

CONVENTION OF ICE CREAM MEN TO BE BIG EVENT

Estimated 1000 Delegates Will Attend Meeting Which Opens in The Auditorium Tomorrow.

More than 1000 delegates and their wives will arrive in Portland today and tomorrow to participate in the fifth annual convention of the Pacific Ice Cream Manufacturers' association, which opens tomorrow morning in The Auditorium, continuing for one week.

Business sessions, lectures by food experts, and the exhibition will be open to the general public, as well as to delegates and members of the ice cream trade. A public meeting will be held on Wednesday night, when several noted food experts will talk on milk and ice cream and its relation to public health.

ENTERTAINMENT FEATURES

If the convention which opens tomorrow proves a success, the National Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers will select Portland as its 1921 meeting place, and for this reason the members of the ice cream industry of Portland are doing everything possible to bring success to this convention.

J. E. Dunne, president of the association, will open the session tomorrow and Mayor Baker will welcome the delegates and visitors. The entertainment features include stag dinners, theatre parties for the women attending the convention, dances, banquets and trips on the Columbia river highway. The entertainment is in charge of a committee headed by George W. Weatherly.

O-W. R. & N. Matron At Albina Yards Is Called by Death

Mrs. Georgia C. Blair, for the last three years matron of the men's club house of the O-W. R. & N. company at Albina yards, died Friday at St. Vincent's hospital, at the age of 58 years.

Mrs. Blair was the widow of Edward Blair, who for many years was baggage master of the O-W. R. & N. at the Ash street dock. When he died, Mrs. Blair was placed for a short time in charge of the women's rest room of the company in the Wells-Fargo building, but for the last three years she had been at the Albina club house.

Mrs. Blair was born in Dakota and came to Oregon 23 years ago. She had been ill for about a month but had recovered sufficiently to resume her work until week ago, when she was again taken to the hospital. She resided at 481 East Thirty-seventh street north. She leaves no relatives. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Portland crematorium.

J. P. Blackwell, at the head of Main street in Elma, planted in his garden last spring seven small potatoes in seven hills and this fall dug 105 pounds of potatoes from these hills.

GAME COMMISSION HITS AT TRAFFIC IN BEAVER HIDES

Drastic Campaign Is Undertaken Against Illegal Possessors of Pelts; 125 Pelts Are Seized.

Determined to stamp out the traffic in beaver hides, the state fish and game commission has started a campaign against illegal possessors of beaver pelts through local fur manufacturing houses which promise to be as successful as the campaign which has been carried on this year through Eastern manufacturing houses and the government.

During the first 10 months of this year between 40 and 50 convictions for illegal possession of beaver hides were made in Oregon through the Eastern fur manufacturing houses.

Government game workers have full access to the accounts of large fur houses in the East. In payment for pelts received from Oregon people, checks were sent, countersigned, cashed and returned East. The government workers obtain these signed checks and use them in cooperation with state game commission in obtaining convictions.

Several weeks ago 125 beaver hides were seized at the warehouses of two Portland furriers by E. H. Clark, deputy game warden. These hides represent a total value of over $4000.

Saturday H. Liesbes & Co. paid a fine of $50 following a hearing before Judge Jones. This fine was imposed because the company did not have the hides properly tagged.

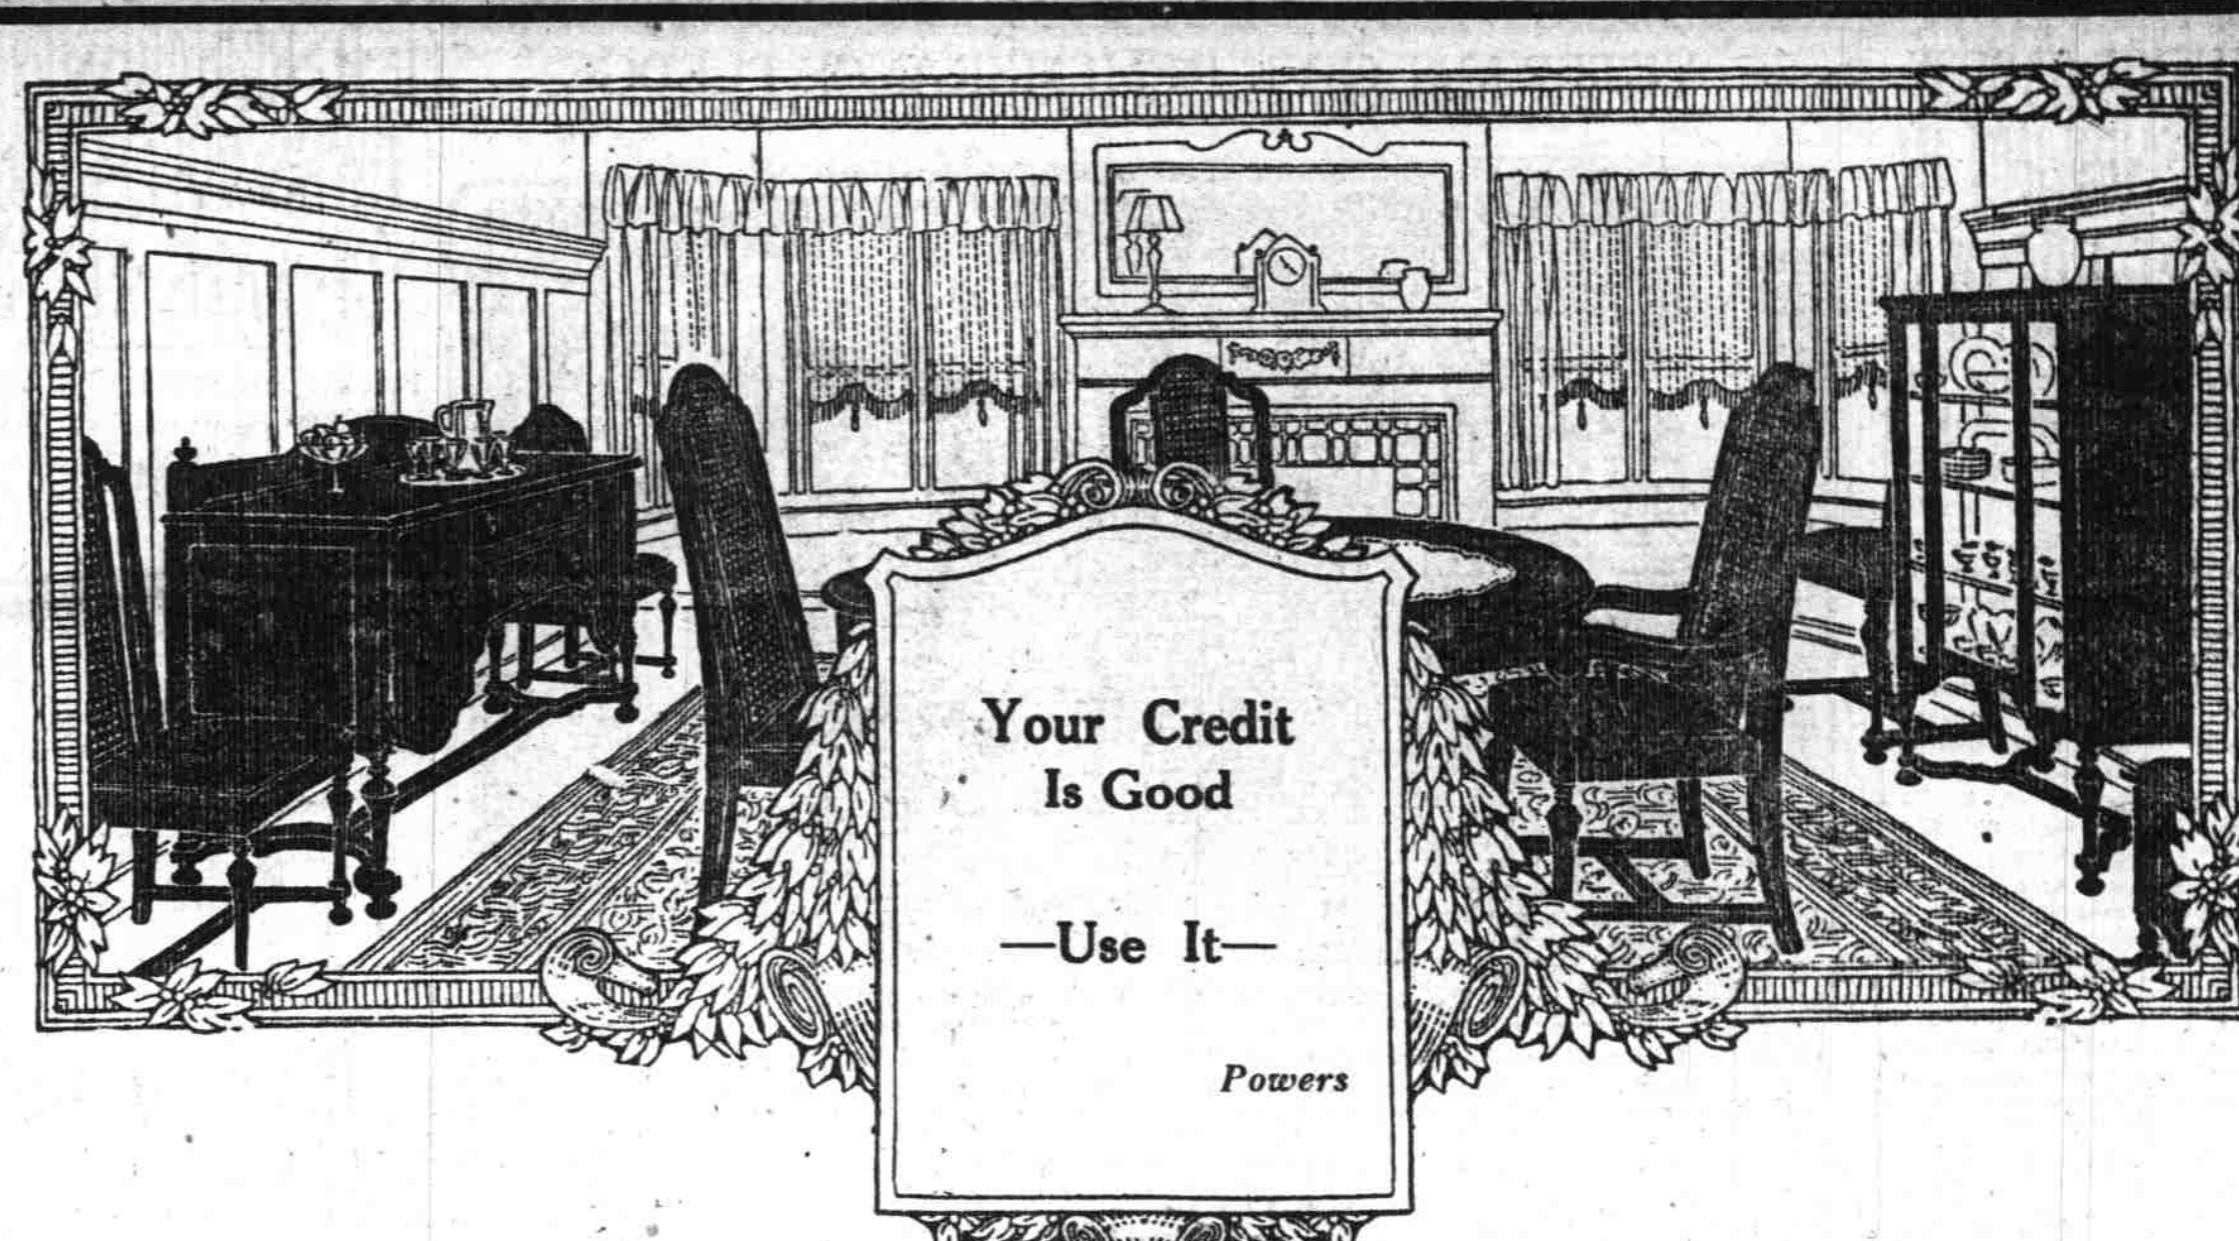

Names of the owners have been obtained. Seventeen residents of Oregon are named as owners and individual prosecutions will be entered unless it can be proved that they came in possession of the hides legally.

Affidavits have been sent forth and unless a reply is received within a month, prosecution will be made by the commission, it was announced Saturday.

Attendant Held at Bay as Insane Man Escapes Institution

Holding an attendant of Morningside hospital at bay with a gun, a man who gave his name as W. Teknis of 45 Third street, aided Zeke Teknis, an inmate, to escape from the institution Thursday afternoon, according to information made public by the police today. The unknown man called to see Teknis, claiming to be his brother. No trace has been found of the pair.

Saturday evening J. Day and his mother were taken in custody by the police at their home, 328 East Twenty-first street, where they were destroying furniture with hatchets. Day claimed to be in psychic communication with Les Anciers and San Francisco and acting under that guidance in destroying the furniture. The pair were sent to the county hospital.

A Washing Machine That Washes Without Wear

The Electric 3-Way

The Electric 3-Way washing machine does all the laborious part of washing, handles all fabrics without the extra wear of the rubbing board, handles heavy pieces that cannot be laundered by hand. And better than all, it conserves the strength of the housewife.

The Electric 3-Way Is Adjustable

The washing arm may be used to agitate the bluing and rinsing waters, the wringer may be used in any one of four positions—and may be operated forward or backward. You can use two, three, or four tubs.

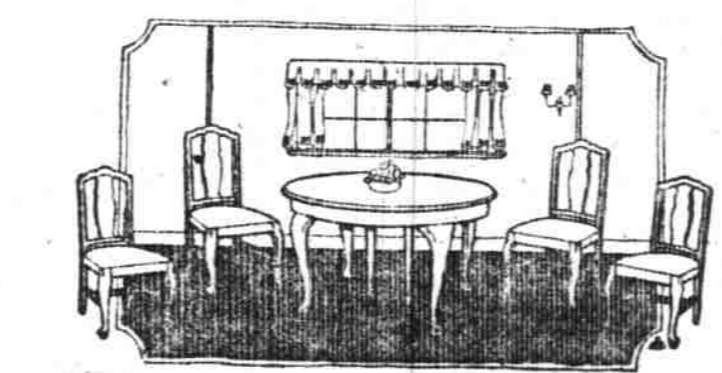

The Electric 3-Way Is Mechanically Simple

There is nothing to get out of order, nothing to confuse, no upkeep cost. At a touch a thorough, tireless laundress washes while you are about other household tasks. And the cost of operation is so slight as to be almost unnoticeable.
