

Llewellyn School Pupils Combing District for Waste Paper for French Orphan Fund

SELLWOOD NEWS FLASHES REFLECT COMMUNITY LIFE

Used and abused newspapers and magazines are about the most treasured "finds" of the pupils at Llewellyn school, who are just now engaged in head-to-head contest at collecting such materials that they may swell the school fund for the support of a French child they have officially adopted.

Attics and store rooms—any place and anywhere that will yield unwanted newspapers and magazines are welcome ground for the pupils and their diligent searches for old paper is extending even outside the borders of the Sellwood district.

The room adding the greatest sum to the fund will receive a prize suitable to the conquest, and in an endeavor to capture the proposed prize practically every child in the school has been interested.

The children are taking much interest in the French charge they have assumed, and aside from the pleasure of their work in its behalf most of them have no greater desire than to see the youngster their funds are helping.

C. A. Asquith and family of 496 Bidwell avenue are quarantined because of scarlet fever.

Ira A. Ruppert is in the city from his farm near Forest Grove, visiting old friends. He is looking well and reports that his folks are getting along splendidly and would not think of leaving their farm home after one year's residence. He reports that quite a severe frost visited his section Monday night, ice freezing almost a quarter of an inch in thickness. Very little damage to crops resulted.

Troop No. 1 Boy Scouts of Llewellyn school attended the Scout rally at Lincoln high school Saturday evening.

Mrs. W. H. Golding, 452 East Fifty-second street, was in Sellwood one day this week, visiting friends. The Goldings have just returned home after an extended trip east and south.

Z. Parriah, 1495 East Eleventh street, is arranging to leave for the mountain fastnesses of the Coast range on a trapping expedition.

The Spokane Avenue Presbyterian Sunday school observed "Rally day" last Sunday with a program of songs, games and other amusements participated in by young and old.

New houses are being erected in various parts of Sellwood, in adjoining Westmoreland and on the slopes of Eastmoreland beyond the municipal golf links.

Members of the Spokane Avenue Presbyterian Sunday school, parents and friends, packed the Sellwood community house Friday evening, October 15, and enjoyed games, music and refreshments.

The O. K. Jeffery Airplane corporation sent its new De Havilland Six in the air for the first time Wednesday afternoon at the Bloomfield aviation field adjoining Sellwood.

The Wassell-Helgen company is canning car after cars of apples at their plant at East Thirteenth street and Tacoma avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Matthews of 454 Bidwell avenue are away on a 10-day hunting trip. Jim is a noted hunter and if any big game such as "bar" or deer comes within range of his trusty rifle the Matthews commissary will be replenished.

Endeavors from Spokane Avenue Presbyterian church attended a banquet and rally at the First Presbyterian church Tuesday evening. Dr. Allen, Persian missionary, delivered most inspiring lecture on Christian work in that far-distant land, and told what Christian Endeavor means was doing.

Mrs. Crawford gave an illustrated talk on the other foreign missionaries, which are supported by the C. E. Mr. Hayes sang an illustrated song. Those who attended were Mrs. C. W. Minges, Helen Pearl, Helen Mackey, Sarah Mackey, Lillian Robertson, Velma Colt, Vera Colt, Helen Junor, Gladys Pierrott, Mary McCullagh, Messrs. Harry Mackey, Harlan Pearl, Herbert Brooks, Archie Courtney, Sam Waddell and Meredith Price.

Many residents of the Oregon Yacht club are moving to the city for the winter, intending to return next spring.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church held a rummage sale last week at the Selbold Plumbing shop, 1570 East Thirteenth street, Monday and Tuesday, and report good success.

Mrs. L. B. Pearl of 610 Bidwell avenue returned home Tuesday from a two weeks' visit with relatives at Grants Pass, Cottage Grove and Halasy, Or.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Keeler, 1490 East Eighteenth street, entertained 20 guests Wednesday evening, in honor of their wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Emma H. Richards, teacher of room one of Sellwood school, is directing her class, which is incidentally the graduating class, in the study of a Halloween play which will be given in the assembly hall of Sellwood school and will be for the parents and friends of the child actors, Friday afternoon.

Numerous songs and humorous incidents will make the play worth while, and a big crowd of "Ma's and Pa's" will be present, according to all indications.

Grammar schools are not all to be nipped out of football this year. Sellwood school is already selecting candidates for a proposed team. From all indications the following will be among the eleven: Nickolas Farchi, Bert Norton, Edward Chesne and Hal Hume.

Andrew Robertson, who recently sold his store in Sellwood, expects to leave for California to benefit his health.

'Caseyfest' Money Flowing Freely at K. C. Grand Bazaar

With this afternoon and evening the K. C. grand bazaar passes into history as one of the most successful affairs in the annals of Portland council No. 67. Thursday and Friday, the clubhouse was crowded with people, and the only money that's good at the bazaar, "Caseyfest" currency, has flowed freely.

This afternoon is children's day and the entertainment has been prepared. Tonight Ford automobile shareholders will meet and dispose of their property. The diamond ring, the combination range, pressure cooker, redwood table and other pieces of furniture, and many other valuable gifts, still remaining undisposed of, will be passed out.

WHERE EAST SIDE ARTERIES CROSS

Intersection of East Morrison street and Grand avenue, where tides of traffic move heavily

COTTAGE PRIZE FOR STICKING TO FARM

K. W. Brown of Bull Mountain, about two miles west of Tigard, is building a neat five room cottage on his farm and makes frequent trips to the Tigard Lumber company yards with demands on Manager E. A. Johnson for supplies. It is said that he intends to give the house to one of his three sons to induce him to stay on the farm.

J. W. Reynolds is another Tigard visitor these days in connection with remodeling of his house in Metzger.

B. W. Spang has traded his Tigard residence for a house on East Gilliam street in Portland and J. R. Baynturn has moved from Portland to Tigard with his family and is now occupying the property. He has gone to E. A. Johnson for estimates on lumber needed for improvements and alterations.

William Ariss 10 years ago settled in the then "new town" site of Tigard and nearly everybody told him a blacksmith would starve to death in six weeks in that location. Ariss still has made good, however. His blacksmith shop has expanded into a garage that is well known.

H. F. Bonesteel has found his large new cement garage and repair shop in the new site of Tigard. A detached storage garage which will be rented to private parties.

Rev. F. M. Burch of New Plymouth, Idaho, has returned to his pastoral work after several weeks' visiting with relatives.

Mrs. Clara Burch has gone to Dillon, Mont., to visit relatives and will be gone several weeks.

Mrs. J. North has opened a home-like lunch and short order dining room to accommodate many travelers and working men.

The funeral of William P. Morris will be attended by many Tigard friends, neighbors and schoolmates at the Finley parlors Saturday in Portland. Morris was one of the Oregon boys who gave up his life in France for his country.

The debate Tuesday night at the Catholic hall between Mrs. M. L. T. Hilden and Ralph Dunaway, both of Portland, was largely attended and much enjoyed.

Judge Wallace McCamant Thursday night at the school house spoke to the audience on the issues of the day from the Republican standpoint.

There is to be an oyster supper at the M. E. church Saturday evening, and there will be plenty of oysters and a good time.

F. R. Burch has recently returned from a three weeks' sojourn in Calgary, visiting relatives and friends and transacting business. He says that the farmers are all prosperous and prices for produce excellent in that Canadian state.

There is to be a dance at Burch hall Saturday evening. The Toelle orchestra of Portland will furnish music. Many guests from surrounding communities are expected.

Tigard public school is well attended by an increasing number of pupils that will probably pass the 250 mark before long. The teachers are Miss Margaret Summers, principal; Mrs. Grace C. Welton, Miss Gladys Cowell, Miss Charlotte E. Gilbert and Miss Margaret and Miss Mary Hargreaves.

A number of Tigard people will visit the Ryan Place clubhouse on the night of October 30 to attend the masquerade and eat pumpkin pie.

Tigard has no municipal government and a greater need than any other city in the county is a system of improved sidewalks.

Seven Christian Endeavor societies of the Kern Park district are planning a big community Halloween party to be given at the Arletta Baptist church next Saturday at 8 p. m. The young people of the Kern Park Christian church have charge of the plans.

The Lents Improvement club met in the Odd Fellows hall Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock and discussed means for the improvement of the district.

BANK OF KENTON

Kenton Station
Adjacent to industrial district of Kenton and North Portland.

Commercial and Savings Accounts Solicited

IMPROVEMENTS IN THE LENTS DISTRICT

Some of the city commissioners were present and gave information on the costs.

Mrs. Ernest Myers, who was married recently, was visiting her mother, Mrs. H. E. Hebrist, at 10312 Sixtieth avenue, during the week.

Mrs. K. E. Hall has sold her property at 9408 Fifty-sixth avenue to H. K. Lund.

The Lents school was awarded $20 for its exhibit at the recent Multnomah county fair at Gresham.

The visiting nurse for the Lents community, Mrs. Athena Stoneman, was a visitor at the Lents school Friday.

Mrs. Edward Burkhardt of 627 Fifty-fifth street southeast, has been suffering from pleurisy, but is now recovering.

Mrs. M. D. Darnall of Lents attended a business meeting of the Portland Associate Matrons of the Order of the Eastern Star at the Walker academy room, Saturday, and a dinner at the Chamber of Commerce.

R. K. Sauer and family have moved from 9506 Fifty-ninth avenue to 6024 Ninety-second street.

A number of women have been busy preparing for the dinner to be given at the state convention of the Parent-Teacher association Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. It is expected that Troutdale will be famous thereafter as the place for the best dinner ever spread in Oregon.

Sam Harlow is slowly recovering from a severe attack of yellow jaundice. Mrs. H. E. Waite is visiting friends in Hood River.

J. A. Fehrenbacher celebrated his seventieth birthday at his home in Pleasant View Tuesday evening. Relatives and neighbors gathered to the number of 40 or more and enjoyed music, games and refreshments. The affair was a thorough surprise to the septogenarian.

Mayor J. S. Hudson has returned from a brief trip to Bridal Veil and is once more on the job. He still premised his friends to produce some home-made sorghum syrup.

The Ladies' Aid society Wednesday afternoon had an old-fashioned quilting bee at the church and completed the quilt that is considered a work of art in needlecraft.

Frank Duray has removed from Troutdale to engage in business for himself in Portland as a barber.

Morris Johnson of Hurlburt Tuesday trapped a huge black bear near his home. The trapped animal had climbed tree and tore out its top branches in the struggle to dislodge it.

Arrangements have been made by the East Side Business Men's club for a dinner, social and dance in the club rooms Thursday night, October 28. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock, music will be furnished by the Dixie chorus, dancing and cards will follow. H. E. Judge will be chairman.

Measurements on the November ballot will be discussed. The bill will be discussed affirmatively by B. F. Irvine and negatively by Senator Gus Moser. The market commission measure will be discussed by J. F. Laagner and Judge George W. Stapleton.

Denying that he is not a "candidate of the realty board," Herbert Gordon today answered Mayor Baker's reply to resolutions recently adopted by the board, which called on the mayor for apology because he had referred to "unscrupulous real estate operators."

Gordon declares he has not pledged himself to interests of the board or large financial interests; cites the fact that he has built homes at a time when the housing problem was acute and declares himself against the proposed three mill tax levy.

The mayor had alleged that Gordon represented the real estate interests.

Stimulated with large money prizes that have been offered for a successful helicopter, several French airplane builders are experimenting with vertical rising, heavier than air machines.

CANADIAN SCENIC LECTURE MAGNET

Rev. Earl Cotton gave an illustrated lecture on Canadian scenery at the church Tuesday evening, with standing room only very early in its progress.

Roy Buxton and Emerson Crawford have returned from a trip to Hood River, where they packed apples and were several times soaked with balmy showers.

Mrs. Lydia Ostrand visited her daughter, Mrs. Bush, at Bridal Veil for several days this week.

A number of women have been busy preparing for the dinner to be given at the state convention of the Parent-Teacher association Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Sam Harlow is slowly recovering from a severe attack of yellow jaundice. Mrs. H. E. Waite is visiting friends in Hood River.

J. A. Fehrenbacher celebrated his seventieth birthday at his home in Pleasant View Tuesday evening. Relatives and neighbors gathered to the number of 40 or more and enjoyed music, games and refreshments. The affair was a thorough surprise to the septogenarian.

Mayor J. S. Hudson has returned from a brief trip to Bridal Veil and is once more on the job. He still premised his friends to produce some home-made sorghum syrup.

The Ladies' Aid society Wednesday afternoon had an old-fashioned quilting bee at the church and completed the quilt that is considered a work of art in needlecraft.

Frank Duray has removed from Troutdale to engage in business for himself in Portland as a barber.

Morris Johnson of Hurlburt Tuesday trapped a huge black bear near his home. The trapped animal had climbed tree and tore out its top branches in the struggle to dislodge it.

Arrangements have been made by the East Side Business Men's club for a dinner, social and dance in the club rooms Thursday night, October 28. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock, music will be furnished by the Dixie chorus, dancing and cards will follow. H. E. Judge will be chairman.

Measurements on the November ballot will be discussed. The bill will be discussed affirmatively by B. F. Irvine and negatively by Senator Gus Moser. The market commission measure will be discussed by J. F. Laagner and Judge George W. Stapleton.

Denying that he is not a "candidate of the realty board," Herbert Gordon today answered Mayor Baker's reply to resolutions recently adopted by the board, which called on the mayor for apology because he had referred to "unscrupulous real estate operators."

Gordon declares he has not pledged himself to interests of the board or large financial interests; cites the fact that he has built homes at a time when the housing problem was acute and declares himself against the proposed three mill tax levy.

The mayor had alleged that Gordon represented the real estate interests.

Stimulated with large money prizes that have been offered for a successful helicopter, several French airplane builders are experimenting with vertical rising, heavier than air machines.

Stimulated with large money prizes that have been offered for a successful helicopter, several French airplane builders are experimenting with vertical rising, heavier than air machines.

Stimulated with large money prizes that have been offered for a successful helicopter, several French airplane builders are experimenting with vertical rising, heavier than air machines.

Stimulated with large money prizes that have been offered for a successful helicopter, several French airplane builders are experimenting with vertical rising, heavier than air machines.

Stimulated with large money prizes that have been offered for a successful helicopter, several French airplane builders are experimenting with vertical rising, heavier than air machines.

Stimulated with large money prizes that have been offered for a successful helicopter, several French airplane builders are experimenting with vertical rising, heavier than air machines.

Stimulated with large money prizes that have been offered for a successful helicopter, several French airplane builders are experimenting with vertical rising, heavier than air machines.

SELLWOOD PUPILS LIKE NEW TEACHER

Mrs. Spain, teacher of writing in Sellwood school, is new to all the pupils. She was met with approval at the beginning of the term. However, Mrs. Spain's kind and loving ways soon won the hearts of every pupil in the school. There are no unruly remarks made in Mrs. Spain's room now and no raucous and loud singing can be heard.

A survey of Sellwood's water supply will immediately be made. Commissioner Mann recently ordered Chief Engineer Randlett to make the survey. Insufficient pressure and other defects in the water system will be remedied as soon as possible after the survey.

Robertson, Hay and Wallace were awarded the contract to build Sellwood's new fire station by the city council at a meeting held Wednesday. The new station will be one of the most modern in the city. The contract was for $10,380.

The Sellwood Lavender club will hold its weekly meeting at the Community house Tuesday.

Dr. Lovejoy speaks Saturday night. A Halloween party will be given in the evening to discuss 8-cent carfare. Candidates for mayor will speak.

Monday the Sellwood Moreland club met.

Regular classes are now going on each day in all the subjects published in this page a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Peter Hume has returned to her residence at 647 Nehalem after a three weeks' visit at Brownsville, Or.

Miss Hazel Keller left Sunday for a six weeks' visit with her relatives in California. She lives at 699 Umatilla avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Riddle welcomed their grandson, who is a prosperous farmer of Hood River, to their home at 889 Bidwell avenue, a few days ago.

League Explained To St. Paul Folk

John D. Mann addressed a large audience at St. Paul Friday night on the League of Nations and the accomplishments of the Democratic administration. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Democratic county committee of Marion county.

Pot and Quill Elects University of Oregon, Eugene, Oct. 23. The Pot and Quill club met Friday evening and elected Lillian Ald president; Margaret Fell, vice-president; and Gladys Johnson, secretary-treasurer.

Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch announced Friday that no inquest will be held into the death of Peter Kuhn, 11, who was killed Thursday morning while playing at Albina Homestead school.

The boy was playing tag, according to testimony, and backed from the curb on Mallory street at the entrance of the school. He was struck by the front of a machine and the right front wheel passed over the lower part of his head. Dan Shea, driver of the truck, which was drawing up to the curb to deliver school supplies, was exonerated by the jury.

Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch announced Friday that no inquest will be held into the death of Peter Kuhn, 11, who was killed Thursday morning while playing at Albina Homestead school.

The boy was playing tag, according to testimony, and backed from the curb on Mallory street at the entrance of the school. He was struck by the front of a machine and the right front wheel passed over the lower part of his head. Dan Shea, driver of the truck, which was drawing up to the curb to deliver school supplies, was exonerated by the jury.

Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch announced Friday that no inquest will be held into the death of Peter Kuhn, 11, who was killed Thursday morning while playing at Albina Homestead school.

The boy was playing tag, according to testimony, and backed from the curb on Mallory street at the entrance of the school. He was struck by the front of a machine and the right front wheel passed over the lower part of his head. Dan Shea, driver of the truck, which was drawing up to the curb to deliver school supplies, was exonerated by the jury.

Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch announced Friday that no inquest will be held into the death of Peter Kuhn, 11, who was killed Thursday morning while playing at Albina Homestead school.

The boy was playing tag, according to testimony, and backed from the curb on Mallory street at the entrance of the school. He was struck by the front of a machine and the right front wheel passed over the lower part of his head. Dan Shea, driver of the truck, which was drawing up to the curb to deliver school supplies, was exonerated by the jury.

Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch announced Friday that no inquest will be held into the death of Peter Kuhn, 11, who was killed Thursday morning while playing at Albina Homestead school.

The boy was playing tag, according to testimony, and backed from the curb on Mallory street at the entrance of the school. He was struck by the front of a machine and the right front wheel passed over the lower part of his head. Dan Shea, driver of the truck, which was drawing up to the curb to deliver school supplies, was exonerated by the jury.

Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch announced Friday that no inquest will be held into the death of Peter Kuhn, 11, who was killed Thursday morning while playing at Albina Homestead school.

The boy was playing tag, according to testimony, and backed from the curb on Mallory street at the entrance of the school. He was struck by the front of a machine and the right front wheel passed over the lower part of his head. Dan Shea, driver of the truck, which was drawing up to the curb to deliver school supplies, was exonerated by the jury.

Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch announced Friday that no inquest will be held into the death of Peter Kuhn, 11, who was killed Thursday morning while playing at Albina Homestead school.

The boy was playing tag, according to testimony, and backed from the curb on Mallory street at the entrance of the school. He was struck by the front of a machine and the right front wheel passed over the lower part of his head. Dan Shea, driver of the truck, which was drawing up to the curb to deliver school supplies, was exonerated by the jury.

Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch announced Friday that no inquest will be held into the death of Peter Kuhn, 11, who was killed Thursday morning while playing at Albina Homestead school.

LAD AT PLAY WHOSE LIFE IS TRUCK TOLL

Peter Kuhn, crushed at school recess Thursday.

Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch announced Friday that no inquest will be held into the death of Peter Kuhn, 11, who was killed Thursday morning while playing at Albina Homestead school.

The boy was playing tag, according to testimony, and backed from the curb on Mallory street at the entrance of the school. He was struck by the front of a machine and the right front wheel passed over the lower part of his head. Dan Shea, driver of the truck, which was drawing up to the curb to deliver school supplies, was exonerated by the jury.

Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch announced Friday that no inquest will be held into the death of Peter Kuhn, 11, who was killed Thursday morning while playing at Albina Homestead school.

The boy was playing tag, according to testimony, and backed from the curb on Mallory street at the entrance of the school. He was struck by the front of a machine and the right front wheel passed over the lower part of his head. Dan Shea, driver of the truck, which was drawing up to the curb to deliver school supplies, was exonerated by the jury.

Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch announced Friday that no inquest will be held into the death of Peter Kuhn, 11, who was killed Thursday morning while playing at Albina Homestead school.

The boy was playing tag, according to testimony, and backed from the curb on Mallory street at the entrance of the school. He was struck by the front of a machine and the right front wheel passed over the lower part of his head. Dan Shea, driver of the truck, which was drawing up to the curb to deliver school supplies, was exonerated by the jury.

Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch announced Friday that no inquest will be held into the death of Peter Kuhn, 11, who was killed Thursday morning while playing at Albina Homestead school.

The boy was playing tag, according to testimony, and backed from the curb on Mallory street at the entrance of the school. He was struck by the front of a machine and the right front wheel passed over the lower part of his head. Dan Shea, driver of the truck, which was drawing up to the curb to deliver school supplies, was exonerated by the jury.

Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch announced Friday that no inquest will be held into the death of Peter Kuhn, 11, who was killed Thursday morning while playing at Albina Homestead school.

The boy was playing tag, according to testimony, and backed from the curb on Mallory street at the entrance of the school. He was struck by the front of a machine and the right front wheel passed over the lower part of his head. Dan Shea, driver of the truck, which was drawing up to the curb to deliver school supplies, was exonerated by the jury.

Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch announced Friday that no inquest will be held into the death of Peter Kuhn, 11, who was killed Thursday morning while playing at Albina Homestead school.

The boy was playing tag, according to testimony, and backed from the curb on Mallory street at the entrance of the school. He was struck by the front of a machine and the right front wheel passed over the lower part of his head. Dan Shea, driver of the truck, which was drawing up to the curb to deliver school supplies, was exonerated by the jury.

Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch announced Friday that no inquest will be held into the death of Peter Kuhn, 11, who was killed Thursday morning while playing at Albina Homestead school.

The boy was playing tag, according to testimony, and backed from the curb on Mallory street at the entrance of the school. He was struck by the front of a machine and the right front wheel passed over the lower part of his head. Dan Shea, driver of the truck, which was drawing up to the curb to deliver school supplies, was exonerated by the jury.

Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch announced Friday that no inquest will be held into the death of Peter Kuhn, 11, who was killed Thursday morning while playing at Albina Homestead school.

The boy was playing tag, according to testimony, and backed from the curb on Mallory street at the entrance of the school. He was struck by the front of a machine and the right front wheel passed over the lower part of his head. Dan Shea, driver of the truck, which was drawing up to the curb to deliver school supplies, was exonerated by the jury.

Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch announced Friday that no inquest will be held into the death of Peter Kuhn, 11, who was killed Thursday morning while playing at Albina Homestead school.

The boy was playing tag, according to testimony, and backed from the curb on Mallory street at the entrance of the school. He was struck by the front of a machine and the right front wheel passed over the lower part of his head. Dan Shea, driver of the truck, which was drawing up to the curb to deliver school supplies, was exonerated by the jury.

Deputy Coroner Leo Goetsch announced Friday that no inquest will be held into the death of Peter Kuhn, 11, who was killed Thursday morning while playing at Albina Homestead school.

The boy was playing tag, according to testimony, and backed from the curb on Mallory street at the entrance of the school. He was struck by the front of a machine and the right front wheel passed over the lower part of his head. Dan Shea, driver of the truck, which was drawing up to the curb to deliver school supplies, was exonerated by the jury.

Concerted Efforts To Guard Timber Interests Launched

An agreement between representatives of eight different organizations representing the federal and state governments, timber owners and dealers in all forms of lumber on federal legislation looking toward the perpetuation of the lumber industry was effected in New York October 15, said E. T. Allen, former secretary of the National Lumbermen's association and secretary of the Western Forestry and Conservation association, who has just returned from the meeting.

Efforts will be made to secure congressional enactment of legislation along these lines. Recommended legislation provided for the considerable extension of direct federal activity in forest ownership and production and for the development with federal aid and encouragement of systematic state policies for

License of Truck Driver Is Revoked

V. H. Frakes, driver of a truck, found his driver's license voided for 60 days when he appeared before Municipal Judge Rosman Friday. He answered a charge of speeding on a motorcycle. He had appeared before Judge Rosman in a previous case.

Appeal Made for Wood. Klamath Falls, Oct. 23.—Earnest consideration of charges that H. S. Wood, international union of timberworkers' vice president, was attacked by Governor Stephens of California in a telegram sent by C. Covert of Seattle, president of the union.

CENTRAL EAST SIDE

INSIST ON BRADLEY'S PIES

BRADLEY & TRACY 66 Grand Avenue

GARAGE AND AUTO DIRECTORY

ALBINA—KILLINGSWORTH

DOWN-TOWN PRICES
Tires, Tubes, Gas, Oils at Downtown Prices
SAVE YOUR TIME AND MONEY—BUY YOUR SUPPLIES FROM BROOKS' SERVICE GARAGE
546 Alberta Street DAY AND NIGHT SERVICE Automatic 321-18

1180 Albina Avenue Phone Woodlawn 160. Day and Night Service

PIEDMONT GARAGE

F. J. POWERS J. O'HANLON
COMPLETE LINE OF PARTS AND ELECTRICAL SUPPLIES
GENERAL AUTO REPAIRING—OXFORD, ACETYLENE WELDING
TIRE REPAIRING—DAY AND NIGHT SERVICE
VULCANIZING OILS GREASES AND ACCESSORIES

When in Trouble, Towing or Starting, Call on Us—General Repairing—A Full Line of Accessories

Friedli & Dressler Auto Repair Co.

VULCANIZING—BATTERY RECHARGING—ACETYLENE WELDING—BRAZING
PHONE EAST 3093 435-57 UNION AVENUE NORTH