

OLD GUARD HELD TO BE IN FULL SENATE CONTROL

Progressive Republicans Are Declared Too Few to Offer Any Opposition to Reactionaries.

Washington, Nov. 13.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL.)—Inspection of the pedigrees and proclivities of new senators elected in the Republican sweep, discourages the idea that the progressive Republicans will have enough members to organize any effective opposition to reactionary plans under the Harding administration. New alignments may readily arise, but on the face of things, Penrose, Lodge and Brandegee will be able to enforce discipline and carry things about as they wish.

The conservative leaders have no anxiety about the house. The majority is so large that everybody would marvel if insurgency made any great headway for some time to come. Their only concern was the senate, where it was feared that the militant progressives, led by Johnson and Borah, plus La Follette and Ladd, the latter the new senator from North Dakota, who may act as free lances, would upset the deal. With a 22 majority in the senate this danger is thought to be removed, for only eight senators are definitely committed in the progressive and free lance group.

MCNARY COUNTED PROGRESSIVE

In addition to La Follette and Ladd, this reckoning includes Johnson of California, Borah of Idaho, Kenyon of Iowa, Capper of Kansas, Norris of Nebraska and McNary of Oregon. These senators, by their past records, are against the kind of reactionary legislation favored by Penrose. In dealing, for example, with taxation questions and the packers. They may have help occasionally from other senators, but against such defections Penrose usually can count a small quota of reactionary Democrats, and thus his hold seems fairly secure.

Cummins of Iowa, McCormick of Illinois and Poindexter of Washington formerly were counted as progressives, but that is no longer true. They have fallen in line in the last few years and are probably about as dependable for Penrose as the old standbys have been. The only danger to the Penrose clique is in another group of senators of independent mind, who do not take orders indiscriminately, such as Townsend of Michigan, Nelson and Kellogg of Minnesota, Hale of Maine and some of the new Westerners, who are to be "broken in" after they appear here.

STANFIELD AMONG RELIABLES

Reports concerning the new senators for the most part indicate that they will play "follow the leader" without much question, with a few possible exceptions. Shortridge of California, Gooding of Idaho, Stanfield of Oregon, Ernst of Kentucky, Nicholson of Colorado and McKinley of Illinois, to name only a few, are counted as reliable for the dominant organizations.

These alignments, of course, have no reference to the League of Nations, on which a different division appears, the most rampant progressives being also the most rampant bitter-enders. On the league question, the irreconcilables have a minimum strength of 24, and a potential strength much greater, with only 23 votes needed to block ratification of any agreement to which they do not subscribe.

SOLDIER BONUS WILL BE FIRST TASK OF CONGRESS

Washington, Nov. 13.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL.)—

Postponed, bonus legislation for soldiers of the late war will be one of the first problems confronting the Republican majority in congress when the session is resumed in December. The house passed a bill just before adjournment in June, but it received no consideration on the senate side.

This presents a real difficulty, because of the expenditure of nearly two billions of dollars involved. Under the house plan it is not proposed to pay all of this sum at once, but if extended over two years the addition of this amount to the budget is a cause for concern at a time when the party coming into power made tax reduction one of its claims for popular support.

HARDING NOT SPECIFIC

President-elect Harding has not expressed himself on the bonus except the most general terms. He has talked about dealing generously with the men who fought the war, but no one has attempted to say that by this he meant the payment of the bonus. He has, on the other hand, been inclined to oppose federal land settlement legislation, which forms a part of the house bill. Strong opposition appeared to that part of the plan in the house, and it was only retained after Western members had exerted themselves to the utmost. The election is believed to have given impetus to the soldier bonus movement. State bonus plans were submitted to the people in several states and they appear everywhere to have carried by enormous majorities.

NEW YORK FAVORS IT

In New York state the majority for it is estimated over 1,000,000, the New York city voters alone approving it by 400,000. The New York law will give each man $10 a month for each year of his military service, and it will include all the men who went to war from New York up to the rank of captain, probably 400,000 in all. Washington also voted affirmatively on the soldier's bonus.

The senate finance committee has the bonus bill at present, and Chairman Penrose will be asked to take it up next week. The committee will decide whether further hearings should be held, the house having held extensive hearings last spring. Penrose is not believed to be enthusiastic about it and the course of the measure will be watched with interest. Penrose is understood to dislike the land settlement feature, and members of the committee have said that the house bill would have to be entirely recast before it can pass the senate.

In the end it seems likely that something in the way of additional compensation for soldiers will be done, but it may be postponed until the next session, and it may be in very different form from the pending bill. Further postponement is expected to meet with vigorous protest from the American Legion and other organizations, but the plea of the leaders is that with all the emergency and emergency matters pressing upon the short session, the time is too short for general legislation involving expenditures of such magnitude.

Arno Dosch Fleuret To Deliver Lecture On Bolshevik Rule

"Russia and the Bolsheviki" will be the subject of an address which has been delivered by Arno Dosch-Fleuret in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian church house, Thirteenth and Alder streets, Friday evening, November 26. The lecture will be under the auspices of the Oregon Historical society, and the proceeds will be used to cover the expenses of erecting a statue of the Oregon pioneer, F. X. Matthieu.

The best of the pioneer was made by the late Roswell Dosch, the speaker's younger brother, who presented it to the Oregon Historical society. It will be cast in bronze and placed upon a base designed by the art students of the University of Oregon. A site for the bust in Portland has not yet been decided upon.

Arno Dosch-Fleuret was in Russia for two years of the revolution. He had a year's experience under the Bolshevik dictatorship, and, except for three months this summer in Ireland, has spent the last four years in Eastern Europe, either in Russia or in the border states.

Emergency Fleet's Employees Gather; Body Is Permanent

Planning to perpetuate the friendship formed in service for the government during the war, employees and ex-employees of the Emergency Fleet corporation gathered Thursday evening at the Automobile club and perfected a permanent organization.

During the war an organization of fleet corporation employees was formed, but this was only for employees. The by-laws were amended to permit permanency of the club and the admission of former employees to the ranks.

An invitation was extended to all employees and 110 answered the call, assembling at the Northwestern National Bank building at 4 o'clock. Luncheon was served at the clubhouse at 6:30 o'clock and the evening was spent in dancing and cards. The future organization will probably have 250 members.

J. W. Hall, chief of the wood ship construction division, was elected president of the meeting, and Ray E. Hillier, chief clerk of the construction and repair department, secretary-treasurer. During the evening talks were made by C. L. Florence, L. J. Wentworth, J. W. Hall and M. E. and C. L. Reed.

Officers Elected By Sons of Eli And Cubs of Tiger

The sons of Eli and the cubs of the Tiger met at a luncheon at the University club Saturday afternoon to receive the returns from the Yale-Princeton game by special wire.

Immediately after the last cheer had rung out the two bodies adjourned for the election of officers. The men of the Yale Alumni Association of Oregon elected Hopkin Jenkins, president; Robert H. Noyes, vice president, and Thornton H. Munger, secretary.

The Princeton Alumni Association of Oregon was organized and elected J. F. Ewing, president; G. M. Uptegrove, vice president; Philip L. Jackson, secretary; P. W. Cookingham, treasurer, and S. R. Winch to act with the others on the board of trustees.

"Royal Friend" to Be Shown at Little Theatre

Due to the inability to secure proper scenery, the four-act drama, "A Royal Friend," will be played at the Little Theatre, Twenty-third and Washington streets, instead of at the Lincoln high school auditorium. The play is to be given by the Drama club Monday night, November 15.

CHIEF FAVORS SUSPENSION OF TWO POLICEMEN

May Recommend Later That Huntington and Russell, Figures in Scandal, Be "Fired."

Chief of Police Leo V. Jenkins will recommend to Mayor Baker that Patrolmen Huntington and Russell be suspended from the police force for 30 days, according to an announcement made last night.

Since both patrolmen come under this provision, the term is limited to 30 days. Official action will not be taken until Monday morning when the recommendation of the chief is forwarded to the mayor.

Under civil service regulations, no patrolman who has been on the force for over six years can be suspended for more than 30 days without the approval of the civil service commission.

Since both patrolmen come under this provision, the term is limited to 30 days. Official action will not be taken until Monday morning when the recommendation of the chief is forwarded to the mayor.

MAYOR WILL ACT

Mayor Baker said last night that he had not received the chief's recommendation yet. He stated that upon receipt of such a recommendation, he will give the two men a hearing and investigate all the evidence in the case. He is required to do this by the civil service regulations. If the chief recommends permanent dismissal and if he finds the evidence in the case warranting such action, he is in a position to act at once.

The men then have the right to appeal his decision to the civil service board. The mayor stated last night that he was out to clean up the town, regardless of rank or position of the victims.

"The higher they are the better," said the mayor. "We have been watching things closely for some time and we are preparing to act."

POLICEMEN MAKE ADMISION

Huntington and Russell are said to have admitted to the police efficiency board, which has been investigating charges against them, that they agreed to pay off "Johnny" Marshall, a stool pigeon in their service, with confiscated whiskey.

The whiskey, which was taken in a raid on the home of William Gilbert and Lewis Emera, was placed in Sergeant Ellis' office at police headquarters. Gilbert and Emera testified that 39 quarts were confiscated. The property clerk in checking over the amount turned in to him found only 15 quarts.

Sergeant Ellis claims that he did not know how much whiskey was taken in the raid or how much was placed in his office after the raid. He says that if there was an understanding that the stool pigeon was to receive his pay in whiskey, he knew nothing of it at all. He testified to all of these facts before the board, according to members at the hearing.
