star Warsaw. He added that he would "settle" General Wrangle's anti-Bolshevik army in the Crimea afterwards. His words carry great weight with his countrymen as he has never been known to make an idle boast. Months ago he predicted he would annihilate Denikin, then Kolchak, then Wrangle, and finally destroy Wrangle's army.

Speeder Sentenced To Jail, Fined $50

R. S. Johnson, was fined $50 and sentenced to five days in the city jail by Municipal Judge Rossman Monday afternoon. Johnson was arrested Monday morning on the Linnton road by Motor-cycle Patrolman Anderson for speeding.

Anderson was unable to keep up with Johnson's machine when his speedometer was registering 65 miles an hour. Anderson followed for four miles and arrested him only after he had come to a stop.

Spain Defeats U. S. In Polo Matches

Ostend, (By United News) The United States here Sunday Spain beat the United States, 13 to 2.

Miss Alma Voedisch in City Miss Alma Voedisch, New York instructor, is in Portland today on a tour of the Pacific coast that will probably extend to Southeastern Alaska. Miss Voedisch is on her annual vacation after a busy season handling the affairs of a number of big artists in the music business. NEW YORK ASHES AS PIVOTAL STATE BY BOTH PARTIES

By Robert J. Bender (United News Staff Correspondent) New York, July 26.—With New York now classed as a "pivotal state" by both Republican and Democratic leaders, efforts are being made by the national campaign committees to restore harmony in the respective Republican and Democratic state machines.

And there is evidence that Governor Cox and Senator Harding may take a hand, either directly or indirectly, in straightening out the New York tangles if they reach a state such as to endanger the success of the respective national tickets in the state.

Coleman DuPont has just returned from the Harding notification ceremonies at Marion with counsel to the state leaders that they must select as gubernatorial and senatorial candidates clean cut men of proved business ability. Any other course, he warns, would be a "party blunder."

COX EXPECTED TO RIDDLE HARDING IN HIS ACCEPTANCE

By James H. Nourse Washington, July 26.—Republican and Democratic leaders at the capital are looking forward with keen expectancy to what Governor Cox will say in his speech of acceptance of the Democratic nomination.

The supporters of Cox here fully believe that the governor in his speech will make a complete answer to the arguments made by Senator Harding in his speech, in which he declared for immediate peace by a resolution of congress and for "scrapping" of the league covenant.

Retiring National Chairman Cummings, Judge Ansberry and Franklin D. Roosevelt, who share the confidence of Governor Cox, are confident that the acceptance speech will fairly riddle Senator Harding's speech and give the Republican nominee something further to think about.

The word has gone out from some of the governor's closest supporters that he does not intend by any means to devote himself chiefly to the League of Nations issue. It is believed he will undertake to point out to the country that there are other important problems which are pressing for solution by the next administration.

The high cost of living, profiteering, labor, help for the farmer, and other matters, it is said, will be given full attention in the speech as will the question of acting on the treaty.

George White, the newly elected national chairman, will be here Thursday to take over the reins from Cummings. He will also talk with the president and confer with other party leaders while here. The real work of the committee in directing the campaign will not begin, however, until after the speech by Governor Cox has been delivered.

Chi Li Soldiers Gain Full Control

Washington, July 26.—(U. P.)—The Chi Li troops under General Liao have complete control of the fighting around Peking and are in pursuit of the remnants of the Anfu military forces under General Tuan Chi-Jui, former premier and minister of war, the state department was advised today.

Both Harding and Cox are to make speeches in New York. And there is no doubt that they will make direct appeals to their respective party leaders and followers to insure harmony above every thing else, lest national defeat be the result of intra-state party differences.

Ashes of Mrs. Brown Strewn From Plane On Liberty Statue

New York, July 26.—(I. N. S.)—Probably the strangest funeral that ever took place in New York was held for Mrs. Sarah D. Brown, temperance worker and writer of children's stories.

It was the first aerial funeral held here. Mrs. Brown's body was cremated and an urn containing the ashes was taken to the pier at Eighty-sixth street, Hudson river. After funeral services on the pier Miss Kate Brown, daughter of Mrs. Brown, headed the urn to an undertaker and her brother gave nine white carnations and two red ones, symbolizing the 23 years of Mrs. Brown's life to Lieutenant Frank Mallen of the marines.

Lieutenant Mallen and the undertaker boarded a seaplane, which left the pier about noon, and flew over the Statue of Liberty. The undertaker scattered the ashes over the statue and Lieutenant Mallen dropped the robe. A ritual service was read in the air and the plane flew back.

This disposition of her remains was dictated by Miss Brown's letter written 14 years ago, sealed and unopened until after her death.

LARGE SAWMILL TO BE ERRECTED AT MOUTH OF RIVER

That one of four large sawmills to be erected by the Long-Bell Lumber company will be near the mouth of the Willamette river was hinted Monday by Robert Long, president of the company, following a conference at the Chamber of Commerce between officers of the company and Portland business men.

The Long-Bell company recently purchased a tract of 75,000 acres of timber land near the mouth of the Cowitts river, in Southwestern Washington, for $6,000,000. The tract cruises about 2,000,000 feet and will supply logs to keep four mills in operation for several years. Engineers of the company have examined all available sites between Portland and the mouth of the Columbia and it is presumed that the location of at least one of the mills will be announced within a few days.

"I had been told that it was impossible for ships of deep draft to come up the Willamette," said Long. This report caused some close questioning at the meeting, but to Long Portland's harbor advantages were proved by a battery of men from the Long-Bell company. According to President Long one of the mills planned by his company will be built within the next year and no definite time was set for the erection of the other three. Capacity of the proposed mill was not given, but it is said by men familiar with the project that it will be equipped to handle 500,000 feet per eight hour shift.

Portland men present at the conference at the chamber of Commerce were Mayor Baker, C. E. Dant, H. B. Van Duser, Max H. Houser, L. O. Gillman, Emory Olmstead, J. C. Alenworth, C. C. Colt, Prescott Coughingam, and newspaper men, Robert Long, president of the Long-Bell Lumber company, was present, accompanied by J. D. Tennant, vice president of the concern; L. L. Shipman, export manager; C. H. Huffman, chief engineer, and E. H. Cox of San Francisco, president of the Weed Lumber company.

Operation of Lines To Prove Expensive For United States

Washington, July 26.—(I. N. S.)—The private operation of the railroads for the month of April will cost the treasury of the United States approximately $100,000,000, was indicated in the monthly summary of railroad financial statistics issued by the Interstate Commerce commission today. The railroads showed a deficit of $25,814,855 in operating income for the month of April, according to the summary.

This amount, together with the government guarantee of approximately $75,000,000 monthly, must be recomputed to the railroads by the treasury under the Cummins-Esch bill.

Strike Is Called of Iron Millworkers In Reading District

Reading, Pa., July 26.—(U. P.)—A general strike at mills of the Reading Iron company was called this morning. The strike call included eight mills in this city, those at Danville, Columbia, Birdsboro and Pottstown.

The mills have been closed for several weeks because of the railroad strike. The men object to the differential rate between the eastern and western scale, which, they say, would lower wages.

GERMANS PLANNING INDEMNITY FIGHT

Berlin, July 26.—(U. P.)—A strong effort to reduce the allied indemnity demands will be made by Germany at the forthcoming Geneva conference, on the ground that the German people have made sufficient sacrifices in their efforts to fulfill the agreement to deliver 2,000,000 tons of coal monthly to the entente, it was learned today.

The German delegates at Geneva will plead that special efforts have been made to meet the allied coal demands and that it will not be possible to meet the tentative reparations demands of the allies, as Germany was already doing everything possible to fulfill the treaty terms. The intention to use the coal deliveries as a sleight-of-hand to bring down the reparations total was revealed in a short paragraph tucked away down in a resolution adopted by the national economic council today. The resolution set forth that the council believed the Spa coal agreement has been signed under compulsion and was a terrific burden upon Germany's economic life.
