

HOT FIGHT WAGED BY FARM-LABOR LEADER ALARMS

Washington Republican Machine Not So Sure of Its Ground in Campaign for Governor.

Olympia, Wash., Oct. 23.—With three complete political tickets in the field, the results of the coming election in the state of Washington are decidedly uncertain. Until a few weeks ago the state Republican machine felt quite sure of its ground, but the enthusiasm manifested locally as well as in other parts of the state by the adherents of the Farmer-Labor party has caused considerable uneasiness in regard to the election of Louis F. Hart as governor.

Robert Bridges is drawing record crowds wherever he goes, and many of his old-time Democratic friends are supporting him. He spoke to the biggest campaign meeting in this locality during the month, although the crowd of 2000 persons had to be transported 4 miles out of town to the auditorium of St. Martin's college at Lacey to hear him.

BLACK WISS FAVOR
W. W. Black, Democratic nominee for governor, is making a vigorous campaign individually, but the party organization is lacking in enthusiasm and is experiencing considerable difficulty in getting funds. George F. Fishburn, Democratic nominee for congress from the Third Washington district, is making a favorable impression on his speaking tour.

He recently challenged Homer T. Bone, Farmer-Labor nominee for the same position, to a joint debate, taking the position that the Democratic party occupies the liberal ground, while the Farmer-Labor party has a radical foundation. Bone's speaking dates are full up to election day, leaving little probability that the debate will be scheduled.

HART'S ACTIONS HURT
The campaign in this state centers on

SINGING FROM SADDLE

Miss Harriet Leach, who sang with her sister on the Orpheum circuit two years ago, in cowgirl costume at the Pendleton Round-Up, where she sang from the back of a $6000 steed at the Happy Canyon event. Miss Leach fitted in with her surroundings with a red skirt, an orange blouse and a black felt hat. She will ride the same horse at the coming horse show of the Pacific International Livestock show in November.

the contest for the governorship between Louis F. Hart, Republican and acting incumbent, and Robert Bridges, "Father of the Port of Seattle" and former land commissioner.

Hart's nullification of the acts and recommendations of the industrial welfare conference, held last May, has alienated the support of liberal and labor sources. The recent fiasco on the industrial welfare commission, causing all the liberal members to resign in disgust, gave him the opportunity to use political sense, but he failed to appoint any person friendly to labor. To cap the climax, he has recently appointed to the industrial insurance commission the field agent for the associated industries, Major E. S. Gill, who has been spending most of his time and energy during the last two years going about the state trying to break up labor unions.

Black of Everett, has an excellent record as superior judge of Snohomish county. He was nominated on the Democratic ticket for governor in 1912, but was disqualified by the state supreme court from having his nomination because he held a state office at the time. Ernest Lister was then moved up from the lieutenant governor's position on the ticket and was elected, and subsequently re-elected.

After spending four years in Olympia as land commissioner during the administration of Governor Rogers, and serving eight years as port commissioner in Seattle, Bridges is leading the Farmer-Labor party in the most bitter political campaign ever waged on state issues in Washington.

Mary Louise McConnell, a 15-year-old school girl of Tacoma, has disappeared from home, leaving a note saying, "School life is unbearable because I have no friends among my classmates."

The Democratic nominee, Judge W. W.

NORTHERN PACIFIC SPECIALISTS WORK FOR IMMIGRATION

Officials Due Monday Evening Are First Rail Men in Years Who Give All Time to Problems

For the first time in several years a party of railroad officials specializing upon immigration work will visit Portland, when members of the department of immigration and industry of the Northern Pacific railway company arrive Monday evening.

Headed by E. F. Benson, manager of the department of immigration and industry, the party will be composed of H. W. Byerly, general agent of immigration, and agents from various Middle Western cities. Benson was made head of this department October 1 and was formerly employed as an agricultural expert by the state of Washington.

The trip has been primarily arranged to acquaint the field men with the actual opportunities of the West, that they may be better qualified to explain to prospective settlers the advantages to be gained as well as the difficulties to be encountered in moving to a new country.

Arrangements have been made by the Chamber of Commerce to entertain the visitors. Much importance is attached by local men acquainted with development affairs to such a visit and to the necessity of conveying correct impressions to visitors.

COMMITTEE TO ENTERTAIN
To handle the reception and entertainment of these men a committee has been appointed by the chamber, composed of E. E. Fayette, Coe McKenna, J. W. Brewer of the State Chamber of Commerce, Alfred Aya, and A. D. Charlton and E. C. Robbins of the Northern Pacific.

The party will arrive in this city at 10:50 o'clock Monday evening and will be officially received by the committee at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The visitors will first be escorted to the Oregon building for an inspection of Oregon agricultural products shown in the state exhibit room on the main floor of the building.

At 10 o'clock the party will meet with Oregonians interested in development and industries of this section in the green room of the Oregon building. A number of brief addresses will be delivered on various subjects, so that the visitors may receive information on the topics in which they are interested.

INDUSTRIES TO BE PICTURED
Addresses will be made by J. W. Brewer on information service; Coe McKenna, housing; Alfred Aya, industries; C. I. Lewis, small fruits; Charles Wheeler, lumber; R. A. Ward of Bend, Central Oregon; W. H. Harrah, Pendleton, wheat; and W. J. Kerr, educational engineering.

At noon the visitors will be the guests of honor at a luncheon in the main dining room of the chamber. H. B. Van Duser will preside and an address will likely be delivered by Frank Branch Riley. Portlanders will be given an opportunity to make brief addresses on immigration and industrial subjects at this meeting.

At 3 o'clock the party will be taken for a tour of the city and the development projects close to the city. The party is scheduled to leave at 7:10 o'clock Tuesday evening.

CITY TO BE TOURS
At present the Northern Pacific party is in the state of Washington. The agents left St. Paul, headquarters of the N. P., October 13, and are scheduled to return there October 31.

This department will eventually include an industrial and an agricultural agent. It will not be the purpose to start new activities, but will rather help in organizing and making more effective the existing agencies working with that purpose, including commercial clubs, federal state and county organizations, and farmers' and growers' associations.

In addition to Benson and Byerly the following agents will be in the party: John F. Fox, Chicago; O. L. Stark, Kansas City; F. J. Elliott, St. Paul; H. E. Goodemote, Chicago; George A. Jobs, St. Paul; C. E. Arney, Spokane, and F. Benz, Toppensh.

N. P. Immigration Agents Entertained While at Yakima

Yakima, Wash., Oct. 23.—F. E. Benson, recently appointed chief of the immigration agents of the company, completed a two days' tour of the Yakima valley here and were entertained at dinner by the horticultural bureau of the Commercial club and later at a smoker where the visitors gave assurance that the railroad stood ready to cooperate with the citizens in any movement that looked toward the development of the arid lands of the valley.

Plans outlined at the recent reclamation conference held at Seattle were presented by C. E. Arney, western immigration and development agent for the company. The party left for Tacoma, where they will spend several days in acquainting themselves with opportunities for prospective settlers in that section of the country.

Chickens Mistake Plane for Hawk
Hood River, Oct. 23.—Recent observations have convinced local residents that chickens regard airplanes as a species of hawk. A few days ago a big flock of White Leghorns were noticed scurrying across a field to a brush patch. No hawk was in sight and the owner looked for a skunk. A few seconds later the thrub of an airplane motor was heard. After the plane had passed from view the birds slowly emerged from their hiding place.

Cove Farmers Are Unable to Harvest Because of Weather

Cove, Oct. 23.—Farmers of this section are much discouraged as the continued wet weather for six weeks has interfered with harvesting. Thousands of acres of wheat are still uncut, and snow early in the week knocked it flat on the ground. Much alfalfa is still in the fields, all down.

McArthur Has Fine Legislative Record

Oregon Congressman Supports Progressive and Humanitarian Measures.

PETTY CAMPAIGN SLANDERS REFUTED

C. N. McARTHUR
Republican Representative from Third Oregon District and Candidate for Re-election on November 2

To the People of Multnomah County:
Congressman McArthur, who is now serving his third term at Washington, is a native Oregonian and, with the exception of five years, has resided in Portland since 1890. He served two terms in the Oregon legislature from Multnomah county and at each session was elected speaker of the house. He helped write up the statute books of Oregon such important measures as the water code, the industrial welfare commission law, the workmen's compensation act, the livestock sanitary board law, the teachers' tenure in office act, the port organization act and the board of control law. The last-named measure was drafted and presented by Mr. McArthur in 1912, and its operation has unified the management of all state institutions and saved the state from the loss of thousands of dollars in the purchase of supplies.

Supports Progressive Legislation
Mr. McArthur was elected to congress in 1914 and re-elected in 1916 and 1918. He has made a splendid record and has grown into a position of influence and usefulness at Washington. He has supported such legislation as the labor law, the national budget bill, the civil service retirement act, the federal farm loan act, the Nolan minimum wage bill for federal employes, the industrial cripples' vocational training bill, the soldier's bonus bill, liberal appropriations for vocational training for crippled veterans of the world war, and increased compensation for government employes.

Has Fine Record on War Measures
On all roll calls on measures pertaining to preparedness and the conduct of the recent war Mr. McArthur has a record of 100 per cent on the chart prepared by the National Security League. This fine record is a source of pride not only to the patriotic people of Multnomah county, but to all genuine Americans.

Stands for Prohibition Enforcement
Mr. McArthur has correctly interpreted the wishes of the people of the Third Oregon district on the prohibition question. He is opposed to tinkering with the present law, but is in favor of the people authorize him to do so. He has already voted against repealing the Volstead prohibition enforcement act (see Congressional Record, March 4, 1920). He worked for woman suffrage in Oregon in 1912 and voted for the national woman suffrage amendment in congress.

Secures Naval Base for the Columbia River
As a member of the important committee on naval affairs Mr. McArthur occupied a position of great responsibility during the war. Since the armistice he has worked industriously for better naval facilities on the Pacific and has secured the passage of legislation authorizing a first-class submarine and torpedo base and aviation station at the mouth of the Columbia river—the greatest recognition which Oregon has ever received at the hands of the federal government.

Protects Portland's Water Supply
Mr. McArthur is responsible for passage through the house of two measures designed to protect Portland's water supply. These measures authorize and direct the forest service to take over all privately owned lands in the Bull Run reserve in exchange for public lands located elsewhere in the Oregon national forest, and also withhold from entry all of the Oregon & California grant lands (about 11,000 acres) within the Bull Run reserve. These two pieces of legislation afford ample protection to Portland's water supply and prevent its pollution by homesteaders and sawmills.

Opposes Quack Stateism
Mr. McArthur has had the courage to oppose all forms of demagoguery and quack stateism, and has thereby incurred the enmity of all the radicals and secret enemies of the government. These elements are bitterly opposed to his candidacy.

Will Support Republican President
Last, but not least, Mr. McArthur is a firm believer in the principles and policies of the Republican party. The next administration will be Republican, and should be people of the Third Oregon district hesitate about returning a Republican congressman who has made good and who will be in a position of larger influence and higher standing with his party in power? What he will create a profit by designating a representative of sound judgment and demonstrated worth and replacing him with a new and inexperienced member who will line up with the minority in congress?

Respectfully submitted,

Let's Get Down to Price!
One of the greatest tests for economy in men's clothes is where you can discuss the finest examples and the prices they sell for, in the same advertisement. Prices must be discussed in cheap clothes to defend inferiority. And quality must be emphasized in high-priced clothes to condone the prices. But the feature of Hickey-Freeman clothes is, that the quality is high, while the prices are not.
Hickey-Freeman clothes wear longer and hold their shape longer, because of the grade of woollens and of the workmanship that is in them, and they are still acquitting themselves of good service long after most clothes have quit the service for good.
