

MOONSHINE FOUND IN HIS POCKET AND STILL IN HIS HOME

Jack Curry, who has spent 25 days in the county jail, was sentenced to spend 35 days more there Wednesday by Federal Judge Wolverton after he pleaded guilty to manufacturing prune whiskey. The still was found in his home at Fairview after federal officials arrested him at Newberg, when they found three pints of moonshine in his pockets. The court took into consideration the time already served when imposing sentence.

Two stills and three suspects in jail spells a night's work of government prohibition agents. On a scow, moored near Rocky Point, which is close to Linnton, the federal found one 25 gallon still, one 12 gallon still, 300 gallons of corn mash, a pressure tank, oil burner and 60 pounds of cornmeal. Both stills were in full operation when the raid was made. Paul Mesiga and Frank Lomneski of 376 Nicolai street, and Charles Kagaba of 385 Nicolai street were arrested and charged with manufacturing whiskey.

An amused smile played about Ambrose Furrer's mouth as he thought of the trump card he would play as soon as the two patrolmen finished their evidence. It was only grape juice they had found at his soft drink stand at 224 First street, but grape juice containing 6 per cent alcohol, according to the city chemist's test. Furrer played his trump with a flourish: The samples were kept three days before the test. The fermentation took place after the samples were seized.

"You trumped with the deuce," said Judge Rossman. "I was inclined to be lenient, but not after such a statement as that. I don't believe you. Pay a fine of $200 and serve 20 days in jail."

By Dr. A. P. De Keyser, recognized authority on Conservation of Vision, Friday, December 3, at 8 p. m., second floor Columbia building.

Cooperating with other earnest, conscientious optometrists throughout the country, who are uniting their efforts, knowledge and skill, "that eyes may see better and farther," Dr. De Keyser's lecture is an opportunity to make your eyes more efficient. Dr. De Keyser has lectured before the National Convention of Optometrists at St. Louis, the Western Convention of Optometrists at Seattle, the Knights of Columbus Club, the Crescent Progressive Club, the Portland Health Chautauqua. His knowledge covers more than 20 years' experience in optical science—he has a message for every man and woman who value their eyesight.

The moving picture, "Eyes of Youth," shown in connection with the lectures, is the first of its kind ever produced—it makes the functions of sight absolutely clear, while the speaker explains briefly the construction of the eyes, the care required and gives special exercises for building up their vitality and efficiency.
