The Dalles Girl Weds British Exporter

OF INTEREST to Portland friends is the marriage of Miss Florence Wil-liams of The Dalles and Alfred Edward Jones of Rangoon, Eurma, which was quietly solemnized at Trinity Episcopal chapel at high noon today. The service was read by Dr. A. A. Morrison in the presence of the immediate relatives of the bride, who is a member of a pioneer family of Oregon. The bride has been the house guest of her sister, Mrs. George A. Marshall in Flanders street, for several days, arriving from Seattle, where she has made her home recently. A number of out-of-town relatives arrived in the city to be present at the

The bride is a daugnter of the late A. M. Williams of The Dalles. Mr. Jones, who was formerly an officer in the British army, is an exporter of teak wood and has spent the past year in the United States, where he has recently been studying improved lumber business methods in Washington. He will take his bride to New York, where they will sail for England to remain until February, going thence to India to live for the next three years.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Denby Mackie (Nona Lawler) who have been making their home in Zona, La., will be interested to know that they are anticipating a trip to Portland early in the new year. Miss Kathleen Lawler, sister of Mrs. Mackie, of New York city, expects to spend the holidays with them at

Mr. and Mrs. Neagle Sealy were hosts for a dinner of 10 covers at their home Monday evening, honoring Stanley Bowlby of Hood River. The dinner table was centered with roses and yellow button chrysanthemums. Additional guests included Miss Helen Weber, Mr. and Mrs. Hunt Malarkey, Miss Mirlam Weber, Miss Helen Haller, Robert P. Weber and Albert Holman. Following the dinner the company enjoyed the supper dance at the Oregon grill.

The annual ball given by the members of the Women's Advertising club of Portand will be an event of Friday evening at Christensen's hall. Mrs. W. H. Chatten is chairman of arrangements for the

Mrs. C. C. Colt will be hostesses for the dance to be given Saturday evening at Multnomah hotel by the Tillicum club. As the regular schedule of dances for this club calls for a second affair on December 25, the Christmas dance will be omitted and only one dance will be given by this club during the month. Several dinner parties will precede next Saturday's affair.

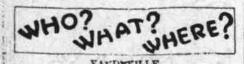

The alumnae of Good Samaritan hospital will hold their monthly meeting Thursday at 2 o'clock at the nurses' home in Lovejoy street. A good attendance is urged.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Francis Nicolae (Louise Stengel), whose marriage was a recent event in Portland, have returned from their honeymoon and are domiciled at the Imperial Arms apartments.

The fortnightly card party of the month will be held at Laurelhurst club Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. L. Van Anderson as hosts.

Rusty the Fox Squirrel. VERY early one morning, before

V Farmer Brown's boy was astir, Rusty the Fox Squirrel, feeling very lowspirited and downhearted in his cage in Farmer Brown's barn, heard a rustle and then the scratching of little claws. He forgot his troubles and pricked up his ears. There was some one not far off in that barn. Who could it be? Suddenly there was a little thump on the top of his cage. It was so unex-pected that it startled him. Hastily he looked up to see peering down at him through the wires the very last face in the world he expected to see-the face of Chatterer the Red Squirrei.

Mischief sparkled in Chatterer's eyes.
"Hello, Cousin Rusty!" said he, "You seem to be very comfortable in there. "Hello, Cou-Cousin Ch-Ch-Chatterer, stammered Rusty. You see he was so surprised he couldn't find his tongue, as the saying is. "Wh-what are you doing here and how did you get here?"

Chatterer chuckled. "I am making you a visit and I got here easy enough. I know all about this old barn. This isn't the first time I've been in it. Goodness, no! I've been in here more times than I can remember. There is a big tree just outside this barn and one branch almost touches the roof. In a corner under the eaves is a hole I made a long time ago. Farmer Brown and his boy don't know anything about it. So it is easy enough to go and come when I please. I thought I would find you here.' "What made you think you would find me here?" asked Rusty, opening his eyes very wide in surprise. "I saw Farmer Brown's boy take you away when you were hurt by the terrible gun of the hunter over in the Green Forest and I knew where he would put

"But how could you know that?" asked Rusty, looking more surprised than ever. Chatterer chuckled. "I lived in it once myself." said he. Rusty blinked. "You lived in it!" he exclaimed. "I certainly did," replied Chatterer, still chuckling, for he enjoys seeing better that when Farmer Brown's boy some one else puzzled. "Farmer Brown's brought him his breakfast he ate it boy caught me once and kept me in that with the best appetite he had had for wire prison for quite a while "How did you get out?" asked Rusty agerly. days. "Farmer Brown's boy let me out," replied Chatterer, and grinned at the look of doubt on Rusty's face.
