CABINET NAMING TO BE DELICATE TASK FOR HARDING

By Fred S. Ferguson
(United News Staff Correspondent)

New York, Nov. 3.—Two delicate and difficult tasks immediately face President-elect Harding—probably the most difficult from a party standpoint, that have faced any newly elected chief executive in the past 20 years.

The first is the formation of a cabinet that will spell continued party solidarity. The second is the establishment of a program to effect peace.

UPRISINGS LIKELY

There is no doubt that in both tasks Harding faces situations which will call for all of his ability as a peacemaker and compromiser.

On the question of the cabinet, members of what is commonly known as the "progressive" wing of the party are open in their assertions that if Harding surrounds himself entirely by representatives of the so-called "reactionary" group, they will revolt—"not in 1924," as one expressed it, "but now."

In formulating a program for peace, Harding has the John-Borah group of irreconcilables to keep in line. Johnson has openly declared that he has only been observing a "truce" with the party leaders because Harding had met his views as to "scrapping" the League of Nations. If the peace program finally decided upon included entrance into "a" league or "the league" with reservations, a fresh uprising from the irreconcilables may be expected.

NAMING OF ROOT LIKELY

Whether justified or not, it appears to be taken for granted in most quarters that Elihu Root will be named secretary of state by Harding. Such an appointment would be satisfactory to the pro-league element in the party. Root's appointment might be only for the time necessary to dispose of the peace and league question.

The "progressives" are expected to be appealed to by the appointment of Herbert Hoover to a cabinet post—probably as secretary of the interior. Under Hoover, however, the responsibilities of this portfolio will probably be extended so that the post will become that of the head of a "department of public works," through which not only the routine interior affairs of the country will be administered but through which pressing questions of the moment, such as fuel distribution, will be directed.

MAY APPOINT GARRISON

One cabinet appointment which is expected to create a political sensation is forecast in some supposedly well informed circles. This is the appointment of Lindsey M. Garrison, a Democrat, and former secretary of war in the Wilson cabinet, to his old post. Garrison was regarded as an extremely efficient head of the war department. He left the present administration after disagreement with the president. Former President Taft, who was also secretary of war under Roosevelt, is also mentioned as a possibility.

Will Hays, now chairman of the Republican national committee is generally picked as the choice for the post of postmaster general. He is given credit for solidifying the party for the present campaign and as postmaster general would be in a position to carry his work further through judicious recommendations for judicious appointments.

TO CONFER WITH GOMPERS

Former Senator George Sutherland of Utah is consistently forecast as the next attorney general. Sutherland lost his senate seat in 1915.

Former Senator Weeks of Massachusetts is considered the most likely choice for secretary of the navy. Senator Poindexter of Washington is also mentioned for this post.

Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois is forecast for a cabinet appointment, probably as secretary of commerce. Former Congressman Good is mentioned for secretary of the treasury.

In selecting a secretary of labor Harding, it is understood, will confer with President Gompers of the A. F. of L. and other labor leaders.

HOOVER SUGGESTED

Gompers has openly opposed Harding during the campaign and steps toward reassuring labor are promised as one of the first considerations of the Republican president-elect. Herbert Hoover would be highly acceptable to Gompers as head of this department of the government and the former food commissioner is mentioned in connection with this portfolio as well as that of the interior.

For secretary of agriculture, the name of Henry Wallace of Des Moines, publisher of Wallace's Farmer, is prominently mentioned.

Final selection for various posts must naturally await complete election results. In event of the defeat of such "wheelhorses" as Senator Smoot of Utah, Senator Watson and others involved in close fights, they will undoubtedly be taken care of by cabinet or other appointments.

Give him a real good cup of coffee with its delightful fragrance, its smooth, rich taste, and the wholesome invigoration and set-up for the day's work.

Then let him read his newspaper if he wants to. Schilling Coffee is one of the really fine coffees—the money-back one—and it costs just about the same per cup as ordinary coffee.
