More Helpers to Sell Nursery Tags Are Sought

By Vella Winer

DURING the past month 150 of the leading women's organizations of the city, with a membership representing thousands of women, have heard the message of the Albertina Kerr Nursery home on behalf of the homeless, nameless and abandoned babies. The effort to secure workers for raising the necessary $25,000 for the completion of the home has met with splendid success, although more workers could be used in these latter days of the campaign, which will close with a big tag day Saturday. To sell tags 500 women will be needed and anyone who will volunteer for this service may call the manager of the campaign, Frank H. Hilton, at Broadway 5153 or Broadway 5254.

The Parent-Teacher associations of the city will go into the field Monday with a big corps of workers, according to Mr. Hilton's statement.

"We have been assured by Mrs. J. F. Hill, president of the Parent-Teacher association," said Mr. Hilton, "that their numerous local units throughout the city will engage actively in the drive and will take the field Monday. The significance of this support has given new seal to the general campaign staff."

When receipts were audited Thursday night the total for four days' solicitation stood at $6500, or less than half the amount that must be raised by general subscription. The goal of the campaign is set at $25,000, the amount required to complete the home. Those in charge of the drive estimate that at least $15,000 must be raised by general subscription before November 6, when an attempt will be made to complete the fund by tag sales.

Particularly active in the campaign have been Mrs. R. E. Bondurant, campaign chairman; Mrs. R. L. Russell, Mrs. R. W. Childs, captain of the wives of Creators' team; Mrs. Charles Runyon and Mrs. A. M. Dibble, covering the banking district; Mrs. C. O. Richards and Mrs. W. T. Jacobson, who raised $300 in a partial canvass of the Yeon building, and many others.

The annual collection and distribution of garments by the Portland branch of the Needlework Guild of America was held last week. More than 3000 new garments were turned over to the guild by the various sections, and these have been distributed among the various institutions of the city. The annual meeting of the guild will be held next month, when plans will be made for the organization of additional chapters throughout the state.

A delightful evening was spent on Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Sedgewick by the members of the Ardenwald Sunshine club and their husbands, to celebrate All Hallows' evening. Cards, music and games were indulged in and enjoyed to the utmost. At the conclusion of the evening a sumptuous repast was served.

The monthly meeting of the Social Workers' association of Oregon will be held Friday, November 5, at 8 p. m. at B'nai B'rith building. Dr. Parsons, head of the school of social work of the University of Oregon, will speak on "Coordination and Social Work."

The State Woman's Press club will meet Wednesday evening at 7:30 in Central library. Mrs. Helen Miller Smith will read some verses written by an Oregon girl. The meeting is open to anyone interested.

MRS. J. H. GOLDSTAUB, one of Portland's most zealous workers for philanthropic causes, who is devoting much time now to the promotion of the campaign to raise funds to complete the Albertina Kerr Nursery Home.

Multnomah Is Entertained by Musical Program

THE home of Mrs. Warren E. Thomas was the scene of a delightful musical Wednesday afternoon, the occasion being a meeting of Multnomah chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. W. K. Royal gave an illuminating talk on the work of the Shafter school of Cleveland, Ohio. Mrs. W. S. Kirkpatrick presented the campaign of the Albertina Kerr nursery home.

For the program hour, the hostess had arranged a charming musicale, which was much enjoyed. Each singer was enthusiastically received by the 60 members present and, on insistent demand, each responded to encores. The singers were: Alice Price Moore, contralto, and Otto Wedemeyer, baritone, with Mrs. Thomas as accompanist. The full program was: "Boat Song" (Harriet Ware), "With You" (Nutting), "In the Wood" (Halle), "Good Morning, Brother Sunshine" (Lehmann), Alice Price Moore.

"I've Been Roaming" (Horn), "Ye Banks and Braes" (Mrs. H. H. A. Beach), "One Fine Day" from "Madame Butterfly" (Puccini), Blanch Williams Segersten, "Come Raggle di Rag" (Caldara), "The Violet" (Mozart), "The Blind Ploughman" (Clarke), Otto Wedemeyer; duet, "Trot Here, Trot There" (Messager), Mrs. Segersten and Mr. Wedemeyer.

After the program, a social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. John Pearson presided at the tea and pink chrysanthemums were used in the decorations.

The Portland Federation of Women's Organizations is doing a splendid piece of educational work through its home industries committee, of which Mrs. D. M. Watson is chairman. Monthly visits are made by members of the federation to various manufacturing plants of the city, where without exception greatest courtesy is extended and the entire plant viewed in company with one of the managers, who explains all workings of the institution. The last visit was made last Wednesday to the plant of the Stearns-Hollingshead company, where various chemical preparations are made, also fruit candies. Liberal samples were given the visitors as souvenirs.

The woman's gymnasium class of the Kerns school will meet Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Christmas Seals To Be Event of Next December

THE annual crusade of the double-barred Christmas seal against the scourge of tuberculosis will be a state and national event during December and already the Oregon association, under the direction of its executive secretary, Mrs. Saldie Orr-Dunbar, is organizing in a comprehensive manner looking toward the largest and most successful seal in the history of the state.

Mrs. Dunbar spent Friday and Saturday in Eugene, where she met with the same generous response that has always characterized the work of Lane county. On Wednesday she was in Hillsboro and on Monday in Corvallis. She recently paid a visit to The Dalles, where she addressed the Sorosis club, which organization later decided to assume the seals sale for the entire county of Wasco.

Robert W. Osborn, state seal director, left early last week for a three weeks' trip through the Willamette valley and Southern Oregon and word received from him is most encouraging. Many of the largest organizations of the state are interesting themselves in the sale. In the following 11 counties, where there are public health associations, the sale will be conducted by them: Jackson, Coos, Lane, Washington, Clackamas, Hood River, Lane, Harney, Curry, Multnomah and Washington.

Four and a half million of the little seals have been received for the Oregon sale, the slogan of which is "Seal your mail with the stamp of health—buy Christmas seals and fight tuberculosis."

With an attendance of 72 business women at the noon luncheon held in the social hall of the Y. W. C. A. Thursday, the Business Women's club gave an enthusiastic welcome to Mayor Baker, who addressed the club. His plea for the 2-mill tax measure was supported by applause and by a few words from Mrs. Finkel, superintendent of the Women's Protective division of the city. James B. Ketter, state seal director, gave a 10-minute talk on the measure for the consolidation of the Port of Portland and the dock commission. Mrs. Glendora Thompson acted as chairman in the absence of Mrs. McKnight. Mrs. Ocean Jolly acted as hostess. The luncheon in the association hall are proving a marked success, this room moving the much needed seal sale.

Next Thursday, Rev. Harold Leonard Brown will speak on the subject of "Aunt Hannah and the Telescope," with Miss Cora E. York as hostess.

The Ladies' Aid of the M. E. church gave a community banquet Friday evening, October 22, in the church parlors, 135 persons attending. After the banquet, B. W. Arnold voiced the sentiments of the church members in an earnest and appreciative address of welcome to the pastor, Rev. L. C. Poor, in his fifth year with this church. Rev. Fields, pastor of Mt. Tabor M. E. church, also gave an interesting address. Rev. Poor replied in an earnest and feeling manner. Before and after the banquet, Mrs. Poor ably conducted community singing in the auditorium of the church. The Ladies' Aid has recently adopted what is known as the "Calendar" plan, and is doing real community work under the efficient leadership of Mrs. H. C. Clisby, the new president. A social hour will be given the last Friday evening of each month, where one can become really acquainted with his next door neighbor.

The current literature department of the Portland Woman's club held one of its enjoyable sessions Thursday at the home of Mrs. A. B. Manley, assistant hostesses being Mrs. P. J. Bannon, Mrs. Leander Martin, Mrs. Harry L. Torrence, Henry Richardson and Mrs. Virgil McKel. Following the luncheon there was a short business session. The next meeting of the department will be held at the home of Mrs. D. M. Watson. Mrs. H. J. Huckle delighted everyone with her beautiful voice, singing first a sacred number, "Open the Gates," and following with two love ballads. Mrs. Sarah Evans reviewed Dr. Esther Pohl Lovejoy's book, "The House of the Good Shepherd."

At a meeting of the Catholic Women's league on Tuesday last plans were discussed for providing temporary shelter for girls and women without funds coming to the city to seek employment. The league has also several other philanthropic objects in view, and to help raise funds to assist in this work will give a card party on the afternoon of Tuesday, the place to be announced later. All interested in this good work are urged to attend.

The Coterie will meet at 11 a. m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Harriet Buswell, 69 North Twenty-third street. Mrs. Glenn E. Husted will speak on "Mexican Industries and Foreigners in Mexico." Map discussion will be led by Mrs. G. A. Nichols, and Mrs. G. S. Alexander will sing.

The Woman's Missionary society of Piedmont Community rebyterian church will hold its annual praise service and silver tea Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the church parlors. An invitation is extended to all friends of the church. There will be special music and an interesting speaker.

The Mayflower club will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the blue room of the Hotel Portland. The president, Mrs. Han Jackson Banghart, requests a full attendance of members. An important business matters will come up for discussion.

The Ardenwald Sunshine club met with Mrs. T. E. Sedgewick on Thursday afternoon and spent a very enjoyable time in reading, sewing and music. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. O. Hertzoog.

The Portland Progress club will meet Thursday at 2:30 p. m. with Mrs. H. H. Holmes, 255 North Twenty-second street.

Birds Essential To Farmers and Not His Enemies

WILLARD A. ELLIOT, vice president of the Oregon Audubon society, gave a talk at the Friday luncheon of the Women's Advertising club on "Birds and Crops" that showed the utter fallacy of the theory that birds are the enemies of the farmer. He presented statistics to show their value and the fact that without birds there would be no crops. Mr. Elliot served in the lecture department of the Y. W. C. A. in France during the war, sharing honors and interest with Mr. Elliot, J. G. Curry, rose expert, told of the great national demand for roses and the inability of growers to fill this need, and by actual demonstration showed the proper methods of pruning roses and cutting slips.

Mrs. Helen Campbell Jesselson appointed Miss Hallie Garrigus as the new program chairman. Mrs. Celeste Harris was unanimously requested to continue to act in her present capacity as editor of the club paper, Ad-Fax. New members are Ona Hollingsworth, with Phil Grossmayer & Co.; Marie C. Dooley and Mabelle F. Holmes, musicians; Kathleen Cockburn of the Portland Community Service, and Betty Rising, with Norman Bros.

The Women's Advertising club has been invited to be present at the dinner dance of the Chamber of Commerce on the evening of the election, November 2.

The Portland Woman's Social Science club met Thursday afternoon in Central library. An excellent program was given. W. P. La Roche gave an interesting explanation of the seven city measures, and Hon. George Fowlds of Auckland, N. Z., gave a talk on civic conditions in New Zealand. Mrs. M. L. T. Hildon spoke on the farm baby home. All were delighted with the musical numbers given by Miss Fietta Wilkins, vocal; Mrs. Frank Hunt, accompanist, and Miss Katherine Sharkey, violin, with Mrs. McPherson, pianist. Mrs. J. H. Cooper presided.

A successful missionary tea was given on Wednesday afternoon by the women of St. Michaels and All Angels church at the home of Mrs. McKnight. Mrs. George W. Perrine presided. Some excellent papers and addresses were given. Mrs. James Muckle, president of the Diocesan branch of the Woman's auxiliary; Mrs. Wilson Johnston and Mrs. W. T. Kerby were present. Mrs. John Archibald sang two solos, accompanied by Mrs. Herman H. Thompson.

A delightful afternoon was spent at cards by members of Chapter M of P. E. O. and their friends at the home of Mrs. John Whitlock, 340 East Twelfth street north, October 23. The proceeds of this party will go to the philanthropic work of the chapter. Music followed. Miss Dorothy Rice played with splendid interpretation Mendelssohn's "Rondo Capriccioso" and MacDowell's "Shadow Dance." Mr. Ten Haaf, who recently moved here from Grand Rapids, Mich.

to enter the music field in Portland, sang several numbers. His rich baritone voice was much enjoyed for its pure, finished tone. He is truly a great acquisition for Portland.

The Monday Musical club will have a luncheon Monday in the grill of the Hotel Portland in honor of members of the Oregon State Music Teachers' association, who will be in the city at that time on their way to Salem to attend the state convention. Miss Fay Rud-ick is in charge of the musical program. There will also be several short addresses. The newly elected president, Mrs. T. J. Leonard, will preside. Mrs. A. W. Claxon, president elected last year, has moved to California.

Chapter E of the P. E. O. Sisterhood will meet with Mrs. W. R. Kirkup, 793 East Madison street, Thursday at 2 p. m. American War Mothers, Portland chapter No. 2, will hold its regular meeting next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in room 525 courthouses. Members are urged to attend this meeting, as matters of importance will be taken up.
