

INJURED PASTOR SAYS PRAYER FOR PALMER'S SLAYER

In a ward in the emergency hospital at central police station the Rev. Henry C. Gaskill, 55, of 19 North Fourth street spent Monday night with a badly bruised body, a deep cut on his head and cuts about the face, but with a firm faith. He had been struck by a motorcycle and was seriously injured.

In an adjoining ward, scarcely 20 feet from him but with impenetrable iron bars between, lay Husted A. Walters, slayer of Patrolman Jerome Palmer, bitter but cheerful.

A queer turn of luck, the police say, but they agree with the minister that fate has peculiar ways of fashioning life's daily schedule.

And as the minister lay in the hospital Monday night, his only company was the man who is accused of killing in cold blood an officer of the law and since Walters was placed in confinement.

The minister prayed for the soul of the boy, who is to face the law on a charge of first degree murder when he recovers from the bullet wound he received in a battle with the police. Gaskill is the first minister who has been visiting in the police station. His visit was involuntary.

Gaskill is an evangelist of the Pentecostal mission. He has been in Portland only a short time visiting the services of the mission conducted by the Rev. William Trotter at 112 South First street. His home is in St. Joseph, Mo. He was struck by a motorcycle driven by E. V. Hamlin, 1228 East Eighteenth street, at Broadway and Everett streets at 6 o'clock Monday evening.

The minister's condition is serious, but emergency hospital doctors believe that he will live. Hamlin is held by the police for investigation.

Ashland Pays High Honor to Officers Of National Guard

Ashland, Or., Nov. 23.—With Adjutant General White of the state of Oregon and Major Welch as honor guests, a routing "acquaintance" banquet was held in Elks' temple banquet room with the National Guard and Chamber of Commerce as hosts Monday evening. Covers were laid for more than 250.

The guests were Ashland business men, American Legion men, ex-service men, National Guardsmen, wives and sweethearts of all and a score from Medford. Captain William M. Briggs was master of ceremonies and addresses were made by Adjutant General White, Major Welch, E. V. Carter, Professor Irving Vining and Mayor C. B. Lankford. Dick Posey, Southern Oregon's poet, gave readings.

The Ashland National Guard is the strongest and oldest in the state and the army building is one of the best. The guard is giving a series of entertainments for the winter season, the proceeds to be used for a camp floor in the basement and a hardwood floor upstairs.

Here Is Chance to Purchase Brains at 10 Cents Per Pound

The biological survey uses animal brains with which to mix poison as bait for the wary coyote. Recently Stanley Jewett sent to Washington, D. C., a requisition containing the item, "Five pounds brains, 10 cents a pound; scant material." The chief of accounts replied: "I am mighty glad to know the brains can be procured at 10 cents a pound. If you will advise me when you expect to be in that vicinity again, I am certain I could arrange to send you quite a good-sized order. In fact, they seem to be one of the hardest things in the world to find. Brains, under present conditions, are procured for 10 cents a pound ought to be well worth consideration by any man."

And He Was Minute Early, Even After All That Trouble

George W. Clark, new physical director at Reed college, had a date for 1:30 o'clock at Forest Grove last Saturday. He missed the train and the automobile bus pulled out without him. It was 11:30 and he decided against walking. Some men would have gone to lunch and forgotten their troubles or drowned them in a glass of buttermilk. Not so the former Californian.

He walked out on the Broadway bridge and saw the City of Topeka steaming into port from San Francisco. On the deck he recognized his pet fiver and almost before the vessel had reached dock, he was aboard, cranking his car. Here his troubles began. The bill of lading had been lost and he was obliged to wire his home in California for a release on the car. This obtained, the ship's captain refused to deliver the goods to the owner until he was identified. This done, the car itself offered its protest and refused to start. After the flivver's whim had been overcome, Clark was off to a speedy trip and at 1:29 he breezed into the gymnasium at Pacific university, a minute early for his appointment. The car is the latest addition to the motor family at Reed.

Hamon Is Shot by Woman in Oklahoma; Warrants Seek Both

Ardmore, Okla., Nov. 23.—(I. N. S.)—J. L. Hamon, Republican national committeeman, was in deep seclusion today while county authorities searched for Clara Smith, pretty young matron of Ringling, Okla., whom they charge with having shot Hamon. Warrants charging the Smith woman with shooting with intent to kill, and charging both Hamon and the woman with a statutory offense, have already been issued, authorities said.

County Attorney Russell Brown declared today he was in possession of evidence justifying his charge that the woman had shot Hamon during a quarrel in a local hotel Sunday night. Friends of the national committeeman, however, maintained he was wounded while cleaning a gun in anticipation of a hunting trip to Texas.
