H. Eling and Smith Honor Guests of Motor Car Dealers

More than 50 members of the Dealers' Motor Car association of Portland gathered at the Imperial Thursday night at a farewell banquet to H. Eling, former manager of the Willys-Overland company here, and A. L. Smith, up to this time sales manager of the automobile department of Mitchell, Lewis & Staver company. Eling goes west to take the agency for the Oldsmobile car, while Smith will go into business for himself in Chicago, having the sales rights for the C. & G. Valve Grinder for the United States.

Church History Is Retold at Banquet in Forest Grove

Forest Grove, Or., Oct. 13.—Visitors attending the Congressional conference in this city were honor guests at a banquet Thursday night, covers being laid for 250. Toasts were given by George H. Himes, Rev. Daniel Staver, Dr. W. C. Kantner, and Rev. T. Walker, relative to the historic church in Forest Grove, and in honor of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the church. In the forenoon the following program was given: Devotions by Rev. G. H. Gillanders; business session; "Wounded Armenia," an address by Rev. J. J. Handwerker; a talk on the rural pastora school at Whitman college and at Fullman, Wash.; "City Work" under the Church Extension Boards; Rev. L. H. Royce, national director.

Cooperative Sales Subject of Debate At Press Luncheon

Cooperative marketing was the subject of discussion at Thursday's luncheon of the Portland Press club in the Elks building, the speakers being Robert E. Smith and C. C. Chapman. In advocating the proposed state market commission measure Smith cited the success in California of state supervised marketing and declared the farmer must rely on the charity of speculators in disposing of his wares under the present system. Chapman maintained it would interfere with private business and extend to all small to successful organizations that do not want state supervision. "It is a step toward socialism," he said. "The Oregon law is not like that of California—it is mandatory, whereas our neighbor state's is voluntary."

Dr. John H. Boyd Still in Hospital

Dr. John H. Boyd, professor of homiletics at McCormick Theological seminary, Chicago, and former pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, is still in a Chicago hospital, according to information received here. Anemia and a general breakdown due to overwork are said to be the immediate causes of Dr. Boyd's illness.
