

Double Surprise Given Guests of Miss Stansfield

WHEN Miss Elizabeth Stansfield, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joshua Stansfield, assembled about 20 of her young friends at her home in Fairview boulevard Thursday to announce to them her engagement to Owen Davis, a double surprise awaited the guests. Coincident with the announcement of the engagement of Dr. Stansfield's daughter came news by wire from California of the marriage of his son, Thornton Stansfield, to Miss Helen Adams, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Adams of this city. The young folks were married in Los Angeles Monday and sent the news of their wedding to their families in Portland Thursday.

Dainty corsage bouquets bore the betrothal cards telling of the engagement of Miss Stansfield to Mr. Davis, and for the tea the rooms of the Stansfield residence were handsomely adorned with chrysanthemums in artistic arrangement.

Miss Stansfield and her mother, who received the guests, wore corsage bouquets of orchids for the affair and the occasion was a delightful one. Early in the week the rumor had been about that Miss Stansfield and her fiancé, who is with the appraisement department of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, were planning an immediate wedding, but the rumor proved to be only gossip, as the time for the wedding had been chosen for the latter part of December or the early part of next year.

Miss Stansfield attended Tudor Hall, a girls' school in Indianapolis, and later was a student at the University of Indiana. Both young people have a wide circle of friends in Portland and the announcement of their engagement is of unusual interest.

Miss Marguerite Low entertained a few girl friends Tuesday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Low, 459 Insley avenue, to announce her engagement to Paul G. Fleming, the wedding to take place on Christmas eve. Those present were the Misses Marian Camp, Emily and Olga Prosko, May Doix, Maurine Ballard, Marie and Clara Burmeister, Kate Westbrook, May Reid, Catherine Wuz, Marian Jager, Cavada Campbell, Elva Baker and Alice Wright.

Mrs. W. G. Hodge was hostess for a bridge luncheon at her home in Division street Tuesday afternoon. She was assisted as hostess by Mrs. A. H. Shields. Margarita and Fern centered the luncheon tables for the affair and honors at cards fell to Mrs. S. C. Bryant and Mrs. M. Gram and Mrs. O. Dickinson. The guests included Mrs. N. Cooper, Mrs. A. H. Shields, Mrs. J. E. Stenness, Mrs. O. Dickinson, Mrs. M. Gram, Mrs. S. C. Mitchell, Mrs. J. M. Hicks, Mrs. L. J. Fuchs, Mrs. S. C. Bryant and Mrs. S. Raphael.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Wilder were honored on the occasion of their wedding anniversary Thursday by a group of their friends, who called at their home at Upland lodge for the evening. Floral gifts and messages of good will were brought to Mr. and Mrs. Wilder. The evening was a delightful one.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Davies have returned from an extended trip through the East, returning by way of Canada and stopping at points of interest along the way.

Mrs. Walter V. Smith and her son, Captain Leland Smith, have returned from a sojourn of three weeks at Seaside.

The affair is in charge of a committee which includes L. J. Connors (chairman), William Krause, L. A. McMullen, Miss Jean Terry and Mrs. Rose Verkes.

Miss Virginia McDonough and her guest, Miss Vida Dodge, who have been visiting in Medford and San Francisco for some weeks, have returned to the city.

Pendleton Belle Becomes Bride Of Roy Temple

PENDLETON, Or., Oct. 9.—The Church of the Redeemer, with chancel banded with autumn flowers, housed Wednesday night an assemblage of scores of local people who witnessed the marriage service of Miss Jane Irene Murphy and Roy K. Temple, both members of prominent pioneer families of Umatilla county.

The bridal party entered to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding music, the bride and her maids being preceded by the Rev. Alfred Lockwood, rector of the church, the bridegroom and best man, Ralph Temple, and the ushers, Thomas Murphy, brother of the bride, Nat Kimball, Harold Brock and Ernest Boylen.

Four charmingly dainty young girls, Miss Edna Murphy, the bride's sister, in a frock of yellow; Miss Catherine McNary in pink; Miss Marguerite Humphrey in orchid; and Miss Mary Clarke wearing delicate green, carried bouquets of pink rosebuds. Their dresses were of taffeta, cut short and draped over silver lace. Miss Margaret Phelps, as maid of honor, wore a gown of pastel blue pussy willow taffeta, with touches of silver, and carried pink roses. The five maids wore coronets of fluted tulle from which suspended delicately tinted veils falling to the hem of their gowns.

The bride was borne by her father and was crowned in ivory satin and rare lace. Orange blossoms outlined the tulle coronet which banded her coiffure, while her bouquet was a shower of bride roses and orchids.

Following the reading of the service a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Murphy. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Slusher received with Mr. and Mrs. Temple. Roses decked the rooms and orchestra music was played throughout the evening.

In the dining room, presiding at the samovars, were Mrs. Samuel P. Sturgis, Mrs. W. D. McNary, Mrs. W. J. Clarke and Mrs. G. W. Phelps. Assisting in serving were: Mrs. J. J. Murphy, Mrs. H. J. Stillman, Mrs. Ralph Temple, Mrs. Walter Cresswell, Mrs. John Meeker, Miss Vera Temple, Miss Elsie Fitzmaurice, Miss Laura Gerard, Miss Claire Raley, Miss Mildred Berkeley, Miss Marjorie Williams and Miss Beth Smith. The bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Pauline Doherty.

Mr. and Mrs. Temple left for Portland, from where they will motor to California to remain until Christmas.

The bride is the daughter of a prominent family of Pendleton, where her father was former mayor. She attended War-Belmont college in Tennessee, later attending University of Oregon, where she was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta fraternity. The bridegroom attended Oregon Agricultural college and later served in the navy.

Upon their return from California Mr. and Mrs. Temple will make their home on the Temple ranch, near Pendleton.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Cobbs were hosts for a dinner of 12 covers at their attractive home on Portland Heights Monday evening, honoring Mrs. Frederick H. Siegfried, who has recently come to Portland to reside. Guests for the occasion included Mrs. Siegfried, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Babcock, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Belcher, Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Fields, Mrs. F. S. Belcher and Dr. and Mrs. Hicks Fenton.

Mrs. Mortimer Hall Hartwell was hostess for a charmingly appointed tea Thursday afternoon, honoring Mrs. Reade M. Ireland, who is leaving the city today with Mr. Ireland, to spend a few months in Idaho. At the tea hour Mrs. C. E. S. Wood and Mrs. Lucius Allen Lewis presided at the tea urns.

Daydodgers at Reed to Give Dance Saturday

"DAYDODGERS" at Reed college, following their organization meeting last week, decided to begin the year's collegiate activities with a social gathering. As a result, an invitation has been extended to the Reed community to attend a Daydodger dance next Saturday evening in the college assembly hall. Daydodger officers, who are directing the dance arrangements, are Howard Smythe and Gertrude Opp, president and secretary treasurer.

The dance will follow a precedent set last year, when for the first time in Reed history, Daydodgers organized and took their place as a unit in Reed student life. Last year's dance, with Oriental decorations, was one of the year's most brilliant social events.

An interesting visitor in Portland is Mrs. William Stratton, sister of Adam Hunter, who is spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hunter on her way to San Francisco, where she will sail for the Orient. Mrs. Stratton has just returned through Canada from a trip around the world. Mr. and Mrs. Stratton make their home in China, where the former is an engineer.

Lincoln-Garfield Relief corps No. 19 held a regular business meeting Friday at the courthouse with Mrs. Elizabeth Conway, departmental inspector, as speaker. Mrs. Slater of Honolulu, former president of Gordon Granger corps, also was a guest. Thine commander of Lincoln G. A. R. post and 20 comrades were present.

Mrs. Francette Plummer Maring of Seattle has been the house guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ross M. Plummer. Mrs. Maring is superintendent of the King county juvenile detention home and one of the three women in the United States who are judges in courts having supervision over children's cases.

A delightfully appointed tea was given by Mrs. J. Solomon at her home in Irvington, Thursday, for the benefit of the

Dependable Furs

Dependable is a big and mighty word in buying Furs. It has a significant meaning when used by "Dependable" Furriers.

The greatest amount of significance may be attached to this word when we say

"Dependable Prices"

Every fur—neckpiece, cape, wrap and coat in this store has been marked down. Not according to the present market, but far below what the present market justifies.

Instead of reducing our prices slightly and gradually, or giving discounts, we have taken decided action and marked them at one repricing down to where our clientele actually want them.

Why H. Liebes & Co. Prices Are Lowest

Pelts were bought before the high prices went into effect. We stored them in our refrigerated vaults until needed, thus saving the high cost of pelts.

Many trading stations are maintained in the Arctic fur regions where we buy pelts direct from the trappers, saving all brokerage fees.

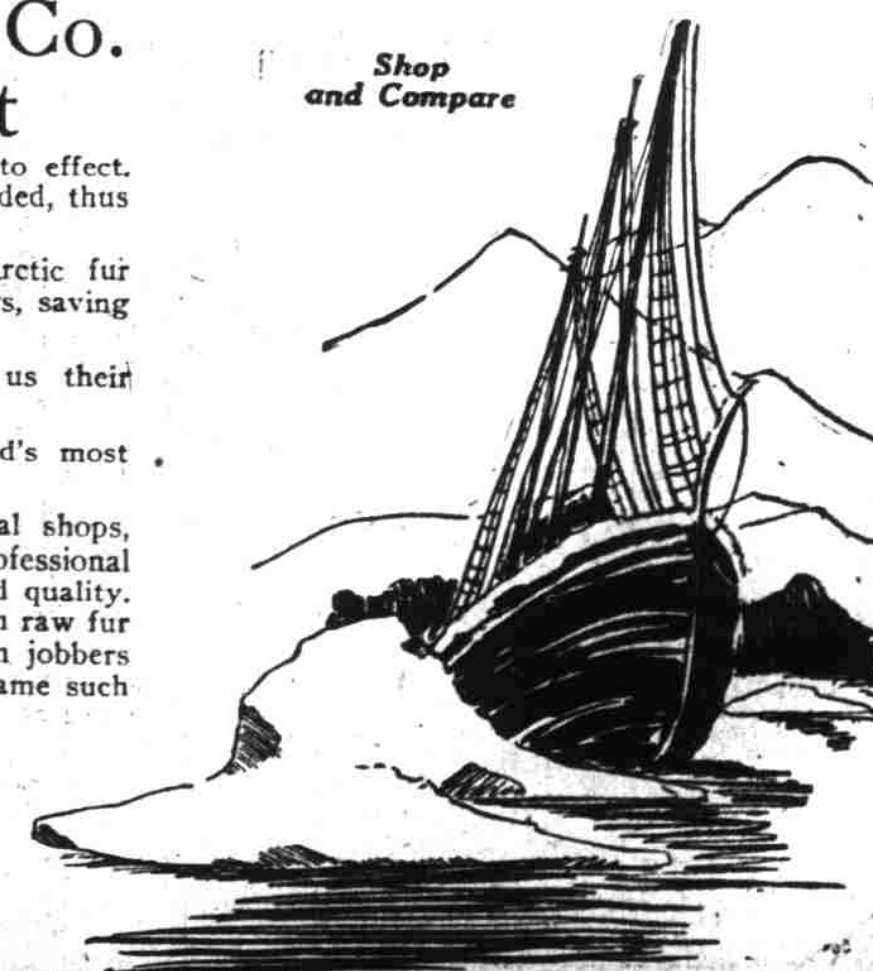

Thousands of trappers are continually sending us their catches.

Our own ships make annual cruises to the world's most famous trapping fields, collecting raw furs.

We make up our garments in modern, economical shops, where only the highest skilled workmen and professional designers are employed, insuring superior styles and quality. If we were obliged to buy a few skins at a time from raw fur dealers or if we were obliged to buy garments from jobbers and manufacturers we would be totally unable to name such low prices on furs as we do.

We even ask you to compare our prices with other sale prices. We guarantee our prices are as low or lower
