

Many Visitors Enjoy Gaiety Of Summer

EACH succeeding year sees Oregon increasingly popular with visitors from all parts of the country and this summer was no exception. Throughout the season hundreds of people who have relatives or friends in Portland sought them out for visits, for with the visit can be combined all the pleasures of summer recreation, swimming, motoring to coast and mountain, cross-country trips, golfing and hiking. The presence of so many visitors has kept things going unusually well in a social way, porch teas, luncheons at the Country club, motor picnics and kindred affairs being almost innumerable.

Then, too, youth will not be denied, and the presence in the city of the scores of young people who will soon be leaving for college adds not a little to the social gaiety. People are returning from the various resorts in great numbers and within another fortnight Portland will seem quite like itself again.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Walter Betts (Ruth Teal), Mrs. Paul E. Woll (Laura Cumming) and Miss Kathryn Hoyt, departed Wednesday for New York.

Mr. and Mrs. John K. Kollock and little daughter, Mary, have gone to Kerry, Or., for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Sperry Kerry.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wheeler, Miss Cornelia Cook and Fred Swigert have returned from a delightful camping and motor trip to Bend and Wallawa lake.

Mrs. Erskine Wood and two children have gone to Gearhart for a fortnight's stay.

Miss Dorothy Hillier of San Francisco is spending a few weeks with her cousin, Miss Isabella Gauld.

Miss Stella Frohman will leave Wednesday for Gearhart, where she will spend the month of September.

Miss Dodge and Her Hostess Are Honor Guests

BEAUTIFUL in all its appointments was the bridge tea given Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. G. von Egloffstein at her home on Portland Heights, in compliment to her daughter, Miss Virginia McDonough, who recently returned from an extended Eastern visit and European trip, and her house-guest, Miss Vida Dodge of New York city, who was with Miss McDonough abroad. The guest list was limited to members of the younger set. Six tables were arranged for the game of bridge, which was followed by tea, a number of additional guests calling during the tea hour.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Lovelle Winters, Mrs. Varnel D. C. Beach, Mrs. Hamilton F. Corbett and Mrs. Maurice Dooley Jr. Assisting in serving were Mrs. J. Sherman O'Gorman, Mrs. Thomas Kerr, Mrs. Arthur Trumbull Brown, Miss Vona Guthrie and Miss Alberta Bair. The tea table was graced with gladioli in shades of yellow and brown; in the drawing room pink and red gladioli were used and in the reception hall there was a wealth of golden glow.

J. M. Myie of the Arlington club was host Saturday evening for a dinner party of eight covers given at the Waverley Country club, preceding the regular weekly dance.

Mrs. O. P. Robinson, wife of Major Robinson of Vancouver barracks, was hostess at a beautifully appointed luncheon given Monday in the grill of the Hotel Portland. Golden glow centered the table. Covers were placed for 16 guests.

Miss Katherine Almsworth and Miss Susanna Platt will leave soon for the East to enter Westover school.

Mrs. Sherwood Leaves Today For New York

MRS. ROSINA EMMETT SHERWOOD, who has been the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sherwood, Jr., is leaving today for her home in New York city. Mrs. Sherwood is a portrait artist of rare ability, specializing in pastels. During her stay here she has been executing commissions for prominent Portland people, many of whom had portraits of their children painted. Among those that she has painted are Virginia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Koehler; Humphrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Noyes; Geo. Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Betty; daughter of Mrs. Maryborough; Arthur III and Lydia, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Peter K. Sherwood, Jr. These were all in pastel as was also an attractive trail of Miss Genevieve Brooke, Chalmers water colors of Anne and Jane, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Peter K. Sherwood, and an unusual chalk drawing of George F. Wilson was done by Mrs. Sherwood.

Miss Lydia Emmett, a sister of Mrs. Sherwood, who is also a distinguished portrait painter, she too specializing children's likenesses, will arrive Monday from the east to spend the month of September with Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood.

Mrs. A. R. Mattingly has returned from a delightful trip to Rainier national park. She also visited friends in Seattle and Tacoma.

Millinery Opening

Tomorrow—The First Formal Showing of 500 New Fall Hats

Transformed into one of the most beautiful millinery departments in the city, the Emporium invites inspection of its third floor, where a host of charming modes interpret the New in Hatdom. Paneled in gilt, the ivory walls and pillars form a delightful setting for the quaint, lovely tables and chairs arranged for the convenience of Milady-trying-on-hats.

In the brilliance of the wonderful French plate mirrors that line the unique individual booths, and the walls, as well, is reflected the alluring vision of the season's most entrancing creations.

And, most fascinating of all, is a little French showroom where the fastidious ones may see, in utmost privacy, the effect of various models on her own fair head.

Cupid, Rawak, Mode, Jardine and Gage patterns with their inimitable chic are displayed in addition to clever styles from our own workrooms. Since it is possible only to hint of the smartness of duvetyn, velvet and beaver trimmed with ostrich, metallic cloth, wings and ribbon, it remains for every woman to avail herself of our cordial invitation to view personally each beguiling autumn mode. Prices? They're as little as $7.50 and up to $35.00.

Suits Smart of Line

Variety is the rule in autumn suits. Jackets are long and straight or short and rippling; skirts narrow and plain, or decorated with pleats, tucks and embroidery; collars usually convertible and often of fur. Choose a simple model of tricotine or a modish chamoisine at $39.50 to $165.00.

Coats Have Huge Collars

Luxurious are the dressy models of rich pile-like fabrics, with their large drapy collars of self material or fur, and handsome silk linings. To be sure there are many utility coats of simpler mode, but equally good style—all favor brown as their color. Most of them are full length and wrappy. Splendid choice at $25 to $225.

Frocks Trimmed Elaborately

Striking are the navy wool frocks with blouse and lower part of skirt almost covered with handsome embroidery or beading. Long waisted effects give the much desired straight line, while supple satins and dainty georgettes vie with stunning modes in tricotine and duvetyn. Extremely moderate are prices—$22.50 to $89.50.

Furs Complete the Costume

Fashion demands a neckpiece of fur for the frock or suit, and at the Emporium is a varied showing of handsome pelts at prices remarkably small for the superior quality.
