

HORSEBACK RIDING BEST SPORT, SAYS CALIFORNIA RIDER

San Luis Obispo Sportsman Would Make It National Recreation; Youth, Aged Urged to Saddle.

"Horseback riding should be made the national sport and there should be a saddle horse for every home," declares Hamilton "Horse" Bassett from San Luis Obispo, Cal., an officer of the Horse Association of America, and one of the most enthusiastic horsemen in the country. Bassett attended the Pacific International Livestock show in Portland.

"A child with a pony for a companion," he added, "is early taught self-control and poise. No one can govern an animal until he can first govern himself and the child soon learns that loss of temper and an ugly disposition are quickly reflected by the animal."

"If there was a pony in every home there would be fewer erotic children, less work for the druggists and fewer physical rejects. Organize riding clubs for the youngsters instead of letting them ride around to undesirable places with undesirable companions, burning up the 'old man's' time."

NO STICKS NEEDED
"Put 'em on a horse," he declared, "and there will be no need of lip sticks to smear paint over the lips, no need of rouge pots to plaster up the cheeks. They will learn that a plucked eyebrow is a poor protection from the dust and that cigarettes and clean living do not go hand in hand, that satin slippers with two-inch heels are all right for the ballroom, but poor things for street wear."

Bassett not only talks riding, but he himself rides, as does his family. He and Mrs. Bassett rode horseback from New York city to San Francisco to attend the Panama-Pacific exposition, and at their home at San Luis Obispo, horseback riding is their principal form of recreation.

MAKES LIFE LIVABLE
"Horseback riding is the finest exercise, the greatest sport there is, never monotonous, never sordid, but sending the red blood pounding through the arteries, clearing the mind of its brain fog and making life worth living."

Bassett spoke the highest words of praise for the stock show and said he would urge California breeders to ship a greater number of representative animals to Portland next year.

Rock Released by Explosion Changes Course of Stream

Walla Walla, Wash., Nov. 27.—Several hundred tons of volcanic rock, tumbled into the Umatilla river by a blast of T. N. T. during road building work on the Wenaha National forest, has changed the course of that stream.

at a point on the road from Pendleton to Bingham Springs, according to Supervisor John C. Kuhns. The blast contained 200 pounds of T. N. T. and a rancher living half a mile away reported that it jarred the putty loose from the window panes in his dwelling.

The road being built by the forest service is along the Umatilla river from Bingham Springs, and considerable blasting has been necessary. The two worst bluffs along the proposed route are eliminated and Supervisor Kuhns states that if the weather remains good between 200 and 300 yards of it will be completed this fall.

Congressional Aid In Carrying Wheat Farmers Is Sought

Monow, Idaho, Nov. 27.—Burton L. French, congressman for the First Idaho district, is en route with Mrs. French and Miss Jackson, his secretary, for Washington to attend the short session of congress.

He said he expects congress to remain in session until March 4, when the administration changes, and anticipates a special session will be called soon after Harding becomes president.

Upon his arrival in Washington, French expects to take up, as early as possible, the proposal to get federal reserve bank assistance to carry wheat and permit renewal of wheat notes at the federal bank for a longer period than 90 days. Discussing the problems confronting the farmer, he said:

"Some method must be devised of changing conditions, so that speculators cannot control the price of farm products. Unless this is done, there will be a serious shrinkage in production. The plan suggested would mean $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 to the three Northwestern states—Idaho, Oregon and Washington—alone, in a single season. The matter is of such vital importance that it should and probably will receive prompt action by congress and some remedy discovered and applied."

SCOUT MOVEMENT POWER FOR PEACE, ASSERTS KNAPP

Boys Are Brothers in Work, Says British Captain Who Is Here Studying Logging Methods.

"In the Boy Scout movement we have the most wonderful opportunity, if we will but take it, to promote the peace of the world. The fourth Scout law says a Scout is a brother to every other Scout and a true interpretation of this law will help foster the spirit of the League of Nations," said Captain G. E. C. Knapp of Swindon, England, who with 15 other representatives of the Indian office of the British government, is in this country to study logging methods, and who spent part of last week in Portland.

Captain Knapp has been in the Scout movement ever since he was 14 years old and he is a most ardent advocate of its program as a big factor in the development of a high type of citizenship. Knapp was in an engineering school when England entered the war, and in September, 1918, he was detailed for the North Russian expedition.

He was detained in Archangel on account of illness, and on getting out of the hospital, as he walked up the street of the city one day, he encountered three little Russian scouts wearing the scout badges. He gave them the scout sign, and when they spied

8 BUTTE SUGAR MEN ARE INDICTED FOR PROFITEERING

Government Charges Utah-Idaho Sugar Company Made Excessive Profits on Its Sales.

Butte, Mont., Nov. 27.—Indictments charging profiteering were returned by the federal grand jury here today against eight directors of the Utah-Idaho Sugar company. There were six counts in the indictments.

Those indicted are Charles W. Nibley, Merrill Nibley, Stephen H. Love, W. F. McCormick, Thomas E. Cutler, D. A. Smith, James D. Murdock and W. H. Nattis. Bonds of $5000 were fixed for each defendant named.

The indictments allege the company charged excessive profits on sugar which was sold to Butte wholesalers last June.

The government alleges the company charged 23 cents per pound, and that the cost of manufacturing and transporting the sugar to Butte totaled only 3 1/2 cents.

Captain Alwen Is Free; Government Charge Is Dropped

Upon the recommendation of the attorney general the federal grand jury indictment against John Alwen, captain of the steamer West Mounham, was dismissed in the federal court Saturday by Judge Wolverton. Assistant United States Attorney Veatch told the court that the department of justice did not believe there was sufficient evidence to warrant a trial.

Captain Alwen was indicted on a charge of not giving proper medical attention to members of his crew. The main complainant was Former Secret Service Agent William Glover. His son was a member of the crew and died while in the Orient. Too liberal participation in tropical fruits is said to have been a contributing cause to the crew's illness.

Automobile Kills Walla Walla Man Riding on Bicycle

Walla Walla, Wash., Nov. 27.—Ed Carruth, 49, proprietor of a paint shop here, was fatally injured Friday night when he was struck by an automobile while riding his bicycle on the paved highway at College Place, a suburb of Walla Walla. He died at a local hospital Saturday morning. Fritz Gough, the driver of the car, asserts that Carruth was on the wrong side of the road and was riding without lights.

his button they grabbed him by the arm and literally carried him off to their headquarters.
"It was a tiny hovel in a back alley. There was almost no furniture, the boys had only parts of uniforms and they were in rags, but on the wall was a picture of Baden-Powell, the founder of the Scout movement," said Captain Knapp. "The scouts had lost their scoutmaster and both of his assistants in the war, and for more than a year they had been trying to 'carry on' as best they could. I could speak no Russian, and they could speak no English, but we finally found someone who spoke French, so we got along very well."
"On one of my visits to the headquarters I was met by half a dozen girls who declared that they 'wanted to be Boy Scouts.' I sought out one of the American women working in the Y. M. C. A. and she organized them into a group of Girl Scouts."

Chauffeur Faces Charge of Stealing Woman's Motor Car

To answer a federal grand jury indictment charging violation of the national motor vehicle act and theft of an automobile, Glen L. Lloyd was returned to Portland Saturday by Marshal F. P. O'Conner from Neilsville, Wis. He is charged with stealing the automobile of Mrs. Della Glass of Portland from a point near Oswego and driving it to Aberdeen.

According to United States Attorney Lester W. Humphreys, Lloyd claims to be owner of the car. Early last summer Lloyd, who is married, is said to have hired out as private chauffeur to Mrs. Glass to drive her to Los Angeles. Arriving at Los Angeles the car was sold and a new one purchased. Both Lloyd and Mrs. Glass claim ownership, Humphreys said. Mrs. Glass now has the car in question in her possession, having returned it from Aberdeen. Lloyd was released by United States Commissioner Fraser on $2000 bonds to await court action.
