

California and Washington State College Aggregation Ready for Coast Grid Classic

Cougars and Bears Tangle At Berkeley

By George Bertz

THEIR teeth sharpened for the season's gridiron classic, the Washington State college Cougars and the California Bears will do battle this afternoon on the Berkeley gridiron. The contest will practically decide the Pacific coast football conference championship. Northwestern football fans favor Pullman to win over the speedy Californians. The Cougars have a strong aggregation and one that is to be greatly feared. It has a powerful offensive and all doubt as to its defensive strength was removed by the manner in which it held the speedy Montana squad in check.

Coach Welch has two complete sets of backfield players in shape for the contest. The players are keyed to a high pitch for the contest and it is expected that it will be after a hard fought contest.

California has a husky aggregation. Coach Smith has his regulars lined up to well balanced scoring machine. The outcome of the contest is being awaited by thousands of football followers all over the coast.

Washington is expected to stage a come-back against Stanford. Although the Sun-Dodgers will have a fight on their hands, Stanford is admittedly the stronger in the kicking department.

SPORT NOTES

THE Columbia Park football team would like to secure a game for Sunday with any 150-pound team in Portland. Albina and Kenworth teams are preferred. Call Columbia 578 after 6:30 p. m. and ask for "Butts" Lind.

The Dalles, Or., Nov. 6.—Arrangements have been completed whereby the Columbia Park football team of Portland will come here next Thursday to meet the local eleven during the Armistice day celebration.

St. Johns has a 125-pound football squad which is idle because of lack of games. The players are out to challenge any 125-pound team in Portland, and they can be reached at Columbia 578.

Hood River, Or., Nov. 6.—Estacada high's football team came here Friday and then went home, but not before they had defeated 22 to 0 by the local high school. Coach Earl Pickett, who formerly of Pendleton, says it is a record score for the Hood River high eleven.

Vancouver, Wash., Nov. 6.—As a result of the 21 to 7 victory over the McMinnville, Or., high, the Vancouver high school is out for the 1920 championship of Washington as well as the Northwest. Griffith, Du Bois and Swan each made touchdowns for Vancouver at McMinnville yesterday.

Fort Worth, Tex., (I. N. S.)—President Morris of the Texas league was advised today that Pat Newman, once crack first baseman of the Cardinals, was to be whose flat fight with John McGriff in Houston was a baseball sensation four years ago, would manage the Beaumont Texas league club next year.

Washington Easy Winner Over 'C' Team

By Earl E. Goodwin

ONE more obstacle was overcome by the Washington high football team in the race for the 1920 championship of the Portland Intercollegiate league when the Columbia university eleven was defeated 21 to 0 on Multnomah field Friday afternoon. The largest crowd that ever witnessed an intercollegiate battle in Oregon was on hand to greet the two combinations and every one of the 483 (official attendance record) spectators was made to feel that the time and money was well spent.

PLAY STEADY GAME

So much depended on the game that the Columbia athletes seemed to play in an over-anxious manner while on the other hand the high schoolers were cool and collected, at times bordering on the mechanical.

There were enough thrills afforded to satisfy the most critical fan and the tackling was hard and ferocious but never so fierce as to be classed under the "unnecessary roughness" rule.

The strong Washington line exhibited some of its power when it looked as though Columbia intended to score and Houston, Stockton, one of the greatest halfbacks of the league, was forced to get his forward passes as well as his punts away rather hurriedly. This made him fizzle several of his kicks, two of them going for 12 and 15 yards.

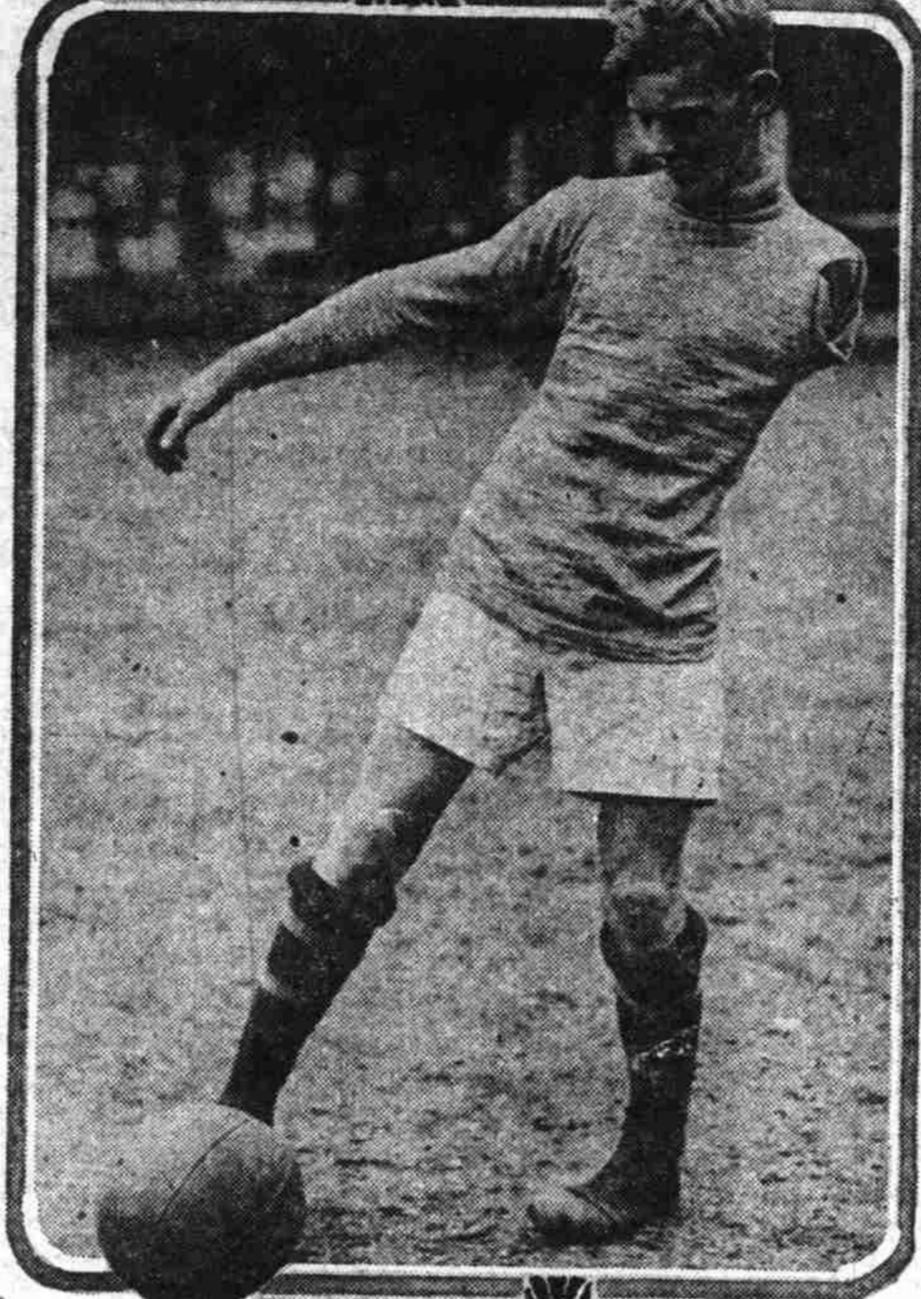

In the first Columbia score came as result of one of Stockton's kicks going out of bounds on his own 12-yard mark.

FRENCH SCORES MARKER

The league leaders scored two touchdowns and as many goal kicks in the second quarter and wound up the day by adding seven more points in the third quarter. Captain Johnny Haak registered the first score when he went the 12 yards on an off tackle buck on the short side of the unbalanced line. Scott kicking goal. Four minutes later, French made a sweeping end run and managed to throw himself across the line after being tackled. Scott again scored.

The collegians held their heavier opponents scoreless in the final stanza. "Dude" Hitchcock was responsible for the final Washington touchdown when he ran back one of Stockton's punts to the Columbia seven-yard line. His signals were called on the next play and he went the rest of the way. Scott made the twenty-first point with ease.

Movie Frills Attend Signing For World's Ring Title Bout

By Westbrook Pegler
United News Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK Nov. 6.—After a great deal of bunk for the benefit of the moving pictures, Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier are now admittedly signed to fight somewhere north of Central America, some time before the Fourth of July, 1921, for 15 rounds to a decision, for more money than Warren G. Harding will collect as president in the next four years.

They were all agreed to this fight about a week ago, but the promoters had to put on their stage stuff in the Claridge hotel with movie cameras purring and lawyers shouting grand speeches about "Messrs. Dempsey and Carpentier." The first time a pair of fighters ever left anyone call them Messrs. in public and get away with it.

GOLD PEN MISSING

It was a prohibition ceremony, without wine or a gold pen for the champion to give away after hitting his fine Italian flipper to the articles of agreement. The only time anyone gave anything away was when they gave Abe Attell the gold pen. Some said Abe was not given the air at all, but just took it, which would sound more plausible; but, anyway, he disappeared from the Claridge lobby just as the ceremony was about to commence, and was not there when the flashlights immortalized the stirring motion picture scene upon the gelatinous plates.

Everybody right surprised to see Attell drift into the lobby, and Tex Rickard almost gulped his cigar.

According to the articles, Dempsey and Carpentier agree to fight to a decision in a bout scheduled for not fewer than 10 nor more than 15 rounds either in March, 1921, or between May 29 and July 4. Dempsey gets $100,000 and 25 per cent of the movie money and Carpentier gets $200,000 and an equal out of the cinema sugar. They must post forfeits of $50,000 each and promoters agree to put up a bond of $100,000 for their responsibility to the fighters.

CUBA OUT OF IT

About a week ago the promoters disseminated a report that this fight had been washed out to Havana, but now they admit that they were only having one of their merry jests. Cuba doesn't get it at all, so far as any definite arrangements go. At that time it was impolite to speak of heavyweight fights as likely to transpire in New York because Governor Smith was running for reelection and there was no sense in sicking the reformers onto him. Now that Smith has been elected, however, the big bout starts from scratch with the New York boxing commission, and if the commission will stand for it on its merits, it will probably be pulled off here. If New York can't have it, then it may go to Canada, Mexico, Cuba or some other American state—Ohio, for instance, or New Jersey, where 12-round no-decision things are the mode.

Five Bouts Arranged on Local Card

MATCHMAKER BOBBY EVANS of the Portland Boxing commission has completed the card for next Wednesday night's smoker in the Hellig theatre.

The card is:

158 pounds—Jimmy Darcy, Portland, vs. "Kid" Palmer, Los Angeles, 10 rounds.

Featherweights—Johnny Fiek, Portland, vs. Jack Davis, Oakland, eight rounds.

Lightweights—George Eagles, San Francisco, vs. Muff Bronson, Portland, six rounds.

Lightweights—Willie St. Clair, San Francisco, vs. Al Grunan, Los Angeles, six rounds.

Lightweights—Frankie Crites, Portland, vs. Roy Sutherland, Los Angeles, four rounds.

This smoker will be the only one to be staged by the Portland commission this month, inability to secure a place to hold bouts upsetting plans for another smoker during the latter part of the month.

Tickets for this smoker will be placed on sale Monday morning at the Hellig theatre.

WASHINGTON TO PLAY STANFORD GRID SQUAD

University of Washington, Seattle, Nov. 6.—With her reputation in the Pacific Coast conference to maintain this season, Washington will play Stanford here tomorrow when the Sun-Dodgers meet the visiting Stanford eleven in Denny field in the second conference game of the year. Washington has broken even on two pre-season games and lost one conference struggle to O. A. C. by a 2 to 0 score. Stanford lost two pre-season games to the University of Southern California and to the local club, the Pacific Flyers, which it downed the University of Oregon last Saturday, 10 to 0.

The teams look as evenly matched as any combination in the 1920 conference could be. Both teams play the same "brand" of football and each boasts of a star punter, Wilson for Washington and Templeton for Stanford. The game tomorrow is expected to be a battle between the two kickers.

The return of Captain Ted Faulk to end after his absence from the last two games is a big boost for the Sun-Dodgers. Coach Albin Kneib, who has led the team quarter back to the left end and other point for the purple and gold, Johnny Wilson, the punter, is the new quarter. Harper, Eckmann and Dailey complete the backfield. Norris is out of the game for the season.

Clark and Ingram are at tackle this week and Glen and Hobi will open the game at guard with Richter sure to replace one of them. Larry Smith is a fixture at center.

Stanford has not announced her lineup although the team worked out on the local field this morning and is ready for the opening game.

Both teams are in the best condition they have reached this year and although Stanford supporters are confident of victory, the Washington team is eager to even up the Seattle standing in the conference and the spirit of the team has not been better this season.

MINOR LEAGUE HEADS ASSEMBLE AT K.C. THIS WEEK

Restoration of Old Drafting Rules Will Be Sought; To Take Steps Against Gambling.

CONSIDERATION of the Leaker baseball commission plan, reestablishment of the old drafting system and steps to prohibit gambling on games will be the main topics of the annual meeting of the National Association of Minor Baseball Leagues at Kansas City Tuesday.

Every minor circuit in the country will be represented by committees of one or more club owners, together with the presidents of various leagues. William McCarthy, president of the Pacific Coast league, Walter H. McCredie of the Portland Beavers, Johnny Powers of Los Angeles, Cal Ewing of Oakland, Charles Graham of San Francisco and Ed Maler of Vernon will represent the meeting of the National Association of Minor Baseball Leagues at Kansas City Tuesday.

A change in the Whitman lineup has been made.

Shepherd has been shifted from his end position to left half in the backfield, while Krumpholtz has been playing quarter in place of Reynolds, Portland man, who played against Idaho last Saturday. Shepherd takes Shelby's place at half, with Dean taking his place on the line. Tilton has clinched his berth at right half, with Captain Garvey at full back. Burkes will start at center, Emigh and Blackman guards, Comrada and Horridge tackles, according to present dope. The ends will probably be played by Holmes and Doan.

Whitman Lineup Is Shifted

Whitman College, Walla Walla, Wash., Nov. 6.—The Whitman football team will play its second home conference game this Saturday when the varsity meets the strong University of Montanaizzlies on the local gridiron. The team is expected to be a battle between the two kickers.

The return of Captain Ted Faulk to end after his absence from the last two games is a big boost for the Sun-Dodgers. Coach Albin Kneib, who has led the team quarter back to the left end and other point for the purple and gold, Johnny Wilson, the punter, is the new quarter. STOCKTON BIG STAR

The work of Bill Hurlbert, as the plunging fullback, was of the highest order when the winners were in need of yardage. Bill almost made a touchdown but after racing for 20 yards he fumbled the ball on the Columbia seven-yard line, Columbia recovering. French kicked goal. Four minutes later, French made a sweeping end run and managed to throw himself across the line after being tackled. Scott again scored.

The collegians held their heavier opponents scoreless in the final stanza. "Dude" Hitchcock was responsible for the final Washington touchdown when he ran back one of Stockton's punts to the Columbia seven-yard line. Ban Johnson Is on the Skids Ultimatum of Owners No Joke

By Jack Velock
International News Sporting Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—A seismograph recorded a severe disturbance in the vicinity of Chicago the other day.

Disturbance in question was caused by one Ban Johnson returning to earth with a loud crash after a sojourn of several years in the upper ether.

Ban came down hard, with all the grace of a stone chimney. He came down so hard, in fact, that he must have been awakened from the silly dream he has been enjoying for a number of years—a dream that he was the one and only high Poo-bah in baseball.

Time was when Ban Johnson's word was respected and obeyed by baseball folk. That time has passed. Ban still has his clique of five club owners, but he has struck the rocks and is sinking. And if the club owners stick with him they will sink also.

The ultimatum handed down by the 11 National and American league club owners is no bluff—and it is not a political plot, as some of Johnson's friends would have the public believe. The men who met in Chicago are sincere in their efforts to clean up baseball and clean it up as soon as possible. One of the first moves, if baseball is to be run smoothly and peacefully, will be the putting of the well-known skids under Bettlin's Ban.

So Johnson, the czar, dreamt on. In his supreme blindness he turned a deaf ear and a sightless eye on rumors of crookedness in his own league when he should have been the first to demand that every rumor be sifted to the bottom. Johnson was, or should have been, in a better position than anyone else in baseball to get the low-down on the situation. He could have saved himself had he taken that course from the first, for his would have been the distinction of unearthing the crooked players and rangers and the magnates would have had to stand with him and behind him.

It's all different now. Johnson is through. He has received the ultimatum—an ultimatum that contains no essence of bluff—and it means he must come down from the lofty perch he picked out some years ago and admit his power is broken.

BUSY TIMES ARE AHEAD OF BALL CLUB MAGNATES

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(I. N. S.)—Whether organized baseball is to have peace or a factional war that may become disastrous is to be decided in Chicago and Kansas City during next week.

The first of a series of meetings will be held here Sunday at noon, when the American league directors gather for a conference with President Ban Johnson. At 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon the National league club owners will meet at the Congress hotel. Monday morning the American league club owners will meet in the office of President Ban Johnson, and Monday noon a joint session of the American and National leagues will get under way at the Congress hotel.

On Tuesday morning the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues (the minors) will convene for its annual meeting at Kansas City. It is thought likely that the American and National league magnates will conclude their deliberations in Chicago in time to get to Kansas City to keep track of what the minors are doing.

The series of meetings will discuss various plans for a reorganization of organized baseball, including the now famous "Lasker plan," and a solution of baseball's present difficulties is expected.

Washington Crews To Take to the Water

University of Washington, Seattle, Nov. 6.—Washington will open her program on the water for the new college year next Monday when the Sun-Dodgers take to their shells on Lake Washington for the first regatta since the regatta here last May, when the local varsity won the Pacific coast championship.

With five veterans of the old first shell in college and a score of candidates of varsity caliber on the squad, Coach Ed Leader is well pleased with the condition of his rowing machine for the 1920-21 season and will keep the shells in training until Christmas with plans to resume the workouts late in February.

The loss of ex-Captain Tony Brandt through graduation will be well regained through the shifting of Captain Charles Legg from No. 7 to the stroke position. Clarence Magnusson, bow, will hold his seat as well as Zeke Clark at No. 5, Swack Nord, No. 6, and Leroy Byrque at No. 2. Russel Nagler, coxswain, is to report also.

McAndless to Turn "Pro."

David McAndless, amateur balking billiard champion, is the third champion in recent years to seek the premier professional laurels and will enter the preliminary tourney at San Francisco, November 15. Calvin Demarest and Joe Meyer, also graduated after their amateur victories.

MAN-O-WAR will be taken to Mr. J. Little's farm at Berlin, Md., and be permitted to romp around for three or four months before being taken to Riddle's 300 acre farm in Kentucky, where he will grace a stud.

Pendleton High Wins From Milton, 46 to 0

Pendleton, Nov. 6.—The fourth consecutive victory this season was chalked up by Pendleton high school, when the locals trounced Milton high school Friday, 46 to 0.

Jens Terguson, captain of the Pendleton eleven, was the individual star, his plunging line smashes and punt returns being responsible for most of the yardage.

In the last quarter, Stendal and Hanley, two backfield men, who were kept out of the game on account of injuries, entered the battle, and Hanley called Stendal around left end for four touchdowns in 10 minutes. A continual stream of second string men were kept going into the game by Coach Dick Hanley of Pendleton.

WORD BATTLE

As the result of the announcement of Ban Johnson's ideas of reorganization of the governing body of baseball, it is expected that the fight against the Leaker plan, although a number of the minor executives have already declared themselves in favor of the Leaker commission.

The minors will probably seek representation on the new commission.

Many club owners favor the restoration of the old drafting rules. It is held that the old system is more profitable to the club owners and players alike than the drafting rules of the past two seasons.

Few players have advanced since the inception of the present drafting rules, while under the old system more than 50 were given trials in leagues of higher classification under the old plan.

Manager Walter McCredie of the Beavers will likely perfect a deal for the disposal of George Maisei, the Portland center fielder. Mac believes that Maisei would be a valuable man to any big league club that needs a right handed hitting outfielder. Maisei ought to be a great lead-off man for any major league club.

BOXING

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(I. N. S.)—Joe Lynch knocked out Abe Goldstein in the eleventh round of a 15-round bout at the Madison Square Garden last night.

George Walsh, veteran of the first round of a scheduled 10-round bout.

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—(U. P.)—Billy McCann of Cleveland got a lucky draw in his fight last night with Frankie Farren at the Dreamland boxing show. Harry Thorpe lost on a foul to Frankie Harvie. Beryo Kruvsky knocked out Jack Morris in the second round and Tereo Vargas won from Harry Scott. Thorpe has been barred from the Bay City bouts by Captain O'Brien of the police.

Sacramento, Cal., Nov. 6.—(U. P.)—Claude Ketchell, San Francisco light weight, came back strong in the fourth round last night and got a shade decision over Johnny Nunes of Oakland. Felix Williamson, San Francisco, won from Phil Garcia, local lad, and Sammy Gordon, Portland, completely outclassed Baby Blue, Marysville.

Coast League Ball Scandal to End Soon

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 6.—(U. P.)—With practically all evidence of importance in its hands, the county grand jury investigating charges that Coast league players were paid to throw games of the 1919 season is expected to finish its inquiry early next week. It was disclosed today by county district attorney's office. It was intimated that the grand jury will make a report Tuesday or Wednesday. Whether Gene Dale, former Salt Lake player, will testify still is uncertain.

Hipp' Vaughn Star In 'Caveman' League

Chicago, Nov. 6.—(I. N. S.)—Not only was Jimmy "Hipp" Vaughn, a winning pitcher for the Chicago Cubs but he also won all his games in the "Caveman" league, according to allegations contained in a suit for divorce brought by Mrs. Edna Vaughn. The couple live at Kenosha, Wis., just north of Chicago.

Mrs. Vaughn charges the star pitcher of the Cubs with "inhuman cruelty" and declares he frequently struck her and threatened to kill her. She asks for separate maintenance and the custody of "Hippo Jr.," their 2 1/2-year-old son. The Vaughns were married in 1916. Vaughn, it is reported, is planning to file a cross bill to his wife's suit.

All matches will start promptly at 2 o'clock.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—(U. P.)—Fred McMullin and Buck Weaver, two White Sox players indicted on charges of conspiring in connection with the alleged throwing of the 1919 world series, surrendered to authorities Friday and gave bond for appearance for trial.

Bond was fixed at $25,000 each. The two baseball players were accompanied by their attorney, Fred Nash, when they appeared at the state attorney's office. Both McMullin and Weaver have denied any connection with the alleged conspiracy.

A football eleven from March field, Riverside, Cal., will tackle an All-Pacific Coast Fleet team at Pasadena, November 14.
