Coast Football Schedule Revamped : Jess Willard to Make Effort to Regain Title

Conference Teams Adopt 4-Game Sked

BERKELEY, Cal., Dec. 2.—Following a long and heated debate, graduate managers of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate conference ripped the tentative schedule based on the automatic rule passed last year to pieces and mapped out a schedule calling for a dozen games during the 1921 season.

GRIDIRON SCHEDULE Under the next system, each conference team has four games. The schedules for the next six years will be arranged jointly by Luther Nichols of the University of California and J. Fred Bohler of Washington State college. The future schedules will be arranged so that long trips will not fall upon the same _teams twice. +

The revised football schedule for 1921: October 22—Washington State college vs. niversity of California at Berkeley; University Oregon vs. Stanford at Palo Alto; University of Washington vs. Oregon Agricultural November 19—University of California vs. Stanford at Palo Alto; University of Oregon vs. Oregon Agricultural college at Eugene.

November 24—Washington State college vs. University of Washington at Seattle. OREGON GETS TRACK MEET

After disposing of the football schedule, the conference adopted the baseball and basketball schedules for 1921 and awarded other conference events.

The 1921 conference track and field meet was awarded the University of Oregon. The meet will be staged May 12 cultural college will stage an indoor track meet April 9 and the annual relay carnival of the University of Washington will be staged April 23. The Northwest conference meet will be held at Pullman, June 4.

Boston College Is Dropped From Yale Grid List

Boston, Dec. 2 .- (I. N. S.) - Regret as well as indignation was expressed by Boston college rooters today when it became known that Yale had dropped the old gold and maroon from its football schedule. The Yale announcement read:

"Regret that in arranging a consistently developed schedule it has been found inadvisable to include a game with Boston college." It has been such a generally accepted Yale custom to play return games with teams that conquer Eli that a shift was unexpected, despite

"I am going back into the ring to regain the championship," Willard confided, "and defend" it."

From the smile on the former titleholder's face and a happy and determined note in his voice as he said it, there was no doubt that he meant business. As to terms, Jess just didn't seem to thow what was in it financially for him. "I just told Tex to go ahead and fix it up," Willard said. Then he stopped for a good laugh and explained: "I see some of the papers have me dead busted." Apparently he wasn't seriously worried over money matters. That he was going to have a chance for a "come back" seemed to be giving him genuine satis-

WANTS TO "EVEN UP"

The Kansas fighter said he wanted t "even up the Toledo affair" with Dempsey by demonstrating that he was the better man. Jess revealed that he already is doing a little light training in the gymnasium "down on the farm," and he plams to take on heavier work soon. "I don't know who I'll have for trainers," Jess continued. "I haven't had time hardly to think it over.

"But I'll probably get two or three of the boys to come here and help me.' Asked what Mrs. Willard thought of his plans to "come back," Jess beamed : "Oh, she's backing me to the limit, She's always with me in whatever I do. We never have any trouble at home." Although Jess owns a farm here, he has been "dabbling in oil some" since the Toledo appearance "with good results," he said. He treated reports that he was "busted" and was returning to the ring
