

Election Statistics
Who carried New York in '18? What's the present political lineup in congress? What was the electoral vote in '08, '12, '16? You want to know this so's to figure what the returns mean—see next Sunday's Journal.

It's All Here and It's All True
THE WEATHER—Tonight and Friday, rain; southwesterly winds. Minimum temperatures Wednesday: Portland 48 New Orleans 54 Helena 22 New York 54 Los Angeles 50 St. Paul 28

TEAL ACCEPTS APPOINTMENT FROM WILSON

Portland Transportation Expert, in Statement Announcing Acceptance, Says He Hopes to Help Build Merchant Marine.

J. N. Teal, Portland traffic expert and rate counselor, has accepted an appointment to the United States shipping board tendered him telegraphically by President Wilson from Washington, D. C., Thursday.

Teal's message of acceptance was telegraphed to the president this morning and in connection with it he made public the following statement:

"I have received a telegram from the president tendering me an appointment on the shipping board. I have wired an acceptance, but will require several days to arrange my affairs, and assume there will be no objection to this.

"I am deeply sensible of the high honor conferred by this appointment, but what is much more highly prized is the unsolicited and unwavering support not only of individuals, but of such bodies as the Chamber of Commerce of Portland, Chamber of Commerce of Astoria, the President's council of Portland's business and civic clubs and others.

"I hope I can be of real service in building up an American merchant marine, but too much must not be expected of anyone. The problem is difficult and I will need the help of everyone interested in the subject. All I can promise

(Concluded on Page Eighteen, Column Four)

REACH SETTLEMENT IN BRITAIN'S STRIKE

By Earle C. Reeves

London, Oct. 28.—(I. N. S.)—The coal strike has been definitely settled. It was officially announced this afternoon. The official announcement was made subsequent to a meeting of the cabinet and a conference between representatives of the government and the striking coal miners.

According to the Central News agency the terms of the settlement have to be subjected to a referendum ballot of the coal miners and approved before they become effective.

Officials of the Federation of Miners said that Premier Lloyd George would announce the terms of the strike settlement in the house of commons tonight. Arrangements for a referendum ballot by the miners to accept or reject the plan are expected to be begun at once.

Frank H. Hodges, secretary of the Federation of Miners, outlined the chief points of the agreement as follows:

1. Miners to receive wage increase of 2 shillings (normally 48 cents) per shift.
2. Boys to receive a wage increase of 1 shilling.
3. A sliding scale of adjustments to be inaugurated based on output compared with the September mine production.
4. A permanent wage board to be established in March.

It was stated at Premier Lloyd George's official residence that the executive committee of the federation of miners was recommending that the men vote to end the strike.

Police Seek Trace Of $100,000 Gems Missing From Taxi

New York, Oct. 28.—(I. N. S.)—The police today continued their search for $100,000 worth of jewels in a handbag carelessly left in a taxicab in which the owner of the gems rode from the Waldorf hotel to the West Twenty-third street ferry.

Marcus & Co., jewelers, who reported the loss to the police, refused to give the name of the owner of the jewels. The bag was marked "C. W. M."

Most of the jewels were diamonds. A silver pocket flask was one of the articles enumerated in the description given by the police.

Plane Will Visit Gridiron Journal Express a Feature

Football fans who see the O. A. C.-University of California battle on the Corvallis gridiron Saturday afternoon will enjoy a preface for the sport of the afternoon when The Journal's airplane express delivery arrives over the field just before the game starts, bearing copies of the first afternoon edition of the paper fresh from the press to the crowds at the game.

Answering a call from Corvallis readers and promoters of the week's big football contest, The Journal has arranged with Victor Vernon, manager of the Oregon, Washington & Idaho Airplane company, to make the flight to Corvallis.

Vernon will probably pilot one of the Oriole planes that has rendered such consistent delivery service for The Journal on previous occasions, includ-

GIVEN POSITION ON SHIPPING BOARD

JOSEPH NATHAN TEAL, who has accepted post on national body charged with upbuilding American merchant marine and solving problems of transoceanic and coastwise transportation. Announcement of Teal's appointment was greeted today with satisfaction by shippers of Columbia river district as indicative of recognition of Portland's maritime efforts and accomplishments.

JOSEPH NATHAN TEAL, who has accepted post on national body charged with upbuilding American merchant marine and solving problems of transoceanic and coastwise transportation.

PARSONS PLACES PEACE OVER PARTY

By Earle C. Reeves

"If you hate war, you Republicans, now is your chance to show it. In the face of a great moral issue, are you going to stay by your party or are you going, as I did, to leave your party for your country?"

That is the admonition and the question put to the Republicans of the United States, of Oregon and of Portland Wednesday night by Herbert Parsons, World War veteran, former Republican congressman, delegate to the Republican convention, and member of the Republican committee of New York, who recently bolted from Senator Harding to support of Governor Cox and the League of Nations.

Parsons, who is in favor of going in, continued: "I am in favor of going in. When Senator Harding stands, nobody knows. When Senator Harding stands, nobody knows."

"When delay was proposed by the League of Nations before war is declared, Governor Cox said: 'I am in favor of delay.' Where Senator Harding stands, nobody knows."

"When it was proposed to substitute

(Concluded on Page Two, Column One)

Man and Daughter Reunited After 30 Years' Separation

Flint, Mich., Oct. 28.—(U. P.)—A father and a daughter were reunited here today after a separation of 30 years and efforts were being made by the daughter to effect a reconciliation between her parents.

Jack Benjamin, working in a factory here, admired the pretty young woman he knew as Mrs. S. C. Diamond. They had been working side by side for a while. One day when she handed him a package to mail for her he noticed that it was addressed to the woman he had divorced 30 years before.

"Then I recalled our 3-year-old daughter and, sure enough, Mrs. Diamond was my little baby," said Benjamin.

Plane Will Visit Gridiron Journal Express a Feature

Football fans who see the O. A. C.-University of California battle on the Corvallis gridiron Saturday afternoon will enjoy a preface for the sport of the afternoon when The Journal's airplane express delivery arrives over the field just before the game starts, bearing copies of the first afternoon edition of the paper fresh from the press to the crowds at the game.

Answering a call from Corvallis readers and promoters of the week's big football contest, The Journal has arranged with Victor Vernon, manager of the Oregon, Washington & Idaho Airplane company, to make the flight to Corvallis.

Vernon will probably pilot one of the Oriole planes that has rendered such consistent delivery service for The Journal on previous occasions, includ-

VOTE EARLY ON TUESDAY, AVOID LATE CROWDS

By Earle C. Reeves

Do you want to vote on election day? Then vote early.

Do you want to help elect your candidate? Then vote early.

County Clerk Beveridge has issued a special appeal to the voters of Multnomah county, and particularly to the women voters of Portland, asking them to go to the polls in the morning, and to get their friends to vote in the morning.

Many of the voting places are small. The polls close at 8 o'clock. All those who have not cast their ballots by that time will lose their votes.

Working men, in thousands of cases, will have no opportunity to vote until after their day's work has been done. They will fill the voting places during the closing hours.

All those who have the opportunity to vote before going to their place of employment in the morning owe it as a duty to those who do not have that opportunity to cast their ballots early.

Gilliam Man Wins License Number 1 For Autos in 1921

Salem, Or., Oct. 28.—In the drawing for 1921 automobile license numbers held in the secretary of state's office here Tuesday, R. W. Potter of Mikkallo, Gilliam county, was awarded license plate No. 1. C. W. Peterson of Beaverton, Washington county, drew license plate No. 13, and Gus Keremidas of Portland license plate No. 23. Sam J. Howe of Portland was awarded license plate No. 100. Approximately 2200 numbers were drawn.

Because of the fact that approximately 115,000 automobiles are in the state at the present time, and that in previous years less than 50 per cent of the owners made application for licenses up to January 1, the secretary of state this year sent out application blanks nearly a month earlier than in former years.

(Concluded on Page Two, Column Six)

$3,442,821 SPENT ON HARDING CAUSE

Chicago, Oct. 28.—(U. P.)—The task of carrying their standards to the polls on November 2 will cost the Republican party less than three and a half million dollars, according to a written statement made to the United States sub-committee on campaign expenditures today by Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican national committee.

Senator Warren G. Harding's campaign cost the national committee, up to October 24, $3,442,821.32, according to Upham's statement. About $400,000 is to be spent in a "mopping up" campaign between now and November 2, the report said.

The statement was made on the request of the senate sub-committee that the treasurer of the national committee of both major parties give an accounting of moneys raised and spent in the presidential campaign. With this expenditure the Republicans face a deficit which may run close to half a million dollars.

Up to October 24, only $2,731,211.58 had been raised.

(Concluded on Page Eighteen, Column One)

(Concluded on Page Eighteen, Column One)

FIERY REPUBLICAN SPEAKER FOR COX

By Earle C. Reeves

About the scrappiest, fieriest, most convincing little bundle of Republican fighting machinery—turned Cox—that ever graced a Portland stage appeared in the person of Mrs. Nancy M. Schoonmaker at The Auditorium last night.

Mrs. Schoonmaker, suffrage leader and author, appealed to fellow Republicans to join with her in support of Governor Cox and a League of Nations. She waded into the history of the League of Nations, told how our sons had fought and died to end war, how President Wilson had been directed by congress to lead the way to a League of Nations, how he had laid down points on which the war was to be fought, how he had gone to Paris to aid in securing the league, how he had come home, solicited and accepted the advice of Root, Taft and Hughes as to the league and what should be in it, and how then, he had been blocked by a treacherous ring of senatorial politicians in taking America into the league.

The league, she flung, is the same league that Mr. Taft and Mr. Lodge were espousing in 1915. It is the same league that Taft and Hughes and Root helped to formulate. And it is the same league that Governor James M. Cox is in favor of "going in" and the same league that Senator Harding "turns his back on."

Mrs. Nancy M. Schoonmaker, prominent woman suffrage leader, in tracing the growth of the covenant, assured the Republicans in her audience at The Auditorium Wednesday night, that to vote for the league would be but to follow the way set by Lodge and Taft in 1915 when the League to Enforce Peace laid out a plan for a world federation.

"To vote for the league a loyal Republican need do only one thing," she said, "satisfy himself that the league does, in fact, incorporate those ideas put forth by his own leaders, and that it points which at the beginning of the war we all, Democrats and Republicans alike, indorsed. This done, he will want to know two other things: First, why are those leaders who formerly indorsed such a league now repudiating it; and, second, why?"

(Concluded on Page Two, Column Six)

THREE INDICTED IN BANK WRECK CASE

Medford, Oct. 28.—The grand jury Thursday returned several indictments as a result of its investigation into the defunct bank of Jacksonville.

William H. Johnson, president of the bank, who has been in jail since its failure under bond of $50,000, was indicted on three charges of receiving money in a bank known to be insolvent.

Miss Myrtle Blakely, county treasurer, was indicted twice on charges of malfeasance in office and aiding and abetting a bank in making false statements.

R. D. Hines of Medford, a former automobile merchant and vice president of the bank, a half-brother of President Johnson, faces seven indictments charging receipt of money in an insolvent bank and making false statements. He was taken into custody at once and placed in the county jail at Jacksonville. The jury will resume its investigation into the bank's affairs when it reconvenes on November 9.

County Treasurer Blakely was immediately arraigned before Judge F. M. Callahan, pleaded not guilty and was released on her own recognizance.

Hines will enter his plea Saturday. His bail was fixed at $10,000.

Miss Brainerd Will Accept Extradition; Starts West Friday

New York, Oct. 28.—(U. P.)—Miss Betty Brainerd will be surrendered to Washington state authorities tomorrow and taken to that state for trial on charges of kidnapping the 2-year-old son of George T. Stage.

Miss Brainerd's attorney, Isadore Kresel, announced today no effort will be made to fight extradition here. He will produce the young woman at 3.30 p. m. tomorrow at the district attorney's office, he said, and she will start the return trip to Washington at 7.30 tomorrow night.

(Concluded on Page Eighteen, Column One)

WHITTLESEY PUTS LEAGUE ABOVE PARTY

Stirring Appeal to Vote as "Americans" to Raise Barrier Against Future Wars, Electrifies Great Crowd at The Auditorium.

In the awful days of the Argonne forest when his friends and his comrades in arms lay mangled and dying all about him, Colonel Charles W. Whittlesey, quiet and unassuming citizen of New York, modest hero of America's brightest military history, refused to surrender to the gray hordes of Germany massed about the Lost Battalion, as undying in fame as the Light Brigade.

Last night, before a large audience in The Auditorium, Colonel Whittlesey told how, remembering the ideals for which he fought and for which his comrades died, he refused to surrender those ideals to the demands of professional politicians and partisan expediency, how he stood fast to his duty as a citizen of America, while others fell back, while he, as a soldier, remembered the soldier's dead.

PATRIOTISM ABOVE POLITICS

"We men who fought abroad and who love America," he told the people who listened to his appeal for the League of Nations, "we remember that there are 81,000 of our friends left in France."

"We did not enter the war as Republicans or as Democrats. We went in as Americans. All that we ask is that you put patriotism above politics; that you have the same faith in America and the great principles for which America fought as those who gave their lives for those principles."

Long before the time scheduled for Colonel Whittlesey and his companions to appear, the great audience room was packed with people gathered to hear him. When he came out upon the platform, the cheering and the ovation were such that the speaker was obliged to wait before he could speak, after a short introduction by B. F. Irvine, chairman of the evening, he stood powerfully before the cheering and the ovation, which the speaker greeted him.

TALK IS IMPRESSIVE

Whittlesey is not an orator. What he says does not come in balanced and rhythmic phrase. He talked to his audience with the earnestness and the serious conviction of a man suffering and death of the Argonne forest.

"I believe," he said in beginning, "that in this campaign we have an issue that is above and beyond party politics. There are periods in the destiny of every people where their decision means more than party success—when it evidences the faith and the honesty of the nation."

"At the time of Senator Harding's Des Moines speech," Colonel Whittlesey said, while the audience broke out again into a cheering applause, "when he turned his back upon the League of Nations, I and my friends decided that there was but one course of duty for us to follow—to support the League of Nations."

WAR HORROR RECALLED

Whittlesey told of the time when his Lost Battalion was standing back-to-back in the forest, of the time when Oregon men under his command were

(Concluded on Page Two, Column Three)

LOCAL WHOLESALE FIRM IS INDICTED

Indictments alleging sugar profiteering were returned this morning in the federal court against Mason, Ehrman & Co., Portland wholesale grocers; William H. Ehrman, vice president; Parrott & Co., San Francisco brokers, and Richard Adams, local agent. Bond for Ehrman and Adams was set at $5000 each.

A scheme to engage in an unfair, discriminatory and deceptive practice by reselling sugar in the same trade in violation of the Lever act is charged. CHARGE ALLEGED UNFAIR

In two of the three counts in the indictment the defendants are charged with making an unfair charge for 431 bags of sugar.

Mason, Ehrman & Co. bought the sugar from a San Francisco refinery, ostensibly to be used in the Portland territory, but resold it here to Parrott & Co. instead, according to Assistant United States Attorney Hall S. Lusk.

The indictment sets forth that one shipment of sugar was purchased in San Francisco for $20.50 per hundred and resold in the East for $24.50.

An additional indictment of six counts charging violation of the Lever act was also returned against the Starr Fruit Products company, L. M. Starr, president; Parrott & Co. and Richard Adams. The same defendants are now facing trial on a conspiracy indictment covering the same facts returned by a previous grand jury.

IS TRUE BILL

Violations of the Mann white slave act; Carl Osterling, $2500; Arthur James Mansfield, $1000; Alex Cooper, $2000.

Violation federal motor vehicle law: George Watson, alias George N. Fisher, $2000.

Larceny on Klamath Indian reservation: Martha Schonchin, alias Martha Baker, $500; Jane Beal, $500; Jess Schonchin, $500.

Violation of national prohibition law: Jane Doe Bocci, 464 East Ninth street, $500.

Indian, liquor in possession, Edward Coppfield, $500.

Violation of Harrison narcotic act: Stanley Chin, Mary Bong, Ah Lung, Frank Lee, $1000 each; Men Gong of Pendleton, $1500; Wong Ping, Wong Duck, Sid Long, Buck Chapin, Arthur Van, E. C. McKean and Art Rhinehart, $500 each.

PORT BILL PLEDGE FOR HOME RULE

Sponsors of Proposed Measure Bind Themselves to Submit Port District Bonds to Direct Vote; Plan Only Channel Work.

With almost complete recession from their former position the majority of the port and dock commissioners this morning placed their signatures to a formal pledge which became of record in the offices of the port and dock commission, not to exercise, aside from channel work, the colossal grant of powers contained in the so-called Swan Island or port consolidation scheme on the November ballot unless the people of the port district by direct vote authorize land purchases and dock construction.

It had been generally recognized that the home-rule violation embodied in the measure as it stands would result in its defeat without such a pledge.

PLEDGE IS MADE

The pledge binds the port officials named in the bill, in the event that the bill carries—

1. Not to issue any bonds for purchase of Guddis lake and Macks bottom lands without a direct approving vote by the people of the Port of Portland district.
2. Not to issue any bonds for the construction of docks, piers, elevators or any other ocean or rail terminal superstructures without direct approving vote of the people of the Port of Portland district.

To ask the legislature at its coming session for legislation giving the people of the port district power to vote upon these and other subjects involving the exercise of the fundamental home-rule privilege.

4. To issue from the $18,500,000 bonding power embodied in the port measure only such amount of bonds as are absolutely needed, in concert with the government, in establishing a 30-foot channel 500 feet wide from

(Concluded on Page Eighteen, Column Three)

THREE INDICTED IN BANK WRECK CASE

Medford, Oct. 28.—The grand jury Thursday returned several indictments as a result of its investigation into the defunct bank of Jacksonville.

William H. Johnson, president of the bank, who has been in jail since its failure under bond of $50,000, was indicted on three charges of receiving money in a bank known to be insolvent.

Miss Myrtle Blakely, county treasurer, was indicted twice on charges of malfeasance in office and aiding and abetting a bank in making false statements.

R. D. Hines of Medford, a former automobile merchant and vice president of the bank, a half-brother of President Johnson, faces seven indictments charging receipt of money in an insolvent bank and making false statements. He was taken into custody at once and placed in the county jail at Jacksonville. The jury will resume its investigation into the bank's affairs when it reconvenes on November 9.

County Treasurer Blakely was immediately arraigned before Judge F. M. Callahan, pleaded not guilty and was released on her own recognizance.

Hines will enter his plea Saturday. His bail was fixed at $10,000.

Miss Brainerd Will Accept Extradition; Starts West Friday

New York, Oct. 28.—(U. P.)—Miss Betty Brainerd will be surrendered to Washington state authorities tomorrow and taken to that state for trial on charges of kidnapping the 2-year-old son of George T. Stage.

Miss Brainerd's attorney, Isadore Kresel, announced today no effort will be made to fight extradition here. He will produce the young woman at 3.30 p. m. tomorrow at the district attorney's office, he said, and she will start the return trip to Washington at 7.30 tomorrow night.

Local Recruiting Leads U. S. Record

The army recruiting office in Portland in charge of Colonel G. W. S. Stevens is leading all others in the nation this month in percentage increase of recruits, according to a telegram received from Adjutant General Harris at Washington, during September the local office enlisted 187 men. So far this month it has enlisted 177.

U. S. Will Keep Faith, Cox Says; Senate's Vote Plot Sundered

By James M. Cox
(Democratic Candidate for President)
(Written for the United Press)
(Copyright, 1920, by the United Press)
Dayton, Ohio, Oct. 28.—(U. P.)—It is because of my travels through 35 of 48 states that I am confident the cause of peace, progress and prosperity for America and the whole world will win a victory on next Tuesday.

Every since I accepted the nomination August 7 I have been visiting the cities, towns and villages of the country. I have presented my case in person direct to the great American jury—the American people—who have never failed to uphold the honor of the nation.

NATION'S HONOR AT STAKE

It has been a great fight with the forces of reaction in both national and world affairs seeking to block us at every turn; but it has been won. The people understand the issue. It is whether the United States shall be a nation of honor and enter the League of Nations—the most humanitarian enterprise of the centuries—or whether she shall be a nation of repudiators and break the faith with the 81,000 American boys who sleep in soldier graves, their families, their 9,000,000 comrades-in-arms and the millions of Europeans who made sacrifices, all of whom were given the pledge that we were fighting this war to make future wars impossible.

SENATORIAL PLOT FAILS

The senatorial campaign of misrepresentation of the league in the hope of winning the election has failed. Everywhere I traveled I found deep resentment against the nation-wide effort to deceive the American people as to the great issue of the campaign. As soon as the people were told the truth about the league the tide in its favor began to come in. We noticed that this reaction had set in before we left the Pacific coast about the middle of September.

Within the last few weeks this sentiment has swept over the country like a great storm, driving the senatorial conspirators to cover. From the Atlantic to the Pacific a patriotic and religious fervor similar to that which made possible the winning of the war, has aroused the people to the great interests involved in this campaign. It sweeps on with greater momentum each day.

SOUL OF AMERICA AROUSED

The soul of America has been aroused. People are allowing God, not the senate oligarchy, to talk to them and they realize that the chance is theirs to usher in a new day in the affairs of the world which will insure peace, happiness and prosperity not only for the United States, but for all peoples.

HOME STATE BOWS IN HOMAGE TO COX

Dayton, Ohio, Oct. 28.—(I. N. S.)—Governor James M. Cox, Democratic presidential candidate, left for Indianapolis today where he plans to deliver tonight a fervid exhortation in behalf of the League of Nations, in hope of changing what is declared to be the Democratic drift there into a Cox victory.

The governor was jubilant over his whirlwind "welcome home" here, and although rather tired today from his arduous campaigning, he did not plan to spare himself in the least in the windup of the campaign.

RECEPTION UNPARALLELED

Dayton's reception to the governor was declared by old residents to have surpassed any reception ever given to any American here.

"Dayton bankers will be calling in their loans within eight months unless the United States goes into the league," was the sentiment of the day. Both the city and the state are in a panic of the Democratic cause was defeated.

"My friends," said the governor, "this covenant of the league is based upon the idea that civilization has had its lesson upon war, and this covenant is simply a bet on the morality of the world. Isn't it?"

(Concluded on Page Eighteen, Column Four)

Walter J. Burns, resident partner of Balfour, Guthrie & Co., fears the Swan Island or port consolidation measure on the November ballot because of the cost involved. As the resident head of a firm that brings many ships to the harbor and that is a very large factor in the cargo movement of the port, he cannot see timeliness in the measure as a whole. He said:

"While the scheme is attractive and has merit, the time for it does not seem to be opportune."

POWER TRUSTS OUT TO CRUSH CHAMBERLAIN

California Electric Interests Infuriated by Oregon Senator's Interference With Their Plan to Grab Klamath Waters.

Why has Montaville Flowers, the specially imported spellbinder for R. N. Stanford, been sent into Oregon to persuade Oregon voters to defeat Senator George E. Chamberlain? What is the California-Oregon Power company?

These two pertinent questions disclose a startling story, appalling in the night it throws upon the grip which powerful financial interests are attempting to fasten upon Oregon politics and Oregon's official representatives. Its relation tells why, after Chamberlain had stopped the California-Oregon Power company from inundating from 15,000 to 20,000 acres of immensely fertile tillable land about the borders of Klamath lake—land which had been thrown open to entry and settlement with preferential rights granted to veterans of the world war—Montaville Flowers was transferred from Oklahoma to Oregon to aid in the defeat of Chamberlain.

HUGE COMBINE EFFECTED

The California-Oregon Power company was organized in January, 1912, through the consolidation of 22 small companies operating in Southern Oregon and in Northern California. J. W. Churchill of Yreka, Cal., was elected president and Alex J. Roseborough secretary and general manager. In January, 1912, Joseph D. Grant of San Francisco was elected president and J. D. McKee of San Francisco first vice president and practical head of the corporation.

In September, 1916, Alex Roseborough is said to have informed his Oregon associates that he was soon to be sent back to Washington to see his lifelong friend, Franklin K. Lane, from whom he hoped to secure a permit to construct a regulating dam at the foot of upper Klamath lake; this dam to be installed for the purpose of regulating the flow of the Klamath river for the benefit of the electric plant which the California-Oregon Power company was then installing at Copco, about 20 miles up the Klamath river from the Southern Pacific crossing at Grants, Oreg.

(Concluded on Page Two, Column Four)

(Concluded on Page Two, Column Four)

(Concluded on Page Two, Column Four)

(Concluded on Page Two, Column Four)

(Concluded on Page Two, Column Four)

(Concluded on Page Two, Column Four)

(Concluded on Page Two, Column Four)

<