

SWIFT'S GRIP WOULD REACH INTO SENATE

Exposed and Spurned by Senator Chamberlain, Packers' Tactics Would Fasten Themselves on People Through Stanfield.

By Ralph Watson Louis F. Swift, president of Swift & Co., attempted to influence the vote of United States Senator George F. Chamberlain in favor of Swift & Co. and the "Big Five" meat packing combine and against the Kenyon bill to regulate the packing interests when that bill was pending before the senate.

Senator Chamberlain resented the effort of Swift and the packing interests of the country to control his vote and the votes of the other members of the United States senate. He told Louis F. Swift in a letter in which he advised Swift to "devote less time to writing letters of explanation and apology and devote more time to remedying the evil practices of your concern which have more than once been pointed out by public investigation and otherwise."

Swift & Co. do want Robert N. Stanfield in the United States senate. They are working for his election. He is their associate in business, Stanfield and Louis F. Swift are both stockholders, and Stanfield is a director in the Columbia Trust Co., which is controlled by Swift & Co.

Public Eating Less; Lunch Brought in Bag; Latter Advances

By Hyman H. Cohen "Is the public on a hunger strike?" asks a prominent restaurant man. "The people have evidently cut out a meal or two a day," reports a leading foodstuff dealer.

The restaurant tables have an occasional vacant appearance. "Have the workers stopped eating regularly?" asks a proprietor.

The answer is given by several office workers and laborers. They are simply taking their lunch from the home supply. The paper bag for them has for the time being taken the place of the cafeteria.

DASHBOARD SIGN ATTACK RENEWED

Salem, Oct. 29.—That the type of signs now in use by the Portland Railway, Light & Power company for designating the routings and destinations of the various cars are more or less illegible and inadequate for the present day needs of the city of Portland, was the complaint made in a letter written here today by Fred G. Buchtel, chairman of the Oregon public service commission, and addressed to Franklin T. Griffith, president of the traction corporation.

BIG POLITICAL MACHINES IN WRECKAGE

By George White (Chairman Democratic National Committee.) (Written for the United Press.) (Copyright, 1920 by the United Press.)

New York, Oct. 29.—We began this fight well underneath. For two years the Republican party had slowly poisoned the country against the eight years of the present administration, the greatest legislative record in America's history, crowned by the amazing triumph of our war machine.

An astute politician, Mr. Hays has been furnished with limitless funds with which to build an organization and to spread propaganda against the Democrats. The country was emerging from the unusual conditions of the war. Taxes were heavy and the thinking blamed the party in power for their burdens.

PEOPLE BEGIN TO AWAKEN Under these handicaps we began, after the nomination of Governor Cox and Mr. Roosevelt, to try to awaken the American people to the issues and to attempt to bring them back to a realization of the facts about the issues. Deliberately a group of senators had nominated at Chicago a colorless candidate whose very lack of conviction they were sure would provide a channel for all the conflicting Republican elements to flow through into victory. Liberally their platform had been phrased to straddle on the League of Nations.

DEMAGOGUE BECLUDS FACTS Few had read the covenant; the demagogic article X and the "six votes to England" had been persistently indulged in, and a large portion of the less reputable Republican newspapers delayed to permit us a forum for discussion.

Tumulty Breaks Long Silence to Tell of Wilson And Martyrdom

By John Gleissner United News Staff Correspondent. Washington, Oct. 29.—Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson, speaking Thursday night at a mass meeting in Bethesda, Maryland, a suburb of the capital, abandoned the reticence that has characterized his discussions of the president for eight years, and drew an intimate picture of the man Wilson.

Tumulty declared the president has been strangely misunderstood by some and violently misrepresented by others. He described the president as intensely human, shy by nature, a lonely man longing for the love of his fellow men, and saddened because he does not know how to obtain it.

FAITHFUL 10 YEARS "I have long wanted to tell the country of the man of whom my friend Woodrow Wilson really is, but have refrained because I knew that he himself would not approve," said Tumulty. "He who struck war self-exploitation would resent exploitation by his friends."

FINDS GENIUS LONELY "A journalist had written him up and we wanted him to do one of the little stunts the public dearly loves to read about," said the secretary. "He said to me: 'You must realize that I am not built for these things. I do not want to be displayed before the public. If I tried to do it I would do it badly. I want the people to love me but they never will.'"

RELIGIOUS' LIE NAILED BY WHITE

By George White (Chairman Democratic National Committee.) (Written Expressly for the International News Service.) New York, Oct. 29.—(I. N. S.)—One of the most reprehensible tactics employed against us by the Republicans in this campaign has been the appeal to religious feeling.

WEST, SOUTH AND EAST MAY SWEEP COX IN

By David Lawrence (Copyright, 1920.) [This is the first of a series of three articles forecasting the trend of next Tuesday's electoral vote for president and analyzing the situation in three-fourths of the states of the union, all visited by the writer during the last two months.]

Washington, Oct. 29.—The coalition of the West and South which gave Woodrow Wilson his victory in 1916 was a new combination of electoral votes. Previously the big Eastern states—New York, New Jersey, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois, together with New England, were sufficient to tell everybody on election night that the race was over.

SENATOR HARDING PICKED "Senator Harding has been picked by most everybody to win, chiefly because of the traditional habit of America to change administrations every few years. But the Democrats have managed to force the League of Nations to the front as an issue with remarkable success in the last few days, and any calculations made by the writer or anybody else as early as October 1 are necessarily subject to revision at the last moment."

WOODROW WILSON IN 1920

"I DON'T believe in his heart President Wilson regrets his wounds. I fancy he realizes no man could die in a greater cause, but I do sometimes wonder if it ever seems to him strange that when a man has been seriously wounded in his country's service he should be met with sneers and calumnies from his countrymen."—Secretary Tumulty.

DISTORTION IN FULL SWING, DECLARES COX

Candidate Finds All Issues Big and Little, and Even Nation's Chief, Who Gave Strength for Peace, Falsified by Opponents.

En Route With Governor Cox, Youngstown, Ohio, Oct. 29.—(U. P.)—A sharp attack on Senator Harding's appeal at Akron last night for a Republican congress was made here today by Governor James M. Cox in speeches before audiences that packed the city's two largest auditoriums.

SENATOR HARDING MAKING A purely partisan campaign, Cox said. "I am not. If I lived in a state where a Republican candidate was for the League of Nations and a Democratic candidate against it, I would vote against the Democrat and make speeches against him."

En Route With Governor Cox, Youngstown, Ohio, Oct. 29.—(I. N. S.)—Governor Cox met the Republicans on their own ground today when he undertook to combat their insistence that the people want a change.
