EXECUTORS NAMED IN M'RAE ESTATE; VALUE IS $12,500

Herbert E. and Donald D. McRae, 246 East Sixth street, are named as executors in the will of Mrs. Ernestine McRae, who died at Stanley Station, July 31. They are sons of the deceased and filed her will for probate Thursday. They and another son, James F. McRae, are the legatees under the will. The property consists of shares of stock in the Jennings - McRae Logging company, promissory notes and household effects to the value of $5000, and real estate in Portland valued at approximately $7500. Annual rentals and profits of the estate amount to $500.

Inventory and appraisement of the estate of Oscar E. Overbeck, who was president of the Overbeck & Cooke company, was filed Thursday by Karl Herbing, Harry Neer and M. J. Clohessy. Helen R. Overbeck is the administratrix.

The total value of the estate is given as $67,821.76, of which $7585 is realty in Clatsop, Polk and Multnomah counties, and $60,821.76 is personal property, including cash in bank, shares of stock in various corporations and other securities. The estate owns 25 shares of stock in the Overbeck & Cooke company, valued at $25,000.

Circuit Judge McCourt on Thursday appointed Henry C. Griesel as administrator of the estate of the late Mrs. Minna Griesel, who died in Portland July 7, leaving an estate of $5060. The heirs are the widower and seven sons and two daughters.

MAY ASK CITY TO TAKE OVER ROADS IN CITY LIMITS

As an outcome of the controversy between people of Linnton, the city and county commissioners as to which body should construct sidewalks along Linnton road, the prospect is that the city will be asked formally to take over all county roads lying within the municipality.

The matter was before the county commissioners Wednesday and such a movement was advocated by Commissioner Holman. It was continued for two weeks, but Commissioners Hoyt and Muck expressed themselves favorable to the idea.

"We have paved about 19 miles of county road lying within the city boundaries," said Holman. "We have accomplished our purpose in opening them up as sections of main arteries of the county highways, and it is now proper and right that the city should take them over and maintain them."

M'COURT ASSUMES HIS PLACE AS PRESIDING JUDGE

Circuit Judge McCourt assumed the duties of presiding judge Wednesday morning and will serve in this capacity until August 27, when Judge Tazwell will take up the duties of this position for the remainder of the six months to which he has been assigned the place. When Judge McCourt entered the courtroom to take the bench he found a large array of attorneys, a courtroom that has been retinted, the woodwork redressed and a new carpet laid. Two beautiful large bouquets adorned the desk, one a huge cluster of gladioli from Bailiffs A. M. Evans and Harry Shoop and the other of dahlias from James Willoughby, head bookkeeper of the county clerk's office. The dahlias were in a handsome cut glass vase donated by Joe Rogers, presiding clerk of the circuit court.

HEARING ON INJUNCTION ON MILK DISTRIBUTION SET

Hearing on the order to show cause why a permanent injunction should not issue against milk distributors of Portland to restrain them from trying to get members of the Oregon Dairymen's Cooperative league from breaking their contracts with the league was set by Circuit Judge McCourt Wednesday for August 24. Attorneys for the distributors sought to get a modification of the temporary order pending this hearing, but this was denied.

CORRUPTION CHARGE MADE AT NASHVILLE

sponse to my own convictions on this question," said Burn.

As soon as the house had convened today Harry Burn made a statement on his vote. His vote won for suffrage. He attributed his vote to his mother's advice. His statement follows:

"I desire to resent in the name of honesty and justice the veiled intimation and accusation regarding my vote on the suffrage amendment, as indicated by certain statements. And it's my sincere belief that those responsible for their existence know there is not a scintilla of truth in them.

"I know they are false, and I feel that my association amongst you has enabled you to know me well enough that you unanimously join me in resenting same.

WHY HE CHANGED VOTE

"I want to take this opportunity to state that I changed my vote in favor of ratification because:

"1—I believe in full suffrage as a right.

"2—I believe we had a moral and legal right to ratify.

"3—I know that a mother's advice is always safest for her boy to follow, and my mother wanted me to vote for ratification.

"4—I appreciated the fact that an opportunity such as seldom comes to mortal man—to free 17,000,000 women from political slavery—was mine.

"5—I desire that my party, in both state and nation, might say that it was a Republican from the mountains of East Tennessee, the purest Anglo-Saxon section in the world, who made national woman's suffrage possible at this date; not for any personal glory, but for the glory of his party."

The house adopted a resolution already passed by the senate, inviting Candidates Cox and Harding to address the general assembly 'on political issues' on separate days before September 1.

Captain Smith, Head Of the Forest Patrol, Spends Night Here

Captain Lowell H. Smith, who has charge of the air service forest patrol in Oregon, spent Wednesday night in Portland, on his way from Eugene to Seattle. He will return through Portland to Eugene Thursday night.

Under Captain Smith's direction, the forest air patrol has been most successful this summer, and fires have been located by its observers which could not be seen from the lookouts because of the heavy smoke screen, and reported while yet in their infancy, thus enabling forest officials to put men at work on them before they gained a large size.

The efficiency of the patrol has been maintained even in the few instances where accidents have occurred. Captain Smith seeing that such accident in no way impaired the service. When a plane last week was forced to land when the engine went dead, a second plane was sent by Captain Smith to complete the route, and on a former instance the captain himself piloted a plane over the Southern Oregon route when the regular patrol machine had to make a forced landing in an isolated mountain region.

Position in Portland Schools Is Declined By Miss Salisbury

Miss Ethel Salisbury, recently elected third assistant superintendent of the Portland schools and director of primary education at a salary of $3750, has declined the position to remain in the Berkeley schools, where she is in charge of the primary school work and lectures at the University of California on primary methods.

Miss Salisbury was elected upon the recommendation of Director A. C. Newill, who met her in Salt Lake. The position of director of primary education, because of the lateness of the season, will now remain vacant for another year. It has not been filled since the war.

Lake Erie Railroad President on Tour

William Duncan, president of the Wheeling and Lake Erie railway, accompanied by members of his family and Ed Petrequin, director of the railway and prominent paper manufacturer, arrived in Portland Wednesday evening aboard a special car and are touring the city and the Columbia river highway. Homes of members of the party are at Cleveland, Ohio. The special car is scheduled to leave the city Thursday evening at 11 o'clock for Seattle.

Re-routing of Road To Astoria by Way Of Manning Urged

About 1000 citizens of the district between Forest Grove and Vernonia gathered at Manning Wednesday to discuss the proposed petitioning of the state highway commission for a rerouting of the Portland-Astoria highway. Forest Grove, Manning, Vernonia and other towns in that section are asking that the main highway be run through their towns instead of through the Gales creek district.

It was contended at the Manning meeting that six people live along the Manning route to every one on the Gales creek route, that the Manning route is shorter and provides easier grades. J. W. Brewer, field agent for the State Chamber of Commerce, was a speaker at the meeting. He told those gathered of the work of the state chamber.

U. S. ABSENCE IS FELT; POLISH CRISIS RESULT

boundaries and the French might then not have been so ready to encourage Polish aggression on Russia.

The moral influence or dictum of Great Britain and the United States, it is felt, would have caused Poland to desist. England, alone, with troubles of her own, has not quite the powerful enough voice to persuade the French to keep out of that Polish-Russian quarrel.

INFLUENCE ABSENT

So strong is the propaganda of American Bolshevism in France, and so anxious have the military leaders there been not to range the power of France alongside any anti-Bolshevik movement, whether backed by anti-soviet Russians or Poles, that French policy has gone forward almost without restraint by Great Britain or any other major power.

The French made big loans to Czarist Russia which they want the Bolsheviki to pay. France needs all the money she can get from any source to help her reconstruction progresses. There is naturally a deep feeling about the Russian question in banking and business circles in France, but the British have been inclined to take a more detached viewpoint and a further look ahead.

Inquiry has shown that every time the French or even the British have lent arms and other support to anti-Bolshevist factions under Admiral Kolchak or General Denikine—and, it is feared, again under General Wrangel—the effect has been to solidify the Russians under soviet control.

REDS REAP ADVANTAGE

The Bolsheviki have been able to claim that they alone were preserving Russian integrity and that the allies were bent upon dismemberment of Russia through support to various factions in widely separated localities.

The Poles are blamed here for having become the aggressors against Russia, though there is also an inclination to blame France for encouraging the Poles to attack the Russians.

The American government is taking a neutral attitude so far as possible as between the French and the British, but there is no doubt that had America been a member of the league and but able to express opinions in the council of the league, the United States would have in a large extent shared the views of the British and compelled a common declaration of policy.

RECOGNITION OPPOSED

The recognition of the soviet is opposed because of the declaration of their leaders in favor of carrying on a war of the proletariat in all countries outside of Russia, but at the same time it is the prevalent view here that the Bolsheviki have been kept in power through excuses of external aggression perpetrated by Poland or supposedly Russian anti-Bolsheviki factions receiving money or arms from Japan or France or Britain.

Poland is held guilty of having violated Article X, and there is a feeling here that she never would have dared to do that had the League of Nations behind it the moral influence of the United States, because Poland in her anxiety to get American and British help and sympathy in founding her new republic would have listened to words of warning from the larger power who really gave her independence, and at the same time negotiations would have been under way for the common protection of the allied countries against any aggressions from Bolshevist Russia.

EX-SALOON MAN ORDERED TO JAIL; CAN'T PAY FINE

His once large fortune gone and the many friends of his days in the North End disappeared, August Erickson Thursday morning was committed to the county jail because he could not pay a fine of $150 assessed against him by Federal Judge Bean, when Erickson pleaded guilty to possession of intoxicating liquor.

Erickson at one time was known to every habitue of the North End, it is said, as the proprietor of a large bar and concert hall. Following the adoption of statewide prohibition he opened the Clackamas tavern near Oregon City and there, on several occasions, was arrested for violation of the liquor laws.

The last of these arrests brought about suppression of the place as a nuisance and Erickson came to Portland to rebuild the fortune he lost, he declares, largely through the payment of large sums of "hush money" into a fund that never accomplished its purpose of protecting him from the law. Heretofore, however, Erickson has escaped incarceration.

Testimony before Judge Bean Thursday showed that Erickson had six quarts of liquor in his soft drink store at Twelfth and Washington streets, where no proof of sales was obtained.

Spaniard Is Denied Citizenship Papers; Didn't Like Army

Victor Jacob Cordova, Spaniard, was denied final certificate as a United States citizen Thursday morning when he admitted before Federal Judge Bean that he had applied for exemption from military service and had, as an alien, surrendered his first papers.

Thereafter, however, Cordova served several months in the army. A number of former soldiers, many of them with overseas records, were among the 19 persons admitted to citizenship. They are:

Santi Giacinti, G. Scanderbecco and Giovani Rosetto, Italy; Errol C. Briggs, William J. Ball, Fred Sherwood Cass and Henry Clark, Canada; Niels P. Nielson, Denmark; Carl T. Larson and Gustave Krantz, Sweden; William John Jones, John Burnham, Richard R. Harrison and Sydney H. Moss, England; Nick J. Pappas, Greece; Anton Hekimian and Sam Namhie, Turkey; Henry Dahl, Finland; Gottfried Abegg, Switzerland.

Sam King and M. W. Shaw, salesmen were awaiting trial in municipal court Thursday following a wild automobile ride that ended Wednesday night when their machine hit the open drawgate on the Steeel bridge. Both are charged with being intoxicated, Shaw also facing the more serious allegation of driving while in that condition. The automobile was badly damaged and the signal lamp on the gate was demolished.

Ireland's Status Will Be Discussed In Rally Thursday

"Shall the 'republic of Ireland' be officially recognized by the United States government?" will be the principal topic for discussion Thursday night at the Irish rally to be held in Hibernia hall, 340 Russell street. Another feature will be an address "On Conditions as I Observed Them in Ireland" by the Rev. J. P. O'Flynn, who has just returned from a year's stay in Ireland.

Captain Cicero F. Hogan will speak on "The Irish Question From an American Standpoint." John R. Murphy will be chairman of the evening and will discuss "The Aims and Purposes of the A. O. H." Open discussion will occur on the new "coercion bill" recently passed by the British parliament. George C. Hennessy of the chapel car, in citations and songs, will be an added feature.

Injunction Against Enforcement of Fish Sale Law Is Sought

An injunction order to restrain Carl D. Shoemaker, secretary of the Oregon fish commission, from enforcing a law prohibiting the sale of salmon caught outside the three mile limit in closed season in Oregon streams, is sought by nine Astoria purse seiners in an application before the United States district court.

Arthur Graham and his mates, represented by A. F. Fulton of Astoria, have caused to be served upon Governor Olcott and Attorney General Brown an order to show cause why the restraining order should not be issued. Arguments will be heard before Federal Judge Bean Monday.

The sale prohibition law was upheld some time ago by Circuit Judge Eakin at Astoria and an appeal to the state supreme court is still pending.

Astoria Boy Found In Asylum in Peru After Long Search

Astoria, Aug. 19.—After a search of four months, conducted by scores of officials in the United States and Peru, Mr. and Mrs. Jens Johnson of 546 Bond street were notified yesterday that their son, Christian Johnson, had been located in an insane asylum in Lima, Peru. The young man served in the navy during the war, being stationed at Bremerton. He is 21 years old.

The information was contained in a cablegram from the American consul at Lima to District Attorney Jasper J. Barrett. The word received is a result of a thorough investigation made by the district attorney of Clatsop county after information had been received that the boy showed signs of mental derangement on his way to South America on board the Centaurus.

Pawn Shop Woman Is Fined $25 for Violating Ordinance

Mrs. Marguerite Schneider, proprietress of a second-hand store at 43 North Third street, was fined $25 by Acting Municipal Judge Deich Thursday morning on a charge of violating the pawnshop ordinance. Second-hand dealers are required to enter all purchases in a daily report. According to Inspector Wright, many stores are negligent, and because of the amount of petty thievery going on the police are keeping a close check.

Inspector Wright told the court the police had been watching the Schneider store for some time, and Wednesday were able to follow a purchaser of a $35 pair of boots for $12. When asked why an entry was not made, Mrs. Schneider said she had not bought them, but later admitted she had.

"They're trying to make everybody honest down there," the defendant objected to the court.

Driver, Whose Car Killed Little Girl, To Be Tried Aug. 25

Hearing of the charge of reckless driving against G. Oki, Japanese furniture store proprietor, driver of an automobile which struck and killed Roy McElhaney, 3-year-old son of Mrs. Bonney McElhaney, 386 Montgomery street, at the intersection of West Park and Harrison streets Monday afternoon, was set over to August 25 by Acting Judge Deich in municipal court Wednesday. The coroner's jury Tuesday night held Oki responsible for the child's death.

Triffic fines imposed for speeding by Acting Judge Deich Thursday morning were: V. J. Blanchett, $10; P. E. Collins, $10; T. Tripp, $10; S. Grunebaum, $10; E. Snider, $10; B. E. Ferguson, $10; R. E. Deny, $10; H. Gross, $10; U. S. Attix, $5; J. Bourke, $5; H. A. Lacy, $5; Frank Morrow, $5; B. M. Thornburg, $5; H. Unden, $5; Walter Hughes, $5; M. P. Pihl, $5; Tom Schaffer, $5; J. E. Byerly, $5. HARDING WILLING TO PIN FAITH TO SENATE, HE SAYS

Marion, Ohio, Aug. 19.—The Democrats might as well proclaim the constitution a fraud as to cry out against the United States senate playing its proper part in government, Warren G. Harding declared today, warmly defending that body in a speech to members and former members of the Ohio legislature here today.

"I would rather have the counsel of the senate than all the political bosses in any party in America," Harding declared. He boldly accepted the issue raised by Governor Cox in a recent speech that the senate is trying to annex the White House through the election of Harding.

"The senate preserved our independence of action when the executive insisted that a foreign council should decide our future place in the activities of the world and call us to war and our destiny," Senator Harding added.

VICTORY IS DRAMATIC

Senator Harding said:

"American women have won their suffrage fight, which as an organized, continuing movement, has covered three quarters of a century. Their victory is dramatic, because it comes as the reward of a great final drive that now has insured to all American women a full participation in the most crucial national election in many years.

"Whoever will consider the political contributions to national advancement, especially in the quarter century since the woman's club movement became a driving force, must recognize what it means to enlist, now, the full power of womanhood in public affairs. I look upon the enfranchisement of women as an accomplishment to be rated along with our achievement of independence, our preservation of the union, our emancipation of the slaves and our contribution in the World war to the rescue of civilization itself.

G. O. P. FEELS SECURE

"As to immediate political effects, we Republicans may and do feel secure. In this campaign we face issues on which we may be confident that the voice of womanhood will pronounce for us. Once more the real independence of our nation is involved. A great moral and social reform, recently achieved, is menaced by the covert purpose of our opponents to attack it. Enfranchised women will make no mistake in choosing between the Republican party, which has led in every movement for social and individual betterment, and the Democratic party, which has notoriously refused to enforce this enlightened policy in the South, where it completely dominates. Nor will women forget that more than four fifths of the ratifying states are Republican states."

Following exhaustive review of the accomplishments of Republican governors and legislators of Ohio, which he contrasted with those of the Democratic party, Senator Harding attacked the record of Governor James M. Cox of Ohio, his Democratic opponent.

Reverting to what his attitude would be toward the senate in case he is elected president, Senator Harding said:

"In cartoon, in solemn editorial, in many utterances on the platform, it has been suggested that in case of a Republican victory the incoming president proposes to permit the senate to have some say in determining the policy of government. I gladly proclaim all these suggestions to be literally correct. I rejoice that the United States senate is functioning again. We need it to save America."

Hoseman Lee Crain Ousted From Fire Bureau for Neglect

Lee Crain, hoseman in the fire department, Thursday was notified of his discharge from the bureau under civil service rules for gross neglect of duty in connection with a fire at 25 North Sixth street August 11.

Crain, charges against him showed, failed to respond to the alarm as given from Sixth and Pine streets, but drove his apparatus to Tenth and Washington streets. Learning the mistake, Crain drove to the approximate location of the fire, but parked his apparatus around the corner and out of sight of the fire, thus keeping the apparatus out of action when it was badly needed.

Additional charges aired at a hearing in Commissioner Bigelow's office Wednesday and attended by the commissioner, Fire Chief Young and Assistant Chief Laudenklos, showed that Crain failed to report to his superiors at the fire and thereafter did not report back to his station with his apparatus for one hour and 23 minutes after the first alarm was sounded.

Jones, tourists of Jasper, Texas, who passed through here en route to Portland, brought with them the hide and rattles of a large rattlesnake killed by them between this place and Pendleton. The skin measured more than four feet and there were nine rattles and a button on the string.
