Dear Slayers Caught—Clyde Fisk of Eugene and Mr. and Mrs. E. Goodchild were arrested Sunday by E. S. Hawker, Roy Bremmer and Victor McFarland, deputy game wardens, 30 miles east of Oakridge, on the charge of killing deer in closed season. Parts of two deer, rifles, revolvers and five hounds were seized by the wardens. Following a trial at Eugene, Tuesday, the two men were fined $50 each and the woman, who is an Indian, was given a continued trial. Indications were that the party had been camped at the point of capture all summer and that the men had been doing a wholesale deer killing business.

A campaign will be started immediately to force bicyclists to use lights, he said.

Walter Leve Back From Inspection of Still Creek Forest

Walter Leve, forest examiner, has returned from the inspection of 2700 acres of Douglas fir and western white pine on Still creek. The oldest trees were planted in 1913. Those and those of the two following years were partially destroyed by fire in 1917, and in 1918 and 1919 those destroyed by fire were replanted, as well as new areas.

The trees planted in 1913, 1914 and 1915, said Leve, are showing vigorous growth, and are beginning to stand out above the ferns and leaves. Those of 1918 are growing rapidly, but those of last year are not making much of a showing as yet.

Monday morning Leve climbed Mount Hood, making his first ascent alone, following the foot tracks made by the some 500 mountain climbers who have scaled the peak this summer.

The request has been referred to the dock commission which will likely see that the desired information is sent to the merchants.

FORMAL TENDER OF PARK SITE IS MADE TO COUNTY

Sam J. Gorman made a formal tender to the Multnomah county commissioners Wednesday of a deed to an 80-acre tract of land on Tumult creek, just off the Columbia river highway, which he desires to donate to the county for park purposes.

He also, in his letter of transmittal, states that he will give land for a roadway from the highway to this tract, a distance of about 1200 feet, and suggests that at the point where the road would leave the highway a space be reserved that would be suitable at some later time for the location of some proper dedication in honor of the memory of Dr. John McLoughlin, for whom the park is to be named.

The commissioners transmitted the letter to the county surveyor, with the request that his force familiarize itself with the boundary lines as a guide to the commissioners over the land on an inspection trip before action is taken on accepting the proffered gift.

WOOD SAW MAN FINED $10 FOR DISOBEDIENCE OF LAW

George W. Gorman, who operates a wood saw, was fined $10 by District Judge Bell Tuesday for failure to comply with provisions of the law in posting notices on his machine that he is not a contributor to the state industrial accident fund. Gorman contended that he had ignored the instructions of Special Agents Willman and Small of the commission, regarding the required posting, and it developed that their visit to his saw resulted in quite an acrimonious conference.

"He said he had no use for the industrial accident fund law, would have nothing to do with it, and had been told by numerous persons that it was no good," said Special Agent Small. "He told us that the law was no good and referred us to Mr. Keeley if we wanted to know what people thought about it."

Gorman claimed that he kept no books or payrolls, and that he was not subject to the provisions of the act, as he did not hire helpers but simply took men on to work on commission on the jobs they secured for his saw.
