

Junior League's Charity Ball Is Brilliant Affair

SEVERAL hundreds of the city's foremost families were represented at the charity ball given by the Junior League Tuesday evening at the Multnomah hotel. The affair was well attended and the event was happily reminiscent of the pre-war days when functions of a pretentious character were given for the diversion of the pleasure bent at frequent intervals. This dance, however, was the first large affair of a public character given in the city under the auspices of the league for several years and the revival of the old time program of the charity ball with its attendant festivities was welcomed with enthusiasm.

The charity ball was given to provide funds for the establishment of a home for employed young women of moderate means. It is the plan of the league members to make the ball an annual event and to bend all future efforts toward the building and maintenance of such a home. The receipts from this first function were most gratifying, and a sum of more than $1200 was realized.

Proceeding the dance numerous dinners were given at the homes of popular hostesses. A "no host" party at the University club which included a group of the younger married folk was a delightful affair. A progressive dinner which included Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Cobbe, Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy E. Fields, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sherman O'Gorman, Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose R. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nicofti and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley C. E. Smith.

Other parties were given by Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott R. Corbett, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton F. Corbett, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sloane Barnes entertained a party of eight guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip L. Hunt and Miss Katharine Hart were dinner hosts; Miss Genevieve Butterfield had a dinner party of 14 covers preceding the affair and other hostesses were Miss Jean Skene, Miss Dorothy Ferris and several others.

The occasion provided an opportunity for the display of jewels not worn publicly for many moons and gowns of the women guests offered a gorgeous array of the latest modes and fabrics.

Among the handsomely gowned women at the ball were Mrs. Alfred P. Smith, who wore black panne velvet and severe lines; Mrs. Arthur Brown in white satin and embroidered tulle; Mrs. Fred A. ### Popularity Is Enthroned at Laurelhurst

SINCE the remodeling of Laurelhurst club, which enlarges the dancing space, the clubhouse has been dark scarcely an evening. The organization has increased its membership and is fast taking its place as one of the delightful social centers of the city. The fortnightly card party was held at the club Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Christensen hosts. The attendance was good and honors in bridge fell to Mrs. L. Pennes and Fred Dese, and in "500" to Mrs. W. W. Graves and W. B. Harness.

During last week First National bank employees gave a dance at the clubhouse and employees of the Pacific States Electric company also entertained Friday evening.

Tramp Census at Reed College Is Most Astounding

REED college took a census of tramps, vagabonds and miscellaneous wretches last night at the freshman hard times party and discovered the astounding fact that the census included every student and faculty member. The freshman Halloween party brought out 200 hilarious ruffians, and the evening proved one of the happiest of the Reed social year. The freshman committee in charge of the affair, which was held in the gymnasium, were: Herman Ekin, music; John Piper, floor; Dorothy Stahl, advertising; Rachel Cronquist, refreshments, and Anne Roberts.

The gymnasium was decorated with appropriate symbols of the season. Cornstalks, jack-o'-lanterns and autumn leaves were liberally scattered about.

Smart Tea Given On Saturday by Miss Glutsch

MISS GERTRUDE DRUCK GLUTSCH was a delightful hostess at a smart tea on Saturday, at the attractive home of her mother in Laurelhurst. The rooms were artistic with autumn leaves and marigolds, the color scheme of orange and yellow being harmoniously carried out. Miss Dorothy Robertson sang during the afternoon. Mrs. Hillie Ireland and Mrs. Nellie Glutsch received with the hostess. Miss Gladys Cronkhite and Miss Theima McBean assisted about the rooms and in serving.

Dancers Enjoy Halloween; Pierrots Host

THE Pierrots entertained with a Halloween dancing party at the spacious home of Miss Jessie Hurlt, in Laurelhurst, Friday evening. The house was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves, pumpkins, cornstalks and other features appropriate to Halloween. Favors were given during the evening, which added to the festivities. An elaborate supper was served at the close of the dancing. Music was furnished by Harold McCracken and Claude Halten. Patrons and patronesses were: Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Hurlt, Mr. and Mrs. William Ingold and Mr. and Mrs. John Ingold.
