

CHARGES FACED BY THE DALLIES CHIEF FOLLOWING RAIDS

The Dallee, Or., Dec. 13.—Following general raids made on rooming houses here early Sunday morning by detectives in the employ of the anti-saloon league, deputy sheriffs and the mayor and city councilmen, an investigation is being made of the police force here.

Mayor F. J. Stadelman said that charges made against Chief of Police Frank Heater and Patrolman McCleaskey were being investigated, and if proven true these officers would be dismissed.

One of the investigators declared that in the presence of Chief Heater Thursday he purchased whiskey "over the bar" at the Glenwood hotel, and the chief did not interfere with the sale.

Detective CALLED IN Mayor Stadelman said that damaging charges against the police officers were made to him on Thanksgiving day. He took the matter up with the councilmen the next day, and they wired to Portland for a private investigator to come here and look into the matter.

At the Glenwood hotel, Tony Mayeta, Japanese proprietor, and Charles White, Japanese proprietor, and L. N. Burnham, were arrested. Seven gallons of whiskey were found in the basement. Several bottles of whiskey were found in the rooms.

WHISKEY IS FOUND Mayor Stadelman, Councilman Chester, Deputy Sheriff Knight and two of the Anti-Saloon League detectives raided this place. Councilman Yates and Deputy Sheriff Coleman raided the Columbia rooming house, netting a quantity of whiskey and arrested Tom Imadi, E. B. Hollenback was two arrested and led the officers to three gallons of whiskey, which had been cached at his home in the suburb.

The officers came here with the expressed purpose of making a raid on a ranch on the Washington side of the Columbia. They visited the ranch Sunday night, but found nothing, it is said.

Mayor Stadelman Monday asked that the Anti-Saloon League return to the Dallee in order that the councilmen, the police may be examined. All the defendants were arraigned Monday and released on bonds to await action of the grand jury.

APPLICATION FOR NEW GAS RATES IS FILED

Federal operatives from Portland took part in the raid on investigation at The Dallee, according to Fred Currey, chief assistant prohibition director for Oregon. Federal officials from Washington were asked to cooperate in the investigation in the city.

For house heating the proposed rate is 80 cents per 1000 feet for all gas used, plus a service charge of $1.20 per month for 10 months for the ordinary sized meter. A comparison of bills under the proposed rates and the present rates for the ordinary consumer will be approximately as follows:

Amount used	Present Proposed	Rate	Rate
2,000	$ 1.90	$ 3.28
3,000	2.85	4.59
4,000	3.75	5.21
5,000	4.60	6.00
10,000	9.50	12.23
20,000	19.00	25.23
30,000	28.00	35.23

For house heating the proposed rate is 80 cents per 1000 feet for all gas used, plus a service charge of $1.20 per month for 10 months for the ordinary sized meter. A comparison of bills under the proposed rates and the present rates for the ordinary consumer will be approximately as follows:

Amount used	Present Proposed	Rate	Rate
40,000 feet	$ 5.00	$ 9.20
20,000 feet	10.00	17.50
30,000 feet	15.00	25.20

Officials of the gas company explained the greater percentage of increase in the proposed charges for the first 2000 or 3000 feet of gas used, stating that this method is generally used throughout the country by public service commissioners in order to apportion equitably among consumers the cost of reading, metering, bookkeeping, collecting bills, investments in meters and service. These charges, according to the officials, are the same for each consumer, regardless of the amount of gas used.

The first step of the rate of 85 cents

WE GUARANTEE OUR WORK
Parcelain Crowns$5.00
Parcelain Fillings$1.00
12-K Gold Crowns$1.00
12-K Gold Bridge$5.00
Extracting

You can have an examination of your teeth free of any charge or obligation by calling at our office.
231 1/2 Morrison, Corner Second—
Entire Corner.
LOOK FOR THE
BIG UNION SIGN

WESTERN STATES LINKED IN HUGE RECLAMATION PLAN

All Western states will unite in one big effort to present to the remainder of the United States the irrigation and reclamation needs of the West and will combine in a campaign to have congress pass suitable legislation for the reclamation needs of the states west of the Mississippi river.

The decision was made at a meeting of the Western States Reclamation Association in Salt Lake City Friday and Saturday, according to P. Hetherington, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who attended the session. Hetherington was accompanied to Salt Lake City by Whitney L. Boise, Percy Cupper of Salem, A. J. Smith of Baker and C. A. Callahan of Portland.

Representatives from all Western states will be present at the association meeting. Authority was granted to Governor Davis of Idaho, president of the association, to appoint a legislative and educational committee which should have full power in reclamation effort for the West.

Tentative arrangements for the eastern convention were made by Dr. Dillehunt and P. L. Campbell, president of the University of Oregon, during a recent extended visit to eastern universities and medical schools, and the gift of $300,000 is contingent upon appropriation of a somewhat larger amount by the Oregon state legislature.

Needs of the University medical school will be presented by Dr. Dillehunt at a meeting of the Multnomah county legislative delegation called for December 21. According to K. K. Kubik, chairman of the delegation, the needs of the university heads will be given every consideration possible by the state legislature from this country.

Consolidation of the work of the Western states has already been beneficial. Prior to activity of the association 40 bills were before congress. Now there are two. Senator Borah gave the association the information that he would introduce a bill in favor of the Smith-Fletcher reclamation bill, which was formerly known as the Smith-Chamberlain bill. This measure provides for government purchase of irrigation district bonds and issuance of government bonds to cover the district expenses.

The association went on record with the belief that any bill passed must make special provision for ex-service men.

More than 200 people are expected at the Fathers' day banquet at the First Congregational church tonight. Judge George Rossman, who preside and the Rev. O. P. Avery will offer the invocation. Many will attend the dinner garbed in old fashioned Pilgrim clothes. Beside every plate will be the traditional "12 grains of corn," memorial to the early hardships of the Pilgrims. Judge Wallace McCamant is to be the orator of the occasion and W. E. Robinson will sing appropriate songs. Dr. W. T. McVey will make a few remarks. At the guest table will sit Mr. and Mrs. McCamant, Judge and Mrs. George Rossman, Dr. and Mrs. T. L. Elliott, the Rev. and Mrs. William G. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Colton.

A feature of the celebration will be the exhibit arranged by Rev. Edward Constant and George H. Himes, the historical Pictures, mementoes, articles and of household use by the forefathers of New England and Oregon will be displayed in the north parlor.

A delightful program of music was presented at the luncheon of the Musicians' club at the Benson hotel at noon today, the soloists being May Dearborn Schiavab soprano; Kathryn Krysaloff, Street, contralto, and Lillian Jeffrya Petri, pianist.

George Hotchkiss Street and George E. Jeffrey had charge of the arrangements for the affair, which in all probability will lead to reorganization of the club so that women musicians of the city will be admitted to membership. Dr. Emil Enns, pianist, representing the Society of Oregon Composers, played the new Oregon state song and it was sung by the assembly and enthusiastically applauded.

The luncheon, designated as "Ladies' day," was the most successful held so far this season. J. A. Findley presided.

Railroad Official Here N. D. Ballantine, superintendent of transportation of the Union Pacific system, is in Portland today, conferring with O-W. R. & N. officials over some minor details relative to car loading and car dispatching.

Auction sale of Laurelhurst lots will continue today in the ball room of the Multnomah hotel from 2 p. m. till midnight, with a recess for dinner from 6 to 7:30, according to announcement of Barry & Austin, auctioneers in charge of the sale.

The Laurelhurst company offered 200 building sites in the addition at auction last week, and 156 lots were sold Saturday afternoon and evening. The average price received was $1100, and the average valuation of the lots by the owners was $3000. The highest paid was $2800, and many of the parcels were bid in by prospective builders at from $500 to $900.

Barry & Austin announce that today's session will terminate the auction. All lots offered are to go to the highest bidder, regardless of sacrifice to the owners.

Fears Niece Fled With Man Companion The police were asked to assist in a search for Florence Cooper, 19-year-old niece of L. G. Thomas of Gervais, who disappeared from her home several days ago. Thomas told the police that his niece came to Portland on the pretext of hunting for a position, but that he feared she had run away with a man. She signed for a registered letter in Umatilla December 9, he said, but a telegram sent to her there was returned. Thomas said that he had been told that she was receiving her mail in Umatilla under the name of Mrs. Ernest Brackenbrough.

20 MORE ACRES TO BE BOUGHT FOR MEDICAL SCHOOL

Negotiations for the purchase of 20 acres of land adjoining the campus of the University of Oregon medical school on Marquam hill are under way, according to Dr. Richard B. Dillehunt, dean of the department of medicine of the university. This addition to the campus would be necessary, he said, for the completion of the second unit of the medical school building.

The original campus of the University Medical school comprised 20 acres donated for the purpose by the O-W. R. & N. company. A portion of this tract was afterward set aside by the regents of the university as a site for the Multnomah county hospital.

Plans for the completion of the medical school buildings have been furthered by a conditional donation, approximately $300,000 from an eastern educational foundation, according to an announcement made today by Dr. Dillehunt.

Tentative arrangements for the eastern convention were made by Dr. Dillehunt and P. L. Campbell, president of the University of Oregon, during a recent extended visit to eastern universities and medical schools, and the gift of $300,000 is contingent upon appropriation of a somewhat larger amount by the Oregon state legislature.

Needs of the University medical school will be presented by Dr. Dillehunt at a meeting of the Multnomah county legislative delegation called for December 21. According to K. K. Kubik, chairman of the delegation, the needs of the university heads will be given every consideration possible by the state legislature from this country.

Consolidation of the work of the Western states has already been beneficial. Prior to activity of the association 40 bills were before congress. Now there are two. Senator Borah gave the association the information that he would introduce a bill in favor of the Smith-Fletcher reclamation bill, which was formerly known as the Smith-Chamberlain bill. This measure provides for government purchase of irrigation district bonds and issuance of government bonds to cover the district expenses.

The association went on record with the belief that any bill passed must make special provision for ex-service men.

More than 200 people are expected at the Fathers' day banquet at the First Congregational church tonight. Judge George Rossman, who preside and the Rev. O. P. Avery will offer the invocation. Many will attend the dinner garbed in old fashioned Pilgrim clothes. Beside every plate will be the traditional "12 grains of corn," memorial to the early hardships of the Pilgrims. Judge Wallace McCamant is to be the orator of the occasion and W. E. Robinson will sing appropriate songs. Dr. W. T. McVey will make a few remarks. At the guest table will sit Mr. and Mrs. McCamant, Judge and Mrs. George Rossman, Dr. and Mrs. T. L. Elliott, the Rev. and Mrs. William G. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Colton.

A feature of the celebration will be the exhibit arranged by Rev. Edward Constant and George H. Himes, the historical Pictures, mementoes, articles and of household use by the forefathers of New England and Oregon will be displayed in the north parlor.

A delightful program of music was presented at the luncheon of the Musicians' club at the Benson hotel at noon today, the soloists being May Dearborn Schiavab soprano; Kathryn Krysaloff, Street, contralto, and Lillian Jeffrya Petri, pianist.

George Hotchkiss Street and George E. Jeffrey had charge of the arrangements for the affair, which in all probability will lead to reorganization of the club so that women musicians of the city will be admitted to membership. Dr. Emil Enns, pianist, representing the Society of Oregon Composers, played the new Oregon state song and it was sung by the assembly and enthusiastically applauded.

The luncheon, designated as "Ladies' day," was the most successful held so far this season. J. A. Findley presided.

Railroad Official Here N. D. Ballantine, superintendent of transportation of the Union Pacific system, is in Portland today, conferring with O-W. R. & N. officials over some minor details relative to car loading and car dispatching.

Auction sale of Laurelhurst lots will continue today in the ball room of the Multnomah hotel from 2 p. m. till midnight, with a recess for dinner from 6 to 7:30, according to announcement of Barry & Austin, auctioneers in charge of the sale.

The Laurelhurst company offered 200 building sites in the addition at auction last week, and 156 lots were sold Saturday afternoon and evening. The average price received was $1100, and the average valuation of the lots by the owners was $3000. The highest paid was $2800, and many of the parcels were bid in by prospective builders at from $500 to $900.

Barry & Austin announce that today's session will terminate the auction. All lots offered are to go to the highest bidder, regardless of sacrifice to the owners.

Fears Niece Fled With Man Companion The police were asked to assist in a search for Florence Cooper, 19-year-old niece of L. G. Thomas of Gervais, who disappeared from her home several days ago. Thomas told the police that his niece came to Portland on the pretext of hunting for a position, but that he feared she had run away with a man. She signed for a registered letter in Umatilla December 9, he said, but a telegram sent to her there was returned. Thomas said that he had been told that she was receiving her mail in Umatilla under the name of Mrs. Ernest Brackenbrough.

Kathleen O. Meloy Takes Position in Pendleton School

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Dec. 13.—Kathleen O. Meloy, Corvallis, a senior specializing in commercial education, has been appointed instructor in the commercial department of the Pendleton High school at a salary of $200 a month, beginning January 3. Miss Meloy is an honor student of Phi Theta Kappa, national honorary commerce fraternity for women. The college is now receiving four times as many calls for instructors in the commercial department of high schools as it is able to fill.

Professor R. H. Dearborn, head of the department of electrical engineering, has been appointed chairman of a committee to investigate the advisability of constructing a super power line on the Pacific coast. This is done at the request of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, and if the committee reports favorably the official recommendation of the American Association of Engineers will be given.

ROOM FOR MORE ON OCHOCO PROJECT

One hundred families can be placed on 40 to 80 acre tracts of land in the Ochoco project in Central Oregon, according to information received today from Prineville by the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce. This land is all irrigated, in cultivation and ready for settlement, according to the message.

Diversified farming, such as dairying, hog raising, sugar beet raising and truck farming is possible on the Ochoco lands, which are said to be the cheapest irrigated lands obtainable in the state. The price averages $75 an acre. The message says that wells are obtainable at an average depth of 35 feet and that none of the project land is more than six miles from a shipping point, and that yields per acre of six tons of alfalfa, 110 bushels of oats, 75 bushels of barley and 80 bushels of wheat have been made.

Legislators to Be Guests at Feast of Local Credit Men

The Multnomah legislative delegation is to eat its first dinner of the lawmaking session Thursday evening, December 16, at the Benson hotel, when it is to be the guest of the Portland Association of Credit Men. It was announced by mistake that the members of the delegation their first taste of the perquisites of office, but the credit men claim the honor.

The dinner will be held in the crystal room, and from the face of the program, this is to be one time when the legislators will do the listening while someone else does the talking. C. C. Colt is to discuss "The Effect of Legislation on Business," while William B. Layton has as a subject "Do Credit Men Need a False Statement Law, and If So, Why?" Miss Harriet Leitch will sing, Walter Jenkins will lead in songs, and there will also be music by the orchestra.

Barbur to Oppose 10 Per Cent Allowed Over City's Bids

The practice of street and sewer contractors bidding from 9 per cent to a fraction below 10 per cent above the city engineering estimates for highway improvements will cease this week, according to Commissioner of Public Works Barbur, who has prepared a resolution to that end which he will put a vote at the Wednesday meeting of the city council.

It has been the practice of the council to accept bids for street and sewer contracts where there were few bidders, by submitting bids at from 9 per cent to an infinitesimal fraction below the prohibitive 10 per cent above the engineer's estimate. Commissioner Barbur charges, and he proposes to put a stop to the practice.

Commissioner Barbur intimated that the city would prepare to do concrete and bitulithic paving at an early date, and should contractors decline to accept the engineer's estimates the city would be in a position to pave its own streets.

Northbound S. P. Trains Delayed; Cars Jump Track

As a result of a minor freight wreck on the Southern Pacific line 14 miles north of Hugo about 8 o'clock this morning, all northbound California Southern Pacific trains were delayed. Train 54 will arrive 10 hours late and train 16 eight hours late. Hugo is near Grants Pass near the entrance to the Cow creek canyon. Three freight cars jumped the track. No one was injured. The company also reports four feet of water over its track near Coquille, due to backwater from the Coquille river. Service is being maintained by stub trains.

NORTH PORTLAND RESENTS PLAN OF PORT COMMITTEE

Praise of the Chamber of Commerce as a body for interesting itself in the North Portland harbor and criticism of the chamber's port committee for suggesting that the cost of improvement be borne by the property directly affected, appear in statements made public today, the first from S. O. Correll, secretary of the Cattle and Horse Raisers' Association of Oregon, the second from Percy Allen, chairman of North Portland industries committee.

"A port committee of state wide," Correll declares, "and its members are all deeply interested in developing a better outlet for livestock through Portland, which can only be done by creating a way to ship meats by water, especially with the present high rail rates, you can understand that we appreciate your activity in a matter that will be of such decided benefit to the state at large."

SALESMAN HELD AS WHITE SLAVER

Violation of the Mann white slave act is charged against H. L. Caldwell Jr., 50, salesman for Lang & Co., wholesale grocers, in a complaint filed this morning by Assistant United States Attorney Hall S. Lusk. A warrant requiring $2500 bail was served on Caldwell by the marshal.

Caldwell is charged with coercing and inducing Genevieve Worham, 24, to come from Minneapolis to Portland. A tragedy almost accompanied the arrest in a town hotel Sunday, and but for quick action by Tom Ward, department of justice agent, Miss Wickham would have leaped out the fifth story window.

Caldwell, who is said to have a wife living in the east, with whom he corresponds regularly, denied any immoral conduct. Caldwell asserts he is on amicable terms with his wife. Federal agents say they found plenty of other correspondence in Caldwell's room, but no letters from his wife. Caldwell is also said to have been divorced from his first wife.

The case was brought to the attention of the government by Mrs. L. J. Archer of Vancouver, a sister of Miss Wickham, when the mother, living in Iowa, reported the sister as missing. Caldwell is said to have stated that he took pity on Miss Wickham and gave her money with which to take pleasure in her life. Caldwell is said to have spent $1600. One expense item of $76 is said to be wholly for hosiery, one pair costing $18. Miss Wickham is held as a material witness.

Caldwell lived in another room in the same hotel.

Police Search for Woman "Carrying Diphtheria" Germs

City Health Officer Parrish has enlisted the police department's services in locating Mrs. E. I. Karr, 1043 Gantenbein avenue, and a Mrs. Jones, mother of Julia Jones, 1024 Corbett street, who are accused by the health officer of slipping away from the premises where they were under quarantine because of diphtheria. Mrs. Karr is "carrying diphtheria," Dr. Parrish said, while Mrs. Jones had been quarantined in her home because her daughter had diphtheria.

"Both women will be arrested by health department officers just as soon as the police find them, and will be tried in the municipal courts for violation of the quarantine law," Parrish stated.

Police Search for Woman "Carrying Diphtheria" Germs

City Health Officer Parrish has enlisted the police department's services in locating Mrs. E. I. Karr, 1043 Gantenbein avenue, and a Mrs. Jones, mother of Julia Jones, 1024 Corbett street, who are accused by the health officer of slipping away from the premises where they were under quarantine because of diphtheria. Mrs. Karr is "carrying diphtheria," Dr. Parrish said, while Mrs. Jones had been quarantined in her home because her daughter had diphtheria.

"Both women will be arrested by health department officers just as soon as the police find them, and will be tried in the municipal courts for violation of the quarantine law," Parrish stated.

ROOM FOR MORE ON OCHOCO PROJECT

One hundred families can be placed on 40 to 80 acre tracts of land in the Ochoco project in Central Oregon, according to information received today from Prineville by the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce. This land is all irrigated, in cultivation and ready for settlement, according to the message.

Diversified farming, such as dairying, hog raising, sugar beet raising and truck farming is possible on the Ochoco lands, which are said to be the cheapest irrigated lands obtainable in the state. The price averages $75 an acre. The message says that wells are obtainable at an average depth of 35 feet and that none of the project land is more than six miles from a shipping point, and that yields per acre of six tons of alfalfa, 110 bushels of oats, 75 bushels of barley and 80 bushels of wheat have been made.

Police Search for Woman "Carrying Diphtheria" Germs

City Health Officer Parrish has enlisted the police department's services in locating Mrs. E. I. Karr, 1043 Gantenbein avenue, and a Mrs. Jones, mother of Julia Jones, 1024 Corbett street, who are accused by the health officer of slipping away from the premises where they were under quarantine because of diphtheria. Mrs. Karr is "carrying diphtheria," Dr. Parrish said, while Mrs. Jones had been quarantined in her home because her daughter had diphtheria.

"Both women will be arrested by health department officers just as soon as the police find them, and will be tried in the municipal courts for violation of the quarantine law," Parrish stated.

Police Search for Woman "Carrying Diphtheria" Germs

City Health Officer Parrish has enlisted the police department's services in locating Mrs. E. I. Karr, 1043 Gantenbein avenue, and a Mrs. Jones, mother of Julia Jones, 1024 Corbett street, who are accused by the health officer of slipping away from the premises where they were under quarantine because of diphtheria. Mrs. Karr is "carrying diphtheria," Dr. Parrish said, while Mrs. Jones had been quarantined in her home because her daughter had diphtheria.

"Both women will be arrested by health department officers just as soon as the police find them, and will be tried in the municipal courts for violation of the quarantine law," Parrish stated.

ROD AND GUN CLUB HUNT ENDS; 240,700 POINTS ARE MADE

More, Dec. 13.—The following is the result of the sixth annual hunt of the Moro Rod & Gun club, which ended Friday night: The entire score totaled 240,700 points, of which Captain James Kinney's side received 136,800 and Captain Clarence Sparling's 104,300. More than 200 men and boys took part. The following are a few of the varieties of game secured: Jackrabbits 1175, English sparrows 1230, wild geese 29, one bear, coyotes, badgers, porcupines, owls, and many other birds and animals.

In securing this game, the counties of Gilliam, Wasco and Sherman were well combed. It is now Captain Sparling's duty to banquet the club.

SALESMAN HELD AS WHITE SLAVER

Violation of the Mann white slave act is charged against H. L. Caldwell Jr., 50, salesman for Lang & Co., wholesale grocers, in a complaint filed this morning by Assistant United States Attorney Hall S. Lusk. A warrant requiring $2500 bail was served on Caldwell by the marshal.

Caldwell is charged with coercing and inducing Genevieve Worham, 24, to come from Minneapolis to Portland. A tragedy almost accompanied the arrest in a town hotel Sunday, and but for quick action by Tom Ward, department of justice agent, Miss Wickham would have leaped out the fifth story window.

Caldwell, who is said to have a wife living in the east, with whom he corresponds regularly, denied any immoral conduct. Caldwell asserts he is on amicable terms with his wife. Federal agents say they found plenty of other correspondence in Caldwell's room, but no letters from his wife. Caldwell is also said to have been divorced from his first wife.

The case was brought to the attention of the government by Mrs. L. J. Archer of Vancouver, a sister of Miss Wickham, when the mother, living in Iowa, reported the sister as missing. Caldwell is said to have stated that he took pity on Miss Wickham and gave her money with which to take pleasure in her life. Caldwell is said to have spent $1600. One expense item of $76 is said to be wholly for hosiery, one pair costing $18. Miss Wickham is held as a material witness.

Caldwell lived in another room in the same hotel.

Jack Price Taken As Morphine Agent

Jack Price was arrested in his room at Eleventh and Alder streets Sunday for alleged violation of the Harrison narcotic act, following the discovery of 19 packages of cocaine and morphine which, the police claim, he was peddling. Ball was set at $1000. The police claim that Price was selling the drugs at $1 a package and that a number of persons were using his room as a place to take "hop."

Name Is Selected For 1925 Exposition

"Atlantic-Pacific Highways and Electrical Exposition" is the name for the world fair to be held in Portland in 1925, according to action at 1:30 o'clock today at a special meeting of the Hydro-Electric league, first proponent of the exposition. It was agreed that the capital stock of the exposition company should be $5,000,000 to be secured by public appropriation and private subscription. The meeting this afternoon was held in the office of F. E. Beach, president of the league.

Jack Price Taken As Morphine Agent

Jack Price was arrested in his room at Eleventh and Alder streets Sunday for alleged violation of the Harrison narcotic act, following the discovery of 19 packages of cocaine and morphine which, the police claim, he was peddling. Ball was set at $1000. The police claim that Price was selling the drugs at $1 a package and that a number of persons were using his room as a place to take "hop."

Name Is Selected For 1925 Exposition

"Atlantic-Pacific Highways and Electrical Exposition" is the name for the world fair to be held in Portland in 1925, according to action at 1:30 o'clock today at a special meeting of the Hydro-Electric league, first proponent of the exposition. It was agreed that the capital stock of the exposition company should be $5,000,000 to be secured by public appropriation and private subscription. The meeting this afternoon was held in the office of F. E. Beach, president of the league.

WESTERN STATES LINKED IN HUGE RECLAMATION PLAN

All Western states will unite in one big effort to present to the remainder of the United States the irrigation and reclamation needs of the West and will combine in a campaign to have congress pass suitable legislation for the reclamation needs of the states west of the Mississippi river.

The decision was made at a meeting of the Western States Reclamation Association in Salt Lake City Friday and Saturday, according to P. Hetherington, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who attended the session. Hetherington was accompanied to Salt Lake City by Whitney L. Boise, Percy Cupper of Salem, A. J. Smith of Baker and C. A. Callahan of Portland.

Representatives from all Western states will be present at the association meeting. Authority was granted to Governor Davis of Idaho, president of the association, to appoint a legislative and educational committee which should have full power in reclamation effort for the West.

Tentative arrangements for the eastern convention were made by Dr. Dillehunt and P. L. Campbell, president of the University of Oregon, during a recent extended visit to eastern universities and medical schools, and the gift of $300,000 is contingent upon appropriation of a somewhat larger amount by the Oregon state legislature.

Needs of the University medical school will be presented by Dr. Dillehunt at a meeting of the Multnomah county legislative delegation called for December 21. According to K. K. Kubik, chairman of the delegation, the needs of the university heads will be given every consideration possible by the state legislature from this country.

Consolidation of the work of the Western states has already been beneficial. Prior to activity of the association 40 bills were before congress. Now there are two. Senator Borah gave the association the information that he would introduce a bill in favor of the Smith-Fletcher reclamation bill, which was formerly known as the Smith-Chamberlain bill. This measure provides for government purchase of irrigation district bonds and issuance of government bonds to cover the district expenses.

The association went on record with the belief that any bill passed must make special provision for ex-service men.

More than 200 people are expected at the Fathers' day banquet at the First Congregational church tonight. Judge George Rossman, who preside and the Rev. O. P. Avery will offer the invocation. Many will attend the dinner garbed in old fashioned Pilgrim clothes. Beside every plate will be the traditional "12 grains of corn," memorial to the early hardships of the Pilgrims. Judge Wallace McCamant is to be the orator of the occasion and W. E. Robinson will sing appropriate songs. Dr. W. T. McVey will make a few remarks. At the guest table will sit Mr. and Mrs. McCamant, Judge and Mrs. George Rossman, Dr. and Mrs. T. L. Elliott, the Rev. and Mrs. William G. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Colton.

A feature of the celebration will be the exhibit arranged by Rev. Edward Constant and George H. Himes, the historical Pictures, mementoes, articles and of household use by the forefathers of New England and Oregon will be displayed in the north parlor.

A delightful program of music was presented at the luncheon of the Musicians' club at the Benson hotel at noon today, the soloists being May Dearborn Schiavab soprano; Kathryn Krysaloff, Street, contralto, and Lillian Jeffrya Petri, pianist.

George Hotchkiss Street and George E. Jeffrey had charge of the arrangements for the affair, which in all probability will lead to reorganization of the club so that women musicians of the city will be admitted to membership. Dr. Emil Enns, pianist, representing the Society of Oregon Composers, played the new Oregon state song and it was sung by the assembly and enthusiastically applauded.

The luncheon, designated as "Ladies' day," was the most successful held so far this season. J. A. Findley presided.

Railroad Official Here N. D. Ballantine, superintendent of transportation of the Union Pacific system, is in Portland today, conferring with O-W. R. & N. officials over some minor details relative to car loading and car dispatching.