

COX IS VICIOUSLY MISREPRESENTED, SAYS SALESMAN

By Ward A. Irvine

Branding assertions by Harding followers that Governor Cox is opposed to salesmanship as a profession as a "misrepresentation even greater than that practiced against the League of Nations," Erwin A. Taft, a member of the United Commercial Travelers of America, in a statement issued today, made a fiery attack on those responsible for spreading the misleading report.

"With other local traveling men he expressed his indignation at such political tactics and brands them as 'inauthentic to the intelligence of traveling men of America.'" Taft agrees that an editorial appeared in one of Governor Cox's newspapers in 1914 referring to the profession as a "nuisance" while the governor was in Columbus, but he submits an order dispatched by Cox immediately insisting that the article be retracted, as evidence of the governor's views on the editorial.

ATTEMPT TO MISLEAD

"Governor Cox is not opposed to salesmanship and never was in the statement of Taft." "For the Harding followers to spread such a report is a deliberate attempt to mislead the salesmen of this country. A pamphlet has been sent broadcast by the Republican committee and Stanhope Pier of Portland took occasion to write a letter to a local newspaper referring to the editorial, but leaving out, either through ignorance of the facts or a deliberate attempt to misrepresent them, the reputation of the editorial by the popular Ohio governor.

"As soon as the editorial appeared, Governor Cox sent the following telegram to D. L. Kurnier, managing editor of the Dayton News:

"My attention has been called to an editorial which appeared in the Dayton News in criticism of commercial travelers. This is an insult so gratuitous and uncalculated for an effort to an organization of men who have made the present development of the American market possible, that I feel it my duty to conflict with the policy of the newspapers which I own and control that I request you to insist upon the retraction of the editorial writer responsible for it publishing an apology addressed to the commercial travelers and his signature without unnecessary delay."

MESSAGE IS SUPPRESSED

"That message the Harding followers have deliberately suppressed," Taft continued. "And that is not all. They ignored the retraction published in the Dayton News at Cox's request. They forgot to tell about Governor Cox accepting the resignation of the editorial writer after the apology had been published. They didn't talk about the message sent to Governor Cox's secretary by the editorial writer on July 23 last, in which he said:

"If my old editorial which was used six years ago is brought up I wish it known that I was solely responsible for it, and any attempt to connect Governor Cox's name with it would be as unjust and as despicable as it was in 1914. Nor did they mention the letter written by Governor Cox to Sol Wolerstein of the National Council of Traveling Salesmen's associations. In it he said: 'I recognize the fact that consideration in proper measure has not been given the commercial travelers in either legislative or economic programs commensurate with the service they have rendered the government.'

COX IDEA DEFINITE

"I have some very definite ideas on the subject and if I am elected to the office of president I shall continue in the future, as I have in the past, to take into my counsel men who represent the traveling commercial industry, because my experience has taught me in no way can a public official better secure the real trend of public opinion, and public opinion is the thing that must rule in America.

"They are entitled to a full hearing and due consideration in every measure affecting the welfare of the country and themselves.

"All these facts were suppressed," Taft emphasized, "in an apparent attempt to beg the real issues of the campaign and secure the votes of the commercial

Morals Teacher Keeps Money to Teach Example

By United News

Seattle, Oct. 7.—A teacher of morals' picked up the purse of Mrs. A. J. Nelson, 5425 Eleventh avenue, which she left on a streetcar seat, and later returned the purse and its contents save $12, and also a note.

The note: "I kept the money to teach you a moral. Don't leave your purse on the seat. Keep it in your lap.—A teacher of morals."

Travelers for the reactionary Harding. Such methods are an insult to the intelligence of the traveling men of America and will not be approved by them. They stand for progress and fair play." Taft holds membership in U. C. T. council 39 of Wichita, Kan., of which he has been a member for the last 15 years.

DR. LOVEJOY WILL ADDRESS LABOR UNIONS FRIDAY EVE

Dr. Walter P. Lovejoy, candidate for congress from this district, will address a mass meeting of labor unions and the public at 8 o'clock Friday night, in the main hall of the Central library on the subject of the campaign, under the auspices of the Oregon Popular Government league, with which 40,000 union men in Portland and vicinity are affiliated.

At this mass meeting Dr. W. T. McElwee, pastor of the First Congregational church, will go into the record of C. N. McArthur, present representative in congress from this district to show the reactionary attitude of the congressman and to set his stand on the prohibition issue.

Dr. Lovejoy is speaking to many audiences daily, making as high as six speeches in a day, and meeting large numbers of men and women voters. He is running on a platform which pledges her to uphold the prohibition law, which she says she will fight for, if it becomes necessary for the humanitarian legislation looking toward the betterment of the masses of the people.

"I expect to be elected," said Dr. Lovejoy to an audience Wednesday. "I am confident that if I am elected the first person to be elected to congress from this district in six years; that the present incumbent was not elected, but just carried onto the elephant and rode in. If I am chosen it will be the votes of all those who wish to see the principles of humanity first as against property rights restored."

Dr. Lovejoy is a graduate of the University of Chicago and has been in this country since the year of the great purge of the greatest of all evils."

20-Year Canadian Gold Bonds Drawing 7 Per Cent Offered

Twenty-year 7 per cent sinking fund gold bonds to the amount of $25,000,000 of the Dominion of Canada, which have been oversubscribed, will be offered to the public by a nation-wide syndicate headed by a group of international bankers, the Guaranty Trust company and the Bankers Trust company of New York, the Continental & Commercial Trust & Savings bank and William A. Read & Co., Chicago.

Subscription price is to be par and accrued interest to yield 7 per cent. The bonds will be issued in the name of the Grand trunk railway of Canada, part of the Canadian national railway system, which is owned outright by the Canadian government.

Principal and interest of the bonds will be guaranteed unconditionally by the Dominion of Canada, being an obligation of the Dominion government. They are due October 1, 1940, but a semi-annual sinking fund of $500,000 is provided for buying in at semi-annual interest dates any amounts that may be available in the market at par and accrued interest or less up to an annual amount of $500,000. This is viewed by investment bankers as a very strong provision, operating as a high market insurance.

CASE PENDING 3 YEARS; PLAINTIFF HAS 14TH LAWYER

Litigation records in Multnomah county, and probably in the entire Pacific Northwest were broken today when a case appeared at bar that has been pending three years and during which time the plaintiff has had the services of 14 separate attorneys, according to the statements made in court by E. D. Seabrook, attorney for the defendant.

This is the litigation of Amos Hall against Archbishop Christie of the Roman Catholic church. The matter came up before Presiding Judge Taxwell on argument of the plaintiff's motion on a minor point. The latest attorney for Amos Hall was George H. Pipes.

"I have a rather peculiar client," said the attorney, "and I do not want to withdraw the motion, but I have no argument in its favor and submit it without argument."

The motion was denied. Hall, it is understood, contends that he has some title to a portion of property held by the Catholic church as the future site for a boys' home. A tract of about 15 acres, formerly a part of the Levi Anderson estate, was given by the widow, Mrs. Emma Anderson, to Fathers O'Day and Kearns to be held in trust for the site of a boys' home. It is located on the hill crest just west of the "Old Castle." Hall claims about two and a half acres of this tract belonged to his wife when she was Mrs. McQuene, a widow.

INHERITANCE TAX $1650 ON MARY ISOM ESTATE

Petition for the approval of the court on the settlement of the inheritance tax on the estate of Miss Mary Francis Isom, librarian of Portland for many years, was filed today and the approval of Presiding Judge Taxwell was given. The estate was appraised at $120,524.37, and by stipulation between state officials and the executor this was increased to $121,174.37. The exemption is placed at $18,574.98, making the inheritance tax $1650.31.

Nettleton Estate $27,800

The estate of C. B. Nettleton, who died in Portland October 1, has an approximate value of $27,800, according to a petition for the probate of his will, John H. Nettleton, a son, is named as the executor. The late heirs are the widow, Mrs. Mary H. B. Nettleton, and five children, Mary C. N. Ruffison, Keiso, Wash.; Hope M. N. Morrow, Castlerock, Wash.; William Charles, R. E. and John H. Nettleton, Portland.

Lumber Shipments Show 36 Per Cent Short of Production

Total lumber shipments by members of the West Coast Lumbermen's association during the week ended October 2 were 51,577,842 feet, or approximately 36 per cent below normal production, according to the weekly report of the association. Of this total, 32,913,791 feet in export cargo, heavy decrease in the amount of new business placed with the West Coast mills for the week was the outstanding feature of the situation reflected in the weekly report of 120 mills. Production for the week was 66,672,382 feet or 16.83 per cent below normal.

WOMAN WHO THREATENED COURT GIVEN SANITY TEST

Helen Harvey, who says this is not her true name, and that she went under the name of Helen Bond at San Francisco, is under examination today before Circuit Judge Tucker and Dr. William E. House as alienist, to determine her sanity. For some time she has been sending Presiding Judge Taxwell abusive and threatening letters, and in some has said: "They can't do anything to me, because I'll plead insanity."

About a year ago, on complaint of the foreman of a Portland laundry, where she was employed, Helen Harvey was given an examination and found insane. She was committed to the House of the Good Shepherd and then paroled. She went to Seattle and there was taken into custody and pronounced insane, being committed to the asylum at Sedro Woolley, from which, it is said, she escaped and went to San Francisco, later returning to Portland, when the bombardment of letters to Taxwell began.

Cash, Check, Car, Go Up in Roadside Fire

Walla Walla, Wash., Oct. 7.—Edgar Patrick of this city lost $500 in currency and a $500 check when his automobile was destroyed by fire on the new highway between here and the Oregon-Washington state line. The automobile went over an embankment and Patrick was trying to repair the damage when an explosion occurred beneath the hood and the machine was enveloped in flames. He had put his pocketbook in the machine.

Democrats Choose Officers

Kalama, Wash., Oct. 7.—The newly elected precinct committee of the Democratic party of Cowlick county organized, choosing Thomas Cooper of Kalama as chairman and Mrs. Ruth Darnell of Kalama, secretary. E. J. McLane of Kelso was named state committeeman. The committee filled all vacancies in precinct offices. Unusual enthusiasm and interest manifested would indicate a greatly increased Democratic vote throughout the county.

RECEIVER IS ASKED FOR SHIREK & SONS COMPANY

S. Shirek, who owns $4400 in shares of the $10,000 capitalization of the Shirek & Sons company, shirt manufacturers, filed a petition today for the appointment of a receiver for the concern. It is stated that other stockholders favor such action.

The concern, says Shirek, has assets of approximately $30,000, of which about $22,000 is in merchandise. Because of the demoralized condition of the shirt market the concern has been unable to realize on its resources, says Shirek, and it has been held to contracts for stock to be used in future, so that it is threatened with suits and expensive litigation.

Deschutes Valley Company Obtains Large Potato Crop

Maynard Redmond, cashier of the State bank of Portland, has just returned from a business trip through Eastern and Central Oregon. The farmers in the country adjacent to Redmond are specializing in potatoes and alfalfa. The Deschutes Valley Seed company, according to Redmond, is harvesting 300 acres of seed potatoes on land which last March was covered with juniper trees and sagebrush.

"In Umatilla county crops averaged from 35 to 50 bushels to the acre. Large quantities of wheat are being daily taken to the elevators. Little of it is being sold," said Mr. Redmond. "While the crops throughout Eastern Oregon have been generally good, the extreme heat in July prevented the bumper crops earlier expected. Late rains have been very favorable for seeding grain for next year. The prospects for winter wheat are excellent."

Girl Grieves Over Loss of Violin She Left on Street Car

A little girl's hope to achieve success as a violinist and her mother's careful saving that such success might be financially assured, went for naught Monday when the 12-year-old daughter of Mrs. L. Lee, 8317 Ninety-fourth street, left on a streetcar the violin her mother had bought.

When the girl left a Mount Scott car she forgot the instrument at her feet. She waited half an hour for the return of the car, only to learn from the conductor that a woman who said she was a friend of the girl, had taken the violin. The instrument has not been returned and police have been asked to help find it.

Thieves Pack Away Household Property of Journal Worker

Bulk and weight proved no obstacles for thieves who Wednesday night raided the home of Mrs. Lulu Van Meter, 295 Fifth street, and carried away a trunk, household linen, an oil stove and parts of a gas stove and a wood heater. Mrs. Van Meter, employed in the proof room of The Journal, has enlisted police in a search for the thief.

E. B. Wood, chief of the special detectives of the C. W. R. & N. company, got an intimate touch of realism Wednesday night when a brown traveling bag was stolen from him aboard a train en route to Portland from Walla Walla.

A watch and a chain and small change were stolen Wednesday night from the room of Charles Bidwell, 206 1/2 Salmon street, according to his report to the police today.

Haines Serves Term In Jail; Re-Arrested

After a year's search, federal officials found Russell Haines Wednesday in the county jail at The Dalles, where he was about to be released after serving a term on a charge of larceny. Haines was sent to the county jail this morning by Judge Bean in default of $2000 bail on a charge of violating the national prohibition law. September 20, 1919, he was indicted with Joe Sagala for erecting four stills. According to Assistant United States Attorney Austin Fiegel, Haines was in jail here several years ago for making false statements in his questionnaire.
