BOY SCOUTS FROM NEW YORK SHOWN SIGHTS OF OREGON

The yacht Wisdom, formerly owned by Jack London, was used for the early part of the trip, and they had a second ride in F. W. Vogler's Baby Dix, in command of Captain Jack Speier.

William F. Lipman was host to the Scouts Friday. Breakfast was served at the Hotel Portland, after which the boys left in several cars, more than a dozen Portland Scouts accompanying them on an all-day trip up the Columbia river highway. The fish hatcheries at Bonnevile were to be visited, the trip to be continued to Eagle creek, where a picnic luncheon and a hike to the Funch Bowl were scheduled. On the return trip dinner will be served at Chanticleer inn. The evening will be spent on Council Crest. Saturday morning breakfast will be served at the Tip Top Inn of Lipman, Wolfe & Co.'s store and at 10 o'clock the boys will depart for Seattle.

The luncheon given Thursday for the boys at the Chamber of Commerce was presided over by C. C. Colt, president of the Boy Scouts. P. E. Mathies, scoutmaster of Washington, D. C., who accompanies the boys, explained the purpose of the Far Western Travelers' association in sending these Scouts for a tour of the national parks. The boys were selected from approximately 12,000, the choice being made on account of high rank in scouting.

Frank Branch Riley, who recently returned from the Boy Scout camp at Wahatun lake, paid high tribute to the fundamentals of scouting as exemplified in that splendid camp, where more than 100 boys are enjoying outings.

Medals Are Ready For Men Who Were In Late World War

Men who served must apply at the recruiting office with their discharges to prove they are entitled to the medals. The applications are then indorsed to Washington, from whence they are mailed to the applicant.

Out-of-town men who write to the recruiting office may secure forms on which to make true copies of their discharges, and these will then be sent to the recruiting office.

The medals are being given to the persons who served between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918, or to the next of kin of those who have died.

L. A. Dusterhoff Is Freed on Charges Of Liquor Violation

L. A. Dusterhoff, twin brother to Edward J. Dusterhoff, convicted bootlegger, was turned free Thursday morning by Federal Judge R. S. Bean upon the recommendation of Assistant United States Attorney Austin F. Fiegel, Jr.

Dusterhoff was indicted under the internal revenue laws on a liquor violation. A few weeks ago Judge Bean held the prohibition amendment superseded the internal revenue law, therefore Dusterhoff could not be prosecuted. He recently served a 30-day sentence in Seattle and paid a $250 fine on a similar charge. Edward J. Dusterhoff is now confined in the county jail serving a six month sentence. He was also fined $1000. Federal agents say the two brothers have been using their similarity of features as an alibi to escape prosecution after being arrested.
