

PORTLAND MAN IS MADE PRESIDENT OF UNDERTAKERS

J. Rose of Portland has been elected president of the Oregon Funeral Directors' association. Mr. Rose is also president of the Multnomah County Funeral Directors' association.

Other officers chosen at the afternoon session Tuesday were: First vice president, W. A. Weddle of Stayton; second vice president, C. P. Poole of Brownsville; treasurer, W. J. Holman of Portland; secretary, A. D. Kenworthy of Portland; directors, C. N. Burgett of The Dalles, C. E. Niswonger of Bend, J. L. McIntee of Portland, W. W. Branstetter and Marion Vatch of Eugene. It was voted to have presented at the next session of the legislature a bill requiring embalmers of the state to be licensed.

The innovation of a joint session of the Oregon and Washington associations Wednesday has attracted a large crowd, and the morning session was held at Pythian temple when Mayor Baker gave an address of welcome, to which response was made, after which Charles Berg of San Francisco, editor of the Pacific Coast Undertaker, made an address. The excursion and dance aboard the Bluebird given Tuesday evening was largely attended and greatly enjoyed.

The association will hold a "clinic" Thursday afternoon at the North Pacific Dental college, where a subject from the college's demonstration room will be used to show modern embalming methods. The plan to use live models for the display of shrouds was abandoned. The outstanding feature of the convention is the lectures and demonstrations being put on Wednesday and Thursday by Professor A. W. Worham of Chicago, head of the Worham Training School for Funeral Directors. Most of these features are being conducted in the assembly room of the Hotel Portland. Many supply houses of the Northwest have large displays of caskets, shrouds and other equipment at the hotel. The joint session will close with the demonstration Thursday afternoon. Friday a barbecue at Eagle creek canyon will be given and will be attended by a large number of delegates to both conventions.

Griffith Speaks to Chamber
Franklin T. Griffith was the principal speaker at the luncheon of directors of the Portland Chamber of Commerce Wednesday. Griffith told of his recent trip east and discussed the new power legislation enacted.

Case Is Set for Trial Of Grocer Accused Of Hitting Blind Man

W. C. Wegener, arrested on a charge of assaulting Herbert L. Wright, whose eyes were bandaged while he was under treatment for temporary blindness, and also slapping Mrs. Wright because she tried to protect her husband, had his case set over to Friday morning by Judge Rossmann in municipal court Wednesday. Wegener was released on $100 bail.

Trouble started when Wegener, proprietor of a grocery store at Chapman and Jefferson streets, attempted to collect a debt of $35 by threatening to attach an auto truck.

LONE BANDIT ROBBS BANK OF $6000

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 8.—(I. N. S.)—The First State bank at Uvalde, near here, was held up and robbed of $6000 in currency today by a lone masked bandit.

The bandit forced an assistant cashier to open the bank vault at the point of a revolver. He then looted the safe at his leisure and escaped after locking the cashier and two other employees in the vault.

The robber fled in a motor car toward the border.

4 Hotel Proprietors Fined for Violation Of Fire Regulations

Four hotel proprietors were fined Wednesday morning by Municipal Judge Rossmann on charges of violating the fire regulations. Two others arrested had their cases continued until they had time to carry out court instructions.

A. B. Steinbach was allowed time to remove moses on a house roof at 261 Fourteenth street and Albert Berger must make arrangements for keeping sawdust properly collected in his planing mill at 331 Williams avenue.

Forgetfulness and ignorance were the excuses offered by hotel men and women who were charged with failing to have their halls properly lighted. S. Yamashita, Japanese, was fined $40 because he forgot to turn his lights on in the orderly apartments at 83 Grand avenue. J. E. Clark, proprietor of the Newhall apartments, 402 East Washington street, paid $25 for his negligence. Mrs. M. J. Winters of the Chamberlain hotel, 333 East Stark street, and Mrs. S. M. Banks, proprietor of the Hinson apartments, 419½ Hawthorne avenue, were fined $25 each for not having lights burning.

Thief Takes Movie House Cash While Ticket Seller Out

A thief entered the box office of the Star motion picture house, 1623 East Thirteenth street, Tuesday night, while Mrs. Lela Brooks was not watching the office, and stole $80. Inspectors Heller and Leonard suspect boys attending the theatre.

While Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bailey, 287

East Fifty-third street north, were away from home Tuesday a prowler ransacked their home. Upon returning they found a suitcase had been filled with Mrs. Bailey's clothing and left in the bedroom. The thief was apparently scared away. Neighbors told Inspector Tichenor that they saw a strange man leaving the house during the afternoon.

Miss N. Brewer, living at the Y. W. C. A., reported that her room was entered and $30 and a pink cameo ring stolen.

Miss Christine Forbes, 170 East Fifty-third street, reported the loss of a linen bank containing $90, a fountain pen and automobile driving permit, somewhere on Washington street, probably near the Morgan building.

Harry Hogue, Former Police Judge, Is Held Under Liquor Charge

After spending a night in jail, charged with violating the prohibition law, Harry Hogue, former municipal judge, was released on his own recognizance Wednesday morning by Municipal Judge Rossmann. The case was set for hearing Saturday morning.

Complaint upon which Hogue was apprehended was made by Mrs. Hogue. While her husband was being questioned by the police she sat in an adjoining room.

Coroner Will Hold Inquest Into Death Of Joseph Anderson

The coroner's inquest into the death of Joe Anderson, killed Sunday night by a fall from a third story window, will be held in the courthouse at 3:30 Wednesday night. The police are holding six persons pending the findings of the jury.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dorris, alleged to have furnished the liquor for the party which was staged in the hotel previous to the death of Anderson, were arrested along with Charles Erickson immediately after the tragedy. Three other members of the party held the following day were Earl Bailey, Joe Tully and Joe Daniels. Another man known as "Black Nelse," who is known to have returned to a logging camp, was also with the men in the room.

Laughridge Assumes Duties
Salem, Sept. 8.—C. N. Laughridge of Condon arrived here Wednesday morning to assume his duties as warrant clerk in the secretary of state's office, made vacant by the resignation of J. E. Allison last week. Laughridge was formerly connected with the secretary of state's office.

DANCING MASTERS AGREE REFORM IS OWN OBLIGATION

If prejudice against dancing is to be overcome it must be through the efforts of the dancing masters themselves who by instruction and example shall show beginners that the roughnesses that feature too many ball rooms are inartistic, vulgar and, really, "no fun."

Thus did speakers at the banquet of dancing masters, which was one of the closing features of the national association's post-convention, seek to inspire members with the importance of refining the poetry of motion. The banquet, presided over by Mose Christensen, was held at the Benson hotel. It followed a business session in the afternoon at which Portland won over Salt Lake City by one vote as the 1921 western convention city. Christensen was chosen to represent western dancing masters at the next national convention.

That dancing masters have a mission in life higher than catering to the passing whim of the novelty seeker, was another point by many speakers at the banquet. That dancing should be taught in the public schools, just as is music or physical training, was the contention of Peter Christensen of Salt Lake City, who decried the lack of enthusiasm with which most subjects outside the original "three Rs" are taught. In most cases, he charged, teachers of art, of music, and of gymnastics in the public schools are not masters of the subjects they teach, which makes their work far from successful.

All the speakers were enthusiastic for better dancing and abolition of the roughnesses that keep the profession in disrepute in many quarters.

The western convention comes to a close Wednesday, while the normal school will last another week.
