'Old Band Boys' To Hold Reunion On Next Friday

MEMBERS of the old Marine band, which was organized in 1885, will hold a reunion Friday evening at 129 Fourth street at 7 o'clock.

Unique cards announcing a reunion of "Ye Old Band Boys" have been sent to some 30 members of the band, which was absorbed by the First regiment, Oregon National Guard, band under H. Hockenjos as director, and later became a unit of the Second Oregon National Guard during service in the Spanish-American war.

The reunion dinner is an annual event and the committee includes Ralph W. Hoyt, V. Coomer, H. Hockenjos, P. Collins, J. W. Alstock, F. Sieberling and George Fox.

The occasion promises much in reminiscence and in entertainment for those who are present at the dinner, for members are requested to "bring their tin whistles," etc.

A unique Halloween party was given Saturday night by Mrs. W. R. Graddon and Miss Margaret Munroe at the home of the former, 423 Benton street. The house was decorated in yellow and black and the guests wore yellow crepe paper caps that harmonized with the weird Halloween decorations. The evening was spent in dancing and fortune-telling. Light refreshments were served.
