

BORAH AND HIS CROWD VOW THERE CAN BE NO LEAGUE

No Matter What Name It Bears, Irreconcilables Determine to Fight Harding to Bitter End.

Washington, Nov. 20.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL.)—The scribes in Washington are guessing on whether President Wilson will again submit the treaty of Versailles, including the League of Nations, to the senate at the short session of congress beginning next month.

Sentiment among Republican leaders is such that it will make no great difference whether the president sends the treaty back or not. That it could not be ratified seems clear, and if the treaty were returned to the senate, it would be promptly referred to the committee on foreign relations, where Chairman Lodge would lock it up, and where it would remain until adjournment comes on March 4.

BORAH STANDS PAT

Senator McCumber, North Dakota, leader of the Republican ratificationists, sees no hope for favorable action, even if the Democrats were to go over in a body to support the League reservation. Senator Borah, Idaho, irreconcilable to the fifth degree, lets it be known that he would carry a filibuster to any length necessary to prevent action, with the enthusiastic support of Johnson, Brandegee and the others of the bitter-end crowd.

This does not mean that the senate will refrain from debating the subject, whether the treaty is before it or not. The senate rules are liberal, and a senator may talk on what he pleases. Many of them will be pleased to talk on the league, almost from the first day of the session, some to prove it is dead, and others that in some form it must be accepted.

LEAGUE FRIENDS UNCHANGED

There is no sign, on the other hand, that the Republican friends of the league, those who were called "mild reservationists" or wanted to ratify with certain reservations, have changed their opinions, nor do they interpret the election as deciding the question against the league. They found the public mind confused by Harding's utterances, and the trend to the Republican ticket based largely on other things than the league, except among the so-called "intellectuals" and groups of voters swayed by foreign influences.

All of the mild reservationists of the present senate will be members of the next, for McCumber, Colt, Nelson, Mc-

Nary, Kellough and Keyes hold over, and Lenroot was reelected. The irreconcilable group has been enlarged from 15 to not less than 24, it appears, but these gains were mostly made at the expense of the Democrats.

Both sides are watching the president-elect and hoping he will incline to their views. If he brings forward a real plan the most of the Republican side will be inclined to follow him, having once satisfied the demands of the leaders that the present league be killed, and something with a Republican brand substituted.

This change of name will not satisfy Borah and Johnson, who insist that when Harding said the league was dead he meant it, and no substitute under another name can take its place. They are ready to fight Harding from the drop of the hat, just as they fought Wilson, and the undetermined question is how many they can carry with them, complicated with the uncertain action which the Democrats may take toward another plan, plus further uncertainty as to what other nations, members of the league, may say when they are invited to march to the rear.

WILSON PRAISES THRIFT ADVOCATE

Richard W. Ottenheimer Receives Letter From President; He Is Best Stamp Seller.

President Wilson has sent to Richard W. Ottenheimer, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Ottenheimer of Portland, a highly complimentary letter in recognition of his having sold more Thrift and War Stamps during the period of the war than any other Boy Scout in Oregon.

On account of the president's illness the letter has been delayed and Richard had almost lost hope of ever receiving it. The formal presentation of the important document will take place at a big Boy Scout rally to be held at the Lincoln high school Friday evening, November 26.

The Boy Scouts of America were designated by President Wilson, it will be remembered, as one of the prime means for the distribution of the stamps. Medals, axes and victory palms were offered as prizes and as a special award the president promised a personal letter to the Scout in each state who sold the greatest number of stamps. Richard is the lucky boy for Oregon.

Richard is a member of troop 37, of which C. Edward Grellie was scoutmaster during the war. He conducted his sale of stamps in a thoroughly methodical and businesslike way, keeping his books and having designated days on which he called on his customers. His uniform courtesy and earnestness won and kept for him a clientele. The letter, which is written on the handsomely embossed White House stationery, will be framed and hung in Richard's room.

Richard's total sales were $12,000. More than 1500 Scouts in Portland sold War Savings Stamps and 250 of these received lesser awards of various kinds.

To the People of Portland:

It is a matter of common knowledge that Portland is in need of no less than two thousand homes to take care of its present and continually increasing population.

Believing that the city of Portland in general, and Laurelhurst in particular, would be greatly benefited if some definite plan were formulated to encourage home building at this time, the Laurelhurst Co., at a recent Board meeting, elected to offer two hundred choice residence lots in Laurelhurst at absolute unreserved auction sale, and accept for these lots whatever price the public will pay; thereby encouraging home building in Laurelhurst, thus in a large measure relieving the acute housing situation, and at the same time further developing our beautiful residential district.

We have engaged the services of Messrs. Barry & Austin, of Chicago, Real Estate auctioneers of national reputation, to conduct the sale, which will be held under a mammoth tent in Laurelhurst on Saturday, December 11th, at 1 P. M.

Our agreement with the auctioneers provides that every one of the two hundred lots must positively be sold to the highest bidder without reserve, regardless of what they bring. There will be no schedule of prices to be realized. No representative of this Company will be permitted to bid on the property, neither will the auctioneers be permitted to buy or bid on any lot. In other words, the public will make the price and get the full benefit of the sale. The agreement further provides for exceptionally easy terms of payment, and that all street improvement assessments will be paid by the Laurelhurst Co., and not assumed by the purchasers as is customary.

We feel that we need hardly make mention of the character of our Laurelhurst property. We claim to have established a community to meet the requirements of the most exacting, and having decided to accept for these lots whatever they will bring at auction, we strongly advise every rent payer, home seeker and investor to follow all future announcements carefully. Full particulars of the sale can be obtained at the office of Messrs. Barry & Austin, 317 Chamber of Commerce Building. Phone Broadway 2544.

Yours very truly,

LAURELHURST CO.
