In Our Auditorium Tomorrow A Canning Contest

By School Girls to Decide
Which Team Will Represent
Multnomah Co. at State Fair

This is an invitation to mothers, fathers, fond aunts and the general public to see two teams of school girls in a competitive exhibition of canning tomatoes and beans tomorrow afternoon, the winning team to be sent to the State Fair at Salem.

The girls will explain why they give the demonstration, the principles of the cold-pack canning which they practice and will speak on necessary equipment. Their canning is scientifically practical, and many older people will be interested in their skillful, orderly methods.

One team will start canning at 2 o'clock, the other team at 3:30. Judges will be in attendance and the winning team will have their expenses paid to the State Fair at Salem, there to compete for state honors.
