Vacationing Is All Vogue in Society Circles

By Helen H. Hutchison
MIDSUMMER in Portland, itself a summer resort, offers little inspiration for arranging diversions which assume the proportions of real functions. There are such endless numbers of delightful places to visit during the summer months which are easily within the reach of those vacation seekers who have little time to spend. Gradually the summer colonies at the beach resorts are filling up to capacity and the holiday season is at its height.

In the city plans for the departure of the younger folk who are still in school occupy the attention of many households. A number of the girls of the younger set who have been extensively vacationing during the summer are already assembling their various belongings once more for the trip back to schools in the South and East.

The list of social activities for the past week includes a number of pleasant informal teas and luncheons, mostly planned for visitors in the city. For the visitor has long since taken the cherished place in social annals of the bride and her coterie of friends.

Mrs. Warren E. Thomas was the guest of honor Tuesday evening at an informal picnic party at Wahkeena Falls, for which a group of friends entertained on the occasion of her birthday anniversary. May Dearborn Schwab, house guest of Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Watson, who is a visitor in the city from New York city, shared honors with Mrs. Thomas on this occasion. A birthday cake with candles was a feature of the picnic supper and a delightful evening was spent. The party included Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Dearborn Schwab, Mrs. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. T. Bushong, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Logan, Major William H. Jordan, and Mr. and Mrs. James Carlington.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Linn presided at a reception Tuesday evening honoring Dr. R. E. von Klein Smid, president of the University of Arizona, and Mrs. von Klein Smid, who is a sister of Mrs. Linn. The occasion assembled nearly 100 guests and the evening was a delightful one. Shasta daisies and other summer blossoms were used about the room for the occasion. At the supper hour Mrs. Charles E. Wolverton and Mrs. John S. Bradley presided at the table. Assisting about the rooms were Miss Jean Muir, Miss Isabel Kerr and Miss Jean Gay.

The Misses Rachael and Constance King, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Elliott King, are guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Mason Allen of St. Paul and were recently entertained at a dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Morton M. Cross were hosts at the Minikahda club, Minneapolis.

Mrs. W. I. Northup presided at a luncheon at her home in Hancock street Thursday, honoring her three sisters, who are visitors in the city. Mrs. L. F. Pence of Flint, Mich.; Mrs. W. S. Cudlipp of New Orleans, La.; and Mrs. Evan McFarland of Seattle.

Miss Rhoda Rumlind presided at a luncheon of 12 covers at Waverly Country club Monday, honoring Miss Eugenia Peters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allison W. Peters, who was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Squires last week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Bruun were hosts for a supper party at their home on Riverside drive Wednesday. Covers were placed at tables in the garden for more than 30 friends.

Miss Virginia McDonough, who has been enjoying a trip abroad, has arrived in New York city and will return to Portland within the next few weeks.

Miss Vera Temple is a visitor in the city at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Judd.

Mrs. William McMurray left Thursday evening for Seattle, where she will sail for Alaska.

AN INTERESTING visitor in Portland is Mrs. Clarence Boyer Mendenhall of Washington, D. C., who, with her husband, is domiciled at Alexandra Court. Mr. and Mrs. Mendenhall will remain here several weeks.

MacMasters Are Noted Composer Home After Trip Through Europe Returns East by Way of Canada

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM MACMASTER returned to Portland Saturday morning following a three months' visit abroad during which they spent some of their time in Paris, the French Riviera, and motoring over the battlefields of France and Belgium. They also visited London, their former home in Scotland and in Dublin, Ireland. After reaching the States they spent a few days in New York, Detroit and Chicago on their way home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Small of Nanking, China, are visitors in Portland at the home of Mrs. John S. Bradley. Mr. Small is a brother of the Misses Ruth and Louise Small. The visitors will remain only a short time in the city, leaving for Boston Monday, where Mr. Small expects to study at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Mrs. Cyrus A. Dolph and her daughter, Mrs. Edward Clark III, were dinner guests at the home of General and Mrs. Charles F. Beebe Wednesday evening at their country home at Clackamas Riffles.

Mrs. John T. Douglass was hostess at luncheon Tuesday, honoring her cousin, Miss Dolie James of Detroit, Mich., who is her guest for the summer. Covers were laid for 14 guests.

Drake O'Reilly And His Bride Arrive in City

THE arrival in Portland of Mr. and Mrs. Drake C. O'Reilly last week is of wide interest to the members of the social contingent of the city. Their marriage was a recent event in Pittsburg, and since that time they have been visiting various summer resorts in the East and have spent a number of weeks in New York city, where Mrs. O'Reilly has made her home.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Reilly have taken an apartment at 705 Davis street. Mrs. O'Reilly, who was Mrs. Nina McKelvey Miller before her marriage, was a visitor in Portland in 1913 for a brief stay.

Social attentions for the out-of-town visitors continue to hold the place of first importance on the social calendar for the summer days. Mrs. Arthur H. Meyers presided at a delightful luncheon Wednesday, at her home at the Oregon hotel, honoring Mrs. Dean Mitchell of St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. Nell James of San Francisco, who are visitors in the city. Covers were placed for 16 guests at an attractively appointed table adorned with summer blossoms. Bridge was the diversion of the afternoon hours. Guests included Mrs. H. G. Terry, Mrs. William B. Honeyman, Mrs. Frank C. Atwell, Mrs. Jack Yates, Mrs. Miles Standish, Mrs. Warren A. Erwin, Mrs. William Franklin Sheard, Mrs. James Lemmons, Mrs. Ralph Robinson, Mrs. James Arthur Lyons, Mrs. George D. Williams, Mrs. Edward Higgins and Miss Louise Stengel.

Mrs. G. C. von Engelfstein was hostess for a luncheon Friday honoring the Misses Vida and Marguerite Marshall, who make their home at Alexandra Court, and who are departing today for the East, where they will visit their sister, Mrs. M. E. Marsh, and Mrs. C. B. Fairbanks, who were Portland visitors last winter. The Misses Marshall will make the trip through Canada and will stop at points of interest along the way. They will be absent from the city about three months.

Miss Neva Lane was hostess at a tea Monday afternoon at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Harry D. Haley, in Irvington, honoring her mother, Mrs. Mary J. Lane. Among those who called during the afternoon were Mrs. T. C. Taylor, Mrs. George Phelps, Mrs. H. F. Johnson, Mrs. William House, Mrs. Frederick E. Judd, Mrs. John Ross Dickson, Mrs. M. E. Moulle, Mrs. Sam Bellar, Mrs. Thomas G. Halley, Miss Turner, Mrs. Charles Leadbetter, Mrs. Haley, Mrs. M. J. Lane and Miss Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Andre Fouilloux, formerly of Portland, have become permanent residents of New York and are spending their summer at their country home in New Jersey. Mr. Fouilloux has been absent from the city since the war period, during which he served in France with his regiment in the French army.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Olwell, formerly of Medford, are now in New York city and are stopping at the Pennsylvania hotel. Mrs. Olwell recently returned to New York from a visit to her sister, Mrs. West and South. Mr. Olwell is president of the Overland Tire company, which has a factory at Hunters Point at Long Island.

Harold Dagg and Edward McManus of Seattle motored to Portland last week to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. O'Reilly. Harold Dagg was a former student at Hill Military academy.

Mrs. Alan Green and little daughter, Helen Ladd, are visitors at Seaview at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd. She expects to remain during the month of August.

Mrs. Guy Webster Talbot and children and her sister-in-law, Miss Gertrude Talbot, have been spending the week at Gearhart. They expect to remain at the beach until this evening.

Next Tuesday will be Elks day at Widenuth-on-the-Willamette, when the members of the Elks lodge and their families will spend the afternoon and evening swimming and dancing. The committee has announced that the swim for Elks will be from 5 to 8 o'clock and to those coming early for the swim it has been suggested that they bring their supper. Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock. Special races have been arranged in a 25-yard swim. Harry Thorn will give some exhibition dives and there will be numerous other features to enliven the evening.

One of the delightful affairs of the week was the dinner dance given on the pleasure boat "Bluebird" Thursday evening when a number of the patrons of the Benson hotel made up parties for the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Callan were hosts for a party of 44 covers honoring their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Braucht of St. Paul. Several other host parties enjoyed the affair. The second dinner dance given under the auspices of the Benson hotel will be an event of August 19.

Miss Florence Jennings and her brother, Clare W. Jennings, of the United States land office of Pueblo, have been, during the week, members of a party climbing Pike's Peak and contemplating later visiting Yellowstone National park. Miss Jennings has been extensively entertained while in Denver. She will return to Portland in another month.

Mrs. Robert S. Clark was hostess for a delightful luncheon Friday at her home on Willamette Heights, honoring the members of the Crescendo club. Luncheon was served informally on the veranda and the afternoon was spent with an impromptu musical program.

Mrs. Edward Hirstel Jr. presided at a daintily appointed luncheon Friday at her home in Irvington, honoring a group of the members of the Crescendo club. Covers were placed for 14 guests at a table centered with summer blossoms. The afternoon was spent informally.

Mr. and Mrs. Folger Johnson and son, Folger Jr., motored up from Agate Beach Sunday after spending a fortnight as guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Robertson.

Mrs. John F. Robinson of Pendleton is the guest of her sister, Mrs. H. F. Johnson. They were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Jackson at their country place at Clear creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Lake D. Wolfard are summering at their cottage at Seaview, Wash.

Mrs. Lee Hawley Hoffman left Monday for Gearhart, where she expects to spend the remainder of the season.

Mrs. Simeon B. Barker is spending the summer vacation at Seaview, Wash.

Miss Nottingham Charming Bride At Her Wedding

CHARMING in detail was the wedding of Miss Virginia Lee Nottingham and William H. Burton, which took place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's mother in Hancock street. Only immediate relatives and a few close friends witnessed the ceremony, which was read by the Rev. F. T. Bowen of St. Michaels church. The bride, wearing a frock of embroidered white net over satin, was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Nottingham, and Frances Gernsey, who was flower girl. After an extended visit in Newport, Mr. and Mrs. Burton will be at home in Pullman, Wash., where the former is a member of the faculty of Washington State college.

Mr. and Mrs. Effingham Sutton of Berkeley, Cal., arrived in the city Thursday evening, following a trip from the south by motor. They are guests at the home of General and Mrs. Charles F. Beebe at Clackamas Riffles for a short time, and in the city are stopping at the Hotel Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Terry of Piedmont have as their guests a sister, Mrs. Charles Francis Riley of Chicago, and Mr. Terry's brother, Robert A. Terry of Colombia, South America.

Miss Gertrude Levitan, a charming young woman of Sioux City, Iowa, is visiting in the city at the home of her uncle, Abe Levy.

Miss Rosebrugh And Dr. Staub Wed Last Week

THE marriage of Miss Josie Pearl Rosebrugh and Dr. Raymond R. Staub was an event of social importance in Vancouver, B. C., Thursday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. E. Cooke of Vancouver, assisted by Dr. J. J. Staub, of Portland, who is the father of the bridegroom. Only relatives and a few close friends of the family witnessed the ceremony which took place at the home of the bride's parents.

The wedding music was played by Miss Marjorie Bloomfield. The bride was gown in white satin, veiled in crepe georgette, daintily embroidered. Wide silver lace bands were fashioned on the skirt and silver lace was used on the bodice. The wedding veil, in quaint fan effect for the headpiece, was held in place with a cluster of orange blossoms. The bouquet was of roses and white sweet peas.

Miss Dorothy Trapp of New Westminster, cousin of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and was attired in a frock of pink taffeta with a flouncing of pleated silk minon and edgings of lace. She wore a picture hat of pink georgette and carried a bouquet of mauve sweet peas. Kenneth Rosebrugh, brother of the bride, was best man.

A buffet supper was served, a handsome three-tier wedding cake occupying the position of honor on the table. The table, which was most effectively arranged with white streamers and pink sweet peas, was presided over by Mrs. T. J. Trapp, and Mrs. Charles Rosebrugh cut the loaves.

Dr. and Mrs. Staub left on the mid-night boat for Vancouver Island, where the honeymoon will be spent, motoring on the island highways, after which they will spend some time at Mount Rainier.

Honoring May Dearborn Schwab of New York city, who has been the house guest of Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Watson for some time, a picnic supper was planned Sunday. The party, which included a group of the old friends of Mrs. Schwab, motored to the Greer woods near Newberg, where they enjoyed a picnic supper. The company included Mr. and Mrs. William H. Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. T. Bushong, Mr. and Mrs. Warren E. Thomas, Guy C. Spokesfield, Anne Boyer and Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Watson.

Portland folk who are interested in the Fathers Children of France are anticipating the visit in Portland August 17 of L. M. Brunswick of Los Angeles, who is president of the organization in America. Mr. Brunswick, who is a chevalier in the Legion of Honor, will be a guest of the wholesale druggists of the city and will also give some of his time to the work of the philanthropic organization, which has headquarters in Portland under the leadership of Miss Genevieve Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Linn presided at a dinner Friday honoring Dr. and Mrs. Harold Leonard Bowman, who have come to Portland recently from Chicago to make their home. Guests included Judge and Mrs. Charles E. Wolverton, Dr. and Mrs. Bowman, Judge and Mrs. Wallace McCamant, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Zatlou, Estes Snodder, Miss Thyra Youcum and Richard M. Crozier.

Mrs. Amanda Kerr of Boston, who is a visitor here this summer, will return in a few days from the beach to be the guest of Mrs. Milton Miller in Portland. Mrs. Thomas Kerr (Maudie Smith) of Tulsa, Okla., who is each year a visitor in Portland, which is her former home, is sharing honors with Mrs. Amanda Kerr in several affairs which are planned for them by their many friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Cook will leave Tuesday for British Columbia. They will spend a few weeks in Victoria at the Empress hotel, where they go each year for a vacation period.

Mrs. Wilson W. Clark and children and mother, Mrs. R. M. Dooley, left this week for Victoria, B. C., where they have taken a house for a month.

Dr. and Mrs. John Forrest Dickson returned at dinner Tuesday evening. Covers were placed for 10 guests.

COATS Luxuriously "Wrappy"

Developed of softly exquisite fabrics and lavishly fur trimmed, they are handsome indeed. Cape collars, bloused backs and loose sleeves distinguish them.

Browns Lead the Way in Suits

Tailored models are of velvet-finished weave, while dressier models choose duvetyne, yalafina, duvet de laine and peachbloom. Jackets are either much longer or extremely short with full ripple pleatings. Skirts are of comfortable width and are 8 to 12 inches from the floor.

Tailored Frocks to the Fore

Vivid embroideries and beading make the new tailored frocks anything but dull. Navy tricot and serge are good, sometimes combined with black satin. Silk dresses elect charmeuse and satin to favor—kitten's ear crepe is THE new material.

Notes of the New

Each day brings in advance models in suits, coats, dresses, blouses and hats. Newness is the keynote of every display—and though fall has not yet arrived, the alert woman knows that early choice is ever wise. Prices are an agreeable surprise—they're so reasonable.

Millinery Modes For Pre-Autumn Wear

$7.50 to $35

Ready for Inspection on the Third Floor Are Hosts of Charming Hats Showing the Newest Ideas for Fall.

Most favored in fashion circles, and shown here in wonderful variety are the smaller hats, most of them in duvetyne or velvet, though the all-feather hat is quite the vogue just now. Wings, burnt goose and ostrich add their quota of loveliness.

Brilliant Colorings Are Favored

Foremost among the new shades is copper, its gleaming tints shading from the brightness of the pure metal to the rich red-brown of mahogany. Blue appears in new tones—Honeybird, Nattier, Corbeau, Sapphire—brown returns to favor in a range of soft woody shades—black, of course, is ever a favorite. Metallic cloth is conspicuous for its dazzling beauty, whether it makes the whole hat or just the crown.
