

NIGHT SHOOTING OF DUCKS MUST END, SAYS WARDEN

Complaints received repeatedly of night duck shooting along the lower Columbia river may cause the State Fish and Game commission to take steps toward the rescinding in this district of feeding privileges which would virtually eliminate duck hunting reserves between Portland and Astoria, according to a statement made by Captain A. E. Burghdoff, state game warden, this morning.

For many years the lakes and sloughs along the lower Columbia have been the choicest spots in Oregon for duck shooting. Practically all desirable land is laid out in reserves which prominent business men of Portland rent each year.

Through regular feeding with grain, the ducks come to the Columbia river to obtain the feed desired, and stay in this district during the entire hunting season. For this reason hunters in the Willamette valley have been attempting for years to have legislation passed prohibiting feeding of ducks on the Columbia.

Nightly for more than a month the lakes, lagoons and sloughs from Portland to Astoria have sounded like a major artillery battle. Wardens are powerless to prevent the shooting because of the inaccessible nature of most of the shooting points.

"Sportmen themselves are not responsible for the shooting," said Burghdoff, "because night shooting spoils their week-end hunting trips. I believe it is the landowners and keepers who are responsible, unless the owners check up on night shooting, steps will be taken to prevent feeding of ducks on the lower Columbia."

Some of Portland's most prominent citizens own reserves in this district, and Burghdoff believes they will cooperate in the movement. Additional rangers wardens have been employed for duty in this district.

HARDING TO HAVE WOMAN IN CABINET

Charles Evans Hughes, if he could be persuaded to accept it, which is doubted, Secretary of the treasury—Governor Frank C. Lewis of Illinois, who is likely to displace him, as Senator Harding feels grateful to Mr. Lowden for what he did at Chicago and regards him as one of the ablest administrators in the country.

Secretary of war—General John J. Pershing of Nebraska. Secretary of the navy—Former Senator John W. Weeks of Massachusetts. Attorney general—Harry M. Daugherty of Ohio, pre-convention manager for Senator Harding, if he declines, former Senator Sutherland of Utah may be selected.

Secretary of interior—Senator Albert B. Fall of New Mexico. He is understood to have made arrangements for the appointment of a successor to the senate in the event that he is asked to take a portfolio in the Harding cabinet. He was one of Mr. Harding's intimate friends in the senate and a personal adviser during the campaign.

Secretary of Agriculture—Henry C. Wallace of Des Moines, head of farm publications and the chief counsel to Mr. Harding on agricultural matters during the campaign. Secretary of Labor—Representative Nolan of California, or Representative John F. Burke of Pennsylvania. Postmaster General—Senator Harry New of Indiana or Will Hays of Indiana. Secretary of Commerce—Walter Dickey of Kansas City, Mo., who is being backed by Jake Hannon of Oklahoma, one of the members of the Harding group who is largely credited with the success of Harding in Oklahoma this year; A. Tobias Hertz of Kentucky, who was one of the organization Lowden men and helped at the psychological moment at Chicago to nominate Harding; Theodore Roosevelt Jr., who is being urged as a splendid representative of the progressive element in the Republican party.

SUBJECT TO CHANGE. Now every cabinet slate is like a railroad timetable—subject to change without notice. The alternates mentioned in the foregoing list may be replaced by others, depending upon the lineup of states and other factors. For instance, Senator New is a close friend of Senator Harding and headed the speakers' bureau during the campaign. He is said to be apprehensive about renomination for the senate, as Beveridge is believed to be getting ready to oppose him in the primaries. Therefore, diplomatic conversations are proceeding with an eye to appointing New to the postmaster-generalship, provided the governor of Indiana will appoint Will Hays to the senate. It's all a question of whether Mr. Hays wants to be in the cabinet or in either the judiciary or executive branch of the government under the next administration. Moreover, Mr. Hertz is formerly of Indiana, and the contest for the department of commerce seems to be between Kentucky and Missouri, with Indiana demanding some voice in the selection. On the other hand, there is a clamor for Raymond Robins, Gifford Pinchot and other progressives.

trade and financial relations as provided under article 16 be inflicted.

Yesterday's session was devoted to the Armenian situation, British and French leading opposing groups in debate as to the manner of procedure.

The French plan for negotiation with Mustapha Kemal won the assembly's support after M. Rene Viviani had swept the delegates with his oratory.

Viviani's plan called the league council into session last night to draft an appeal to some power to undertake negotiations.

The council failed to act, however, and the problem still faces the league.

There were indications British opposition to the French plan had prevailed in the council.

Frequent references to America in yesterday's debate led to the inference that some delegates hoped to avert drastic action regarding Armenia until the United States should be in position to help.

Suggestions during yesterday's debate that the league needed an armed force were greeted with tremendous cheers.

WANT AMERICA'S AID

But Viviani insisted that the assembly should authorize the council to reach an immediate understanding with the powers for the constitution of an expedition to relieve the Armenians. As a result, the Viviani and Balfour resolutions were acted upon favorably. Viviani's proposal being adopted unanimously.

The United States will be sounded out as to the possibility of its intervening between the Armenians and Turks, along with other powers of the world.

Spalkovich, the Serbian delegate, mentioned in the course of the debate that while America had declined to accept an Armenian mandate, the United States senate last May adopted a resolution requesting the president to send a naval force to Siam.

He did not believe the question of racial equality would be presented for years, but he believes it will eventually be recognized.

Japan, it was learned, has been informally approached on the question of accepting the Armenian mandate and has refused.

PULLMAN CHARGES PROVE BOOMERANG, H. H. COREY ASSERTS

Salem, Nov. 23.—The surcharge imposed upon patrons of the Pullman company is proving a boomerang against the Pullman people and the railroads, according to H. H. Corey, public service commissioner, who returned Monday from a conference at St. Louis, Mo.

Corey said travel on the railroads has decreased noticeably and patronage of the sleeping cars has declined to a marked degree.

Many people who heretofore thought nothing of reserving a "lower" in a standard sleeper, are sitting it out in the day coach or traveling by day and spending the night in some hotel along the route, Corey declares.

Conditions are still favorable for rain throughout Oregon, said Edward L. Wells of the weather bureau this morning. While the rainfall will not be heavy, it probably will continue throughout the week.

The river has maintained a high level for the last 24 hours, but will go down the next 24 hours, says Wells.

LIFE SENTENCE IN W. W. WILDER CASE UPHeld BY COURT

Salem, Or., Nov. 23.—The supreme court Tuesday affirmed the action of Judge Gilbert W. Phelps of the Umatilla county circuit court in sentencing W. W. Wilder to a life term in the state prison for the killing of Bert W. H. McNease. The opinion is written by Justice Benson.

In an opinion written by Chief Justice McBride the decree of Judge Coke of the Coos county circuit court in the case of Emma A. Hanson vs. Wallace Crouch is so modified as to permit Crouch to provide an artificial outlet for a stream crossing the lands of the plaintiff in lieu of removing an obstruction he had placed in the stream upon his own lands.

Justice George M. Brown, the new member of the supreme bench, made his debut with an opinion affirming the verdict of Judge J. W. Knowles of the Union county circuit court in the case of the state vs. Frank Turbow, jointly indicted with Kathryn Moss on a charge of assault with intent to rob.

Other opinions handed down were: J. A. Miller et al versus Jacob Gonzales, appellant, et al; appeal from Multnomah county on motion to dismiss. Opinion by Chief Justice McBride. Motion denied.

Iva A. Cox, appellant, versus Isham A. Cox, appeal from Curry county; suit for divorce. Opinion by Justice Harris. Judge John S. Coke affirmed.

C. M. Lafolette, appellant, versus S. W. Jones, appeal from Marion county; action for possession of sheep and damages for their retention. Opinion by Justice Bean. Judge Percy R. Kelly affirmed.

Jesse E. Crim versus A. G. Thompson, appellant; appeal from Clatsop county; action involving conveyance of property. Opinion by Justice Burnett. Judge Campbell reversed and case dismissed.

Belle Angell, appellant, versus Modest Men of America, dismissed on stipulation.

and 13 slain at the Croke park football field, where "Blas" and "Tate" fought Sinn Feiners, the police bullets flying into the crowd. The hospital records showed nearly 100 persons had received surgical attention.

The Dublin city hall and several of the city's hotels were occupied by troops today and the town was rapidly assuming the appearance of a city in the France zone during the fighting in France.

Tanks and military automobiles rumbled through the streets. Sentries with fixed bayonets paced up and down. Hotel corridors and the lobby of the city hall were crowded with men in uniform while couriers hastened here and there with messages. There were groups of troops, rifles held ready in front of many houses which were being searched for Sinn Fein gunmen and arms.

The entire block off while every house was gone through in search for the fugitives. Reports from other parts of Ireland indicated the guerrilla warfare between the Sinn Feiners and government forces was being maintained.

Near Cork the body of Captain Thompson was found in a field. He had been shot. At Belfast, Head Constable Kearney died from bullet wounds. Near Skibberan a party of police was ambushed. One constable was killed and one seriously wounded.

Applications for Auto Licenses Are Slow, Says Kozer

"Automobile owners are pulling the same stuff they did last year when it comes to this application for license business," says Sam Kozer, secretary of state, who was in Portland recently. "It means grief all around unless license applications are speeded up." According to Kozer, only 300 applications are being received daily, and that is not enough. The pace is about the same as last year, and last year his office was flooded with last-minute applications. There should be a daily rate of 1500, according to the secretary, and with this rate as a minimum only will drivers have their new license plates immediately after the first of the year.
