TENNESSEE SENATE FOR SUFFRAGE

Federal Amendment Is Approved by Vote of 25 to 4; Majority Larger Than Expected; House Adjourns, but Will Act Monday.

Nashville, Aug. 13.—(U. P.)—The state senate today approved the federal suffrage amendment. The vote was 25 to 4.

The ratification resolution now goes to the house of representatives, where action is expected Tuesday, although a quicker vote may be had. If the house passes the ratifying resolution, it will provide the thirty-sixth state to ratify the amendment and insure the voting by all women in the United States in the November elections.

The resolution, to which the resolution of ratification was referred, has decided not to make its report until after another meeting Monday night.

An effort was expected to be made, however, to take the resolution from the hands of the committee.

HOUSE ADJOURNS

The house adjourned shortly before noon today.

The resolution has not yet been reported out of committee in the house. The hardest fight on the resolution was predicted in the house of representatives. The majority on the senate was much larger than had been expected. At the last moment several senators "climbed on the wagon."

The victory in the Tennessee senate brings us to the last lap in the long struggle for woman enfranchisement," said Miss Sue White, Tennessee state chairman of the National Woman's party.

The first favorable action came when the committee on the resolution reported, recommending favorable action on the amendment.

The legislature has a "legal and moral right to act," the report declared. Inhibitory clauses in the state constitution are invalidated by the United States constitution.

SUFFRAGE INEVITABLE

The report expressed the view that suffrage is at hand and may be delayed but cannot be defeated.

The minority report was tabled when an effort was made to adopt it. The vote was 22 to 19.

When the suffrage resolution was brought up for passage a point of order was made by Senator McFarland.

The chair overruled the point and an appeal was taken to the senate.

The senate sustained the ruling of the speaker. The vote was 27 to 5. It was another victory for suffrage.

NORTH CAROLINA SENATE COMMITTEE IS FAVORABLE

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 13.—(U. P.)—The senate committee on constitutional amendments today voted 7 to 1 in favor of ratifying the Anthony amendment. The resolution will come up on the floor for its second reading today.

A ratification resolution was also introduced in the house, but not voted on by the committee. It will be taken up later.

BUYERS LEARNING 'PORTLAND HABIT'

Outgrowing most of the characteristics that have made it purely a local affair, Buyers' week has developed in two years into an event of national importance through which Portland is constantly entering new trading fields.

With Friday the last day for registration, the lists are practically complete. The number of visitors has fulfilled expectations, while the scope of territory represented by the buyers far exceeds anticipation.

Thirteen states, two provinces of Canada and Alaska are represented by merchants. States represented are Oregon, Washington, Idaho, California, Nevada, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, Arizona, Texas, Kansas and Missouri.

The greatest distance traveled by any merchant coming to the gathering was about 3,000 miles. This journey was made by W. A. Melita, president of the Melita Sea Food company of St. Louis, Mo., who registered at Buyers' week headquarters in the Oregon building Thursday evening.

Some of the committees were in—

West Broke Die Which Moulded Man Like Taylor, Admirer Writes

"The West will never produce another Till Taylor," said George L. Hersman, former Umatilla county grain man, as he brought his check for the Till Taylor Memorial fund to The Journal Friday morning.

"I knew him," the veteran mused, "for more than 20 years. When I came to Portland he treated me as a very young man. But he was always as fine and square a man as God ever permitted to draw breath.

"He was a natural born detective. He was a terror to evil-doers. The hardest thing a lawbreaker had to do was to get away from Till Taylor. But he was a gentleman. He was a very young man. I've known him to bring his prisoners hundreds of miles by train, but only he and his prisoner knew it. He would take him together without sign of handcuff or gun.

"Sheriff Till Taylor could have killed Hart and he would have been praised for it. But he treated Hart like a white man and Hart is a skunk.

"The memorial to Till Taylor ought to be a fine one. A finer man never lived."

Mayor George L. Baker's contribution to $100 to the Till Taylor Memorial fund was received by the mayor's secretary, actively cooperating with W. L. Thompson, vice president of the First National bank, and chairman of the Till Taylor Memorial committee for Umatilla county.

Another appreciated contribution came from Charles W. Evans of Wendling, Or., who wrote:

"Enclosed is a contribution to the Till Taylor Memorial fund from a former newspaper man, but now a Booth-Kelly building contractor. I was a reporter on the Pendleton Tribune. I became quite well acquainted with Till Taylor and I would consider myself derelict to my duty if I should be unrepresented in the memorial in his honor."

The testimony from many sources is that those who knew the slain sheriff of Umatilla respected and admired him and are eager to honor his memory.

FRENCH PRESIDENT 'KEY' TO RESIGN

Paris, Aug. 13.—(U. P.)—Resignation of President Douhairel is imminent as a result of France's new and aggressive anti-Bolshevik policy and the consequent diplomatic misunderstanding with Great Britain, it was reported today in high political circles. In such an event, it was considered likely that Premier Millerand would be elected president and M. Briand appointed premier.

The press today generally declared recognition of Wrangel's anti-Bolshevik government by France was a mere incident in the gradual divergence between the Russian policies of France and Great Britain. This divergence has existed for months, the newspapers said, and has reached a point where immediate recognition of the entente cordial on a new and solid basis is necessary. British investors have been busy negotiating in an effort to smooth out their differences with regard to Russia. The foreign office let it be known that it is in a different district than the Soviet peace terms to Poland, which Britain advised the Poles to accept and which the French government telegraphed to the French recognition of Wrangel and whether it was justified; and what is to be done if the Minsk armistice parleys fail to bring about cessation of hostilities.

Husband Is Beaten Up for Attack He Made on His Wife

After submitting to a severe beating by an outraged citizen outside of his home at 2 o'clock Friday morning, Mrs. Foster, 27, was arrested by Patrolmen Churchill and Miller on a charge of disorderly conduct. Mrs. Foster, who lives in the same house, 363 East Third street, was the complainant.

Camp wife sought protection with Mrs. Foster last night, saying that she was afraid of her husband. At 2 a. m. he appeared at the Foster apartments and demanded to see his wife. As Mrs. Foster refused to let him in he pushed her aside and taking his wife by the hair, the police say, he dragged her down the stairs. Here the passing stranger interposed and soundly thrashed camp.

Mrs. Foster notified the police, who took him to the Emergency hospital and later "booked" him on the police blotter.

Earwig Ordinance Tabled in Council; Mayor Causes Halt

An ordinance introduced by the park bureau Friday morning at the meeting of the city council, appropriating $1000 to carry on the fight against earwigs, was "stepped on" by Mayor Baker.

"As Deputy Auditor Grizzle read the ordinance, I raised my hand," "Now let's stop right here," he cautioned. "The first thing we know we are going broke. The general fund is about empty. I've no doubt the campaign is a worthy project, but we must consider the rest of the city, too."

Park Superintendent Keyser said the earwig is a pest which is doing a great deal of damage. He said he had been informed by the council. The ordinance was tabled until Commissioner Pifer returns next week.

PONZI'S WIFE, HIS COSTLY HOME AND HIS SMILE

FRANCE EXPLAINS STAND TO BRITAIN

London, Aug. 13.—(I. N. S.)—France, in an official note addressed to the British government and received here late today, declares that French recognition of General Wrangel's anti-soviet regime does not mean that France intends to aid Wrangel without first exchanging views with Britain.

FRANCE BLAMES U. S. FOR ITS SUPPORT OF WRANGEL

By Newton C. Parke

Paris, Aug. 13.—(I. N. S.)—The United States is held responsible by the French foreign office for France's decision to recognize the anti-Bolshevik de facto government of General Wrangel in Southern Russia, it was learned this evening.

The French foreign office in a note sent to the French embassy at Washington this afternoon, it was learned in official quarters. The government's impression was the situation was easier, but the French government telegraphed to the French recognition of General Wrangel's government.

Little Cox Girl Prevents Mother Coming Out West

Little Anna Cox has wrought consternation in the "Jimmie" Cox household at Dayton, Ohio, where her daddy runs the Dayton News and is governor of the state, not to mention being Democratic nominee for presidency of the United States.

The fact of the matter, as reported by Elyon Watkins, proxy member of the notification committee and just returned from the notification ceremonies, is that Anna is right in the midst of the principal phase of her life.

The unhappy result is that Mrs. Cox will not be able to come west with her husband when he starts his tour—a trip which he has been making for some time. The fact of the matter is that Mrs. Cox is a big man physically.

"And when Cox comes to Oregon he will bring several surprises," Watkins declares. "First, he will shatter the general idea that he is a big man physically.

"Cox looks more like A. E. Clark than anyone I can call to mind, and in stature he is almost a counterpart of Senator Chamberlain. He has a big nose but is, nevertheless, a handsome man. For speech making he hasn't a contemporary peer. He pounds out his facts after the Theodore Roosevelt method, and he is a very good speaker. One place where Governor Cox will shine is in the California district papers. There the candidate is at home, Watkins reports, and news writers are expected to be excited.

"At the notification luncheon at Cox' beautiful home the committee was about to be seated when Cox espied news writers on the veranda. "Get in here, you fellows," he called—"this house is big enough for all of us." And the newspaper men filed in to take their seats at the table with the notification committee.

Portland May Be Withdrawn From District of Seattle

Objections which Portland has made to the shipping board's placing this city in a district of which Seattle will be the headquarters are receiving the attention of board officials and it is possible that an order will be issued this week replacing some port of the California district, according to messages received by the Chamber of Commerce from W. D. B. Dodson, general manager of the organization, Friday.

Dodson urges that more Portlanders get behind the demand that the port be placed in a different district than its bitter competitor—Seattle. Numerous telegrams were forwarded to Chairman Benson, urging immediate action Friday afternoon.

America's Note on Polish Situation Is Given False Report

Washington, Aug. 13.—(I. N. S.)—The department of state has undertaken an investigation of the amazing and mysterious circulation throughout France of a note which is being widely distributed on the Polish situation, which became current at least three days prior to the publication of the note itself in the United States.

According to the advance version circulated in France, the United States had given the Bolsheviks of Russia its moral support, warning a wave of anti-American comment, the effect of which, officials here fear, cannot be so easily removed.

Pope Slightly Hurt In Fall at Vatican

London, Aug. 13.—(I. N. S.)—Pope Benedict XV was slightly injured by slipping and falling upon the floor at the Vatican, said a Central News dispatch from Rome this afternoon.

RIVAL FIRM OF PONZI'S HITS ROCKS

Crowd of Infuriated Investors Surrounds Office and Demands Life of President; Ponzi Is Surrendered by His Bondsmen.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 13.—Shortly after an infuriated mob of disappointed investors had swarmed around the doors of the office of C. M. Brightwell, president of the Old Colony Exchange company, a rival concern said to have been modeled after those operated by Charles Ponzi, Ponzi himself surrendered to the U. S. marshal at the federal building because his bondsmen had recalled his bond of $35,000.

However, the outstanding feature of the day in the developments surrounding these so-called get-rich-quick concerns was the howling multitude which surrounded Brightwell's office, ordered closed earlier in the day by the district attorney. The crowd first demanded return of its money, and when this was not forthcoming cries of "kill Brightwell, lynch him" went up all around.

Brightwell huddled in the office in terror, telephoned for the police. In the meantime the mob dashed to the main doors and wrecked the palatial suite of the company.

The police arrived at the office beyond control, so instead of trying to curb it, the police told them to go to the branch office of the concern on Olive street. The mob dashed to that street just as the office force there, warned by telephone, dashed out of the building.

Frightened clerk and two stenographers were stopped and questioned by the mob and then released.

FURNITURE PUT IN STREET

Owners of the Devonshire building ordered the furniture in the office to be taken out of the building. It did not do so soon enough and the office furniture was put out on the street. "Thousands of investors have been flocking to the company's offices, according to officials.

Brightwell states that the company has thousands of dollars in banks in Europe and is going to do a tremendous business in everything from a spool of thread to machinery.

Brightwell is a former stock promoter who has been in the business at one time president of the Langdon Oil & Gas company of Kansas. He said:

"There are still thousands upon thousands of investors who are waiting for the company to get started. There is also much to be made in the purchase of municipal, water and similar bonds. We intend to get the remainder of our clients through these agencies."

PONZI'S PARTNERS NAMED

Guglielmo Bertolotto of Parma, Italy, and John S. Dondero of Medford today were named as partners in an involuntary petition in bankruptcy filed by three creditors.

The report of the audit of Ponzi's books was expected to be made public today.

Forecasts were that the report would show Ponzi had 40,000 customers; that he "invested" high as $14,000,000 in his scheme; that he repaid an approximate $6,000,000 before the doors of the Hanover Trust company were closed and that he owed the remainder of his $8,000,000 to three creditors.

Ponzi declared today that he was happy because his girl wife still professed her love and faith in him.

Rosa, a pretty, dark-eyed Italian girl, proved her love and faith by the simple statement: "He is my husband."

SHE STILL HAS FAITH

She is happy in the nerve trying strain of the past few weeks in over. Although she loved the luxury their new found wealth afforded, she said she would long and loyally try to help her husband meet his obligations, and she was confident he would pay all he owes.

After his surrender to authorities yesterday, she rushed home to his wife. She was waiting for him on the lawn of their beautiful estate.

"I have a great weariness that was shown on Ponzi's face disappeared as his wife slipped her arms about his neck and kissed him.

"Mrs. Ponzi then informed her husband that she married him with a full knowledge of his prison record in Atlanta and Montreal.

BOY RUNS STILLS; FATHER WATCHES

Schooled in the business of making prune whiskey, yet denied general education for three years, 16-year-old Harold Wallace was arrested at 711 Spokane avenue Thursday night when federal agents found him personally operating two illicit liquor stills.

Outside the house, while the lad made whiskey from prunes, the father, Abraham Wallace, stood guard. He did not note the approach of the raiding party, however, and was taken without difficulty. In the meantime the boy fled through a side window and was about to gain the shelter of his home next door when he was caught.

The elder Wallace owned and operated, through his son, three stills in the residence at 711 Spokane avenue, devoting the entire structure to distillery activities, federal agents reported. Next door he maintained his residence with the son and an 18-year-old daughter.

The still room, elaborately equipped but, like other parts of the house, very dirty, contained two stills in full operation when the agents arrived. In charge was the boy, who told the raiders he had not been in school for three years. In other rooms were found 300 gallons of prune mash and 25 gallons of finished whiskey.

Former violations of the prohibition law are recorded against the elder Wallace, it is said. The boy probably will be remanded to the juvenile court.

Roumanian Crown Prince May Arrive In Portland Monday

San Francisco, Aug. 13.—(I. N. S.)—Crown Prince Carol of Roumania will leave tonight for the East via Portland and St. Paul to Chicago. From Chicago he will proceed to New York.

Crown Prince Carol of Roumania, who arrived at San Francisco Thursday aboard the steamer Korea Maru, will likely arrive in Portland Sunday morning.

This report was received Friday by the passenger department of the Southern Pacific from the San Francisco office. Local officers have wired for further information. It is believed that the heir to the throne of the largest of the Balkan countries may be en route to Maryhill, Wash., the estate of Samuel Hill, near the town of Lytle.

He was met at San Francisco by Samuel Hill, a personal friend, and it is thought that he may be planning to return to the public eye for a short time at the Hill estate.

Morris, 88, one of the oldest turfmen of the country, who has been a member of the Turf Club since his active career as owner of a racing stable, is in a dying condition at the Saratoga hospital today. ## Cloudburst Drowns Friday, 13th, Jinx

Chicago, Aug. 13.—(U. P.)—A veritable cloudburst on the south side early today drowned the Friday thirteenth jinx. Fire which destroyed five dwellings was rapidly getting beyond control when a torrential rain put out the flames.

Breeze Tempers Heat That Sets Out Early in Day To Be Scorcher

Hourly temperatures from 7 a. m. Friday were:

7:00 a. m.	72	12:00 noon	89
8:00 a. m.	73	1:00 p. m.	92
9:00 a. m.	74	2:00 p. m.	93
10:00 a. m.	75	3:00 p. m.	93
11:00 a. m.	75

A brisk breeze Friday afternoon helped to temper the otherwise torrid heat and was probably responsible for one degree less of heat registered at the weather bureau than on Thursday afternoon.

At 1 o'clock the temperature was 92 above, as compared with 93 at the same hour Thursday, and Acting Meteorologist G. H. Brown expressed the opinion that the temperature might miss the high point of 93 registered Thursday, by several degrees.

It was not enough on Broadway Friday afternoon to satisfy the most exacting heat lover, but the terrific stifling heat waves of Thursday were missing. The breeze from the northwest, even when the sun's heat was approaching the maximum, was almost cooling.

WARMER IN MORNING

From 5 until 7 o'clock Friday morning the temperature was almost stationary at 70 degrees. By 7 o'clock it was 72.

At 8 o'clock Friday morning it was 73 above, as compared with 72 at the same hour Thursday.

The lowest temperature of the past 24 hours occurred at 5:10 this morning when the thermometer at the weather bureau registered 70.

Much of the heat of Thursday lingered in the settling air of the morning. The other stiff heat period Friday afternoon. The weather man holds out no promise of relief in the next 24 hours.

Portland passed through one of its few sweltering nights Thursday. With the evening the breeze increased, but it did not seem to grow cool until early morning.

BROADWAY WAS HOT

Broadway was like a furnace Thursday afternoon. Thermometers placed in the sun have recorded, on August 22, 1891, a temperature of 98 at 3 o'clock. It was the hottest ever recorded here in August. On four previous occasions temperatures of 97 have been recorded, on August 22, 1891, August 2, 1898, August 10, 1905, and August 28, 1915.

The highest temperature Portland has ever recorded is 102 degrees. It has many times been hotter than 98. In July, 1891 it was 102 on two occasions, and in July, 1907, that mark was also touched.

FLASH ADMITS HE POISONED HIS WIFE

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 13.—(I. N. S.)—T. F. Flash today confessed the murder of his wife, whose body was recovered a month ago from a shallow grave in the San Diego river.

He prepared the poison dose aboard the U. S. S. Prairie, where he was a chief pharmacist's mate.

Standard Oil Stock To Be Trebled; 200 Per Cent Profits Due

New York, Aug. 13.—(I. N. S.)—A special dividend of $25,000,000 on the Standard Oil Company of New York will be held September 1 to vote approval of an increase in the capital stock from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000. It was officially announced today.

If this measure is ratified as expected, the additional stock capital voted will be distributed as a dividend, it was stated.

This would mean a "profits" distribution of 200 per cent.

Some Fly, Some Motor, Others Walk, but All Oregon Now Revels In the Glorious Out of Doors

It's a pleasure for The Sunday Journal to serve, hence a group of illustrations, that will be refreshing next summer reading, will be included next Sunday.

"Through the Birdman's Eyes" is the capstone of an engaging illustrated article on the coming of the birdman, and that details what has been done at near Portland in aerial navigation in recent months. Fred Lockley, too, has an article depicting an afternoon's experience this week that took him to Seaside and return by the air route.

The lure of the out of doors is upon us. The inviting subject is reflected in the concluding article of Miss Henrietta McKaughan's narrative of the remarkable 35-day hiking trip which she made alone through the Olympic national forest. A special illustrated article relates the fun the Boy Scouts are having in their camp on the Sandy river. A correspondent has forwarded some interesting photographs of the Mazamas, who are concluding their annual encampment with this year was situated near Mount Baker. For the motorist the feature article in next Sunday's automotive section has to do with a Journal scout tour to Newport.

SOUTHWESTERN OREGON

And, speaking of motoring, Senator Chamberlain is jogging over the state in a dependable Ford, accompanied by Ralph Watson of The Journal staff and a driver. In an illustrated article Mr.

Then there are the beaches and inland resorts, each a mecca for its quota of the United States weather bureau. The Journal's resort columns are comprehensive chronicles of those who come and go.

To get back home, space will be found in next Sunday's Journal for a variety of illustrated material having to do with Portland and vicinity. Edward L. Wells of the United States weather bureau relates the special services that the bureau performs for the public. Illustrations will show why all North Portland industries are united in a determined effort for a deeper channel.

CONSIDER THE EARWIG

And, there is the earwig. A resourceful reporter and photographer have traced this animal pest to his very pair, and have joined forces to expose his ravages in Walnut Park and to discuss the best measures for his extermination.

The Sunday Journal, first in news reviews, features and art, is sold for a cent a copy everywhere.
