Reed College Concert Is Impressive

THE Christmas season was formally ushered in at Reed college by Thursday's choral concert. The Christmas concert, which is a cherished tradition at Reed, was beautifully impressive from the preliminary entrance of the whiterobed candle maids, little Frances Cheney and Mary Louise Chambers, to the concluding recessional, with the rhythmic swaying of the choristers and the dancing flame of a hundred candles.

The success of the concert Thursday is redited to Miss Elizabeth Gore, a Reed junior, whose ability as an artist and whose qualities of leadership have been a pleasant feature of the choral work a Reed. Especially pleasing were the solo parts taken by Miss Goldie Peterson of the First Methodist church and J. Irwin Mutch, bartione, director of the vocal department of Ellison-White Conservatory of Music. Miss Lucile Murton's performance at the organ, in accompani-ment, and the organ solos, Dudley Buck's "The Holy Night." "March of the Magi Kings" and Gaul's "Hosannah," was a feature of the concert.

The evening's program included the Christmas carols, "Holy Night," "Joseph and Mary," "Three Kings Have Journeyed," "Carol of the Russian Children," "Christmas Morn," "Sleep, Holy Babe" and "First Noel." Other numbers were, The Heavens Are Telling," from Creation," by Haydn; selections from Handel's "Messiah," "Glory to God" and 'Hallelujah." Composing the trio were Misses Marjorie Silverthorn and Nancy and Thomas Malarkey and George W. Clark; the male quartet, Thomas Malar-key, John White, C. H. Gray and Mr. Clark, Miss Peterson sang the recitatives preceding the chorus "Glory to God." and Mr. Mutch sang the obligato to the Cornellus number, "Three Kings
