"In One Door and Out the Next!"

That's what "Squire" Moore said the first time he attempted to enter a building via a revolving door. As a matter of fact he made three complete revolutions before he discovered that so long as he kept pushing the door "it kept open!"

In one door and out the next is what practically happens to our merchandise.

The new goods come in, through one door, are marked, as is our policy, at the lowest prices possible, and out they go through another, carried away by or delivered to a satisfied customer.

Fair profits and quick turnovers. Never allowing our stocks to rust. Here today and gone tomorrow. That is why this store is always fresh and bright with brand new merchandise.
