

FUND TO BE ASKED TO SUPPORT GRAIN INSPECTION WORK

Public Service Commission Says Necessity of Competing With Washington Bureau Is Reason.

Salem, Or., Nov. 13.—An appropriation of $20,000 will be asked of the state legislature by the public service commission for the support of the commission's grain inspection departments at Portland and Astoria, according to an estimate submitted to Secretary of State Koser Saturday.

The estimate shows the total needs of the department for the forthcoming biennium to be $138,236, with fees for the two year period estimated at $118,155.58. Under the act creating the grain inspection department it was contemplated that the fees would maintain the department but, as the commission explains in its estimate, competition with the Washington bureau, which is partially supported by appropriation, has made this impossible and the Oregon legislature is asked to make good the estimated deficit.

The commission will also seek an appropriation of $12,880 for the railroad track scale inspection department. The needs of this department for the biennium are estimated at $15,880, with receipts estimated at $2,900. Of the estimated needs $12,000 is included for the purchase of a master track scale. The commission recommends that inspection fees be increased from $20 to $25.

Slight increase in rates is awarded the Calapooia Telephone company of Sutherlin in an order issued by the public service commission here Saturday.

The state banking department is held entirely blameless in the recent failure of the Bank of Jacksonville by the Jackson county grand jury, which has just adjourned, according to word received by Will H. Bennett, state superintendent of banks.

Application for an increase in telephone rates has been filed with the public service commission here by the Multnomah & Clackamas County Telephone company.

State Treasurer Hoff Saturday requested District Attorney Evans of Multnomah county to institute suit against the estate of Anne Donovan to compel the payment of the state inheritance tax, said to approximate $2000. Anne Donovan died in 1909 and the heirs are contesting payment on the ground that the statute of limitations has run against the claim. State Treasurer Hoff contends that the state's claim still stands and is yet collectible. The suit is the first of the kind to be instituted and will test the application of the statute of limitations to a state's claim for tax money which has never been paid. The estate is valued at approximately $70,000.

The state public service commission Saturday instituted an investigation on its own motion into the condition of a grade crossing over the tracks of the Southern Pacific and Oregon Electric railways at Beaverton.

("Admiral") Dewey, Baker coach; Al Lodehl, La Grande coach; Dick Hanley, Pendleton coach, and Leo Shannon, line coach at La Grande. The personnel of the team follows: Tunnelliffe of Baker and Davis of Pendleton, ends; Langrel of La Grande and Goedecke of Pendleton, tackles; Temple and Kramer, both of Pendleton, guards; Lassen of La Grande, center; Myron Hanley of Pendleton, quarterback and captain; Savage of Baker, fullback; Stendal and Terugson, both of Pendleton, halfbacks.

FORMER ATTORNEY FOR GOVERNMENT WINS POST

Rawles Moore

Ashland, Nov. 13.—Rawles Moore of Jackson county enjoys the distinction of being the only Democrat elected on the county ticket. Moore did not edge into the office of district attorney, however, he swept in with more than 300 majority.

For three years he was an attorney for the United States at Washington, D. C. in which capacity he examined county, city, state and practically every other type of municipal or public corporation bond issued under the laws of every state in the Union.

Moore is a Kentuckian, 35 years of age. He lives in Medford, is a director in the Chamber of Commerce, an Elk, and is identified with all progressive moves. He is married and has three children.

SANITARIUM FIGHT IN ROSEBURG GAINS MARKED INTENSITY

Dr. Lovejoy of State Board of Health Takes Hand; Opponents Object Vigorously to Plan.

Roseburg, Nov. 13.—Dr. Esther Pohl Lovejoy of Portland was in Roseburg this week in the interest of the state board of health. The object of her visit here was to block the construction of an institution known as the Winchester sanitarium, located at Winchester, five miles north of this city, and on the Lovejoy farm of 560 acres.

The city council was convened in special session Wednesday evening to hear objections filed by some of the prominent people of the state, as well as some local people.

OBJECTIONS RAISED
The objections are that this institution will be conducted as a tubercular sanitarium and that the most careful methods of sanitation and disposal of sewage will not prevent the waters of the North Umpqua from being contaminated. Another objection was that the institution will draw patients from all parts of the United States, and that many will become paupers and be left for the county and state to take care of. It was cited as a money making institution by Mrs. Saldie Orr Dunbar, secretary of the Oregon State Anti-Tubercular association. She stated that the need is imperative, but that the association will not favor anything like the proposed sanitarium at Winchester.

Attorney H. F. McInturff told the council that the city has the right and power to prevent anything which might contaminate the water supply of the city.

OTHERS DISFAVOR PLAN
Attorney O. P. Coshaw also spoke in disfavor of the institution, as did Attorney George Neuner. The council took until next Monday to consider what action would be taken.

Regarding the activities being taken against the sanitarium the members of the institution express no fear as to the state board of health stopping the erection of the institution, which is now well under way.

Sewage from the institution, they say, will not be dumped into the North Umpqua river. They point out that the sewage and all drainage from hospitals in the city of Roseburg are emptied into the South Umpqua river, five miles above the junction of the North and South Umpqua rivers, and assert that the federal government can close up Roseburg's sewer system should a complaint be made regarding contaminating the water.

Dr. Rulter and his associates have been operating an institution for tubercular patients in Roseburg for the past five years.

Young Judges of Stock to Compete At Portland Show

Oregon City, Nov. 13.—Clackamas county will send a juvenile stock judging team to the Pacific International Livestock show in Portland next week to compete with club teams from all over the Northwest. Norman Parrish, Raymond and Gaylord Montgomery are the trio. The three boys have had much experience in the stock judging work, and it is expected that they will place well. The county team won highest honors at the Western Royal show at Spokane last year, and placed in the contest this year.

Other juvenile club members of the county will have stock on exhibit, and many of the older members of the stock clubs of the county will display and enter the competition.

All Oregon City churches will unite Sunday in a union service at the Presbyterian church in celebration of Armistice Sunday. The services will be held at 3 o'clock, and all local patriotic and military organizations will attend en masse. The pastors of the various churches will participate in the program, and special music will be furnished by an orchestra.

E. E. Gabriel, operating a confectionery store at Center and Center streets, has secured the space in the new Methodist church building adjoining Price Bros. store, and opened a downtown branch of his business.

Poison Set to Rid Malheur County of Pest of Gophers

Ten thousand acres of irrigated land in the Malheur valley between Ontario and Vale have been poisoned for pocket gophers within the month under the direction of Everett E. Horn of the rodent control division of the United States biological survey, says Ira N. Gabrielson. The average cost an acre has been less than 9 cents. The county clerk of Malheur has been financing the project and has just appropriated $500 more to carry out the work. The region must be poisoned twice to rid it of gophers, although 90 per cent were killed in the first campaign. Damage done by gophers is greater than that of any other species of rodent, says Gabrielson. The animals bore big holes in the irrigation ditches and on one farm alone they made seven breaks in the ditch during the summer. In addition they uproot the alfalfa.

DECISION IN LABEREE WILL CONTEST AWAITED

Mrs. Anita Rhodes Laberee

Klamath Falls, Nov. 13.—Friends of Mrs. Anita Rhodes Laberee, whose claim to the estate of the late Oscar G. Laberee, Alaska railroad promoter, is under fire, and of Ben L. Laberee and Gladys Kelly, children of Laberee by his first wife, who are contesting the Laberee will, are awaiting the decision of County Judge Bunnell, before whom the contest was tried. The estate is valued at approximately $100,000, though Laberee at one time was worth many times that sum.

Attorneys for each side anticipate an appeal, no matter what the decision may be.

Fire Causing Loss Of $6000 Attacks Products Company

Starting from an overheated stove in the vat room of the Hood River Valley Products company, Fourteenth and Quimby streets, Saturday afternoon, fire spread over the entire two-story wooden building, causing a damage estimated at $6000.

Captain Day, assistant fire marshal, places the loss on the building at $2000 and the loss on the fixtures at $6000. The plant is owned and operated by W. Margulis. The building is owned by William Holman. The loss is covered by insurance.

Dress Reform Is Given Approval at Co-ed Conference

Pullman, Wash., Nov. 13.—Greater economy and simplicity in dress is the slogan to be preached by the 35 co-ed delegates on their respective campuses, as a result of the intercollegiate women's conference, which closed its sessions here Saturday. The co-eds resolved also to further the cause of clean politics in campus elections and went on record as favoring the honor system of examinations at their respective institutions.

Tilden Again Loses To Billy Johnston

Seattle, Nov. 13.—(U. P.)—William Johnston of San Francisco defeated William K. Tilden of Philadelphia, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, in the last exhibition match which the American Davis cup team will play in the United States before they sail from Vancouver, Monday, for Australia. Johnston and Washburn beat Tilden and Allen, Seattle, 6-4, 6-4, in the doubles.

CHILDREN'S BOOK WEEK

November 15-20

A NATION WIDE recognition of the value of good books in child training. Childhood is the most receptive as well as the most responsive period of life—it is the time to implant right ideals which, in turn, foster a love of the good and true.

Booksellers, Librarians, Scoutmasters, Parent-Teachers' Organizations, etc., are one in asking that parents, uncles, aunts and all who love children devote this week to the consideration of books for them.

A Great Surprise for the Children!

Through the courtesy of Mr. Aage Enna, we will show in one of our Third street windows all of next week, a genuine Children's Theatre—the only one on the Pacific Coast. Hans Christian Andersen's famous play, "The Tin Soldier," will be shown every afternoon. The theatre will be under the personal supervision of Mr. Enna who imported it direct from Denmark. After next week, the play will be produced every Saturday afternoon until Dec. 11 in our Children's Book Room. Let the children see this great novelty.

The Twin Series

"I do wish all foreign children were twins!" said a little girl, lifting a happy face from a volume of Lucy Fitch Perkin's Twin Series, "I just love them!" We have it on reliable authority that a million children or more have been made happy by the doings of the youngsters in the famous Twin Series.

Here is the List—Check the Ones You Want:

A Message From Miss Jessie Hodge Millard, Supervisor Children's Work, Portland Public Library

MUCH time is spent searching for suitable associates for your boys and girls—why not a little time in finding the noble companionship for your children in the world of books? All along the way there is a wealth of good things that should be the child's a rightful heritage. Some books there are that every child should read before he leaves school. Beginning with the picture books and dear old Mother Goose, then Alice in Wonderland, the wonderful Pinocchio, trooping fast comes Perseus, Aladdin and the wonderful lamp, Heidi, the little Swiss girl and Hans Christian Andersen, the king of story tellers; Joan of Arc, Robin Hood, King Arthur, Sir Galahad, Robinson Crusoe and many others—did you ever meet a more delightful or congenial group?

If your children do not know these people, they have many happy hours ahead. The child who lives on intimate terms with such heroes as these cannot fail to be strong and true. What is a good book to buy for a child is a question that comes up many times a year, and these few suggestions will probably serve for the guidance of those who are not familiar with literature suitable for children.

NOTE: Miss Millard will be in our Children's Book Room in person on Monday morning, and Miss Doty, also of the Library, will be there Friday afternoon to help make suggestions for those in doubt.
