Family Parties Gobbler Day to Occupy Society

By Helen Hutchison
SOCIETY occupied itself to a great extent with the Night House show and its attendant dinners and supper parties during the past week. The wedding of Miss Eliza Scott Parker and Van W. Anderson was a notable event of the last day of the week and Monday will be the occasion of the marriage of Miss Elynn Newbegin and Ernest Wyland Crichton. Family parties for the Thanksgiving holidays, together with informal jaunts to the country for house parties and informal diversions which assemble groups of students home from college will take a prominent place in the festivities planned for the coming week.

Mrs. J. Sherman O'Gorman was hostess for one of the smart teas of the season Thursday afternoon at her home on Portland Heights. At the tea hour those who assisted the hostess in the dining room included Mrs. O. A. Lyman, Mrs. William D. Whelwright, Mrs. A. A. Morrison, Mrs. John Cretono O'Gorman, Mrs. Warren E. McCord and Mrs. Ralph E. Williams. Assisting about the rooms were Miss Virginia McDonough, Mrs. William Norman Burgard, Mrs. Lovelle D. Winters, Miss Dorothy Kern and Mrs. Arthur Trumbull Brown. Others who assisted in receiving the guests were Mrs. G. C. von Eszlofstein, Mrs. John Claire Monteth, Mrs. J. Guy Strohm and Mrs. George Willard Brown.

One of the dinner parties preceding the Amato-Kitty Beale concert Wednesday evening at the Hellig was that for which Mr. and Mrs. John Forest Dickson were hosts at Alexandra Court. Their guests included Miss Genevieve Thompson, Miss Lillian Moss, Seaton Taylor and Leland Smith.

Judge and Mrs. William N. Gatens were hosts for a delightful dancing party at their home in Irvington Saturday evening, which assembled a group of congenial young people for the evening.

Mrs. L. A. Andrus and her niece, Miss Lucia Moxie, will leave for San Francisco December 6 and expect to sail on the steamship Totul December 11 for Tahiti. They will later visit New

Mrs Montgomery Is Hostess for Bishop and Lady

BISHOP AND MRS. WALTER TAYLOR SUMNER were guests of honor Thursday evening at a dinner for which Mrs. B. Montgomery was hostess at the University club. The table was centered with an artistic arrangement of pink and white chrysanthemums and smaller blossoms. Additional guests included Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Honeyman, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ayer, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Shindler, Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Allen Lewis, Colonel and Mrs. Frederick W. Leadbetter, Mr. and Mrs. William MacMaster, Colonel Stevens, U. S. A.; Mrs. C. E. S. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Judd and Harry Montgomery.

The marriage of Robert Gillespy of Portland and Miss Iza Agnew of Seattle will be solemnized Saturday morning, November 27, at St. James cathedral, Seattle. Bishop O'Dea officiating. Miss Ann Agnew, sister of the bride, will be maid of honor and Dr. Walter Moore of Seattle, best man. In the evening a reception will be held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Agnew. Mrs. Sherwood Gillespy, mother of the bridegroom, and Mr. and Mrs. Willis K. Clark, his brother-in-law and sister of Portland, will go to Seattle for the wedding. Mr. Gillespy and his bride will make their home in Portland, where he is in business.

Mrs. A. J. Giesy and Mrs. Paul Giesy noon at the home of the former, honoring Mrs. William House who has recently moved from Quimby street to a home on Portland Heights. Guests included members of the immediate neighborhood, who called to welcome Mrs. House to the community. At the tea hour, those who presided in the dining room were Mrs. Joseph Nathan Teal, Mrs. John Forest Dickson, Mrs. W. W. Cotton and Mrs. Frederick II. Page.

Miss Olive Ann Risley became the bride of John De Witt Gilbert, son of Major W. S. Gilbert of Astoria, Friday evening. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Alice Risley. She was graduated from the University of Oregon and was a classmate of her husband, who later was a student at Columbia university. Mrs. Gilbert will make their home in Astoria, where the former is hostess for a dinner of 16 covers at the University club Friday evening honoring Miss Elynn Newbegin and her fiancé, Ernest Wyland Crichton. Several other affairs were given during the week for the pleasure of the popular bride-elect, among them a tea for

Alumnae to Give Silver Tea for Aid Scholarship Miss Cameron Is Guest of Honor Of Her Cousin

THE alumnae of St. Mary's academy will give a silver tea Saturday afternoon at the school for the benefit of the scholarship fund. The hours will be from 3 to 6 o'clock and the affair is planned as a welcome to the new students of the school and to foster the renewal of old acquaintances. The school is now entering upon its sixty-first year as one of the educational institutions of Oregon. A group of prominent women of the city who have been students of the academy will preside during the tea hours at the school.

Mrs. Dorsey B. Smith will be hostess for an informal bridge affair Tuesday afternoon.

MISS MARJORIE CAMERON, whose marriage to Clifton Irwin will be an event of the post holiday season, was a guest of honor with her cousin, Mrs. James N. Cameron, at a tea for which Mrs. J. E. Cameron entertained at her home in Irvington Tuesday. About 150 guests called during the afternoon and at the tea hour those who assisted in serving in the dining room included Mrs. L. E. Kern, Mrs. John Stonerod, Mrs. Henry W. Wagner, Mrs. William Powell, the Misses Elinor and Louise Cameron, Helen Versteeg and Helen Chambeau.

A Letter

From Miss X to Her Sister, visiting in New York, published with the former's permission
Portland, Or., November 20, 1920.

Dear Helen:

Hurray! You'll be home next week. You certainly are the luckiest girl in the world to be playing around old New York—wish I could join you for a few days.

In your letter you said you were afraid you couldn't get the gift things you wanted here—perish the thought for I've found the most attractive gift shop in Portland, and I know you can't find a more artistically selected stock where you are.

Of course, I have always known Gill's as a gift shop, but you can't imagine my delight as I stepped off the elevator at the second floor and actually saw the new stock. I never dreamed that such a selection was available in Portland.

The first thing that caught my eye was a table brimming with some of the cleverest designs in pottery that I've ever seen—fruit baskets, bowls with blocks to match, hanging baskets and all—you must see them, Helen. The very next thing that attracted me was a great display of Oregon myrtle wood novelties—you know this wood grows only in Oregon and so the things made from it make fine gifts for Oregonians. Although there were many suggestions in this assortment, a particularly neat nut-bowl struck my fancy immediately. By the way, everyone here is using quill pens, and at the next counter I saw some beauties—real pheasant quills, dressed with the most artistic color scheme.

Going on, I ran across some lovely polychrome candle-sticks and lamps which were marvels—I know you'll want one. Of course, I am passing over entirely the wonderful line of leather goods, photograph albums, etc., because I know you always associated such goods with this store. I do want you to see, however, the Rust Craft novelties which no words of mine can adequately describe. I remember a darling little tea-ball stand, and some exquisite pine-comb candles with sticks to match particularly, but there were so many more lovely things that a choice is difficult.

It's hard to find a place to stop for I haven't half covered the stock, but you must see it for yourself.

Above all, don't bother to bring any gifts clear across the continent, for you can get practically anything you want here at
